How to follow a hematinic sale with repeat business

One way is to recommend Zentinic, a hematin that provides results. It contains recognized ir portant hematinic factors needed to treat ir deficiency as well as certain nutritional deficie cies of the B complex—factors like 100 mg. iron as well-tolerated ferrous fumarate. Zentin also has a generous 200 mg. of vitamin C, a essential nutrient in its own right that gives further assurance of t absorption of iron. A safe quantity of folic acid has been added to t formula to provide the beneficial effect of this blood-building vitamin. Finally, the other B complex vitamins are included for normal red-blood-cell formation and general nutritional support. In total, a comprehensive array of antianemia factors. And because they work in anemia, your customers come back for more.

Coming Up In 1966

Implementation of Medicare will be a major undertaking during 1966. The NCPhA will be represented by seven pharmacists at the Medicare Conference in Pinehurst the latter part of January. Initially, the drug phase (other than hospital) will be most important in Title XIX. This relates to the Welfare Program.

HR 2—Drug Abuse Control Amendments of 1965. It is not likely complete information about the inventory requirements will be available by February 1. For this and other reasons the APhA seeks an extension of six months to permit pharmacists to prepare the complete and accurate inventory record as required by the Act. This will take Congressional action.

Medication supply in Nursing Homes. North Carolina pharmacists and others will be in Washington before this issue of THE JOURNAL is published. Purpose of visit: to finance a pilot study in North Carolina on the distribution of drugs in nursing homes.

The Welfare (Kerr-Mills) program will continue to expand (see Medicare). Paper work will be reduced and the entire program automated by mid-1966. A determined effort will be made to get the program on a 30-day pay-basis. The current total of Welfare Rxs—about 70,000 a month—may hit 100,000 in 1966. More community pharmacists will assist their local hospitals on a part-time basis. A 2-year, $50,000 program will get underway soon.

Pharmacy will move into two directions—the continued growth of super, shopping center operations and more strictly professional pharmacies will be established. The typical pharmacy with one or two pharmacists owners/operators will predominate but with increased competition from the super and professional stores. Knowledgeable service will be equal in importance to location, parking and price.

The Carolina Journal of Pharmacy is published monthly by the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association, Box 151, Chapel Hill, N. C. Subscription rate: $3.00 a year; single copy, 25 cents. Second Class postage paid at Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

Pearl Drug Company Closed by Harry Barringer

Harry Barringer has closed the Pearl Drug Company, Concord, and has accepted employment with the Pike Drug stores.

Some of the merchandise was sold to Hoy Moose of Mount Pleasant and to Jesse Pike of Concord. The building is being remodeled as quarters for a clothing store.

The building which housed the Pearl Drug Company has provided a home for a pharmacy for about 75 years. First, the Fetzer Drug Company to 1911, then Davis Drug Store until 1916 when Parks M. Lafferty, Sr., acquired the pharmacy and changed the name to "Pearl" in honor of his wife.

J. W. Pike, Sr. bought the pharmacy from Lafferty and operated it until it was sold to Harry Barringer about 25 years ago.

Mental Health Committee Meets with Board of Directors, NCMHA

Members of the NCPhA Committee on Mental Health were guests at the December 2 meeting of the North Carolina Mental Health Association, which was held in Raleigh.

The minutes of the meeting contained this reference to the visit by the pharmacists: "The President expressed keen interest in their attendance and felt they were most beneficial to the State Association and expressed desire for their regular attendance at Board meetings."

Present and representing the NCPhA Committee were Tom Burgiss of Sparta (Chairman), C. B. Alexander of Rocky Mount, Bill Wells of Durham, and W. J. Smith of Chapel Hill.

Health Council Meeting

Representing the NCPhA at the 16th annual meeting of the N. C. Health Council Durham, December 7, were W. H. Randall of Lillington and W. J. Smith of Chapel Hill.

Theme of the meeting was "Medicare.

Pharmaceutical Personalities

#3 (Dr. Paul C. Olsen of Drug Topics) in the December list of "Pharmaceutical Personalities of the Month" stopped most JOURNAL readers from a complete identification of the four persons pictured.

Only one person correctly identified all four: E. R. Fuller, Innes Street Drug Company, Salisbury.

#1 is Mr. R. R. Copeland of Ahoskie, past president of the NCPhA; #2 is Mr. P. W. Kendall of Charlotte, a past president of The Woman's Auxiliary of the NCPhA. #3 is Dr. Olsen and #4, Dewey S. Mims, President of the BC Remedy Company, Durham.

Cover Page

William P. Wells of Durham, named "Pharmacist of the Year" by the Durham-Orange Pharmaceutical Association, is shown with plaque awarded to him for outstanding service in the 2-county area.

Mr. Wells is owner-operator of the Durham Drug Company. He is a past president of the D-O Pharmaceutical Association and was local chairman of the 1965 NCPhA Convention.

He is active in community service in the PTA, a deacon, a Sunday school teacher and a choir member of the First Baptist Church. In the better Health Foundation he has been a director, member of the executive committee and member of the medical review board. Currently, he serves as vice president of the Foundation.

The award by the local association will be an annual one.

Senior Citizens Apartment House in High Point Named for David Astor Dowdy

A new high-rise public housing apartment building in High Point will be named "Astor Dowdy Towers" in honor of D. A. Dowdy, who has served on the City Housing Authority since it was created 26 years ago.

The nine-story structure will contain administrative offices and a large recreation center for senior citizens on the first floor. The upper floors will be devoted to 42 efficiency units, 56 one-bedroom and 7 two-bedroom units.

Announcement of the naming of the apartment in honor of Mr. Dowdy was a highlight of a luncheon held December 15 in High Point, which was attended by a large gathering of Mr. Dowdy's friends, housing authority staffers and members of the commission. A number of plaques and gifts were presented to Mr. Dowdy at the conclusion of the ceremony.

Holt McPherson, Editor of The High Point Enterprise, had this editorial comment about the well-deserved recognition accorded Mr. Dowdy:

"Naming of the new high-rise apartments for the elderly in honor of D. Astor Dowdy is fitting tribute to the man who, probably more than any other, has fought since 1939 the long battle for better housing for those who can least afford such.

"The compassion and hard work that Astor Dowdy has poured into that effort since he went on the Housing Authority in 1939—he has been chairman for 13 years—have paid off handsomely in better living for hundreds of High Pointers whose lives have been bettered by low-cost housing.

D. A. DOWDY'S FAMILY WAS ON HAND FOR THE TESTIMONIAL EVENT AT WHICH TIME IT WAS ANNOUNCED A LARGE NEW PUBLIC HOUSING PROJECT FOR THE ELDERLY WILL BE NAMED THE ASTOR DOWDY TOWERS IN HONOR OF THE LONG-TIME CHAIRMAN OF THE HOUSING AUTHORITY. SURROUNDING MR. DOWDY ARE HIS SONS, HENRY (LEFT) AND DAVID (RIGHT) AND THEIR WIVES AND MRS. DOWDY.

If you're thinking of switching from wholesalers, go right ahead.

It's your business. (Wasn't it.)

It's a free country. Switch. Skip the wholesaler—buy direct from the manufacturer. After all, you'd save the middleman's percentage. So what have you got to lose? Plenty:

You'd lose the ability to order 1/6 or 1/12 of a dozen.

You'd lose once-a-week, twice-a-week, three-times-a-week deliveries.

You'd lose the advantage of being able to pick up that profitable bottle of vitamins for a favorite customer.

You'd lose a friendly creditor—one who waits and waits when business is slow.

You'd lose a bookkeeper—one who keeps your account from getting snarled.

You'd lose a warehouse that's at your beck and call.

You'd lose a friend.

Sure you can switch—but there's a hitch. When you eliminate the wholesaler, you eliminate his services, the very thing your business thrives on. So buy direct from your wholesaler . . . the business you save may be your own!

Timberlake to Join NPC

Captain Claude V. Timberlake (M.C.), U. S. Navy, assumed an executive position on the Washington headquarters staff of the National Pharmaceutical Council January 1, 1966, it was announced today by Vernon Trygstad, NPC Executive Vice-President. Captain Timberlake will retire from the Navy in December, 1965 after thirty years' military service.

Timberlake received a Bachelor of Science degree in Pharmacy from the University of North Carolina in 1939, and is registered as a pharmacist in North Carolina and New Jersey. As a commissioned Naval officer, he served during World War II as a fighter pilot and landing signal officer. Following duty as an instructor and squadron commander, he transferred to the Pharmacy Section of the Navy Medical Service Corps in 1948. His assignments have included duty in the Military Medical Supply Agency—Brooklyn, N. Y., the Navy Medical Field Research Laboratory—Camp LeJeune, N. C., and the U. S. Naval Hospital in Philadelphia.

He is currently assigned to the Office of the Navy Surgeon General as Pharmacy Advisor and Navy Representative on the Staff of the Defense Medical Materiel Board. Captain Timberlake holds the Bronze Star Medal, Presidential Unit Citation, Philippine Presidential Unit Citation, American, European, African and Asiatic Area Campaign Medals.

He is a member of the American Pharmaceutical Association, American Society of Hospital Pharmacists, and the Association of Military Surgeons of the U. S.

He served as Chairman of the Pharmacy Section and as a member of the Executive Council of the Association of Military Surgeons in 1964-1965.

He is past Chairman of the Military Section of the American Pharmaceutical Association, and was instrumental in organizing the Federal Services Pharmaceutical Seminars.

Captain Timberlake received the Andrew Craigie Award during the 1965 meeting of the Association of Military Surgeons.

We are extremely fortunate, Trygstad said, in Captain Timberlake's selection by NPC's Executive Committee and Board of Directors, and in his decision to join NPC. He will bring to NPC a wealth of experience in pharmacy and drug quality standards which will make a substantial contribution toward NPC's objective of promoting the highest professional standards in the manufacture, distribution, and dispensing of prescription medication.

Newell Stewart, former Executive Vice-President is continuing as an NPC representative and professional consultant. Dr. Stewart headquarters and makes his home at 921 W. Culver Street, Phoenix, Arizona.

NPC moved its offices from New York to Washington, D. C. on September 1. They are now located in Suite 468, 1030—15th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20005.

Executive's Chronic Fatigue Often Comes from Work Habits

The Benjamin Franklin Clinic in Philadelphia reports that businessmen more and more are complaining of chronic fatigue.

All too often, the fatigue, the Clinic has found, does not come from "outside conditions" but from daily working habits. Some wrong practices leading to fatigue are:

1. Stuffing problems into a briefcase and carrying them home every night.
2. Stoking the stomach at lunch while carrying on business as usual. Lunch should be an interval of relaxation.
3. Passing up a real vacation because the executive considers himself indispensible.
4. Ignoring regular exercises but taxing one's health with a weekend of violent, unaccustomed physical activity.

TAR HEEL DIGEST

Burlington—A Burlington pharmacist—Troy H. Thompson—has been named as the first Negro to serve on the Alamance County Board of Public Welfare. Thompson was named after the Alamance County Board of County Commissioners voted to increase the membership of the Welfare Board from three to five members.

Hospital Pharmacists Attend Drug Distribution Conference

A conference on "Drug Distribution Systems in Hospitals," held in Washington on December 7-10, was attended by these members of the N. C. Society of Hospital Pharmacists:

Donald K. Chapman and James F. Lowder of Winston-Salem, Bernie J. Nance of Concord, Rudolph Pittman of Smithfield, I. T. Reamer and G. M. Stahl of Durham, and William W. Taylor of Chapel Hill.

Smith Price Book

(Distributed by Smith Wholesale Drug Co., Spartanburg, S. C.)

Smith Wholesale Drug Company has created a Jobber Wholesale Price List as an aid to the retailer. The idea was conceived due to changes which have come about in the drug distribution picture in the last few years. Several manufacturers do not list the jobber wholesale prices in the Red Book or Blue Book.

This price book lists all pharmaceuticals stocked by the wholesaler at the wholesaler's selling price. This gives the retailer a standard for pricing, whether he buys direct from the manufacturer or through a wholesale drug jobber. It is also used as a reference to see if an item is available.

The book is made up in 7 sections, in loose leaf form, with all pharmaceuticals in 6 sections and 1 section for narcotics. About one section is revised every month, thus producing a complete revision every 8 months.

The revisions bring up to date any change as to price, description, or size change. Any change or new items is automatically picked up because the plates for printing are cut directly from their IBM Ramac storage file.

These books are used constantly by the wholesaler's salesmen as well as by the retail pharmacist.

Avoid These Ten Investment Errors

by HOWARD F. WORTHAM, President
Trainer, Wortham & Company, Incorporated
New York, New York

Regardless of the amount you have to invest, the results you get depend not only on what you do, but also on what you don't do. Too many investors throw away potential profits by falling into one of ten very common investment errors. Profit from their mistakes—by learning to recognize the pitfalls:

1. Taking the "hot tip." This gay deceiver has all the charm of the "fast buck"—and all its elusiveness as well. The few people who do have dependable inside information on a company's stocks are usually in a quasi-fiduciary position, too responsible and ethical to use the facts for their own benefit or pass them on to friends. When so-called confidential information gets around, it's a safe bet that it has been intentionally leaked by someone for his own advantage—and the would-be buyer had best beware.

2. Reaching for excessive profits. The danger of this foible is vividly illustrated in the sad tale of the man whose wife wanted to make enough money in the stock market to cover the cost of a fur coat. He bought some shares of an issue which was undervalued at the time, and the stock soon doubled in price. Instead of selling out at that point, his wife—against the advice of an investment counselor—bought more of the same stock, using her original shares as margin. Unfortunately, the stock dropped and she ended up with no coat at all!

3. Emotional attachment to a stock. Many investors become emotionally attached to certain stocks and are reluctant to sell them, especially at a loss, even though the statistics of the situation are all in favor of selling. "I don't want to sell that stock; my husband thought so well of it" is not an uncommon statement. The husband may have been perfectly right at the time, but circumstances change. For a widow deprived of her husband's earning capacity, a particular stock might not produce enough income for her under altered financial conditions. Also, after a number of years, the company's position may have deteriorated. Even if the outlook for a security is still favorable, another might be better for that particular investor. In the fast-changing world of the stock market, flexibility pays off.

4. Buying securities because you like the company's product. Though it's true that a good product is apt to win a certain amount of consumer support, the day of the Better Mousetrap has passed. The world no longer beats an inevitable path to the door of the best producer. In our competitive economy everything has to be promoted and some managements are more successful in doing so than others. The aggressiveness and merchandising capabilities of management are important factors in analyzing stock values—factors which do not show up in the product itself.

5. Buying because you know the company president. This might be a source of valuable information—but more likely it is not. In today's climate of intense business competition, the President of a corporation is probably a supersalesman and very enthusiastic about his company—otherwise he wouldn't be President. When conditions in his company are good, he'd have no hesitation in saying so—often with a certain amount of exaggeration. If things are not going so well, he'd be a foolish chief executive to advertise that fact to his acquaintances. Such information is extremely difficult to obtain and even professional investment counselors have to dig deep and hard to get it.

6. The belief that bonds are the safest form of investment. This may or may not be true, depending partly on the bond issuer's credit. In earlier and less prosperous years, many bonds, particularly those of railroads, declined quite drastically in price. In many cases there was default; in others, reorganization. As for the effect of interest rates on a bond investment, consider the longest-term U.S. Treasury Bonds now outstanding which were sold for cash, namely the 3s of 1995. They were issued at 100 in February 1955 and their recent quotation was around 85. This means that in the five years they have been outstanding, they have lost an average of about 3 points a year—or as much as a bondholder received in interest.

TEN INVESTMENT ERRORS

7. The belief that preferred stocks are a better investment than common stocks. Preferred stocks are subject to the influence of interest rates—and the experience that holders of this type of investment have had over the last few years has been far from satisfactory. The Standard & Poor's Index of Preferred Stocks shows that the 1956 prices reached a peak of $176. The low in February, 1960 was $145—a decline of 31 points, or about 18%. Preferred stocks have their place in an investment program, but, like any other tool, they must be handled correctly and used at the right time.

8. The belief that common stocks are "speculative." Many are—but so are many bonds and preferred stocks. Common stocks as a group may fluctuate more widely in price than senior securities, but you should not confuse "fluctuation" with "speculation." Nearly every investor says he wants to be "conservative," but just what is meant by that word? Are you conservative if you had a dollar ten years ago and still have a dollar today, even though it has a purchasing power of less than 50 cents? Or are you conservative if you increased your dollar to two dollars, so that you can still buy as much as you could 10 years ago? In short, are you conserving dollars or purchasing power? There is no absolute protection against inflation but, for the average person, common stocks present the best and most practical medium for that purpose. However, all common stocks are not hedges and you must select issues that enhance in value as a result of a rising trend in earnings, which will allow dividends to be periodically increased—preferably at a rate which will compensate for the declining value of the currency.

9. Failure to get adequate investment advice. Because it's so difficult for even the shrewdest investor to be completely unemotional about the handling of his own money—and because it's even harder for him to know all the business and governmental trends that influence the future of a stock—it's wise to seek professional advice before investing your money. Mutual funds, banks, printed services, brokers, investment counselors and some lawyers are all possible sources of such advice. Investment counselors will not sell stocks or act as brokers, on the theory that they can thus give impartial advice to clients. Such firms usually make recommendations to the client, who then places orders through his own broker. Often they also provide a "Management Account" or "Special Supervisory Service" such as that offered at Trainer, Wortham and Company, of New York, in which the investment counselor places orders for purchases or sales on his own initiative and notifies the client afterward.

Sweet little money maker

SUCARYL® SWEETENERS ARE MADE TO TASTE MORE LIKE SUGAR THAN ANY OTHER NON-CALORIC SWEETENER

Leave it to Sucaryl sweeteners to innovate.

Back in the '50's, Sucaryl sweetening solution and tablets practically invented the low caloric sweetener market.

Today's Sucaryl sweetener is a little bit different from that first Sucaryl sweetener—sweeter, more natural tasting, made to taste more like real sugar than any other no-calorie sweetener on the market.

Why don't other manufacturers make their no-calorie sweeteners the same way?

Simply because they can't.

The Sucaryl formula is patented—and has been for years.

It's meaningful innovations like this that keep Sucaryl sweeteners out in front as the largest selling non-calorie sweetener in the marketplace—and the major factor in pharmacy sales of low calorie sweeteners.

Keep Sucaryl sweeteners in mind next time a weight-watcher hands you a prescription. You can't recommend a non-caloric sweetener that tastes more like sugar.

Prescriptions: 10c-15c (1887)

The interesting 1888 statement of Berry's rug Store, New Bern, was sent to us by W. Bynum, who today operates a modern harmacy in the same town.

Note the price of the two prescriptions led in 1887—one for 10c and the other r 15c.

We wonder if Phil Sheridan "endorsed" heridan's Condition Powders and if he was vare Berry's acted as "agent for the rchase of anything under the sun for 5 r cent profit and expenses, when cash companies the order."

Although Berry's modern-day counterpart es not stock steam engines, sewing achines or farm machinery, some of the dvertised items in 1966 would feel perfectly home in Berry's of 1888.

New Membership Record

New members affiliating with the North rolina Pharmaceutical Association dur- 1965 totaled 102.

Morris Hedgepeth of Henderson was #1; nold Cherson of Greensboro #102.

There was a slight gain over 1964, when total of new members was 88.

Dues statements for 1966 were mailed on cember 24. First member to renew his mbership on the basis of the statement iling (a few members pay in advance) s C. MacBeth Cain of Henrietta, who in- ded a contribution for the Institute of armacy.

Mr. Clyde Eubanks of Chapel Hill, who ssed away recently at the age of 94, de a special effort each year to be the t dues-payer to the NCPhA, and since operated a pharmacy near the Associa- n headquarters, he generally was #1.

A strong supporter of organized Pharmacy North Carolina for nearly 75 years, Mr. banks will be fondly remembered by his ends. And he will continue to share in progress of Pharmacy in this state . . . will included $1,000 for the Endowment nd of the NCPhA.

Time for Double Celebration

Merry Christmas and Happy Birthday to lliard Bobbitt of Glen Alpine, J. P. Burnett, Jr. of Rocky Mount, Robert T. Giles of Candor, G. G. Inman of Rockingham, V. V. Secrest of Monroe and Miss Evelyn Doris Williford of Raleigh.

Happy New Year and Happy Birthday to Mrs. Marsha Taylor of Raleigh, Donald Bennett of Albemarle, Cade Brooks of Fayetteville, Charles G. Hicks of Raleigh, Milton Higdon of Forest City, Fred Moss of Gastonia, John Polk of Wilmington and John D. Wilson of Shelby.

Profitable Operation

To the uninformed, ''opening a pharmacy'' is equated with hitting an endless gold vein. But to the pharmacist a 5 to 6% net on investment is considered to be about the maximum to be expected from his application of professional knowledge.

Most of the ''wealthy'' pharmacists we are acquainted with accumulated their $s from outside investments, not from Pharmacy.

Take the pharmacist who invested $750 in a non-pharmacy operation about four years ago. His dividend check in December was $2,500 from the $750 investment.

Rx Insurance

Rx Insurance will be a major topic of discussion during 1966. Some states, California, for instance, have plans in operation and other states are well on their way towards either a tie-in with the California Plan or the development of a special plan of their own.

The NCPhA is watching developments and, at the present time, is awaiting recommendations from the APhA and NARD (both national organizations have Rx Insurance under study).

An experiment to introduce a prepaid drug plan in Ontario proved a financial disaster. Almost 10 times as much was paid out for Rxs as was taken in by premiums. Eventually, a financially sound plan will be developed but for the time being, caution ought to and will be exercised.

APhA Student Branches

The regular meeting of the Student hapter of the APhA and NCPhA was held the auditorium of Beard Hall on Tuesday ght, December 6. The president, Terry eatherington, presided over the business meeting which featured Philip H. Cogan, Assistant Director of the Membership Division of the American Pharmaceutical Association located in Washington, D. C. Mr. Cogan brought a most interesting topic to us—"The Top Rung of the Ladder"—in which he stressed the importance of professional pharmacy and organizational strength on local, state, and national levels.

After the business meeting, the students enjoyed the annual Christmas Party held in the lounge of Beard Hall.

Awarded Citation

At the semi-annual dinner of the Hillsborough Restoration Commission, Miss Alice Noble was awarded a citation. This was presented in appreciation of her research for the restoration and preservation of historical Hillsborough.

JIMSON WEEDS

BY JIM HARRISON

The Drug Abuse Control Amendments known as HR 2 become effective February 1 and by now all pharmacists should know how it affects them and what they will be required to do before and after the effective date.

Realizing that a group working together can accomplish better results than can single individuals, the Buncombe County Pharmaceutical Society tried to smooth the path toward compliance with HR 2 that its members might be able to effect as painless a transition as possible.

Paradoxically, it is both untimely and timely that this added operational function should come to pass only a short time after the Society's first formal meeting. Untimely in that at this writing (mid-December) the Society has gathered only its initial momemtum since being formed. Timely in that it gives program material for the first meeting that could be an auspicious start for a fledgling organization.

What has already been done and is now being done will be recounted here in the hope you may glean an idea or two that might be helpful.

FOR PHARMACISTS

The Society (its nucleus, at the prese stage) has arranged for its program Jan ary 18, the 25-minute APhA taped e planation of HR 2 to be presented; h endeavored to obtain a speaker from FD to conduct a Q & A Panel; has invited delegation from Buncombe County Medic Society and a delegation from Medic Secretaries to be present; has allowed f contingencies in that should any of the pla fail to materialize, there will be amp talent within the Society standing in t wings ready and able to conduct the pr gram.

In a monthly communication to membe pharmacists will be urged to make t necessary inventory as early in January possible. At this writing there has be only a partial list of these ''abuse potential drugs released, but soon will come an offici list with the exemptions. However, i ventory may be started of those within t known category. Full knowledge of t chemical, generic and trade names shou be part of his knowledge. A separate fi for these prescriptions with a suitab letter or letters or symbol preceding t number is suggested. A separate file h merit with little consequential drawback. would forestall any ''fishing'' exploratio by inspectors. As developments occur, mem bers will be encouraged to acquaint them selves with the requirements expected them.

FOR PRESCRIBERS

In Buncombe County there are almo 250 potential prescribers, including ph sicians, dentists, and veterinarians. T Society has prepared a letter to be maile to them in January. This letter is couche in language that gives no doubt of the d sire of the Society's phamacists to ease t burden of the prescriber in his obligatio under this legislation and it will bid wit dignity for the co-operation the pharmaci may reasonably expect.

This letter will include the APhA br chure ''HR 2 AND YOU'' marked at th passages naming prescribers' obligation ddition will be a printed card suitable desk or prescription pad containing y abstracts of all he needs to know to ute a proper prescription for these gs. There will be a plea for refill in- ctions and that he have his nurse and etary become familiar with the require- ts.

uch a letter may be individualized and sonal if feasible or desired. If a general form letter is used, enlist the aid of the phic arts; such forms may today be oduced with amazing similitude to the sonal.

he BCPhS is indebted to the NCPhA its help in planning for this program. is just possible that, given much more e, of which we needed more, what was e might have been done without this , but certainly it could not have been e with the celerity and efficiency given the NCPhA so freely, pleasurably and h such enthusiastic ardor.

Camelgram

On Tuesday Morning, December 14th, 7:00 a.m., "Your Drug Store" will be years old.

This sounds like a long, long time, but us, it seems only a few short years sin that gray winter morning in 1918, when opened for business. During these 17,0 varied and pleasant days, we have had li you, our ups and downs, our lean and f years, our sorrows and despairs, our ha piness and contentment, but all in all th have been wonderful happy years.

As we approach this another milestone our journey through life, we are filled wi humility and a deep sense of gratitud Although in the past we have striven serve you with quality and satisfaction, feel that possibly we have not given o best—but however, what little success have achieved has been made possible the loyal support of our friends a customers. We thank you and we will ev try in the future to merit your confiden and friendship.

Almost everyone builds air castles a has some special thing they wish to a complish—we do too. For a good ma years we have had a goal in mind; som thing we would like to de before we lay dow the spatula, mortar and pestle for the la time. That is, to aid and assist you, o people, with your drug needs for 50 yea It is in sight, but time grows short; it now 4th down with a long 3 to go.

At this time, as the Holiday Season closing in around us and the spirit of goo ness is beginning to flow the length a breadth of our fair land, we wish for ea of you a very Merry Christmas and a Hap New Year. And may a kind and benevole Providence lead and guide us down t Rough and Rocky Roads of life; across t valley of uncertainty and fear; up t mountains of hope, unto a land of lo beauty, happiness and understanding.

10. "I can cut my own coupons." This error, one with which all banks are familiar, can cost the investor a lot of money. If bonds are called before they are due and the investor doesn't know about it, he can lose at least six months interest. Suppose he's out of town when a corporation whose stock he owns issues valuable rights that must be either exercised or sold before he gets back—if he does neither, his losses might amount to several times the cost of a bank Custodian Account, one of the best and least expensive services a bank performs and one which investment counselors often recommend to their clients.

But even if you don't put yourself in the "coupon-clipper" class, you may be richer than you know simply by virtue of having learned ten of the most common investment errors. You now know more than most investors—and if you doubt this, ask any investment adviser.

Justice Contributes $500 to the P. A. Hayes Pharmacy Student Loan Fund

Justice Drug Company, Greensboro, continued its commendable practice of contributing to the P. A. Hayes Pharmacy Student Loan Fund by mailing a $500 check to the NCPhA in mid-December.

The contribution comes to the Loan Fund in lieu of Christmas gifts formerly sent to customers of Justic Drug Company.

The practice was started in 1963 and since that time, twelve pharmacy students at Chapel Hill have received assistance from the Fund, which is administered by the NCPhA.

Some of our younger pharmacists missed the opportunity of knowing Pearly Hayes but those of us who had the pleasure of working with him know that his life was devoted to the best interests of all who are associated with North Carolina Pharmacy. Hence we always get a lift when we are able to inform a needy pharmacy student that the aid he is receiving comes by way of P. A. Hayes through the Justice Drug Company.

New Year

To Our Customers:

As the busy Christmas season ends and the year 1966 dawns, we count it among our greatest pleasures to pause and thank our customers for the many favors they have extended us this past year.

Because we truly appreciate your friendship and the privilege of serving you, we pondered a special sort of way to convey our feelings to you during this special season.

Considering that an abundance of small gift items have already come your way, we felt that in lieu of another gadget for your desk we would make an additional contribution to the Consolidated Pharmacy Fund to help some deserving student, or students, at the University of North Carolina.

You may recall that we started a fund in memory of our father, C. Rush Hamrick, in September, 1964 following his death June 2 of that year. We have ad memorials on numerous occasions to t fund and as we have seen it grow we h also witnessed its worth and its continu circulation among deserving and needy s dents. Letters of appreciation from s dents who have received loans from fund have inspired us to continue this vestment in the future of pharmacy and dedicated youth. We felt, too, that y would be pleased to be a part of this lat gift.

We hope that the year 1966 will bri you happiness, prosperity and all the ma good things of life.

Sincerely,

"Successful in business—he heads the Mann Drug Chain, one of the largest domesticated in the South—Mr. Dowdy has recognized the obligation of society to house better its people, especially those without sufficient income to do it for themselves. A lifelong Republican, he frequently has found himself in conflict with the philosophy of those in his party who insist that Federal government has no reason to interfere in such fields as low-rent housing.

"He is as free enterprise-minded as any man can be, but he recognizes too the necessity for government's doing what private enterprise shuns for greater profits in housing for the better-heeled.

"Astor Dowdy has written his name high in service of this city's underprivileged and it is fitting, indeed, that the beautiful new home for senior citizens bear his name and that his friends and associates contribute, from their own means, a decorative fountain to grace the plaza of the D. A. Dowdy Apartments."

Unlimited Horizons For Service

The compounding and dispensing of prescription medication has and continues to be the primary responsibility of the pharmacist. His professional training, his responsibility as a member of the health team, and his livelihood are orientated in this direction.

But is prescription compounding/dispensing the sole obligation of the pharmacist to his patrons and to his community? Are some pharmacists short-changing themselves and their fellow citizens by limiting their total services to the four walls of their pharmacies?

In all too many instances, pharmacists, who by reason of training and a unique day by day contact with the public, are qualified to serve as community leaders, are willing to forfeit this opportunity to others. The consequence of such inaction represents a loss, not only to the pharmacist's community but to himself as well.

Fortunately, modern-day pharmacy frees the pharmacist for outside activity, provided he seeks an opportunity to put his knowledge and skill to work for the common good.

There are many ways to serve—the field is wide open. Don't wait. Take the initiative by offering your professional know-how to the health organizations of your city/county; to your county health/welfare departments; to your local hospital and nursing home if without the services of a pharmacist. An excellent in-pharmacy start can be made by subscribing to APhA's Health Information Center Service, which is a practical way to re-emphasize Pharmacy's contention that a pharmacist is the best single individual to disseminate information about public health.

Unlimited horizons for service? Yes, to the pharmacist who is determined to extend his professional knowledge beyond the four walls of his pharmacy.

The Carolina Journal of Pharmacy is published monthly by the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association, Box 151, Chapel Hill, N. C. Subscription rate: $3.00 a year; single copy, 25 cents. Second Class postage paid at Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

Henley Seeks Senate Seat

John T. Henley, Hope Mills pharmacist, has announced his candidacy for the North Carolina Senate in the Cumberland-Hoke District, which was recently established by the General Assembly.

Mr. Henley has served eight years in the House of Representatives and for eighteen months was state purchasing officer during Governor Sanford's Administration.

Earl Tate, pharmacist and former mayor (24 years) of Lenoir, has indicated he will try for another term in the House, and perhaps prior to the filing deadline, there will be other pharmacists with political aspirations.

M. C. Miles Retires

Morton C. Miles has announced his retirement from active management of Miles Pharmacy, Henderson, where he has been associated with pharmacy for forty-seven years.

Effective January 24, 1966, Mr. Miles sold the stock, fixtures and prescription files of Miles Pharmacy to Page Drug Company.

In point of service, Mr. Miles is the oldest pharmacist in Henderson. He is the oldest member of affiliation with the Henderson Kiwanis Club, and a past president of that organization. He is also a past member of the Henderson City Council.

A native of Warrenton, Mr. Miles served his apprenticeship with Dr. C. A. Thomas Drug Store and Burwell Drug Company of Warrenton. He is a graduate of the UN School of Pharmacy (1917) and a license pharmacist of same year.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles will continue to mak their home in Henderson.

PMA Officers-Directors Visit Research Triangle-Universities

What is believed to have been the highest ncentration of pharmaceutical executives er to visit North Carolina at one time re in the State, January 13-15.

A majority of the 29-member officer and ard of directors of the Pharmaceutical nufacturers Association toured The Re-rch Triangle area of North Carolina as ests of the Division of Commerce & In-stry, State Department of Conservation d Development. PMA represents 140 rmaceutical manufacturers who produce out 90% of the prescription specialties d in the United States.

More than fifty state, departmental, Re-rch Triangle, University and Associa-n officials were directly involved in the ay program.

The Honorable Dan K. Moore, Governor North Carolina, welcomed the guests to state at an informal dinner in Raleigh January 13. Luther H. Hodges, Chair-n of the Board, Research Triangle undation, presided at the dinner which s held at the Velvet Cloak Motel.

On the following day, the pharmaceutical ecutives toured The Research Triangle d Duke University; had lunch at the pe Valley Country Club in Durham, then to Chapel Hill and the University of rth Carolina. The day was closed with dinner at The Carolina Hotel, Pinehurst.

The tour was by charter bus with James Reid, former mayor of Raleigh and dio commentator, acting as tour escort d MC.

Speakers at a 1-hour stop in The Re-rch Triangle were Mr. Hodges and George erbert, President of the Research Triangle stitute. Dr. Paul Gross of Duke Uni-rsity, Dr. George P. Hager, Dean of the NC School of Pharmacy, and Dr. W. Fred ayes, Dean of the UNC School of Public ealth, spoke to the tour group in Chapel ll at the Morehead Planetarium.

Guest speaker at the dinner held in Pine-rst was the Honorable L. H. Fountain, o, as chairman of a Congressional sub-mmittee, has expressed more than passing terest in the pharmaceutical industry.

Other than to introduce the pharmaceutical executives to some typical southern hospitality, a major effort was made to familiarize them with the exceptional, unmatched facilities and professional personnel in The Research Triangle area of North Carolina.

Credit for initiating the invitation to the PMA group and for his interest, support and work over a 12-months period goes to Dr. John Robert Kernodle of Burlington. At the conclusion of the 3-day tour, one of the executives remarked to Dr. Kernodle: "It's not a question of whether we will be coming . . . it's a case of who will be first."

The policy-makers of the pharmaceutical industry were particularly impressed with the high degree of cooperation existing between the State, The Research Triangle Institute/Foundation and the three universities at Raleigh, Durham and Chapel Hill. A few comments received since the tour was completed:

Comments by the Executives

"The possibilities for the future are almost impossible to envision—and so exciting."

"All of us were very much impressed with the facilities at Duke, The University of North Carolina and The Research Triangle. I hope to have the opportunity to visit the area again in the not too distant future."

"Mrs. ——— and I want to thank you for the part you played in making our visit to North Carolina so enjoyable."

"Thank you for taking such marvelous care of us. The only trouble with this kind of attention is that I don't get very much of it around ——— and it is liable to spoil me a little."

"I want you to know what a pleasure it was to meet you and Mrs. Smith and to have such an enjoyable and informative experience in your fine state."

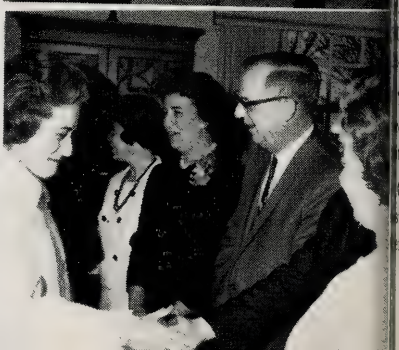

orth Carolina Pharmacy Meets The Hagers

New Pharmacy Dean Assumed Office on January 3

Between 400 and 500 pharmacists and nds gathered at the Institute of Phar- cy January 9th to welcome Dean and s. George P. Hager to Chapel Hill. The an assumed his duties at the UNC School Pharmacy on January 3rd.

All parts of the state were represented the reception, including those from the ntain area, as well as some from the st.

Officials of the Consolidated University as l as the unit at Chapel Hill were among guests. The North Carolina Pharma- tical Association, host for the occasion, invited representatives from all areas of rth Carolina pharmacy. Receiving with Hagers were President and Mrs. W. T. one, and President-elect and Mrs. C. D. nton, Jr.

Other NCPhA officials, faculty members the School of Pharmacy and Auxiliary t-presidents assisted in receiving the sts. The Chapel Hill Women's Auxiliary the Mortar and Pestle Club of Durham isted with refreshments.

Seventeen past presidents of the N. C. rmaceutical Association were present for occasion, as were the officers of many the local pharmaceutical organizations oughout the state. The program served an excellent starter for the Association's 6 schedule.

Link Brothers Remodeling Places Accent on Service

Link Brothers Pharmacy has placed the ccent on customer convenience with the emodeling of their store on downtown South cales Street.

Phil Link, a pharmacist at the store, said oor space has been almost doubled, per-itting open display of more merchandise. ince all items are easily accessible, shoppers ay choose either to serve themselves or to btain the aid of a clerk.

Another new feature is the long counter stalled at the rear of the store, which has ubled the check out and wrapping space. he counter has enough space for as many s five clerks to work with ease, and thus cut wn on customers' waiting time.

In addition, counter space in the prescrip-on department has been doubled. The ore has three registered pharmacists: A. B. illiam, Jr., Hunter Gammon and F. Phil ink. As another customer service, the de-artment double checks prescription orders om physicians by the use of a tape corder.

A new lighting system for the store has en installed with unique rectangular iling fixtures to provide diffused light.

Modern Front

The interior of the store isn't the only art with a new look. A modern glass front tends across the entire store and blends ith a new front just added to Tesh's ewsstand next door. The two businesses cupy a building with a common front nce Link Brothers Corporation acquired ie building occupied by Charles L. Tesh nd Company.

Clay Pennington, a buyer and clerk for ink Brothers, was responsible for the over-l remodeling plans, including the new floor lan and time-saving features. Pennington as been with the firm for over 20 years.

Nathan Link, in a statement made in nnection with the store's remodeling, ex-ressed his "confidence in the continuing rowth of downtown Reidsville and in the evelopment of local industry."

Phil Link said the firm is particularly glad to have its rear entrance off the Park and Shop Lot. "We have been very pleased with customer use of the Park and Shop entrance," he said. "It is being used and enjoyed extensively."

Between them, Nathan and Phil Link have a total of over 50 years drug store experience.—Reprinted from The Reidsville Review

Dental Seminar

A 5-session Dental Therapeutics Seminar will be underway on Feb. 16, 8 P.M., at the School of Pharmacy, Chapel Hill.

There's still time to register. Call Dr. Melvin Chambers at the School or W. J. Smith at the NCPhA Office.

A descriptive brochure has been distributed throughout the State.

The Seminar carries 300 Academy of Pharmacy points per session (Feb. 16, 23 and March 2, 9 and 16) attended.

Nerve-Gas Poisoning Antidote Now Available

A new, specific, life-saving antidote—for victims of pesticide poisoning and potentially for victims of so-called nerve-gas poisoning—is now generally available.

The new drug is called Protopam Chloride. Also known medically as PAM or Pralidoxime, it is for use by physicians in treatment of harmful effects resulting from parathion, malathion, and other pesticides and chemicals of the phosphate ester class. Many of the most widely used crop-dusting materials, as well as nerve gases, fall within this category.

The action of Protopam Chloride literally can save—and already has saved—the lives of victims of such poisoning—lives that heretofore would have been lost. The drug usually is injected intravenously by a physician, but it also may be prescribed in tablet form for milder cases of poisoning.

Discovery of Protopam Chloride was originally announced seven years ago by Dr. David Nachmansohn and Dr. Irwin B. Wilson of the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Columbia University. The intervening years of laboratory and clinical study have been devoted to perfecting the antidote for mass availability.

Now, in a significant step toward making America safer against death from pesticide poisoning—Ayerst Laboratories, without charge, recently made an emergency supply of Protopam Chloride available to all U. S. Poison Control Centers.

Ayerst's rationale behind providing all Poison Control Centers with an emergency supply of Protopam Chloride lies in the necessity of having the drug "instantly" available at the time of a victim's overexposure to the poison. The company has undertaken this public responsibility since there appears to be, at present, no governmental or other agency for making certain that this, or any other antidote, is obtainable in immediate proximity no matter where a victim may be struck down.

And, with the threat of possible chemical warfare ever-present since World War II, the U. S. Army is now stocking Protopam Chloride in large quantities. Health and defense establishments of other countries also have begun stock-piles.

Many of our present pesticides, as well as the feared nerve gas, exert their harmful effects by inactivating cholinesterase, a natural body enzyme which is present in all nerves and muscles and is essential to life. This produces a continual, uncoordinated twitching of the muscles which finally become completely paralyzed. A man dies when the paralysis reaches the muscles of the chest and stops his breathing.

Injection of Protopam Chloride reactivates the damaged cholinesterase, and quickly corrects the disorder. Prompt use results in a life saved.

There is little doubt that in a world dependent upon chemicals for its food supply in addition to living in fear of the horrors of chemical warfare, the discovery and availability of Protopam Chloride constitute a significant forward step.

Amendment of the Selective Service Regulations

ear Mr. Smith:

Enclosed is a copy of Executive Order No. 266, amending the Selective Service regulations and the subsequent release by the hite House explaining the new Execue Order.

What this order does is open the door for e drafting of pharmacists in the "Allied ecialist Category" under the so-called ctor's Draft Law. It could affect a conerable number of married pharmacists der the age of 35 who have dependent ildren.

The national headquarters of the Selece Service System informs APhA that if e Department of Defense requisitions armacists, no special registration will be quired. Some time ago local draft boards re requested to list registrants in certain ccupations" separately. Pharmacy was e of these occupations.

According to the Selective Service office, aft boards will not tap pharmacists who e presently III-A until they have exhausted the availability of pharmacists who are presently I-A. For example, if a local draft board gets a requisition for ten pharmacists and has forty-five pharmacists who are classified I-A they will draw on that group. On the other hand, if the draft board only has five pharmacists in I-A and forty in III-A, it will take the five in I-A and five from III-A to meet its quota.

It is our understanding that pharmacists drafted under this particular provision will be commissioned. APhA has a conference scheduled on Monday, January 24 to verify this and other details.

Sincerely,
/s/ William S. Apple

APhA to Introduce Nursing Home Service Film Strip, Recording

A film strip and tape recording explaining pharmaceutical services in nursing homes will be introduced at the annual meeting of the American Pharmaceutical Association's Academy of General Practice of pharmacy on April 25 in Dallas, Texas.

The film will be available afterward from the Academy and Roche Laboratories for pharmacy group and nursing home administrator presentations. Representatives at a recent APhA headquarters planning session for the project included the American Medical Association, American Nursing Home Association, American Society of Hospital Pharmacists, McKesson & Robbins, Inc., National Association of Boards of Pharmacy, Roche Laboratories, U. S. Public Health Service, U. S. Social Security Administration, U. S. Welfare Administration and several community pharmacist advisors.

Roche Laboratories has provided an $11,000 grant to the Academy for the project. The film strip will explain how to establish pharmaceutical services in a nursing home, the responsibilities of the pharmacist, and federal and state standards and laws—with special emphasis on the Social Security Amendments of 1965. For distribution with the film and tape recording, a revision of the booklet "Pharmaceutical Services in the Nursing Home" is in progress.

The revision of the booklet is a joint project of the APhA Academy of General Practice, the American Nursing Home Association and the American Society of Hospital Pharmacists.

Speakers at the APhA headquarters meeting included APhA Executive Director William S. Apple, American Nursing Home Association Executive Secretary Alfred S. Ercolano. Roche Laboratories Director of Distribution Robert E. Abrams and McKesson & Robbins, Inc. Board Chairman Herman C. Nolen. McKesson representatives described plans for a modified laboratory area in the Pharmaceutical Center to be exhibited during the Dallas meeting. The new area has been designed to provide pharmaceutical services to nursing homes from a community pharmacy.

A survey completed recently by the American Nursing Home Association indicates a total of 12,112 licensed nursing homes with a bed capacity of 489,113 in the U. S. in 1965. An additional 95,031 nursing home beds were listed in 1,436 related facilities. The ANHA estimates that the total nursing home bed capacity in the U. S. is 600,000. This total does not include the thousands of custodial and personal care homes. According to the survey licensed nursing homes today have an average of 41 beds per home.

JIMSON WEEDS

BY JIM HARRISON

TO LABEL OR NOT TO LABEL—THAT IS THE QUESTION

According to available statistics for the period since 1961 the concept of the prescriber's insistence that the name of the drug be placed on the prescription label has increased by 130%.

Organized pharmacy's opposition to this concept is as pronounced now as it has been in the past. This attitude does not stem from any desire of the pharmacist to shroud his art in an air of mystery or secrecy; nor does it imply he assumes a greater knowledge of the prescriber's patients than that possessed by the prescriber himself. Rather does it assume the possibility of resultant evils affecting pharmacy when a policy of promiscuous labeling is insisted upon. Too, there can be no implication the pharmacist will willfully ignore the prescriber's instructions to label. The pharmacist believes this instruction to label is as much an element of the prescription as any other element of it, be it superscription, body, or signature.

The schools of thought embracing both sides of this question have much to be said for each. Aside from the decided preference of the individual, the general advantages of labeling the name of the medication would almost certainly include: Ease of identification of a drug which has a multiplicity of appearances, size, color, etc; especially beneficial would be the name of the drug on prescriptions used in nursing homes and other like places; patients' prescriptions brought to one doctor from another and those prescriptions for persons who travel; prescriptions of patients using more than one doctor with or without the other's knowledge; cases where a colleague may see another colleague's patients during the absence of one; the prescriber's belief that therapy would be enhanced when the patient knows the name of the drug he is taking. There are many more reasons for labeling which are so obvious as to need no mention.

Those prescribers who do not wish the name of the medication to appear on the label also have reasons which should be respected. Aside from the categorical "No," these reasons generally must include: The effort to verify the name of the drug when necessary would be nil; the belief the patient should not know the name of the drug; that knowledge of the name of the drug might lead to unsupervised self-medication; strong possibility of one patient using another's medication; the bother of writing "s.a.p.n.s. (scienta ad patientem non scietur—let no knowledge [of drug] be known to patient)" on the prescription. There are many more reasons which are also so obvious as to need no repeating here.

There have been many instances when the name of the drug on the label have been of great importance to all concerned. Many pharmacists have participated in these episodes. There are also many instances when the reverse is true, and many pharmacists have also participated in those episodes.

Here are some applicable examples. Others may come to mind.

A case where prompt identification of a drug enabled instant antidotal action that was one of the factors in saving a life. Reversely, a case where an opposite drug was placed in a prescription container that was properly labeled as the prescription itself, but not for the drug placed there by the victim himself, which resulted in the wrong antidote being administered. Admittedly, the latter episode would occur only once in 1.2 million times; moreover, it would be almost impossible for this to happen where an experienced diagnostician was present in even the haste and excitement of an emergency room.

There are other examples with a possibility of comic or tragic results.

A pharmacist dispensed a prescription written for phenylethylmalonylurea tab. aa 0.030 which the doctor wanted to be labeled. As the pharmacist presented the finished prescription and was calling attention to the directions, as was his wont, the customer happened to see the name of the drug, whereupon she, with straight face and utter seriousness, asked the pharmacist, ''Do you also sell dictionaries?'' To relate how he replied would be anticlimax.

Another pharmacist had a customer who went to a different doctor every day, including Sundays. For a few weeks none of the doctors knew of another doctor treating ''his'' patient, even though a perceptive diagnostic sense may have revealed a peculiar prognosis. Sooner or later this pharmacist would, by those uncanny laws of chance, be presented with prescriptions that would conflict pharmacologically and therapeutically, even though the customer shopped at five pharmacies. Such did happen when his cutomer brought in a prescription for an MAO inhibitor from one doctor and a prescription for a sympathomimetic drug from another doctor. To compound a complex, this customer was inordinately fond of beer and cheese and indulged himself frequently. To the pharmacist this was a dilemma, but he handled it with sublime tact and ethics and in such a manner as medicine and pharmacy demand of its votaries.

Whether or not this patient's prescriptions were labeled as to name of the drug is of little moment, since this patient had on incliniation to reveal the sort of medication he was taking and no one doctor knew what another was prescribing or that any other doctor was treating ''his'' patient.

It remains a moot question whether or not medication should be labeled, even when such episodes as this are, and always have been, probable. But such as this may poi up to the fact that there is an answer to t question that may still cater to the pref ences of each adherent.

To be indifferent in this matter is t easier way out. But to be indifferent seen to postulate a lack of interest that belies t pharmacist's or the prescriber's natur propensity for practicing his profession f the ultimate welfare of the patient.

The better way would seem to be qualify the preference with an ''if'' those cases, and there are many, where ''if'' would be indicated. This wou place either adherent on a middle groun It would also be a safe spot for either a would tend to nullify the need of the ''f labeling'' group to seek or support legis tion to gain that end. It would also nulli the need of the ''against labeling'' group oppose such legislation.

The delicate art of hedging, straddlin the fence, or compromising—call it what o will—has its points and has a certain degr of usefulness. It would by no means be confession of weakness or of disinterest renounce a minor tenet in order to embra this art.

The percentage increase of those in t qualifying ''if'' group is parametric wi the increase noted in those categorical favoring the labeling concept, but t numerical odds favor the ''for'' group four to one. Even so, this condition wa rants the hope a compromise is with attainment.

Those of the ''for'' group who quali their favor, and those of the ''against group who also qualify their opinion, a vance reasons similar to the following Decision must rest with the prescriber; no refillables, no, but drugs for long ter therapy, yes; for patients with psychologic imbalance or hypochondriac propensities, n but for patients who are enlightened and average or better erudition, yes; if t pharmacist can be contacted, no, but if is unavailable, yes; a categorical yes or would be a detriment to the patient, t doctor, and the pharmacist.

So there it is; back where it starte Some unalterably for, some equally again the former dominant, but the ''if'' gro holding its own, percentagewise.

ctually there is but one answer. The rmacist does obey the instructions of prescriber; there is no likelihood he depart from this practice. As has been l, the instructions to label or not to el is just as important as the "take u" or the signature and a prescription not been wholly filled until all its ments have been executed. In the ence of specific instructions to label or to label the pharmacist's professional gment may continue to be relied on to form to the prescriber's satisfaction. A able box or em dash on the prescrip- blank by which to indicate the pre- ber's wishes would be explicit enough on a parity with the importance of re- instructions.

Whatever the pharmacist's innermost ings on this question, he has one belief takes precedence over all. It is this: s the prescriber's prerogative to indicate preference in this matter, and the phar- ist must never usurp that prerogative; pharmacist is practicing pharmacy, not licine, and it his duty to obey the prescriber's instructions with as much pride, zeal, and devotion he expends on the whole prescription.

Occasionally you are in the right place at the right time. Take the request (Jan. 4) of the APhA to defer inventory of the combination drugs as covered by the Drug Abuse Control Amendments of 1965. McAllister on the Board of Pharmacy and Smith of the NCPhA discussed this (Jan. 5) with the then FDA Acting Commissioner Winton Rankin who on the following day, authorized the postponement of this phase of the inventory requirement until August 1.

Some pharmacists may not be aware Mr. Rankin is a North Carolina Pharmacist. You will find him listed in the 1965 Year Book, page 103, N. C. License #2873.

Welfare prescriptions are running at the rate of about $250,000 a month. Payment of 45,000 claims (about $500,000) went out in mid-January.

Pharmacies (Vendors) in other states have signed working agreements with the State Board of Public Welfare. We assume the $1.75 professional fee is acceptable.

UNC Pharmacy Dean George P. Hager can easily qualify for membership in the Dixie Sunrisers—he's in his office by 7 a.m. every morning.

Glenbrook Laboratories has and is creating much back-up support among pharmacists by including "Ask your Pharmacist" in their Bayer Aspirin network TV schedules.

In January, these Bayer "Flu Weather" TV commercials included the "Ask Your Pharmacist" phrase in the following network programs: Patty Duke, Tammy, Secret Agent, Dr. Kildare, Man from Uncle, Ozzie & Harriet and Thursday Night Movies.

Glenbrook Laboratories is commended for helping fortify the professional image and role of the pharmacist. Potential users of Glenbrook's product are asked to consult their pharmacist, not referred to a drug counter which may or may not be located in a pharmacy.

North Carolina, more specifically the Division of Commerce & Industry of the Department of Conservation and Development, did a magnificent job in entertaining the PMA officers and directors who were in the State in mid-January. If you think you have problems at the Rx-dispensing level, you could profit from a run down on the problems at the Rx-manufacturing point.

Luther Hodges, one of the official hosts to the PMA visitors, told some humorous stories. Here's a sample: A 78-year-old man announced his intention of marrying a 23 year-old girl. Close friends registered their objection. Members of the immediate family let it be known they were opposed to the marriage. The expectant bridegroom announced his decision: "I've been smelling liniment for 30 years, now I want to smell cologne for a change."

A delegation of North Carolina pharmacists may be in Russia this summer as official representatives of the People-to-People program. If the tour materializes, it will be the second group of pharmacists to ge behind the Iron Curtain (California was first).

Dear Mr. Smith: My pharmacist tells me that many of the items sold in his pharmacy are tax-exempt in computing income tax reports. He does not have the information but referred me to you. Your assistance will be appreciated. Mrs. ——. (We have the IRS information; write for your copy).

from the local-sectional pharmaceutical societies

Buncombe County

Despite icy roads and hazardous driving conditions 31 pharmacists attended the January meeting on the 18th at Memorial-Mission Hospital Medical Library. Only two members were absent. The attendance included three doctors, one of whom is president of the Buncombe County Medical Society, all staying for the entire meeting.

W. T. Sisk handled the feature program and operated a tape recording from the legal department of APhA entitled HR 2 and You. A question and answer panel followed, supplemented by developments which had transpired after the tape was recorded. Tributes were paid the secretary of the NCPhA and the secretary of the Board of Pharmacy for their yeoman work in helping to accomplish a six-months postponement of inventory of the "potential for abuse" combination drugs of which there are 16,000+ and BCPhS secretary seized this opportunity to bespeak affiliation with NCPhA by all members.

President of Buncombe County Medical Society, Dr. J. P. Chapman, also praised the Association for its helpful communication recently sent to physicians of the State by the NCPhA through the State Medical Society. Dr. Chapman also saw better days ahead for medicine and pharmacy in the County as presaged by the sense of co-operation between the two as apparent at the meeting.

Other business at the session presided over by Frank Akins, president; certificates of membership were distributed. Action was taken to advance requests to pharmaceutical manufacturers that they package new products in smaller packages and help to eliminate a degree of the pharmacists' added inventory costs when large packages only are available. The secretary was asked to draft a letter of commendation to the Board of Pharmacy for its action in seeking to eliminate certain adverse conditions recently prevalent in the County. The Executive Board was enjoined to work out details for a plan that would initiate a fund to be used for payment for prescriptions for children whose parents are unable to pay for medication and who do not qualify for aid from Welfare or other agencies. Such a plan was in a stage of formulation last summer under "Operation Headstart" but died aborning when that agency was dissolved. The contemplated plan would spread this charitable work instead of concentrating it into a channel of few.

Whether or not the Society would sponsor, underwrite, or attempt to execute a Prescription Blank Project needed more research on the subject and decisive action was deferred. It was pointed out that not all pharmacies in the county are represented in BCPhS (alas) but that all could reap a benefit, even without financial participation, and that an anachorism and an anachronism could be created should the Society take on a project it might later be compelled to abrogate. This dilemma was given to the Professional Relations Committee and its subcommittee for consideration.

Other matters no less important were considered, future programs were mulled over and it was revealed that no dearth of suitable programs existed. The Public Relations Committee obtained several speakers who agreed to appear before PTA and other groups and speak on Accidental Poisoning in Children during National Poison Prevention Week in March. This talent lies within the Society and will shake off its dormance when the need arises.

All in all the first regular meeting of this fledgling Society was auspicious in its impressive enthusiasm, its sense of cohesion, and its feeling of optimism at its potentialities for the benefit of pharmacy in its area. Different features of the meeting transpired with staccato rhythm which could have been timed with a metronome.

Lenoir County

The January 19 meeting of the Lenoir County Pharmaceutical Society, held in Kinston, was devoted mainly to methods for complying with the inventory requirements of the Drug Abuse Control Act.

Mrs. Marsha Hood Brewer was named chairman of a Poison Prevention Week program to be sponsored by the Society. A nominating committee was named to bring in a slate of officer-nominees at the March 15 meeting: Paul Tart, Alden Hobbs and John C. Hood, Jr.

Dr. Rose Pully attended the meeting as representative of the Lenoir County Medical Society.

Mecklenburg Pharmaceutical Society

The monthly meeting of the Mecklenburg Pharmaceutical Society was held at Uncle John's Pancake House, January 18, with about 30 pharmacists attending.

President Elliott Griffin opened the meeting.

Gilbert Colina was asked to discuss and explain the prescription blank program which has been in effect for the past eight years. Dr. Colina informed the members that nearly a half million prescription blanks had been printed during 1965. These include blanks for physicians, dentists and individual stores. The last two are paid for by the pharmacy ordering.

A motion was made from the floor to abandon the program and let the physician purchase their own blanks. The motion was defeated. The local pharmacies are to be contacted in order to resume the program.

The guest speaker was introduced by Vice-President Richard Termin, Mr. Charles Ruch, Jr., Administrator of Medical Care and Special Services, Division of Mecklenburg County Welfare. Mr. Ruch gave a very informative talk on the proper handling of Welfare Prescriptions.

The following are serving as new officers of the Society.

Elliott Griffin, President
Richard Termin, Vice President
Frances Youngblood, Secretary
Don Robinson, Treasurer

The president and vice president were appointed by the Executive Committee to fill the offices vacated by Roy Martin, President, and James Liverman, Vice President, who moved to our sister state, South Carolina.

Greensboro Society of Pharmacists

The thirty-second meeting of The Greensboro Society of Pharmacists was held in Greensboro on January 20 with J. M. McGough, Director of the Guilford County Civil Defense, as guest speaker.

Following a general discussion of the roll of the pharmacist in a national disaster and a demonstration of the Geiger Counter, Mr. McGough recommended (1) Selection of a liaison officer to represent the Society with Civil Defense and (2) set up lines of communications and coordination with the Guilford County Medical Society.

Poison Prevention Week, Implementation of the Drug Abuse Control Amendments of 1965 and recognition of Frank Pickard as a new appointee of the Guilford County Board of Health were covered during a business session of the Society.

Durham-Orange

Dr. George P. Hager, the new Dean of the School of Pharmacy, University of North Carolina, was guest speaker at the January 24 meeting of The Durham-Orange Pharmaceutical Association. The meeting, held at the Blair House mid-way between Chapel Hill and Durham, was attended by about 50 members and guests.

Two major items were on the business agenda: details of the Drug Abuse Control Amendments and membership decal for the front window or door of members' pharmacies.

UNC PHARMACY SCHOOL NOTES

On the morning of January 3, Dr. George P. Hager walked into the main office of the School of Pharmacy to assume the deanship and immediately a whirlwind of activities began. Shortly after unpacking his brief case and before getting situated in his office he departed for Washington, D. C. on January 6 for a two day meeting of the National Advisory Committee on Selection of Physicians, Dentists, and Allied Specialists to the Selective Service System.

A warm reception for Dean and Mrs. Hager sponsored by the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association was held at the Institute of Pharmacy on January 9. Interest and support for the school were manifested by an estimated attendence of 500 visitors and guests. Beyond a doubt this was the most widely attended Pharmacy function in North Carolina in recent years with the exception of the annual convention. Townspeople, University administrators, educators, friends of pharmacy and pharmacists from the coast to the mountains, welcomed Dean and Mrs. Hager to North Carolina.

A tour group of drug company executives and wives representing the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association visited the Research Triangle and Pinehurst on January 14 and 15. Dean and Mrs. Hager accompanied them on the trip. Dean Hager addressed the visitors and guests using as his topic a ''model'' college of pharmacy coupled with a ''model'' institute for basic research in the pharmaceutical sciences.

On January 21, Dean Hager in his capacity as President of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy attended a meeting of the American Council on Pharmaceutical Education in Washington, D. C. Other officers of the AACP attending were the Executive Secretary, Dr. Charles W. Blivin, and the Chairman of the Executive Committee, Dean Joseph B. Sprowls.

The Durham-Orange Pharmaceutical Association met on January 24 during which Dean Hager briefly described some of the revisions shared by him and the faculty of the School of Pharmacy. Presiding at the meeting was Dr. E. A. Brecht. Other members of the faculty attending were Drs. Chambers, Cocolas, Jowdy, Semeniuk, Taylor, Thompson and Wier.

Additional recognition has been accorded the School of Pharmacy through the election of Dean Hager to the Board of Directors for the American Foundation for Pharmaceutical Education. This Foundation was organized to accept and administer gifts for the promotion of pharmaceutical education. It makes funds available to support undergraduate and graduate programs as well as to encourage scientific research in pharmacy schools. Charles B. Dunnington, Chairman of the Board, Dunnington's, Inc.; William F. Laporte, Chairman of the Board, American Home Products Corporation; Jack E. Orr, Dean, College of Pharmacy, University of Washington; and Foster B. Whitlock, Member, Executive Committee, Johnson & Johnson, were also elected Directors.

For the first time since 1939 the School of Pharmacy will be operating without the services of Dr. E. A. Brecht whose resignation from the faculty was announced in November and becomes effective January 1. It is impossible to evaluate the many co-ributions he has made to North Carolina harmaceutical education during his long enure. To mention the students he has ncouraged and instructed; or the leadership iven to the North Carolina Pharmaceutical esearch Foundation; or his detailed plan- ing in the construction of the unique and agnificent facilities subsequently named eard Hall; or his activities in professional, cademic, and civic affairs would be only n index to an encyclopedia of his works. Vhatever success and recognition the School f Pharmacy is accorded in the future will erve as a monument to him and the oundation he has helped to build. His de- arture from academic pharmacy will be orely missed by his colleagues, students, nd many other friends.

The National Science Foundation has re- ently awarded Dr. Cocolas a grant to con- inue the Undergraduate Research Participa- ion Program in Medicinal Chemistry for nother year. The program is designed to timulate interest and research in advanced ork. For the spring semester the program supporting two undergraduate students, tephen Kennedy of Shelby, North Carolina nd Timothy Kroboth of Charlotte, North arolina. The program will expand to in- lude three participants in June. This is ne of the few states in the country which llows undergraduate students to carry out research program during the summer onths while concurrently gaining credit oward the required year of experience.

Mr. James Ray Hall, fourth year student om Sanford, North Carolina, was granted he Mead Johnson Undergraduate Research articipation Award.

Special tribute goes to Miss Susan Gretz nd Miss Mary Gray Teague, fourth year udents, for their recent election to Valky- es. This is a senior honorary organization or women which recognizes and honors omen students outstanding in character nd achievement. The number selected each ear is not to exceed two per cent of the omen enrolled. Only twelve students on e entire campus were so honored. Miss retz is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. eorge Gretz (Mrs. Gretz is currently presi- nt of the North Carolina Society of Hos- tal Pharmacists) in Hendersonville; Miss Teague is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Teague, Sr. in Fayetteville.

Officers of the Student Body, Neil Mussle- white, Judie Phillips and Mark Williams recently entertained Dean Hager at a luncheon.

M. Thangavelu, M.D., Dean of the Trivan- drum Medical College in Kerala State, India, visited with Dr. Chambers and Dean Hager on January 26. He is in the process of establishing a school of pharmacy at his institution. While visiting in Chapel Hill for other purposes, his admiration for the attractive pharmacy facilities directed his footsteps so he could make a more detailed inspection as well as to obtain helpful in- formation. Needless to say he was greatly impressed with what he saw.

New appointments have been made to the instructional staff for the spring semester. Alan Solter and Miss Elizabeth Paterson, graduating seniors, and Miss Kay Johnson, a third year student, were appointed as undergraduate assistants.

Mr. William E. Hall, a graduate student at the University of Wisconsin, was a guest of the School of Pharmacy on Janu- ary 10 and 11. He was invited to visit here for position interviews. Both Mr. Hall and the faculty were well-pleased with the visit. Mr. Hall, upon completing his re- quirements for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy this summer, will join the faculty here in September as Assistant Professor of Pharmacy.

Miss Jean Craig, who has been pursuing graduate studies here since the fall semester, 1961, has accepted a position with Ciba Pharmaceutical Company.

The new catalog of the School of Phar- macy was received from the printer in mid- January and is available for distribution. Copies can be obtained in request.

The School of Pharmacy is fortunate to have the opportunity to participate again in the Visiting Scientist Program sponsored by the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy and the National Science Foundation. Dr. Alfred Burger, Professor of Chemistry at the University of Virginia and author of many publications on medic- inal chemistry, will visit here on April 18 new drugs -- good or bad?

Amid today's booming prescription business, there is much concern over the multiplicity and duplication of pharmaceutical products. Although these conditions appear to be detrimental, they are actually the result of progress and opportunity.

A continuing stream of new products is absolutely vital to medical progress. New drugs promise better health and longer life for everyone.

Duplication is a manifestation of free enterprise . . . one of the most treasured virtues of our democratic way of life.

These conditions do require close attention to inventory and sound buying practices. The best way to capitalize on the situation is to buy as you need from us . . . your service wholesaler. Our comprehensive stocks are always at your service—quickly and conveniently.

How to follow a hematinic sale with repeat business

One way is to recommend Zentinic, a hematini that provides results. It contains recognized im portant hematinic factors needed to treat iro deficiency as well as certain nutritional deficier cies of the B complex—factors like 100 mg. c iron as well-tolerated ferrous fumarate. Zentini also has a generous 200 mg. of vitamin C, a essential nutrient in its own right that gives further assurance of th absorption of iron. A safe quantity of folic acid has been added to th formula to provide the beneficial effect of this blood-building vitamin. Finally, the other B complex vitamins are included for normal red-blood-cell formation and general nutritional support. In total, a comprehensive array of antianemia factors. And because they work in anemia, your customers come back for more.

You Can't Pay Your Bills With Percentages

In 1964, at the request of the State Board of Public Welfare, an advisory committee of pharmacists and physicians made an extensive study to determine the most feasible method of reimbursing the pharmacist for his services in dispensing Kerr-Mills prescriptions. The final decision and recommendation was a "Professional Fee for a Professional Service."

The Kerr-Mills program was initiated in January, 1965 on the basis of Red Book cost plus a professional fee of $1.75. Increasingly, as other states view their welfare drug programs, particularly those utilizing a percentage markup, the wisdom exercised by the advisory committee in North Carolina is apparent.

A recent survey of 500 Welfare Rxs in Pennsylvania by the U. S. General Accounting Office and a "comparison report" (brand name vs. generics) by GAO conveyed the impression that Pa. pharmacists should operate the welfare drug program at an equivalent professional fee of 50c per Rx. As pharmacists are aware, this is totally unrealistic since such a fee is less than one-third of the pharmacist's out-of-pocket expense in supplying the service.

In a recent communication, William S. Apple, executive director of the APhA, points up some significant facts which ought to be considered as we become more deeply involved with welfare Rxs and with the soon-to-be-implemented medicare and extended care programs:

"There is an adage in the business world: You can't pay your bills with percentages. It is unrealistic for pharmacists to attempt to provide professional services on the basis of a percentage markup. As the base shrinks, the percent required to yield the same net increases and the pharmacist gets caught up in the whirlpool of a numbers game."

And this statement by Mrs. Helen Nelson, a member of the President's Economic Advisory Board: "How can we (the public) believe you are serving our needs as long as you adhere to a system of pricing in which your profit increases as your cost increases? To operate year in and year out on a cost plus basis while selling the very necessities of life is indefensible."

The Carolina Journal of Pharmacy is published monthly by the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association, Box 151, Chapel Hill, N. C. Subscription rate: $3.00 a year; single copy, 25 cents. Second Class postage paid at Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

Dr. Burger: Visiting Lecturer

Dr. Alfred Burger, Professor of Chemistry, University of Virginia, will visit the School of Pharmacy, University of North Carolina on April 18 and 19.

On April 18 at 12 o'clock, he will address pharmacy students and faculty and others upon "Medicinal Chemistry An Interdisciplinary Science."

On April 19 at 7:30 P.M. in the Pharmacy School Auditorium he will address a general audience on "Some Recent Studies with Inhibitors of Purified Enzyme Systems."

The lectures are sponsored under the Visiting Scientist Program of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy.

The pharmacists of the surrounding area are encouraged to attend.

Another Honor for Jesse Pike

The Jaycees of Concord named Jesse Miller Pike "Senior Man of the Year" for his outstanding and constructive community service during 1965.

The award was presented to Mr. Pike at the Annual Jaycee Award Banquet in Concord on January 27.

Ashworth Named "Young Man of Year"

For having "pushed progress as hard as he has pushed pills during his ten year stay in Cary," Pharmacist Ralph Ashworth has been named "Young Man of the Year" by Cary's Jaycees.

Ashworth, a native of Fuquay-Varina and a graduate of the UNC School of Pharmacy, is the owner/operator of Ashworth Rexall Drugs, Cary.

He has served as president of the Cary Chamber of Commerce and the Cary Rotary Club. He is also a board member of the Raleigh Savings and Loan, Cary Branch, and is a former secretary of the municipal planning and zoning board.

Since he established Ashworth's about ten years ago, the store has been doubled in size by taking over an adjoining building.

Fife Promoted

W. Frank Fife of Wilson has been promoted to executive vice president of Owens, Minor and Bodeker, Inc.

In addition to serving as executive vice-president of the parent corporation in Richmond, Frank will serve in the same capacity in Wilson.

He is currently serving as president of the Wilson County United Fund and is a past president of the Rotary Club and the Wilson-Rocky Mount Sales and Marketing Executives Club.

300 Students Hear Estes Discuss Pharmacy As A Career

The numerous professional opportunities open to young men and women interested in becoming pharmacists were outlined by Joseph C. Estes, Jr. at a student assembly in Reidsville on February 10.

Mr. Estes' talk to the students at the Reidsville Junior High School, who numbered about 300, was supplemented by a screening of a pharmacy career film obtained from the NCPhA and brochures obtained from the School of Pharmacy.

A graduate of the UNC School of Pharmacy, Mr. Estes for ten years was the owner of a pharmacy in Haw River. Currently he is associated with one of the Mann stores of Reidsville.

Attend Mental Health Meeting

The N. C. Pharmaceutical Association was represented at the March 3-4 meeting of the N. C. Mental Health Association in Charlotte by NCPhA President-Elect C. D. Blanton, Jr. of Kings Mountain and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith of Chapel Hill.

Dr. M. J. MacDonald of Canton was installed as President of the Association for the coming year. NCPhA Executive Secretary W. J. Smith was elected a director of the MH organization.

New Drug Law, Confusing to Many, Is Believed Worthwhile

The Lexington Dispatch

"My doctor told me that I should take is medicine for the rest of my life, and ow you are saying that I can't get any ore of it . . ."

The woman, elderly and on the feeble side, as quite upset as she complained to the harmacist who was trying to explain his strictions and duties under the Federal overnment's new "drug abuse law."

This law, which went into effect February is of considerable annoyance and incon-nience to patients and doctors, and it metimes is downright disturbing to phar-acists—the men who must fill (or not fill) e involved prescriptions.

Nevertheless, the general consensus among ose familiar with the law and the reasons came into being is that it is a good law d that it will serve a valuable purpose in lping to control the abuse of certain metimes harmful drugs.

Briefly, the new law covers the sales and e of barbiturates, amphetamines and com-nations of these two drugs—and there e hundreds of such. These are stimulant d depressant drugs, used mainly for medi-es for nervousness, sleeping pills and re-cing pills. Various combinations are ed to produce the blackmarket "goof lls" and "pep pills," and this is one the main reasons for Congressional ssage of the law.

Here's how the law works: Your doctor ves you a prescription containing one of e drugs mentioned above. Depending on e doctor's instructions, you may have that escription filled once, and refilled for not re than five times. However, if the escription's date is more than six months l, it can not be refilled at all.

Telephone authorization (from the doctor) refilling such prescriptions is acceptable der the law. This means that when a d-up or out-dated prescription is brought a drugstore, the pharmacist can simply l up the doctor who wrote it and the tor will either authorize its refill or pro-hibit it. In many cases the doctor, no doubt, will ask that the patient come in to see him for a check before additional medi-cine is prescribed.

The new law will be enforced, strictly, by the Federal Drug Administration. An indi-cation of the serious intent of the law is that, for the first time, FDA agents are authorized to carry pistols.

The Pharmacist's View

A problem already apparent in carrying out the law arises at nights and on weekends when people bring used-up or out-dated prescriptions in for a refill. At such times it may be difficult or impossible to contact the doctor, so the prescription simply can't be refilled.

Another problem involves ignorance of the law, or misunderstandings about it. Despite considerable publicity, many people aren't aware that such a law exists, and many other people don't know that their prescriptions contain one of the covered drugs.

Still other people mistakenly believe that the law covers all prescriptions. "Less than 15 per cent of all prescriptions are affected by this new law at the present time," says one local pharmacist. He added, however, that federal officials are considering substantial expansion of the covered drugs, under authority provided by the law. "There is no doubt that quite a few items will be added to the covered list," he said.

For druggists, compliance with the law involves quite a bit of extra work. For instance, at every drugstore it was necessary to count (not bottle-by-bottle but pill-by-pill and ounce-by-ounce) the entire supply of controlled drugs. An accurate record of all dispensations must be kept, and the store's inventory must agree with this record at all times.

Join Upjohn's new Cooperative Advertising and Promotional Plan designed to move professional O-T-C products through your store.

Here is a new plan to improve your Upjohn O-T-C business in 1966 and combine your respected professional image with Upjohn's.

Here is how the plan works:

Upjohn in 1966 is offering retailers who enter participating contracts an advertising and promotional allowance of 10% based on each retailer's 1965 net purchases of all Upjohn nonprescription products. (Special provision for new stores.)

As outlined in Upjohn's contract, the allowance may be used to promote the sale of several of Upjohn's most popular O-T-C products with a variety of advertising and promotional methods suitable to your business. Upjohn will furnish helpful materials.

Payment will be made by Upjohn upon proof of performance. In order to be entitled to receive payment, retailers must sign or accept Upjohn's written Cooperative Advertising and Promotional Plan. No payments will be made on the basis of this ad alone.

Contact your local Upjohn office or salesman for complete details.

Study More Effective Speech-Making

The SKF Speaker Training Seminar will be underway in Chapel Hill at the Institute of Pharmacy on or about the time the March issue of THE CAROLINA JOURNAL OF PHARMACY is distributed.

Sponsored jointly by SKF and the NCPhA, the 2-day (March 23-24) seminar will cover principles of effective speech delivery, model reading of a speech manuscript, extempore speaking, use of visuals, how to handle the question and answer session, etc.

Registration was limited to 24 persons at the request of SKF. On the basis of two years experience with similar seminars, it has been determined that more effective work can be accomplished with small groups.

It is anticipated some of the registrants will join the NCPhA's Speakers' Bureau.

Corporation Aiding Retailers Announces Operating Plans

Distribution Services, Inc., the corporation recently formed by twenty-four prominent drug wholesalers to assist independent retail pharmacists in obtaining access to prime retail drug store locations, has released a "Profile" brochure describing the method of its operation and listing over eighty wholesale drug establishments that are now ready to enter into negotiations, through D.S.I., for shopping center and other prime retail drug store leases.

The "Profile" has been mailed to some 5,000 realtors, builders, developers and mortgage lenders throughout the fifty states. It describes the WHY?, WHAT?, WHO?, AND HOW? of the D.S.I. operation. In a letter of transmittal, D.S.I. President, James E. Allen, stated, "A lease from Distribution Services, Inc., can very well be the answer you have been looking for—hard-core credit from a good retail pharmacist owner-operator who will build repeat traffic and maximum dollar sales per square foot in your locations."

The brochure, designed for ready reference, states under WHY DISTRIBUTION SERVICES, INC.? that a real need exists for this nationally credit-rated corporation in order to meet the loan requirements imposed upon builders and developers by mortgage lenders.

In the section WHAT IS D.S.I.?, it reveals that Distribution Services, Inc., is a MILLION DOLLAR PLUS corporation whose capital was contributed by the twenty-four wholesale drug shareholders. It states that leases signed by D.S.I. are capable of meeting the lending requirements of the most conservative lending institutions. The independent pharmacist who subleases from D.S.I. is to be further supported by these same full service drug wholesalers with their marketing know-how, advertising know-how, store layout and design, and the latest most up-to-date retail drub store operations techniques, according to the "Profile."

In explaining WHO IS D.S.I.?, the brochure states that it is a District of Columbia corporation and, through its shareholder members, services over 40 states, coast to coast; operates and maintains more than 80 full service wholesale drug warehouses; employs over 800 outside drug sales representatives; services more than 29,000 retail drug stores; has a combined net worth of over $100 MILLION and combined sales of over $500 MILLION.

The "Profile" also explains HOW to contact D.S.I. and lists all of the shareholder's wholesale drug locations across the country. President Allen, in his transmittal letter, urged recipients of the brochure to "Write today or call our Washington office—or any of the wholesale drug locations listed (in the brochure)—if you desire an AAA-1 lease and tenant for your drug store locations." The D.S.I. address is 1725 K Street, N.W., Washington, D. C., 20006—Code 202—659-2338.

Harrison Elected Convention Chairman

At a meeting of the officers and directors of the Buncombe County Pharmaceutical Society in Asheville on February 7, James W. (Jim) Harrison was elected chairman of local arrangements for the 1966 annual meeting of the NCPhA and Affiliated Auxiliaries.

Mr. Harrison is familiar with what will be needed to stage a successful convention. He acted in a similar capacity when the NCPhA last met in Asheville and his record of Association activity, Journal reporting and general support of pharmacy programs are well known to pharmacists and others throughout the state.

Jim is already in the preliminary stages of his convention responsibility. Details (some below) will appear in April-May issues of The Journal.

Important at this Point

Get your application in for the room of your choice. The dates are June 12-13-14. Headquarters will be at The Battery Park but the nearby George Vanderbilt will be used extensively. If you prefer motel accommodation, write the NCPhA for special bulletin listing rates of motels within easy walking distance of convention headquarters.

For the Children

Special, separate arrangements for the children. An ice cream party with favors, two dinners with food most preferred by children, entertainment. On June 13, bus tour to Camp Rockmont and June 14, bus tour to Camp Sequoyah on Reems Creek. Supervised entertainment/play; complete noon-day meal. Details by special bulletin with reservation.

SUCARYL® SWEETENERS ARE MADE TO TASTE MORE LIKE SUGAR THAN ANY OTHER NON-CALORIC SWEETENER

Leave it to Sucaryl sweeteners to innovate.

Back in the '50's, Sucaryl sweetening solution and tablets practically invented the low caloric sweetener market.

Today's Sucaryl sweetener is a little bit different from that first Sucaryl sweetener—sweeter, more natural tasting, made to taste more like real sugar than any other no-calorie sweetener on the market.

Why don't other manufacturers make their no-calorie sweeteners the same way?

Simply because they can't.

The Sucaryl formula is patented and has been for years.

It's meaningful innovations lik this that keep Sucaryl sweeteners o in front as the largest selling no calorie sweetener in the marketpla —and the major factor in pharma sales of low calorie sweeteners.

Keep Sucaryl sweeteners in mi next time a weight-watcher han you a prescription. You can't recor mend a non-caloric sweetener that tastes more like sugar.

Convalescent Aids Department an Opportunity for the Pharmacist

Pharmacists need to focus increased attention to the desirability of establishing a "Convalescent Aids Department" in their pharmacies. The implementation of Medicare on July 1 will create an opportunity in this area that pharmacists will not want to pass up—from the standpoint of professional service and profit.

Note this answer by HEW to the question: How about supplies and appliances used by the patient in the hospital, will their cost be covered? The answer is "yes" and after implementation of the extended home care service on January 1, 1967, it is anticipated the rental of such items as wheel chairs, walkers, etc. will be paid by Medicare.

A specialist in the field of renting convalescent supplies points out that (1) Six month rental usually returns money invested; (2) Average type equipment lasts 4 to 5 years, enabling you to rent same item many times after original investment has been received; (3) Used equipment can usually be sold for cost of new replacement; (4) One rule of thumb for figuring your rental fee is to charge your customer per month one sixth of your basic cost; and (5) The longer people live, the more need there will be for this type of equipment and the more opportunity there will be for imaginative pharmacists.

A "Convalescent Aids Department" can be established for as little as $350. For details, call any wholesale druggist.

Contribute to Loan Fund

Two much-needed contributions to the Consolidated Pharmacy Fund were received during February:

$500 from the Cornwell Drug Stores as an addition to the Cornwell Pharmacy Student Loan Fund.

$100 from Frank W. Dayvault to establish the Frank W. Dayvault Pharmacy Student Loan Fund.

The money has already been loaned to deserving/needy pharmacy students.

Honor for the Hicks

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hicks of Pikeville have been named the 1965 Outstanding Man and Woman of Pikeville. They were selected by a secret committee and presented a certificate at a recent meeting of the Pikeville Lions Club.

The award and recognition for service to the community is sponsored by the Pikeville Lions Club, Garden Club and Home Demonstration Club.

Mr. Hicks, owner and operator of the Pikeville Drug Company, is a member of the town board and a past president of the Pikeville Lions Club.

Mrs. Hicks is a member of the garden club and active in projects to help beautify the town. She is also active at St. Joseph Methodist Church.

Welfare Note

You can expedite payment of claims for prescription service by using a rubber stamp to record in the space provided on each claim for this information.

NAME OF PHARMACY

VENDOR NUMBER

If "name of pharmacist" is exact reproduction of your signature, stamp will cost $6 to $7, but name can be in block letters, in which case initial after stamped name. The cost—less than $1.75.

If this service is not available locally, send $1.60 to The Rose Agency, Inc., 111 West Parrish Street, Durham, N. C. along with (1) name of pharmacy as listed with Welfare; (2) Code (vendor) number; and (3) name of person who signed the working agreement.

Claims without Code (vendor) numbers are put aside by the Welfare employees—payment may be delayed 30 to 60 days as compared with properly completed, accurate claims.

Pharmaceutical Grave Yard

A large box of pharmaceuticals designated "Grave Yard" was pictured in the February 18 edition of The Elizabeth City Daily Advance.

Located in Todd's Pharmacy, the picture caption indicated that pharmacists had to dispose of significant amounts of obsolete drugs each year. Value of the pharmaceuticals, as pictured in Todd's pharmaceutical "Grave Yard" was put at $1,800.

Lederle "Gold Cup" Award Winners Announced

A district manager and two salesmen of the South Atlantic Region have been elected to the Lederle Laboratories' 1965 "Gold Cup" Club, according to James W. Skinner, Lederle Sales Manager.

R. S. Price of Decatur, Georgia, District Manager of the Atlanta District; J. T. Morrison of Asheville, North Carolina, and the Charlotte District; and L. R. Young of Decatur, Georgia, and the Atlanta District were cited for their "outstanding sales achievement" in 1965.

The Gold Cup Club, which was instituted by Lederle in 1947, honors those representatives whose sales achievements for one year rank in the top 5% of their region.

NEWS

from the local-sectional pharmaceutical societies

Buncombe County

The February 15 meeting of Buncombe County Pharmaceutical Society was held in Memorial Mission Hospital Medical Library with 25 members present. President Frank Akins presided.

How the pharmacist in community practice may aid the administrators of small hospitals and nursing homes in setting up pharmacy service and the legal obligations of both pertaining thereto was outlined in detail. Pharmacists were urged to familiarize themselves with this aspect of practice and offer their services. It was pointed out that, come July, bed capacities for the over-65 segment of the population will probably increase by 20% and the cost of medication for this group could reach $75 million dollars. Pharmacist participation in this drug procurement and dispensing aspect of social ideology could probably forestall further government intervention in the free enterprise system.

Other business centered on discussion and review of methods of implementing systems of adhering to the regulations in HR 2; Welfare Prescriptions; the forthcoming NCPhA Convention in Asheville; the Society's participation in National Poison Prevention Week. In the latter, it was disclosed that the Public Relations Committee had secured at least four speakers to address PTA, Civic, Church and other groups, using suitable background. The chairman of this committee had prepared scripts suitable for such addresses, and had localized the essence of the scripts to contain a resume of cases of accidental, intentional, and overdosage poisoning that had occurred in the county during 1965. Further break-down of the cases would show the substance ingested, the age, sex, of the victims, and the conditions and reasons that led to such ingestion.

Another of the features of the program that used the greatest portion of the time was the Prescription Blank Project in which a number of pharmacies had furnished pr scription blanks of standard and ethic nature to prescribers. It was voted th the Society not sponsor this project but l willing to determine if the 42 pharmaci in the county desire to renew this proje and, if so, to act as a clearing house handle its mechanics, even though only of these pharmacies have members in t Society. A previous motion that ". . . t Society opine that it be unethical for member or members to individually or concert furnish prescription blanks to prescriber" was not carried.

To depart from strict reporting and editorialize for a moment, it may be co cluded that past history points to the fa unanimous participation in this project not possible of attainment and that t conditions of the stipulation are furth deterrents to unanimous participatio Moreover, it is patent that those favori this action sensed this facet of the matt and, whatever their misgivings or hop realize the "tiger they have by the tail may yet be released with a minimum of cla scratches.

All in all, it was a beneficial and enjo able program, productive of encouragi enthusiasm. Three new members were e rolled.

UPJOHN LAUNCHES UNIQUE O-T-C PROMOTION PLAN

As part of a new concept in support of retail drugstore sales of its over-the-counter products, The Upjohn Company has launched a share-the-profit plan which will be available to drugstores nationally beginning this month.

Upon the new point of sale marketing program, Upjohn will allow to retailers 15 percent of their net cost of selected O-T-C products sold during two special promotion periods, John S. Campbell, non-prescription products manager, announced today.

"This share-the-profit plan, which we believe is unique in the pharmaceutical industry, gives the aggressive druggist the opportunity to put his professional reputation to work along with ours and earn 15 percent over the regular catalog discount he receives from Upjohn products," Mr. Campbell explained.

During the first sales period, beginning this month and running through July, participating druggists will receive the allowance on total sales of such popular Upjohn products as Kaopectate, Kao-Con, Mycitracin Ointment, Myciguent Ointment and Cream and Baciquent Ointment.

The second sales period will begin in August and continue through February, 1967. During these months, the allowance will be for sales of Cheracol D, the new non-narcotic formulation which was introduced nationally in January, Pryrroxate Capsules and Tablets, and Orthoxicol.

"This in-store sales promotion plan is the second phase of Upjohn's new non-prescription marketing program which we have undertaken as a concrete demonstration of Upjohn's faith and confidence in retail drugstore sales. The best way we know to demonstrate our confidence is by making the retailer a real partner in building sales," Mr. Campbell said.

The first phase of the program, which began January 1, was the institution of a cooperative advertising plan through which Upjohn allows participating stores 10 percent of their net cost of non-prescription Upjohn products purchased during the previous year for use in local newspaper, radio, TV advertising and other forms of promotion.

It is not necessary for retail druggists to participate in both plans, but it is to his distinct advantage to do so, Mr. Campbell pointed out. "Together, these merchandizing programs will snowball sales and profits. The in-store promotion will give added profits this year, while additional sales will increase the 10 percent advertising allowance which the druggist will be entitled to the following year.

"It is our intention to pursue both programs vigorously," Mr. Campbell added.

To earn the 15 percent in-store allowance, retail druggists are being asked to sign a formal agreement, available from their Upjohn representative or the regional sales headquarters. He will be required to provide beginning and ending inventories and evidence of retail sales during each promotional period.

Allowance will be made within 60 days following each promotional period.

NCAP Meets in Winston-Salem

Theme of the Third Annual Meeting of the North Carolina Association of Professions, held in Winston-Salem on March 9, was "Professional Education."

Claude Paoloni of Greensboro moderated a panel presentation on "Professional Education" which included representatives from architecture, medicine, professional engineering, veterinary medicine and pharmacy.

Dean George P. Hager of the UNC School of Pharmacy represented Pharmacy on the panel.

W. J. Smith, secretary of NCPhA, presented certificates of appreciation to the first three presidents of NCPhA: T. E. Cooke of Durham, Dr. John Robert Kernodle of Burlington, and Dr. Earl L. Knox of Raleigh.

ANOTHER WAY TO SERVE

The Extended Care provision of Medicare where hospitalized patients of the 65 and over segment of our population are entitled to Nursing Home care will offer an opportunity for the pharmacist to participate in the procurement and distribution of the drugs needed for those patients.

Of the nearly 18½ million over-65 population almost 2½ million require hospitalization. This number could increase to three million in 1967. The percentage needing or availing themselves of extended care is problematical, but a fair estimate would place the figure at 50%.

Of the approximate 15,000 nursing homes, about one-fourth meet the requirements of the various agencies, including Boards of Pharmacy, that are enjoined to require legal dispensing of drugs for patients in those homes. So called rest homes are not included, although it is possible that many of them will seek to alter their functions and operations to conform to requirements for nursing homes.

If we concede the average number of beds in these nursing homes to be 25, it i obvious the present number of homes wil prove inadequate in 1967. This shortag will be corrected. Even now the expansio of facilities has been started; Federa agencies will advance funds to individual and co-operations for construction. The will be constructed specifically for the in tended function; they will be larger. Al ready a huge motel concern has planne 400 such buildings and will issue franchise to operators. They envision units of 50 t 100 beds. Many more will be constructe and private enterprise will have its chanc North Carolina is sure to have a share i this increase.

The annual drug cost (literally cost) coul hardly be less than $75 million and fees an administration charges would raise thi figure to a greater amount.

A majority of these nursing homes coul be served by the community pharmacist wh could collect the patients prescriptions an fill them in his own pharmacy. Or he coul set up a dispensary and spend a certai number of hours daily or weekly there. H would be responsible for procuremen storage and dispensing of drugs. Availa bility of medication to be administered du ing his absence could be arranged. The en tire arrangement would meet legal requir ments and he could meet his responsibilitie with the cooperation of the administrato and other personnel. Or he could lease pharmacy in one of the larger homes an operate it as his own enterprise. Or h could go in the nursing home business an build his own—large enough to justif having a pharmacy. He could serve mo than one such home; he could make career of it.

The small hospital without a pharmac or a pharmacist could also be served i much the same manner.

The pharmacist could learn the essenc of this sort of practice by the semina courses advanced by the NCSHP in th project formulated to aid in the develo ment and improvement of pharmacy servic in hospitals of the state.

The major problem in this dispensing picture is the dearth of pharmacists. The project mentioned will do much to alleviate this lack. It also points to the fact that the pharmacist is, when he takes on this service, embracing not another cult but enlarging his usefulness. If the vistas of these new horizons beckon him and he heeds the beckoning, he will have contributed something of value to the profession, and he also will have gained for himself a prestige quite beyond the mere monetary payment for service rendered.

It behooves pharmacy, as exemplified by the community pharmacist, to further explore this added facet of practice and to staff these dispensaries. These drugs are going to be made available willy nilly; it is logical that the pharmacist be the dispenser in a system of his own enterprise. It is much better so, than that a capricious government operate it through a "pork barrel" bureau. And do not be deluded that such a socialistic concept would fail to get either Congressional or autocratic sanction.

Pfizer's Pharmaceutical Divisions Issue Updated Pharmacy Career Booklet

A completely revised and updated edition of the recruiting booklet, Your Career Opportunities in Pharmacy, has been published by Pfizer's two pharmaceutical marketing divisions, Pfizer Laboratories and J. B. Roerig and Company.

In a joint foreword to the booklet, four pharmacy leaders cite a "critical" need for more pharmacists as the trend in this country moves toward more health services. The leaders are: William S. Apple, Ph.D., executive director, American Pharmaceutical Association; James H. Merritt, executive vice president, National Association of Chain Drug Stores, Inc.; Joseph A. Oddis, executive secretary, American Society of Hospital Pharmacists, and Willard B. Simmons, executive secretary, National Association of Retail Druggists.

They recommend to the youthful readers: "Compare the many advantages that pharmacy offers with any other career that interests you. The need for qualified young men and women in pharmacy is critical and it is great. This could be the most important decision that you will make."

More than 800,000 copies of this popular booklet have been distributed since the first edition was published in 1958. Four additional printings were required to meet the demand from pharmacists and pharmacy organizations, colleges and schools, career and other groups and interested individuals.

The 27-page booklet, available without cost, is designed primarily for high school students and college freshmen and sophomores with a special message for women, who now comprise 8 per cent of the pharmacist population and 12 per cent of the pharmacy college enrollment.

A wide range of career opportunities including those in retail pharmacy, hospital pharmacy, government service, including the Peace Corps; and industry are discussed.

The trend in pharmacy education toward more academic preparation through five- and six-year university programs is described with a look at the "two-three," "one-four" and "straight five" year pharmacy curriculums.

Earning prospects for pharmacists are reported to be "good and getting better" by the booklet which examines income expectations from the specific types of pharmacy careers.

An extensive list of colleges of pharmacy with addresses and names of deans or directors is provided along with information about financial assistance. Also included is a listing of additional sources of information for the earnest student interested in pharmacy as a career.

Your Career Opportunities in Pharmacy is one of three publications in the Pfizer health careers library. Other titles in the series are: Your Career Opportunities in Medicine and Your Career Opportunities in Hospitals.

The booklets are available free by writing the Educational Services Department, Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc., 235 East 42nd Street, New York, N. Y., 10017.

UNC PHARMACY SCHOOL NOTES

Pharmacy Dean Announces 36 Honor Students at UNC

Dean G. P. Hager of the School of Pharmacy, University of North Carolina, has announced the names of pharmacy students making the Honor Roll (average of 3.0 or better) for the fall semester, which ended in January. This list does not include prepharmacy freshmen who are students in the General College.

The Honor Roll included: Nancy Ruth Adams, Carolina Beach; John William Bailey, II, Hendersonville; Gerald Kenneth Bliss, Charlotte; Ernest Clyde Buchanan, Kinston; John Russell Buchanan, Nashville; Bonnie Claire Butler, Gastonia; Rena Lynn Canady, Selma; Janet Marie Deal, Lenoir; Walter Clark Doggett, Sumnerfield; Patsy Ann Dunn, Chapel Hill; Margaret Anne Gebhardt, Charlotte; Sandra Jean Gilbert, Maxton; Susan Gertrude Kretz, Hendersonville; James Ray Hall, Sanford; Gregory Lee Jenkins, Star; James Stephen Kennedy, Shelby; Timothy Ray Kroboth, Charlotte; Paul Gray Martin, Pilot Mt.; Howard Mitchell Michael, Thomasville; George William Moore, Jr., Conover; Jack Ledwell Morgan, Jr., Raleigh; Neill Hector Musselwhite, III, Carolina Beach; Patricia Ann Owens, McGrady; Graham Abner Patrick, Greensboro; June Richardson Peddycord, Kernersville; Judie Wayne Phillips, Hayesville; John Marshall Pinnix, III, Kernersville; James Wesley Powers, Elkin; Ellen Chenault Robinson; Huntsville, Ala.; Alva Broughton Sellers, Asheboro; Calvin Albert Simmons, Jr., Siler City; Larry Elvin Smyre, Hickory; Johnnie Eugene Sutton, La Grange; Mary Gray Teague, Fayetteville; Robert Douglas Wilkerson, Wilson; Benjamin Odell Williams, Morganton; Ronald Craig Zahray, Teaneck, N. J.

A new semester has started and it is pleasing to report the students have withstood well the trial and tribulations of the fall term. The total undergraduate enrollment has been maintained at almost the same level as that at the beginning of the school year. There has been a net loss of only two which is most remarkable considering the many factors that tend to decrease enrollment. The student body numbers 306.

The Dental Therapeutics Seminar started on February 16 and ends on March 16. The program was designed to provide the pharmacist with a better understanding of the diseases and their manifestations found in the oral cavity; and to discuss the therapeutic uses and abuses of drugs affecting the oral cavity. With the general interest that has developed in recent years and the great demand for graduate pharmacists, surveys have been conducted and discussions have been held relative to offering courses in the School of Pharmacy during the summer. The feasibility and advisability of this were then considered by the faculty which gave the proposal enthusiastic approval and recommended the following courses be given: first session—Pharmacy 30 (calculations), Pharmacy 31 (Principles of Pharmacy), Pharmaceutical Chemistry 64 (Drug Analysis), Pharmacy 88 and 89 (Prescription Specialties); second session—Pharmaceutical Chemistry 51 (Biochemistry). If the predicted interest materializes, these courses will be available to pharmacy students and graduates in the 1966 summer session.

Dr. Monroe E. Wall, Director of the Natural Products Laboratory at the Research Triangle Institute, will be a guest speaker in the School of Pharmacy on March 10. The topic of his presentation is "Biologically Active Flavonoids" with emphasis on synthesis and structure—activity relationships.

Dean Hager attended a meeting of the Executive Committee of the APhA Academy of Pharmaceutical Sciences in Washington, D. C. on February 10.

Mr. Vaughn Bryson (1960 UNC Pharmacy graduate) and Mr. John Crooks, Eli Lilly & Co., visited the School of Pharmacy on February 3 and 4.

Miss Yung Sook Kim, a graduate student at the School of Pharmacy, has passed her oral and written examinations for the Ph.D. degree in the area of Medicinal Chemistry.

Dr. Jack K. Wier, Assistant Professor of Pharmacognosy, and his wife attended the Valentine Day dinner-dance of the Alamance County Pharmaceutical Association on February 12 at the Elk's Club in Burlington.

Dr. Bosomworth and Dr. Luckens visited the School of Pharmacy on February 7 and consulted members of the faculty concerning the selection of a dean for the College of Pharmacy at the University of Kentucky.

Dean Hager and Dr. Paul Munson, Chairman of the Department of Pharmacology, represented the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill at a meeting with representatives of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturer Association, Dr. John Adams and Mr. Jack Kelly, in Raleigh on February 14. The purpose of the meeting was to consider patent policies of the universities associated with the Researeh Triangle Park.

Dr. Hugh F. Kabat and Mrs. Kabat visited in the Institute of Pharmacy and the School of Pharmacy on February 11 and 12. Dr. Kabat is Associate Professor in the College of Pharmacy at the University of Minnesota and is in charge of that institution's program in Hospital Pharmacy.

Dean Hager attended the North Carolina Conference on Implementation of Medicare and Related Services in Raleigh on February 18 and 19.

Dr. Jowdy attended a Conference on Nursing Homes held in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington, D. C. on January 5.

Mr. Gary Newton, Fayetteville pharmacist, was guest lecturer in Pharmacy Management on February 9. He discussed "The Professional Fee" with the members of the 1966 graduating class.

Dr. J. K. Wier made a trip to the Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio on February 18 in his capacity as consultant to the F. W. Dodge Co.

Dr. William W. Taylor attended SPECIAL CONFERENCE ON DRUG DISTRIBUTION conducted by the American Society of Hospital Pharmacists in Washington, D. C. December 7-10, 1965. The timeliness of subject may perhaps be gauged by the registration of nearly 300 who attended the activity covering several days, but it is also interesting to tally the entire N. C. attendance: Bud Bradshaw, Jr. of Kinston (1955), Dr. Earl T. Brown of Salisbury (1952), Donald K. Chapman and his family of Winston-Salem (1958), James

Kappa Epsilon News

Lambda Chapter of Kappa Epsilon held informal rush on February 12 at the Pharmacy School where refreshments were served and the sisters and prospective pledges became better acquainted socially. The sisters then explained the purposes and activities of Kappa Epsilon to interested girls.

The following week, bids were to be delivered to the new girls by their big sisters, after which the sisters and future pledges hope to enjoy a pizza supper at one of the Chapel Hill restaurants. The pledging ceremony is planned for early March. The thirty-six Kappa Epsilon sisters are looking forward to a significant increase in number to aid in planning and carrying out new projects, both this semester and next year.

Phi Delta Chi

Allan P. Barkley of Raleigh, Ken W. Burleson of Spruce Pine, Ronnie L. Swaim of Boonville and Ben O. Williams of Morganton were initiated into brotherhood February 3, 1966. All of these men pledged in September and are presently 2/5's.

Lynn McCaskill, H. F. Rickard and Ed Lowdermilk represented Alpha Gamma Chapter at the 1965 Grand Council in Philadelphia, December 26-30. Detroit, Michigan was selected as the site of the next Grand Council, which will be in 1967.

The House purchased a new color TV shortly after Christmas. As the old one did leave something to be desired and our financial situation seemed bright, the brothers decided that it was a needed and good investment.

APhA-NCPhA Student Branches

On February 8, the Student Chapter of the APhA and NCPhA held its regular meeting in the auditorium of Beard Hall, UNC.

Neill Musselwhite, acting on behalf of the Student Body, presented a gift to Dr. E. A. Brecht in recognition of his years of outstanding service to the School of Pharmacy.

Dean George P. Hager, in discussing "Student Organizations as an Educational Medium," emphasized the need for active participation in professional organizations, which eventually lead to effective service in one's chosen field.

Pharmacy Wives

The February 17th meeting of the Pharmacy Wives Organization (UNC Student Wives) featured a talk on interior decorating by Mrs. Lancaster of Stylecraft Interiors of Durham. Mrs. Lancaster used as her theme, ''Furnishing Your New Home Or Apartment.''

Guests for the meeting were members of the Chapel Hill Woman's Pharmaceutical Auxiliary.

Durham-Chapel Hill

On February 23 a joint meeting of the Durham Mortar-and-Pestle Club and the Chapel Hill Auxiliary was held at Blair House. Beginning with a coffee at 11:30 a.m., a session followed at which Mrs. D. Blanton, Jr., state auxiliary president, addressed the group.

Mrs. J. L. Sutton, president of the Chapel Hill group, welcomed the group—and Mrs. Hunter Kelly, president of the Durham members, introduced the guest speaker.

Luncheon followed, at which Mrs. I. W. Rose, a past-president of the state auxiliary, asked the invocation.

Mrs. Robert B. Hall of Mocksville was a guest, and Mrs. George P. Hager, wife of the dean of the UNC School of Pharmacy, was welcomed into the group.

Greensboro

The Greensboro Drug Club Auxiliary met February 22, 1966, for luncheon at the King's Inn. Mrs. Virginia McFalls, chaplain, gave the invocation, which was followed by the introduction of the guest speaker, Thomas Picard, Assistant Director of Planning for Greensboro. Mr. Picard discussed urban renewal as it applies to downtown Greensboro, using slides of the city now and the model proposed by the planning board. After his remarks, Mr. Picard answered many questions from the group.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Jean Payne, chairman; Mrs. Virginia McFalls; and Mrs. Catherine Whitely. The door prize was won by Mrs. Betty Montgomery.

After the program, Mrs. Betty Montgomery, president, conducted the business meeting. She announced that the meeting in March is to be held at the home of Mrs. Helen Dukes at 8:00 P.M. A motion was made and carried that this meeting be a combination bake sale, white elephant sale, and auction, the proceeds to be used for the scholarship fund. Committee reports were made and, there being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

Raleigh

The February meeting of the Raleigh Woman's Drug Club was held at Balentine's Restaurant.

The upcoming bridge benefit was discussed, and each member was asked to contribute $3 to buy prizes. Husbands and friends are to be invited.

Rowan-Davie

At the February meeting of the Rowan-Davie Drug Auxiliary, held at the Holiday Inn of Salisbury, Mrs. Nathan Bunker spoke on ''Do Blondes Have the Most Fun?''

Devotions for the meeting were given by Mrs. George Albright who used ''The Youth of the Soul'' as her theme. Mrs. Frank Skinner, president, presided at the session.

Hostesses were Mrs. E. R. Fuller, Mrs. Paul Miller, and Mrs. Fred Medlin.

It was announced that the March meeting would be a hat judging contest on ''The New Spring Bonnets.''

Gaston

The March meeting of the Gaston Pharmaceutical Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. John McDonald. Associate hostess was Mrs. Jack Friday.

Mrs. Truman Hudson, president, conducted the meeting. In lieu of a program, members had a workshop which consisted of making hospital tray favors and also posters promoting the Eye-Bank, these to be placed in drug stores in the county.

A covered dish luncheon was served.

The Doctor's View

The new law can mean one sure thing—more work—for doctors, and most of them in this area already are as busy as they want to be or should be. Nevertheless, the doctors generally agree that the law is wise and necessary.

"A tremendous amount of these drugs is being manufactured and dispensed across the nation without ever having been prescribed by a doctor," said one local physician, "and this situation is having many very bad affects."

Compliance with the new law will mean that already crowded waiting rooms in doctors' offices frequently may be even more packed with people, and the waiting periods may be longer. This will be a natural result when conscientious physicians insist on checking patients before ordering refills for expired prescriptions.

For doctors who dispense medicines from their own offices, the new law will entail a substantial amount of additional record keeping, just as is the case for pharmacists. Additional telephone calls from pharmacists also will help to further fill the busy doctor's day.

Narcotic drugs are not covered by the new law, since tight regulations on dispensing of these have been in effect since 1914. Doctors' prescriptions must be provided individually for refills, and for a "Type A" narcotic, the most powerful, a doctor cannot phone in the prescription but must send it in writing.

Paragoric, the old cure-all which has been much abused in some cases, still may be dispensed over the drugstore counter but the druggist must in each case get the name and address of the purchaser.

The Time Is Now

The immediate future presents a fruitful opportunity for service by pharmacists . . . opportunities which, if properly utilized, can more firmly expand the pharmacist's professional service to his patrons and to his community.

First on the list is Medicare. Unless special effort is made to explain in detail exactly what eligible beneficiaries may and may not expect on July 1, there will be a host of frustrated, resentful and angry individuals once the initial phase of Medicare is implemented.

This is not the sole responsibility of pharmacists but you, along with other members of the health team, can be helpful in explaining just what Medicare does and does not provide. Towards that end, the basic features of Medicare are published in this issue of The Journal.

Nursing homes—there are 82 in North Carolina—will be an important part of the Medicare picture. The service-minded pharmacist will look for opportunities to work with the management of such homes . . . by providing medication and convalescent supplies and by follow-thru in the homes with professional advice and instruction.

The N. C. Board of Pharmacy and the NCPhA, working with other health agencies in the state, have developed an "Emergency Medical Kit" which will be exhibited in Asheville at both the medical and pharmaceutical conventions. It is anticipated pharmacists will maintain these kits on a continuing-use basis.

More than 100 N. C. hospitals do not have the service of a pharmacist. The Medical Care Commission is looking into the situation and, as previously announced, a N. C. Hospital Pharmacy Project will be in operation this year. Community pharmacists will have an important stake in the success or failure of this Project, which will seek to direct their interest for part-time service in their local hospitals.

If you are looking for a chance to put your knowledge and professional know-how to greater use, the time is now. Start with Medicare. That will keep you busy for the next sixty days.

Double Prize Winner

W. L. (Bill) Johnson, Corner Drug Store, Franklinton, is a double prize winner.

Bill won sixth prize (an end aisle display valued at $85) in Vick Chemical Company's "Show More—Sell More" display contest.

And a short time later, Grove Laboratories notified Bill he has been selected as a Third Prize Winner in the Sportacular Contest. The prize was a Sony 5" Micro Television.

Two Student Body Presidents Team Up In Morganton

While a student at the UNC School of Pharmacy, Jack L. Alexander served as president of the Student Body.

Serving in the same capacity but several years earlier was Donald J. Miller.

The two pharmacists—Don and Jack—are now associated in the operation of Miller's Pharmacy, Morganton.

Prior to establishing the pharmacy in Morganton, Don was a medical service representative for Eli Lilly and Company. Jack worked with Dave Claytor in Greensboro and then in Valdese with the Waldensian Pharmacy before moving on to Morganton.

APIP Executive Board Plans Annual Meeting

The executive committee of the N. C. Academy of Practical Instructors in Pharmacy, meeting in Chapel Hill on March 27, set the program for the annual meeting to be held in Asheville on June 12.

Dr. Melvin Chambers gave a detailed report of the Pharmacy Preceptor Seminar held in Warsaw and a similar report of the Hickory meeting was presented by Gold Propst. Both seminars gave the registrants an opportunity to become more fully informed about the objectives of the intern training program in North Carolina.

It was announced that seminar plans had been completed for Winston-Salem and Greensboro.

The student compensation survey information, as published in the December, 1965 issue of THE CAROLINA JOURNAL OF PHARMACY, will be reprinted and circulated by means of the April issue of The Tar Hee Digest. Also, the Academy will bring it student employment record up-to-date.

John Mills, president of the Academy, ap pointed the following committee on nomi nations: Al Mebane, chairman, Claude Pao loni, Fletcher Dean, Edwin Royall an John Pickard.

Leon Graham of Wallace, Daniel Rhode of Morganton and C. L. Shields of Jackson ville were designated "Fellows" in th N. C. Academy of Practical Instructor in Pharmacy.

Present for the meeting were John Mills President, who presided; P. R. Jenkins Herman Lynch, H. G. Price, George McLarty Kenneth Edwards, G. B. Propst, Geral Stahl, Dr. Melvin Chambers and W. J Smith.

A North Carolina Prescription Audit

REBECCA P. MCCALL, LARRY C. KIZIAH AND A. W. JOWDY

This study was undertaken to illustrate he value of a prescription audit in market esearch.

The idea for such a study is not original. t has been used by many investigators for ational, regional and local studies.

The data from which averages were calulated were collected by Pharmacy Adinistration students from 47 North Caroina pharmacies and represented a sample f 11,280 prescriptions selected to reflect easonal prescribing trends during 1964.

Results

ENERICS: Generic nomenclature was used y physicians on 3.6% of the prescription rders.

OMPOUNDED PRESCRIPTIONS: Comounding was required in the dispensing of % of the prescription orders.[1]

EFILL DATA: Refill instructions were laced on 28.5% of the prescriptions in the ample.

RESCRIPTIONS VIA PHONE: The telehone was used to order 23.5% of the preriptions.

RESCRIPTIONS VIA PHONE WITH EFILL INSTRUCTIONS: Since refill inructions are important for many reasons the patient, physician and pharmacist, study was made to determine the frequency ith which this information was received hen the original prescription was ordered y phone. Tabulation revealed that refill ata appeared on only 19.7% of those rescriptions ordered in this manner or .6% of the total sample. This would indiate that pharmacy practitioners are forfeitg opportunities to request such informaon.

RESCRIPTION CHARGE: Prescription harges are always an interesting as well as provocative topic. Inspection of Table I will reveal the frequency distribution of the prescription charge. It is striking to note that 2.9% of the prescription orders in this sample were dispensed to the patient at a charge below $1.00. It is always interesting to note that 28.4% of the charges fell in the range $2.00-$2.99. Column 3 of Table I indicates that over one-half of the prescriptions in this sample were dispensed to the patient at a charge below $3.00.

METHODS BY WHICH THE PRESCRIPTION CHARGE WAS DETERMINED: The method by which the prescription charge was determined was noted. Percentage mark up was used by 70.3% of the pharmacies that participated. Percentage mark up + "Professional Fee" was used by 27.7%. Two percent of those who reported failed to designate the method by which the prescription charge was determined.

Table I.

FREQUENCY DISTRIBUTION OF PRESCRIPTION CHARGES

Rx Charge	Per Cent Distribution	Cumulative Per Cent Distribution
Below $1.00	2.9%	2.9%
$ 1.00 to $1.99	28.4	31.3
$ 2.00 to $2.99	25.0	56.3
$ 3.00 to $3.99	19.6	75.9
$ 4.00 to $4.99	10.4	86.3
$ 5.00 to $5.99	6.2	92.5
$ 6.00 to $6.99	3.6	96.1
$ 7.00 to $7.99	1.6	97.7
$ 8.00 to $8.99	0.8	98.5

The day they buried the magic pipeline

The era of the wholesaler was through—the magic pipeline was dead. It should have been the biggest funeral in the history of distribution. It should have been a day of sorrow, of memories. It wasn't—no one had the time.

Yes, the long battle was over—it had to happen. Your wholesaler had lived through the advent of the Five and Ten, the Supermarket, the Discount House. He watched his net drop to 3%, to 2%, to 1.2%. He watched you buy more and more direct from his sources of supply. And he finally just rolled over and died.

This was the day that every retail druggist in America went big league—bought everything direct. It was the day that over 50,000 retailers started to learn the Myth of Direct Buying.

It was the day that one wholesaler salesman was replaced by hundreds of manufacturers' salesmen. Retailers were on the phone, not to their local wholesaler, but to manufacturers somewhere in Kokomo—in Los Angeles and other far off places. And then the deliveries started—the 83 items that used to come from one wholesaler ended up being shipped from 65 different manufacturers in 35 cities in 20 different states. All of a sudden there was no time for customers—no room either. Delivery trucks were causing a traffic jam outside, delivery men were causing a traffic jam inside. And this was just the beginning.

If you're going to skip the wholesaler—better get a big parking lot and lots of help and lots of room—and lots of capital—and lots of everything.

They buried the magic pipeline and kept the cemetery open for retail stores that couldn't possibly operate without the best friend they ever had—their wholesaler.

Aren't you glad that everything written here is just fantasy and that you can keep it that way. Let the manufacturers manufacture—but you buy everything you can from the expert in your business. Buy Direct From Your Wholesaler. The business you save may be your own.

If they're going to bury a pipeline—make sure it belongs to an oil company—let's all keep that magic pipeline (your wholesaler) alive and healthy—that pipeline is your store's lifeline.

More Pharmaceutical Services and More Pharmacists

GEORGE P. HAGER, Dean, School of Pharmacy, UNC

Selective Service System policies that will help to relieve the rapidly developing pharmacy manpower problem are urgently needed. The need should not be established solely on the basis of numbers, but the pertinent numbers are very significant. They serve as a background for other arguments that strongly support the proposition that the pharmacy manpower situation has now reached a critical stage with regard to proper medical care and community health for a modern American society.

The number, 3600, is very significant. It is the average number of graduates of colleges of pharmacy each year since World War II. It is also the approximate number of graduates anticipated in 1966, 1967, and 1968.

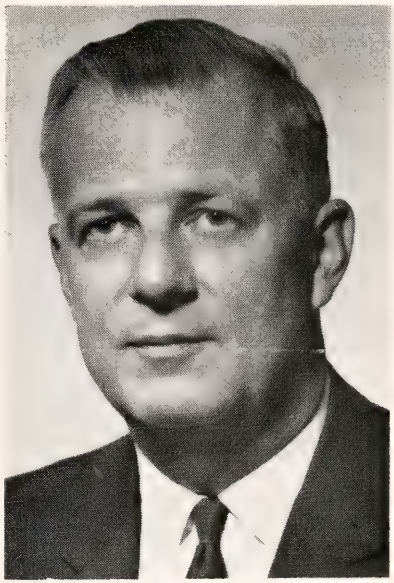

The number, 4300, is also very important. It is the number of pharmacists that are lost to the profession each year through death and retirement. It corresponds to 3.5% of the approximately 123,000 pharmacists, pharmaceutical technologists, and pharmaceutical scientists who presently occupy positions in community pharmacies, hospital pharmacies, the divisions of the pharmaceutical industry (research, development, production, control, and marketing), government agencies, and academic institutions.

If the annual need for graduates, given above as 4300, be refined to accommodate the demands of a rapidly growing population (to maintain 1 pharmacist for each 1000) and to accommodate the new demands of government, industry, and academic institutions; it escalates to 6750 at the present time and to 8000 by 1970.

It is obvious that, on the basis of a minimum estimate of the annual replacement need (4300), a deficit has been developing at the rate of approximately 700 per year and no relief can be anticipated in the foreseeable future on the basis of the number of students currently enrolled. (In 1964, the increment to the cumulated deficit was 2100. In that year only 2200 students graduated from colleges of pharmacy because of the mandatory change from a 4- to a 5-year curriculum starting with the class entering in 1960).

Each year, at least in part as a result implied in the numbers given above, the differential between the demand for the graduates of colleges of pharmacy and the supply thereof continues to increase at a rate and has now reached a magnitude that is alarming. The differential is reflected in the salaries that are paid for the services of the young graduate. According to the "Road Map of Industry," No. 1454, published by the National Industrial Conference Board, Inc., on November 8, 1963, the median salary for graduates of colleges of pharmacy at the bachelor's level in 1960 and two years after graduation in 1958, exceeded the median salaries of all other bachelor's degree recipients.

The logical question arises, "Why has the rapidly increasing manpower deficit not made a greater impact on pharmaceutical services of all types?" It has made a considerable impact, but an impact that has, until now, been somewhat cushioned. The average pharmacist in the large population of community and hospital pharmacists spent a smaller proportion of his time in his professional activities twenty years ago. He has, perforce, been devoting more and more of his time to his increasing professional responsibilities. In itself, this is good. However, when the average pharmacist must spend all of his time in professional activities, the "cushion" will have disappeared. Then the full impact of the developing deficit will be felt. Moreover, it is now much later than we may think.

In the interest of proper medical care and community health, we must not be mouse-trapped. Expanding pharmaceutical services and more pharmacists to render those services are a national necessity.

Dispensing prescribed medication is, perhaps, the most obvious but not the exclusive —not even the most important—professional service of the pharmacist in community and hospital practice. During the same period in which the pharmacist manpower deficit has been developing, the number of prescriptions has more than doubled from 371 million in 1947 to 965 million in 1965 (DRUG TOPICS, May 24, 1948, page 2; ibid., February 7, 1966, page 8). The rebuttal that a growing proportion, and now a majority, of medications dispensed on prescriptions are "prefabricated" is misleading. The time a pharmacist must spend interpreting the prescription order, preparing the label, making his records, and counseling the patron or consulting the physician is independent of the "extemporaneously-compounded" or "prefabricated" nature of the medication. The leveling effect of these operations, in view of the greatly increased number of prescriptions, has obliterated the effect of the increasing proportion of prefabricated medications.

Concurrent with the increase in prefabr cated medications (tending to reduce t need for the pharmacist's manipulati skill), an increasing need for the pharm cist's intellectual skill has occurred. T number of different medications he mu dispense has increased greatly. Moreove he now deals with a very dynamic armame tarium. Completely new classes of dru are introduced. Safer and more effecti drugs come into being. Drugs, widely us formerly, are withdrawn—sometimes qui suddenly. It should be emphasized that t drugs dispensed by the modern communi and hospital pharmacists are more poten hence potentially more hazardous—mo specific and, therefore, requiring great precision in their use with regard to indic tions and contraindications.

Today, as never before, the pharmacist intellectual skill is required for proper me cal care and community health. His co sultations with physicians constitutes o of the best safeguards against medicati error—the costly errors that result when t wrong drug or dosage is given (safe factor) and also when the right drug dosage is not given (efficacy factor). T pharmacist's counselling of his patro especially the great number of his patro who are self-diagnosing and self-medicati can save lives and spare suffering. plays a key role in health communicatio to the public. The pharmacist's insight in the health problems of his community a his professional intervention (even in t absence of tangible reward, reasonal recognition, and adequate encouragemen make him an important figure in commun health (He has been called a "collaborati epidemiologist"). More and more, t modern pharmacist's most important serv to society depends less on what he does a more on what he knows.

The pharmacist manpower deficit brought into very sharp focus when t need for his intellectual skill—as well as t need for his manipulative skill—is prope assessed. Clearly, in order to satisfy t latter needs and not to leave the form needs unsatisfied, every pharmacist ne more time to serve his patrons and m pharmacists are needed.

Without a doubt, the ambitious new p rams for medical care (Medicare, control of eart disease, cancer and stroke, mental ealth programs, etc.) will soon high-light he deficit and make clearly evident the eed for improving the pharmacy manpower ituation. The greatly increased demands of hese programs on health professionals of all ypes make the key position of the pharmaist even more significant. The rapidly increasing pharmacy manpower deficit, if unhecked and not reversed, will surely mitigate gainst the effectiveness of these important ew programs and delay seriously the attainient of their objectives.

The younger pharmacist, the recent graduate of vastly improved and extended educaional programs, in short, those pharmacists ho, as a class, can make the greatest ontribution and who are, at the same time, vulnerable to the draft deserves the special consideration that the Selective Service System gives to other health professionals. If they are drafted as pharmacists in accordance with the new provisions of the "doctor's draft" law, they will serve the armed forces well and in the role for which they have been prepared. However, they should not be subject to induction for roles that are not commensurate with their excellent professional training. They are engaged in an "occupation" that has now become "critical" for proper medical care and community health. Pharmacy should now be so-designated—and the deficit in pharmacy manpower in the civilian economy thus relieved and the supply of properly trained pharmacists that is required for the armed services now and in the future thus preserved.

Directors Adopt $31,000 Budget

Robert B. Hall of Mocksville was elected resident of the North Carolina Pharmaceu- cal Research Foundation at a meeting of he Foundation directors held in Chapel ill on March 16. He succeeds W. B. urley of Windsor, who presided at the eeting.

D. R. Davis of Williamston was named ce-president and Dr. A. W. Jowdy of hapel Hill was named secretary. The N. C. ational Bank of Durham continues as easurer and fiscal agent.

Two new directors—Jesse M. Pike of oncord and W. D. Welch, Jr. of Washing- n—and four directors—Wade A. Gilliam Winston-Salem, W. L. West of Roseboro, e P. Barbour of Burlington and I. T. eamer of Durham—starting new 4-year rms, were recognized.

Dr. George P. Hager, Dean of the UNC hool of Pharmacy, was elected an ex- icio director.

The directors increased the annual founda- n budget from $21,000 to $31,000. The dget included funds for three NCPRF fellowships, five NCPRF scholarships, summer tuition aid, faculty professional grants, recruitment materials, faculty summer research support, visual aid equipment, faculty incentive award and dictating and transcribing equipment.

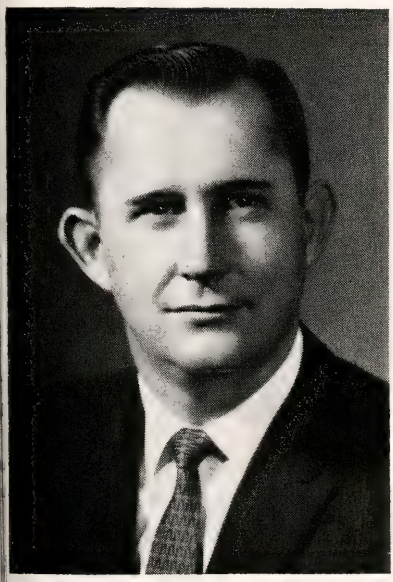

During the past year, $17,058.18 was disbursed by NCPRF leaving a cash balance on March 1, 1966 of $42,562.11. The endowment fund on same date amounted to $251,-944.72.

The directors voted to finance a tour abroad for Dr. Edward A. Brecht, who has stepped down from his post as secretary of the Foundation. The tour, of Dr. Brecht's selection, is expected to take place in May.

Newly elected members of the Foundation's executive committee are Dewey Mims and I. T. Reamer of Durham, C. C. Fordham, Jr. of Greensboro and Edwin R. Fuller of Salisbury. Ralph P. Rogers, Jr. of Durham continues as a member of the committee.

In 19 years the Foundation has received $333,050 in contributions and $111,900 in interest/dividends for a total of $444,950. Disbursements include $130,230 to UNC and $20,210 for operating expenses, leaving net worth of $294,510.

The Foundation's fund soliciting is through a county chairman setup. This past year, 41 county chairmen sent in reports. The average contribution per pharmacy was $6.28. Davie County was at the top with an average of $71.25. Some counties average less than $2 per pharmacy. Mail contributions are significant in the Foundation's program.

Summary of Medicare Provisions

There are in effect five different types of coverage under the Medicare-SMI program:

1. Basic non-contributory plan—Part A:
 (a) In-hospital coverage.
 (b) Out-patient hospital diagnostic services.
 (c) Post-hospital extended care services (effective Jan. 1, 1967).
 (d) Post-hospital home health care services.
2. Contributory supplemental medical insurance program—Part B (voluntary participation).

All plans except the post-hospital extended care services programs start July 1, 1966.

In-Hospital Coverage (Part A)

Available: July 1, 1966.

Deductible: $40, subject to revision by administrative procedure, effective in 1969, to reflect changes in hospitalization costs.

Coinsurance: Patient pays $10 a day (one-fourth deductible effective in 1969) after 60th day.

Limitations: 90 days of coverage in each "spell of illness."

Tuberculosis limitation: 90 days reduced by days patient has been hospitalized in tuberculosis hospital during 90 days immediately preceding entitlement to coverage.

Psychiatric limitation: 90 days reduced by days patient has been hospitalized in psychiatric hospital during the 90 days immediately preceding entitlement to coverage.

Also, 190-day lifetime limitation which is not decreased by preceding rule.

Spell of illness": A period beginning with the first day of hospitalization and ending after the patient has been out of the hospital or an extended care facility for 60 consecutive days.

In-hospital benefits provided: Full cost of:

1. Room and board in two to four bed room; private room if medically indicated.
2. Operating room.
3. Laboratory tests.
4. X-rays.
5. Dressings.
6. General nursing services.
7. Services of interns and residents in training (including dental).
8. Drugs furnished by hospital.

Exclusions:

1. Services of physicians (other than interns and residents in training), including physicians in the fields of pathology, radiology, psychiatry and anesthesiology even if normally charged for by hospital. (See "supplementary medical insurance program" which covers physicians' services.)
2. Private duty nursing.
3. Personal conveniences, such as television rental.
4. First three pints of blood (can be replaced).

Christian Science certified sanatorium: Included as "hospital" but services include only items and services ordinarily furnished by such an institution.

Treatment Outside U.S.: Payments under the basic health care plan ordinarily will be made only in the 50 states and in Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam and American Samoa. Hospital services may be provided in border areas immediately outside the U.S., if comparable services are not accessible in the U.S. for a beneficiary who becomes ill or injured in the U.S.

Out-Patient Hospital Diagnostic Services (Part A)

Available: July 1, 1966.

Deductible: $20 each 20 day period of coverage (50% of in-hospital deductible starting in 1969). Amount paid by patient is considered a "medical insurance expense" under the contributory plan providing such benefits. The $20 may be applied towards satisfying the $50 medical insurance deductible, or if that is satisfied, it is includible as an expense for which the patient is reimbursed 80% or $16.

Period of Coverage: 20 days (deductible applies to each period).

Covers:

1. X-rays.
2. Laboratory tests.
3. Other diagnostic services.

Excludes:

1. Physician fees, other than interns and residents in training.
2. Service which would not be included if provided hospital in-patient.

Outside Services: Includes services by others under an arrangement with the hospital. Such services must be operated by or under the supervision of the hospital or its organized staff, and then must be billed to the patient by the hospital. (Services provided in a physician's offices are generally covered under SMI medical insurance plan at same coinsurance rate unless part of a routine checkup.)

Post-Hospital Extended Care Services (Part A)

Available: January 1, 1967.

Eligibility: After a stay of three days or more in a hospital. However, readmission within 14 days of discharge from extended care facility is permitted.

Duration: 100 days in any spell of illness.

Coinsurance: $5 a day after 20th day. (Amount is 1/8th in-hospital deductible, and is subject to adjustment on that basis starting in 1969.)

General Type of Facility: Skilled nursing home or convalescent wing of hospital. (Ordinary "custodial" care is not covered.)

Accommodations: Same as under in-hospital plan: Room and board in two to four bed accommodations; private room if medically indicated.

Services Provided:

1. Nursing care.
2. Physical, occupational and speech therapy furnished directly by the facility or furnished by others where arrangements for payment are made through the facility.
3. Drugs ordinarily furnished by such a facility.
4. Services provided by a hospital with which the facility has an agreement for the transfer of patients and the exchange of medical records:
 (a) Medical services of interns and residents in training.
 (b) Diagnostic services.
 (c) Therapeutic services.

Exclusions:

1. Payments for services not generally provided by post-hospital extended care facilities. For example, use of an operating room which is not generally maintained as part of such a facility.
2. An institution which is primarily for the care and treatment of mental diseases or tuberculosis is excluded from the definition of an extended care facility.

Christian Science certified sanatoriums: In lieu of regular extended care facilities. Payment restricted to 30 days with $5 coinsurance after 20th day.

Post-Hospital Home Health Care Services (Part A)

Available: July 1, 1966.

Eligibility: After a stay of three or more days in a hospital or post-hospital extended care facility (after Jan. 1, 1967), need certified by attending physician under a plan established within 14 days after discharge from hospital or extended care facility.

(Note: Identical coverage provided under contributory supplemental medical insurance plan without prior hospitalization-extended care facility stay requirement, but subject to over-all $50 medical insurance expense deductible and payment of 80% of reasonable charges by plan.)

Number of Visits: 100 within 365 days after discharge from a hospital or extended care facility before beginning of next spell of illness. Each type of service is considered a visit.

Type of Service:

1. Part-time nursing care, including part-time services of home health aides.
2. Physical, occupational or speech therapy.
3. Medical supplies (but no drugs).
4. When specialized equipment is necessary, therapy may be received at hospital or extended care facility as out-patient.

Excludes:

1. Doctors' visits (covered under supplemental medical insurance program).
2. Drugs.

Services to be provided: By an "approved" agency.

Supplementary Medical Insurance Program (Part B)

Participation: Voluntary.

Contribution by participant: $3 a month until end of 1967; then subject to adjustment in 1968 to reflect changes in costs of services and again in each subsequent even-numbered year (determination is made as to change each odd-numbered year between July 1 and Oct. 1, starting in 1967.) Increased by 10% for each full 12 months of late enrollment.

Premiums for those entitled to old-age benefits deducted from such benefits. (Deductions start in July, 1966 for those starting coverage on that date.) For active employees not receiving old-age benefits, collection procedure to be prescribed by regulations. Direct payment may be on other than a monthly basis.

Deductible: $50 (annual). Amount paid by patient under non-contributory out-patient service ($20 deductible until 1969) credited against $50 deductible or if $50 deductible has been previously satisfied, outpatient deductible is considered a reimbursable expense under supplementary medical insurance plan.

Expenses for last three months of year, when applied towards deductible for that year, are counted in satisfying deductible for the following year. No expenses incurred before July 1, 1966 included in determining deductible.

Coinsurance: Plan pays 80% of reasonable charges and costs, taking "into consideration the customary charges for similar services generally made by physicians and other persons furnishing such services, as well as the prevailing charges in the locality for similar services."

Expenses Covered:

1. Services of physicians and surgeons (including doctors of medicine or osteopathy) whether furnished in hospitals, clinics, in the home or elsewhere. (Since physicians' services for pathology, radiology, psychiatry or anesthesiology furnished under arrangements with hospitals are not covered as an in-hospital expense, they are payable under the supplementary medical insurance program.)
2. Dental surgery or treatment of fractured jaw by dental surgeon.
3. Home health services for up to 100 visits during a calendar year without a requirement of prior hospitalization under an approved plan. (Same services as provided under post-hospital home health care services under basic non-contributory plan, except that prior hospitalization is required for that coverage.)
4. Diagnostic x-rays, laboratory tests, and other diagnostic tests.
5. X-ray, radium, and radioactive isotope therapy.
6. Ambulance service when patient's condition warrants.

Mental, psychoneurotic and personality disorder limitation: Payments for outside-the-hospital treatments limited to $312.50 or 62½%, 80% of which would be $250, or 50% of expenses, whichever is smaller, within one calendar year.

Specifically excluded:

Another Competition to Combat

The advertised announcement of ''Family Wholesale Drug Plan Inc.'' in which a person will be able to buy the complete line of drug store items at wholesale prices as listed in the manufacturers' ''red'' and ''blue'' books will represent a concept, not exactly new, that the retail pharmacist must observe with an analytical view.

That this concept has possibilities and probabilities of affecting the druggists' volume goes without saying. No one knows better than he the public's quest for the bargain, that same public's susceptibility to the lure of the cut price, the so called free offer, the something just as good for less. Too often do these blandishments prove to be a snare and a delusion. But the characteristic of gullibility present in a great percentage of the population of all degrees of affluence are at best poor protection against offers that too often hold promise that is impossible of fulfillment.

Membership in this basic plan is expected to be at cost of $10 for married couples, $6 for couples over 62, payable only once. Those who need maintenance medication for continuing illnesses could conceivably save money by this plan, but only if they obtain full value. Full value must necessarily include the supposition that a member r ceives the identical product the doctor wishe him to have. For example: if a doctor ha reason to believe a patient is taking 'Serp sil' of 0.00025 strength, then subsequer prognosis reveals the patient received a s called generic equivalent, the supplier pu chased at $2.68 for 5000 delivered, then tha member did not receive full value. Thi hypothetical supposition in no manner in tends to impute malpractice to the di penser for it is presupposed the doctor a quiesced in the use of a so called equivalen Only in this instance it was not equivalen

Although the druggist's share of th health care dollar shows a slight declin there is much less cause for alarm at th decline than there is for trends such a the one mentioned here. Kefauver ha departed the arena, but his successors a not idle. Harassments aimed at pharm ceutical manufacturers, impingements c central control tending to abort free ente prise—much of it politically inspired by th ideology of a great segment of our popul tion that embraces the theory that ''Fath Federal'' can take care of us from th cradle to the grave—these obnoxious el ments are still with us.

Comparative price advertising has lon been used and still is effective as a co petitive arm. But if such advertising false and misleading it is not a lawf practice under a special section of th Federal Trade Commission Act. This pa ticular regulation is aimed to protect t credulous, the careless, and the ignora buyer. But this legislation can not alwa be counted on as being judged by all unanimous opinion of an agency to be any help to sufferers of unfair practi especially when learned counsel fails correctly interpret the capricious finding the judging parties. Suffice it to say th an advertised price of any commodity pu ported to be lower than that for whi substantial sales are made for the sa commodity in a given area would not false or misleading if such is proved th substantial sales are made at higher prices that given area.

Herein are the figments of misinterpre ion and differences in opinion as to what ıay be considered substantial sales. Until uch time as loopholes such as this are losed and interpretation clarified, sufferers ıay expect no redress or correction of ort.

It may be that some corporation may sell o members a tablet of cortisone for less han one-third the price of a Cortone' tablet; may be that such a vendor may sell a ranquilizer tablet for less than one-third ıe price of a well known and efficacy-proved rade marked brand. Unless the advertising ere proved misleading and false in its omparison of prices and value, FTC would e of no help. Even though the doctrine f emptor caveat prevails, it would be of o help to the ignorant, unwary or credulous.

So, advice to the retail druggist must rtainly contain this admonition: do not ly on FTC to wholly fight your battle. To o so would be to grasp at a thistle in the ind. Rely on your own ability to compete ith this problem.

Give your customers this price difference ith the tangibles of added service, added ttention, other features habitually absent om the operations of the price cutter. hen, even the intangibles become tangibles.

Of course, we are all agreed there is mething wrong with a world where unfair ractices are a via vitae of one set of eople to the detriment of another set. e are also aware that a democracy in- res a freedom in choice of action, even if at action fails to measure up to our nception of what is ''cricket''—as long it is legal.

So, come what may, this gimmick will tried again and again. The latest ex- ment of the ''wholesale price'' concept ay even find it a profitable venture. This stem of free enterprise we are so prone to tol will insure that he have his opportunity. is is as it should be. Certainly, he, like yone embarking on a venture, extends a rte blanche invitation to competitors to d the flaws in his operation. What any velation of whatever flaws may indeed rk for or against both. It is what need will fill, what benefit it will avail its members that will determine its transcendence or its transience.

So, compete, compete! You have bargains too. You have the talents to compete; you have the tools. Use them.

NEWS
from the local-sectional pharmaceutical societies

Alamance

Members of the Alamance Pharmaceutical Society, meeting at the Embers Restaurant near Graham on March 16, voted

(1) To sponsor a newspaper ad in connection with National Poison Prevention Week and to promote the sale of 1 ounce bottle of Syrup of Ipecac. The committee in charge: Joe Barbour, Sr., chairman, Willie Jennings and Gene Sherard.

(2) To discontinue use of collection agency due to support on part of individual store members.

Guest speaker for the meeting was Harold Lloyd who described the operation of the 'Eye Bank.''

To encourage attendance in the future, a door prize (each member present at meeting contributes 50c) will be awarded. If member not present, prize will be carried over to next meeting and added to total.

Joe Barbour, Jr. is president of the Society; John Wood, vice president; and Harold Lassiter, secretary-treasurer.

Buncombe County

The March meeting was held on the 15th at Memorial Mission Hospital Medical Library. President Frank Akins presided at the business session.

Due to a mishap while felling a tree on his front lawn, Roger Spittle, program chairman for March, was unable to attend. Each phase of the program was handled by a volunteer member who conducted a forum panel on each subject.

Much discussion was allotted to the Prescription Blank Project. Moss Salley, Jr., subcommittee chairman, handling the matter, reported the number of participants necessary to re-initiate this program and the amount of cash needed to insure its success failed to come up to expectations. Response to willingness of pharmacies to subscribe to the project of pharmacies furnishing standard ethical blanks to prescribers was solicited by a letter so indicating. The enclosure of a check was evidence of acceptance of the project. Failure to obtain a specified amount would mean the abandonment of the project, and checks would be returned. This was a stipulation of the Society, namely, it would neither sponsor or oppose, but would merely act as a clearing house. Consequently, the Society as a body is released from any further participation in the matter. However, it will not oppose or condone any independent action, individually or collectively, by any pharmacy, whether or not it has any representation in the Society.

Progress toward the program for the NCPhA Convention forthcoming in Asheville was outlined by Jim Harrison, local secretary. No formal local committees have as yet been named, but promises of help were advanced by all present.

Pharmaceutical service for small hospitals and nursing homes by members was explained. Interest in aiding such institutions in setting up drug rooms and/or dispensaries was somewhat lackadaisical, which indicates a field ripe with possibilities for future Society programs. However, we have one pharmacist in the county ''permitted'' and one seeking indoctrination in the details of the practice.

Much time was allotted to a threshing of the problem of future programs, increase in membership, attendance at meetings, and participation in projects. Numerous good ideas were advanced, plans to promulgate them were set in motion, and none of these problems seemed to be insurmountable. Since the program chairman was unable to attend, he has the honor of programming the April meeting.

Participation in National Poison Prevention Week showed marked response. Several members featured this event in their advertising, practically all were telling their customers about it and issuing literature on the subject. Several speakers appeared before Civic Clubs, Church and Community groups, PTA and other organizations. Jim Harrison had given some members speech scripts of his own creation that had been written with emphasis placed on the cases that had occurred in the County last year, with a break-down on age groups, substance ingested, results, and as much concomitant information as hours of research produced.

Even the psychological factors of members of the families involved and ascertainable contributing factors involved, were reasoned out.

Due to further work necessary to the Medicare portion of the program, a more elaborate presentation was deferred to a future meeting.

Catawba County

Jon N. Coley (MSR-SKF) was guest speaker at the March 13 meeting of the Catawba County Pharmaceutical Association held in Conover. Title of his talk was "SKF Prescription for the Future."

H. T. Campbell commented on some of the changes which have occurred in Pharmacy during his fifty years of service.

Officers for the coming year were elected. They are Charles Carpenter, president; A. L. Moir, vice president, and Charles Campbell, secretary.

Durham-Orange

Russell R. Chambers, Director of the Medical Division of the State Board of Public Welfare, was guest speaker at the March 14 meeting of the Durham-Orange Pharmaceutical Association, held at the Blair House mid-way between Chapel Hill and Durham.

Mr. Chambers outlined the various categories of Welfare beneficiaries, suggested possible changes in the Pharmacy Service Program in the future and commented on the impact of Medicare on welfare programs.

Some statistical information cited by Mr. Chambers during his talk to the D-O members:

(1) From July, 1965 through February, 1966, The State Board of Public Welfare paid a total of 165,192 claims for prescription service.

(2) The dollar total—$2,071,057—averaged out at $3.91 per prescription, including the professional fee of $1.75.

(3) Prescriptions are now running at the rate of about 70 to 80,000 per month; the average claim includes 3¼ prescriptions.

(4) The first complete 12 months (July, 1965, through June 30, 1966) operation of the Welfare Pharmacy Service Program is expected to run $3 million plus.

Lenoir County

E. L. Bradshaw, Jr. was elected presi dent of the Lenoir County Pharmaceutica Society at a meeting of the Society hel in Kinston on March 16.

Other officers who will be serving wit President Bradshaw are Walter Johnso vice president, and Burwell Temple, Jr secretary-treasurer.

NCPhA President W. T. Boone of Ahoski was guest speaker. He outlined the back ground to and the pleasure of practicin professional pharmacy in his new "Pharma ceutical Center" which was recently opene in Ahoskie.

The showing of a film—The Pharmaceut cal Center—closed the program. John Hood, Jr., acting president, presided; Tabo Capps offered the invocation; the nominatin committee report was presented by Pau Tart and Robert Dewar introduced Presider Boone.

Greensboro

The 19th meeting of the Directors of th Greensboro Society of Pharmacists was hel in Greensboro on March 15.

Plans for observance of National Poiso Prevention Week were discussed. (See r port on Page 43).

Mr. Paoloni reported on the Third Annu Meeting of the North Carolina Associatio of Professions which he attended and serve as Moderator of a panel discussion on pr fessional careers.

Dr. Brecht Guest Speaker at Meeting of the Elizabeth City Rotary Club

Dr. E. A. Brecht of Chapel Hill was guest speaker at the March 21 meeting of the Elizabeth City Rotary Club. He discussed "A Revolution in an Ancient Profession."

After outlining a brief history of pharmacy from 200 B.C. to present, Dr. Brecht concluded comments about antibiotics, insulin, stimulants, throat discs and contraceptives, with interesting observations about these medicinals.

"There have been some medicines perfected for one means and later on have turned up to be quite useful for another means." He pointed to the example of a woman who was given some sort of sedative but who found that when taking this sedative she no longer became ill when riding in a bus or a car. Thus, medication for motion sickness came to being.

OF DURHAM

Has been producing good printing, and with promptness. Machines and techniques in printing have changed but the inherent quality is maintained.

We are proud of our long association with North Carolina druggists through The Carolina Journal of Pharmacy and its editors. The Journal is now in its forty-seventh volume, and the first printed copy was "Seeman Printed."

The SEEMAN PRINTERY of DURHAM, NORTH CAROLINA

1965 . . . A Year of Emphasis on Prescriptions

The preliminary LILLY DIGEST, based on the operating figures of 968 community pharmacies, indicates that 1965 was another year of progress in prescription service. Prescription sales increased 8.4 percent, more than compensating for a decrease of 3.4 percent in other departments' sales, resulting in an over-all increase in total sales of 1.2 percent or $1,885 for the year. The prescription department now contributes 42 cents of each dollar of sales. Prescriptions filled increased 1,403 or 7.6 percent to a record 19,935. The number of refills increased better than 6 percent over last year, but when expressed as a percent of total prescriptions dispensed, it declined slightly to 53 percent. The average prescription charge increased two cents from $3.41 to $3.43.

When the individual income and expense statement items are expressed as a percentage of total sales, they indicate:

Cost of goods sold is down as are total expenses; therefore gross margin rose yielding a substantial increase in net profit for the year.

Total dollar operating expenses increased over last year. However, when expressed as a percent of total sales, they declined from 31.0 percent to 30.8 percent. Proprietor's salary increased slightly and employees' wages decreased, whereas rent held steady at 2.5 percent of total sales. Remaining expenses constituted 9.1 percent of total sales—unchanged from last year.

Net profit surged upward 15.1 percent to a record $9,431 or 5.8 percent of total sales. Net profit return on each dollar of inventory increased over 14 percent, from $0.291 to 0.333.

The total inventory value remained essentially unchanged, but the prescription inventory component increased 2.8 percent while other merchandise decreased 0.8 percent. Prescription stocks produced $7.0 in sales for each dollar invested in pharmaceuticals. Turnover for the total merchandise inventory remained at 3.7 times for the year.

The complete preliminary LILLY DIGEST report, based on the operations of 968 community pharmacies, is summarized on page 39 and is compared with the annual 196 data from 2,400 reports.

HR2 INVENTORY

Hearing Clerk
Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare

Washington, D. C. 20201

Dear Sir:

The North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association supports the position taken by the American Pharmaceutical Association in registering its objection to the proposed inventory requirement (Section 166.16 (a)) as published in the March 19, 1966 issue of the Federal Register.

Section 3(b) of Public Law 89-74 added a new Section 511 to the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act which incorporates the inventory and record-keeping requirements. Section 511 (d) expressly provides:

"Every person . . . shall, upon the effective date of this section (Feb. 1, 1966), prepare a complete and accurate record of all stocks of each such drug (stimulant and depressant) on hand and shall keep such records for three years."

It is our contention that the current proposal to require an inventory of additional drugs, as outlined under Section 166.16 (a) (ii)

> "(ii) An inventory is required of any drug on the effective date of an order issued after Feb. 1, 1966, that designates such drug under Section 201(v) of the Act as a depressant or stimulant drug subject to control, unless exempted by regulation in this part."

goes beyond the legislative intent of the statute. Had Congress intended that the inventory requirement apply to drugs brought under the controls at some time after the effective date, it would have stated so.

Tar Heel Pharmacists Support National Poison Prevention Week

National Poison Prevention Week (March -26) was widely observed throughout the ate. The press, the radio and in- armacy participation by pharmacists all led in stimulating the public's interest in ison prevention.

Tom Burgiss of Elkin concentrated on school children but also covered PTA d garden club groups. At Pleasant Hill hool, Tom had 400 children in his audience;) at Mountain Park School.

A speech on poison prevention by Tommy stian, Baxter's Drug Store, Kannapolis, s judged best in a speech award contest. Dr. T. C. Smith Company of Asheville tributed the NARD "First Aid for isons" wheel charts to retail drug stores the area served by Smith. The Asheville izen (3/25) ran 4-col. illustrated story ded "New Wheel of Fortune" in con- tion with Smith's distribution of the rts.

The Greensboro Society of Pharmacists Report of Poison Prevention Week

ational Poison Prevention Week was ch 20-26, 1966, and the Greensboro ety of Pharmacists decided on an all-out paign of poison prevention in the City Greensboro. We had very good co- ation from the Greensboro Daily News, h printed several articles; these articles ared on four different days during Poison Prevention Week. Also, we had spot announcements on the three A.M. and two F.M. radio stations in Greensboro. We had spot announcements on our local T.V. station, Channel 2, as well as a thirty minute program on Tuesday, March 22nd, at 10:30 p.m. entitled "Killer in Your House." We also passed out to every pediatrician and general practitioner in the city a brochure entitled "Protect Your Child Against Accidental Poisoning." Every pediatrician and general practitioner received a sufficient quantity to give to his patients during the period from March 20-26. The highlight of our Poison Prevention Week was the participation of thirty-seven drug stores in the Greensboro area, each of which received and used the Poison Prevention Packets which we made available to these stores at a price of $4.00 per store. The Poison Prevention Packets included antidote charts, "Dennis the Mennis Takes A Poke at Poison" comic books, "Protect Your Child Against Accidental Poisoning" pamphlets, streamers for the windows of the stores, and National Poison Prevention Week stickers. The items listed above were distributed through the drug stores to children and parents. A few members of the Society went into the grammar grades giving out the Dennis the Mennis comic books and telling about poison prevention in general. One of these was Joe Davis in Pleasant Garden. Also, the President of our Society, Al Mebane, gave a talk before the P. T. A. of his childrens' school. At our March 31st meeting of the Greensboro Society of Pharmacists, we are having a color-slide program on poison prevention put out by the APhA entitled "The Problem of Accidental Poisoning in the Home."

then and now

Not so many years ago, supplies were carried inland on oxcarts, canalboats, and narrow-gage railroads. Pharmacists of those days replenished their stocks twice a year.

Today, railroads and motortrucks make delivery overnight; airplanes fly coast to coast within a few hours; the telephone has taken its rightful place in commerce. The modern pharmacy reflects the influence of these improved transportation and communication facilities. Pharmacists may now replenish their stocks within a matter of hours.

Maintaining adequate stocks at a realistic rate of turnover with a minimum investment is easy when you buy from us, your service wholesaler. Send your order to us for prompt delivery.

How to follow a hematinic sale with repeat business

One way is to recommend Zentinic, a hematinic that provides results. It contains recognized important hematinic factors needed to treat iron deficiency as well as certain nutritional deficiencies of the B complex—factors like 100 mg. of iron as well-tolerated ferrous fumarate. Zentinic also has a generous 200 mg. of vitamin C, an essential nutrient in its own right that gives further assurance of the absorption of iron. A safe quantity of folic acid has been added to the formula to provide the beneficial effect of this blood-building vitamin. Finally, the other B complex vitamins are included for normal red-blood-cell formation and general nutritional support. In total, a comprehensive array of antianemia factors. And because they work in anemia, your customers come back for more.

"WHY SHOULD I ATTEND THE CONVENTION?"

by JIM HARRISON, Asheville

Have you ever asked yourself this question? It has two answers. Let's put the negative answer first.

You shouldn't if you are one of those rare persons, perhaps nonexistent, who are self sufficient, who lives to himself alone, who owes no man anything, who bears no allegiance to any cause, whose own little world encompasses his own needs, who is content to coast along acquiring impassively only the sprinklings of the advances of an ever changing civilization, satisfied with that which nolently comes his way, who is above all need.

I must confess I have never encountered such a person; I doubt that he exists, but if he does, he is not practicing pharmacy.

As for being self sufficient, there is only One Who has ever approached the classic example. Even He was pledged by His Father, and willingly went to the Cross for all mankind.

You should attend the Convention if you are the direct opposite of this seemingly nonexistent person, or if you, by machinations not wholly of your own devising, are in some degree fitted into the not unwilling but lethargic group.

He who is concerned with pharmacy's problems, who is willing to be shown how to help resolve those problems into workable solutions, who feels the need to gain an idea and share his ideas with his fellows, who believes he can gain from experts in their particular fields, he who naturally gets pleasure in the congenial atmosphere of those who have interests akin to his, who is eager to learn those methods which have helped others and most likely will help him to better practice and to operate a better and more lucrative service—he it is who is almost sure to attend. No appeal to him is necessary.

It is he who is indifferent or lethargic who needs to be converted in his thinking. Also, he who has allowed the circumstances of pressure of business, weariness, lack of a substitute to relieve him, scheduling another event of lesser intrinsic value than a convention, or the probably unrealistic vie that he can't afford it—he it is who nee to be persuaded. There may be better a swers but I fail to perceive one with mo validity than: "He can't afford not to go.

There are many reasons why the Co vention should be well attended this yea A glance at the program tells that some the best qualified men in all facets of pha macy are at your service in subjects of vit interest to you. And you have opportuni to participate. Practices and operation a undergoing a continual change; new co cepts are emerging; better methods of pra tice and operation, greater opportuniti for service are ready for you, and are ma available by your own Association and a vanced in the spirit of service upon whi your Association was founded. A caref reading of the various related items a the program in this journal tell you bet than can I what is in store for you.

The only valid excuse for not attending perhaps your illness or the illness of one w has only your dependence to count on. The have been instances of the near feeble atte ing and gaining by it. Who can say that t therapy of attendance at the Convention less efficaceous than a product of t pharmacopoeia?

The excuse of "I can't leave my famil will not pass muster this year. The over program includes the family and, unless y are not en rapport with your family, need to come alone.

Then, too, the Convention is in Ashev this year, and I am not averse to be accused of a bias that is understanda excusable because I like all but a few thi about my city and there is practica nothing I can do about those things I not like.

Now, conventions don't just happen. does not bewitch the genies to tinkle, tin tinkle conventions into being. They req painstaking preparation, smooth execut and a wise follow-up to gather in fruits. And you know as well as I do guiding lights in this planning, execu and follow-up process.

Master of Ceremonies

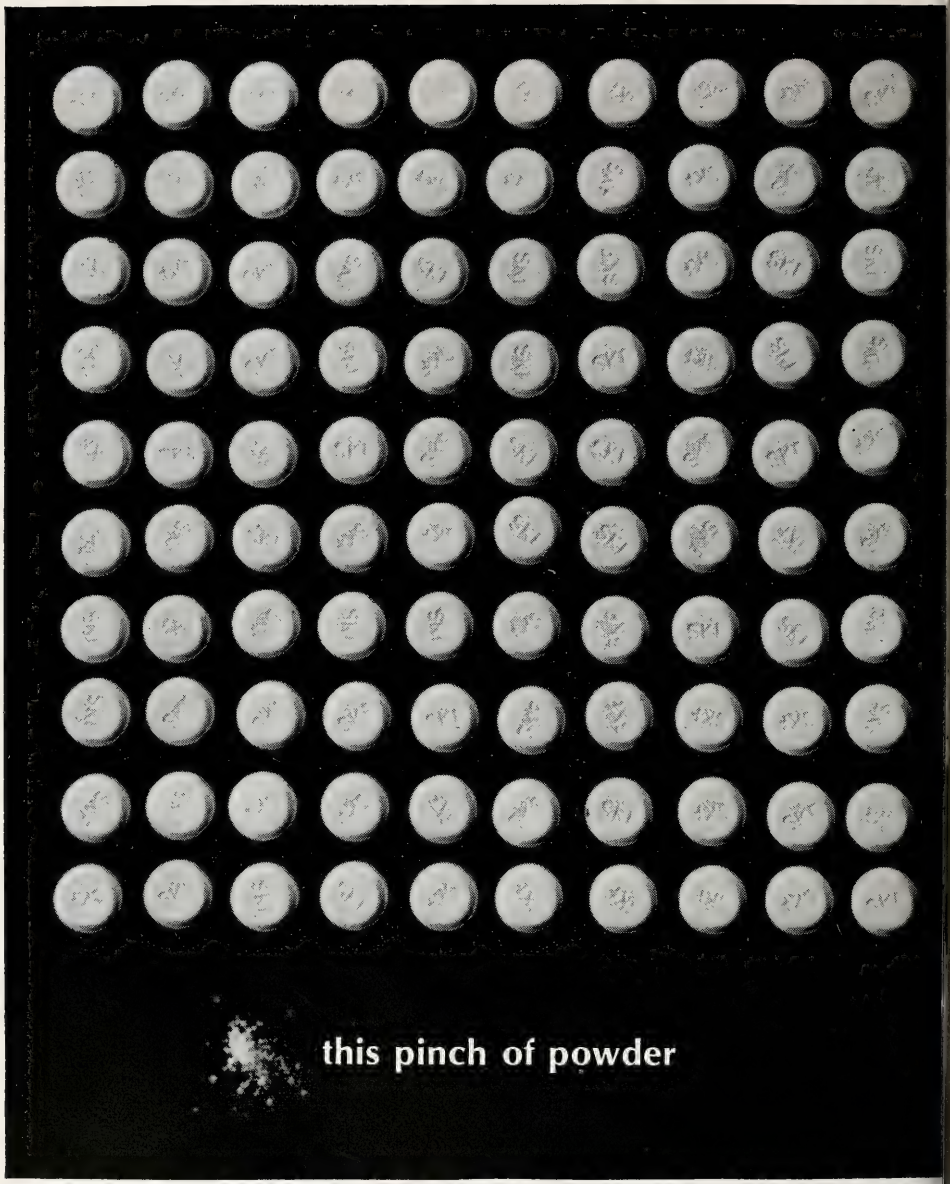

Doug Mayes, now in his 12th year as anchorman for WBTV's "Early News," is master of ceremonies for the TMA "Country Frolics" entertainment sponsored by the Traveling Men's Auxiliary of the NCPhA.

Now one of the most accomplished speakers and personalities in the nation, Doug has for years done a 15-minute radio show saluting various industries and businesses in the state. He has, in personal visits to over 200 such industries, gained a rare knowledge of North Carolina industry and professional people.

TMA's to Meet

The 1966 annual meeting of the TMA is scheduled for Tuesday, June 14, 11 A.M., with President Jim Wolfe of Charlotte presiding.

Hugh Sconyers of Charlotte is the TMA Entertainment Chairman.

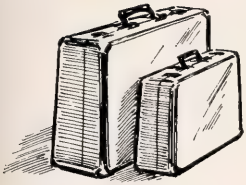

The active ingredient in these hundred tablets is this pinch of powder. • Distributing the chemical equally throughout the tablets, in order that the therapeutic effect of each one of them be predictable, requires exceptional skill, sophisticated manufacturing techniques, and "every-step-of-the-way" quality controls. • That's why we say that only medicines made by reputable manufacturers can provide predictable results from lot to lot... and from tablet to tablet.

Where health is concerned, being good enough, most of the time, isn't good enough anytime.

CHILDREN'S PROGRAM—AGES 6+ AND UP
NCPhA CONVENTION—ASHEVILLE, N. C.—JUNE 12-14, 1966

IMPORTANT: DUE TO NECESSITY FOR ADVANCE PLANNING—AND A GOOD PROGRAM REQUIRES ADVANCE PLANNING — ALL CHILDREN MUST BE PRE-REGISTERED. (The adult program is not designed for children's attendance, and therefore they are not invited to participate in it except on Sunday evening as noted below.)

ALL EVENTS ARE SCHEDULED FOR THE BATTERY PARK HOTEL EXCEPT AS NOTED.

SUNDAY, JUNE 12

3:00 p.m.—"Make-Your-Own-Sundae Party"—followed by movies, etc.

6:00 p.m.—Dinner Party. After dinner, parents are urged to reserve baby sitters for the "younger set" (they will pick them up at the dinner). Older children are invited to the City Auditorium at 8:30 for the Dr. T. C. Smith Party.

MONDAY, JUNE 13

7:45 a.m.—"Dutch" breakfast—mothers and children at the S&W Cafeteria, which is within walking distance.

9:00 a.m.—Bus leaves hotel for Camp Rockmont. The day includes a box lunch, refreshments, games. Under Explorer Scout supervision.

:30 p.m.—Bus returns to hotel. A recreation room will be open for teenagers and larger children upon return. For smaller children, it is suggested that parents reserve baby sitters in order for children to go to their rooms and rest before dinner party.

6:00 p.m.—Dinner Party and entertainment.
Older children may stay in the recreation room after dinner for record playing, etc., and individual baby sitters may be reserved for the "younger set" at their usual bedtime hour. Sitters will pick them up at dinner location.

TUESDAY, JUNE 14

9:00 a.m.—Bus leaves hotel for Camp Sequoyah. Day includes lunch at Camp; games and recreation under supervision of Explorer Scouts; stop-over at Zebulon Vance Homestead on return.

3:30 p.m.—Bus returns to hotel. See note above for Monday.

6:00 p.m.—Special dinner party. See note above for later hours.

The children's convention fee of $15 includes transportation to and from the Camps, the days at the Camps, the Sunday activities, dinners on the three evenings; use of Recreation Room; Badge; Supervision (except for individual baby sitters). It does not include breakfast.

BADGES: Special pin-on badges will be made up for children—this is a further reason for pre-registration. On this badge will not only be the child's name, but also the room number and name of hotel/motel.

CHILDREN UNDER 6: Write NCPhA for Details.

In New Building

The Mayodan Pharmacy, owned and operated by Melvin Kendrick, has moved into a new, larger (40 x 70 foot) building on East Main Street, Mayodan. The pharmacy has shown continuous growth since it was established in 1962.

Sentenced to Six Months Prison Term for Revocation of Probation

Floyd West, employee of Standard Drug Company, Kinston, in U. S. Federal Court at New Bern, was fined $500 for dispensing Rx Legend drugs without a prescription and was sentenced to serve six months in a Federal prison for revocation of a probationary term ordered in a similar conviction last year.

On the current charge, West was given a 3-year sentence to be served concurrently with the 1965 sentence, execution of which was suspended and probation ordered. Execution of the current 3-year sentence was also suspended.

The six-month active sentence ordered in for revocation of terms of the probation ordered in the 1965 case.

The charges against West were brought because he refilled a prescription without first calling the physician involved.

Pharmacists Complete SKF-NCPhA Sponsored Speech Training Program

Twenty-four pharmacists completed the speaker training program held recently in Chapel Hill at the Institute of Pharmacy under joint sponsorship of the Speech Training Service of Smith Kline & French Laboratories and the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association.

Graduates of the program received professional instruction on how to give speeches, how to prepare and illustrate them, and how to organize and operate a speakers bureau. The training consisted of formal instruction, drill in which registrants delivered practice speeches and conducted simulated question and answer periods for evaluation of technique, and a final valedictory address.

Second row: Flynn W. Warren, Jr., Mount Holly; Larry W. Thomas, Dunn; Henry A. Leigh, Waynesville; Samuel Williford, Pinetops; Robert E. Bishop, Clinton; W. Stanford Tate, Lexington; and William A. Simmons, Winston-Salem.

Not present in picture: Joseph C. Estes, Jr., Reidsville; Eugene W. Hackney, Lumberton; and Donald J. Miller, Morganton.

Surry County

Bill Needham was installed as president of the Surry County Pharmaceutical Association at a meeting of the organization in Mount Airy on April 17.

Other newly elected officers are Bob Smith, vice president, and Bob Wolfe, secretary and treasurer.

Alamance

Dr. Albert Jowdy of Chapel Hill was guest speaker at the April 20 meeting of the Alamance Pharmaceutical Society. His topic was "Nursing Home Opportunities and Responsibilities for the Pharmacist."

President Barbour reports 25 members present out of a total membership of 34. "We can recommend Dr. Jowdy as a drawing card."

Resolution was adopted stating that the Society will drop the word "registered" from Rx blanks and individual pharmacy ads . . . the word "registered" implies there are "unregistered" pharmacists. From now on, all Rxs will carry the notice "Take This To The Pharmacist of Your Choice."

Buncombe County

This group held its monthly meeting April 19 in the Cecil Room of Biltmore Dairies with thirty members present. After a brief business session presided over by Frank Akins, president, in which committees to serve the NCPhA in the forthcoming annual Convention were named, George Mathews, program chairman, presented Dr. E. K. Isbey, Jr., Asheville ophthalmologist.

Dr. Isbey explained all types of Glaucoma, its symptoms, its treatment with special emphasis on the drugs used in its treatment. The disease itself was graphically shown with the aid of colored slides. The mechanism of action of the drugs used was brought to light in his able and interesting presentation of the pharmacodynamics of the various products in use. During a question and answer period upwards of a hundred questions were advanced which were skillfully answered by this talented ophthalmologist.

Due to the interest shown in this portion of the program, only routine business was transacted, but the theme of the featured program carried over into further informal discussion on medico-pharmaceutical questions during a refreshment period following the formal program.

It was adjudged by those attending as being one of the most beneficial and enjoyable programs to date.

Moose Reelected

Although not an active candidate for the post, Hoy A. Moose has been reelected mayor of Mount Pleasant.

Hoy is unlike most politicians. He knows how to get two dollars of value for every tax dollar. The voters know and appreciate this, so every two years he is returned to office by as close a unanimous vote as is possible to receive.

Some Members Saving Price of Dues Through Association's Fringe Benefits

Are you taking full advantage of the Association services offered to you as a result of your membership?

Many members find they can save more than the cost of their dues each year by participating in these fringe benefits. We call them fringe benefits because they are more or less by-products of the main objective of the organization—working for pharmacy improvement and better business for all members.

As the results of our numbers, we are often able to find a firm that can offer our members needed services at reduced rates. This is particularly true in the field of group insurance:

TERM LIFE
HOSPITAL-LIFE
DEBT RECOVERY SERVICE
DISABILITY INCOME PROGRAM
RETIREMENT & INVESTMENT PROGRAM

We hope you are participating in the NCPhA's fringe benefit services and that you are saving the cost of your dues by doing so.

In any organization such as ours, many of the major things we can offer to our members come under the category of intangibles, but these fringe benefits are easy to see and appreciate.

Make sure that you are getting the most from your membership, and rest assured that your Association staff is constantly looking for ways to be of benefit to you.

Barrett Retires

R. E. Barrett, Burlington pharmacist, has retired after 49 years of service—40 of the years with Burlington Drug Company.

$875,000 Suit

Two drug stores in Surry County are being sued for $875,000 damages on behalf of two Virginia children involved in an automobile wreck in the county.

In a suit filed in the U. S. District Court of Greensboro, it is alleged that an employee, acting as an agent of the stores, sold medicine to the driver of a car involved in the accident which caused the driver to become "drowsy and inattentive" and "his lack of coordination" caused the crash.

Sloop Moves to Rural Hall

Roger H. Sloop, a pharmacist associate of Bobbitt's College Pharmacy, Winston-Salem, for a number of years, has joined B. G. Warren as a co-owner of Warren's Drug Store, Rural Hall.

Mr. Sloop is currently serving as chairman of the Forsyth County Board of Health. He is a native of North Wilkesboro, a 1956 graduate of the UNC School of Pharmacy, and from 1951 to 1953 was chief pharmacist at Randolph Air Force Base.

Mutual Reports 15% Sales Increase

The annual meeting of the N. C. Mutual Wholesale Drug Company was held in Durham on May 18 with approximately 125 officers, directors and stockholders present.

Ralph P. Rogers, Jr., treasurer and manager, reported a 15% increase in sales. The company serves 180 member-stores and has 41 employees.

T. J. Ham, Jr. was re-elected president. Banks D. Kerr is vice-president; W. L. West, secretary.

Royall to Head State Merchants Association

George E. Royall of Elkin is the new president of the N. C. Merchants Association. He was installed as head of the state organization during a recent meeting i Raleigh.

Mr. Royall is co-owner of the Roya Drug Company of Elkin which he, his so Edwin, and Henry Dillon operate.

Kendall Wins Again

For the second straight year, Kenda Drug Company of Shelby has been declare a "Bonanza Cup" winner by Glenbroo Laboratories.

For being a national winner in the Gle brook sales contest, Mr. and Mrs. Gordo Hamrick and Mr. and Mrs. John Canipe r ceived an all-expense paid weekend in Ne York. The trip included sightseeing, a bas ball game, dinner at Sardi's and a Broadwa theatre performance.

Canipe, for being top Kendall salesma in the promotion, also received a Coloni Club Chair, a Cape Cod Rocker and a swiv chair.

The North Carolina Pharmacy Operations Study—1965

C. A. CHAGARIS, M.B.A.[1,2] AND A. W. JOWDY, Ph.D.[3]

The 1965 operations study of North Caro-ıa community pharmacies has been com-eted and marks the third year of this ntinuing investigation. Again, public knowledgment is made and appreciation pressed to Eli Lilly and Company for its ntribution. The returns were processed d confidential analyses prepared at the lly Pharmacy Operations Clinic under the neral direction of Mr. C. A. Chagaris. ppreciation is also expressed to the North rolina Pharmaceutical Research Founda-n, Inc. for financial support which made ssible the collection of data.

A. W. Jowdy

There are many reasons for undertaking economic study of this type. Let it ffice presently to state that the data to be rtly read are but a reflection of the nomic conditions of environment in which practice.

They also reflect, when studied on a tinuing basis, the changes which have urred over a period of time to reveal nds. It is folly to assume that change s not occur. Indeed it has been stated t nothing is so constant as change.

The questionnaires from which data were ained were voluntarily submitted by rmacy owners and managers in North olina based on their 1964 data.

n the tabulation of data to follow, the re-ts of the 1965 study are compared with a from the 1964 study and with data from y Digest pharmacies with Similar Sales prescription volume.[4]

f paramount importance to pharmacy ctitioners are the data on prescriptions.
m this sample, it was determined that scriptions contributed 48% of the total revenue. This represents an increase when compared with 46.5% for the 1964 study. The number of new prescriptions decreased from 48.4% of the total number dispensed in the 1964 study to 47.2% of the total number dispensed in the 1965 study. Concomitantly, the renewed prescriptions dispensed increased from 51.6% to 52.8%. The prescription charge remained substantially the same, changing from $2.99 to $2.98.

The Stock Turnover Rate dropped from 4.7 to 4.0.

The prescription department inventory increased from 13.2% to 13.7% of sales. Other inventory increased from 13.8% to 17.5%; and total inventory increased from 13.5% to 15.7% of sales.

These and other collateral data are presented in Table I.

NCPhA President Boone Points Out Dynamic Changes Taking Place in Pharmacy

Mr. President-Elect, Members of the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association and Auxiliaries, Visitors, Distinguished Guests—

It is with a feeling of warmth and pride that we welcome you to this 86th Annual Convention of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association.

When I accepted the responsibilities of president of this Association for the year 1965-1966, I felt keenly the great honor which you had bestowed on me. I did not realize at that time that my personal opportunities and obligations would in any way interfere with my service to you. Since they did interfere, I was placed in the embarrassing situation of having to decline several invitations to be with you, though I wanted very much to accept them. On the other hand I am in the unique position of having led my fellow pharmacists in a different way.

This is a report of my activities for the year and an explanation of my unusual circumstances while I was your president.

This has been a memorable year in many ways and for many reasons. My association and contact with all who strive and work for better Pharmacy has enriched my own life and inspired me to work harder for the causes we all believe in. I frankly admit that I have not always been the diplomat as I tried to serve you, and on occasions I may have even offended some of you. For this I do not apologize.

I am afraid that Pharmacy is different from every other profession known to us, in that it has not stood on its own merits as a profession. We have not set up a good professional image, and we have no one to blame but ourselves. We more often project ourselves as an ordinary merchant on the street. We place our time, efforts, and emphasis on the non-related drug aspects. We join the rat-race of retail merchandising and forget that we are highly trained professional people with a unique professional service to offer. We create many of our own problems by not respecting ourselves enough. I do not apologize for my blunt attack on people who attempt to practice our profession but have no respect for it.

I love Pharmacy—and its problems grieve me. As its leader this year, I have tried to set examples for the highest standards and ethics. I have attacked those who would destroy Pharmacy for their own selfish reasons and gain. If I have stepped on toes, and I know that I have, then the pinch has to fall where it will—for this has not been an effort towards personal popularity, but an attempt to lead our profession out of the battle of confusion and selfishness towards a professional level that will stand with all the dignity and respect Pharmacy deserves.

My travels this year took me to Williamston, as guest speaker of the Northeastern Pharmaceutical Society. I attended the Mental Health Meeting in Raleigh on June 24th. On July 28th I presided over the Pharmacist-of-the-Year Banquet in Taylorsville, North Carolina, where we paid tribute to Mr. Rowe B. Campbell. There was a trip to Chapel Hill for an NCPhA Executive Committee meeting. Then in October I attended the N.A.R.D. Convention in Washington, D. C. where I served on the President's Advisory Council.

DYNAMIC CHANGES

Also in October I was in Chapel Hill to speak to the Woman's Auxiliary Convocation. I also attended another NCPhA Executive meeting. In November I was in Chapel Hill to speak to the students in our Pharmacy School. They were a most receptive and inspiring group.

I was back in Chapel Hill on January 9th for the reception honoring our new dean of the Pharmacy School, Dr. George Hager, and Mrs. Hager. We are so pleased to have Dr. Hager as our new dean, and we know that he has much to offer us. We are looking forward to great progress under his leadership. We certainly want Dean Hager to know that the N.C.Ph.A. is supporting him all the way.

In March I spoke to the Lenoir County Pharmaceutical Association in Kinston. I also attended an N.C.Ph.A. Executive Committee meeting in Chapel Hill in March. On May 8th I brought greetings from our Association to Dr. Brecht at the bon voyage dinner given in his honor by the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Research Foundation.

As I pointed out to you in the beginning of this report, it was necessary for me to decline the opportunity to visit with some of you because of personal obligations. On the other hand, these obligations were my opportunity to lead you in a positive way. During the course of this year I have not only served as your president, but I have built and opened a new pharmaceutical center. I take pride in announcing to you that I have successfully operated a professional pharmaceutical center for the past four months. Not only have I become strictly a professional man, but I closed my old store on May 21st after 12 years to the day of operating the conventional type of drug store.

I frankly admit to you my doubts and fears as I attempted to make this change. My reputation and material possessions were at stake as I proceeded upon this course of action. Ethical, professional pharmacy is something I sincerely believe in with all my heart, and I would never have been satisfied until I tried it, even if I lost every material possession I owned. I have done it—and I am proud.

I invite each and every one of you t come to Ahoskie and see for yourselves Public reaction has been wonderful, an my prescription business has already in creased in a gratifying way. I have ri myself of many worrisome problems that should never have had in the first place I am pleased to take my place with th other professional men in my community a an equal in every way on the professiona level. It is an exhilarating experience.

A transition appears to be taking plac in Pharmacy. There are dynamic change taking place in health care. Under Medi care more drugs will be made available t more people. The pharmacist will have t be a full-time practitioner in the healt area and be increasingly concerned wit advising the public. Pharmacy can n longer be static. It must change—an change requires vision and adjustment.

Any profession which continues year afte year to allow itself to thrash about aimlessl and permit outsiders to decide its destin based on their own selfish interests, ca never hope to have a new future. The tim has come for a positive course of actio Apathy and indifference will destroy us.

I plead with you to respect yourselves professional people. Would physician lawyers, dentists—or other professional me allow someone other than qualified, license people to practice their professions? Wh should we degrade ourselves by condonin such things? Let us stand tall—and sta together—and condemn all unethical a unbecoming practices in Pharmacy, even it means losing some of our Associati members. It should be an honor to belo to an Association such as ours. We not need people who don't care enough work in its best interest. I cannot emphasi too strongly how important it is to o profession that we set our standards hi and work towards that end. Anything l than that is degrading and demoralizin

My second recommendation would be th our N.C.Ph.A. endorse the professional f system. No phase of modern prescripti practice has been more frequently misund stood than pricing. Pharmacy Associati have, for the most part, been reluctant mbrace the professional fee method. The rofessional fee system is being used in more han one-fourth of state public assistance rograms. Public and government pressures re affecting the prices manufacturers charge r their products. The base price for most harmaceuticals is declining in a period of enerally rising prices. This places the harmacist in an unfavorable economic osition if he uses the mark-up system.

If we do not take steps to establish our vn independent economic base, we are going suffer financially. No pricing method will lve all of our problems, but the fee system ill solve a higher percentage than any other ethod. It has enough flexibility to allow s to adapt and control the financial health our profession.

My third recommendation would be that harmacists stand together more than ever fight against and condemn the double andard of drug marketing and pricing by rug manufacturers. There are terrible disrtions in the pricing of drugs, and there e clear abuses of pricing practices by anufacturers.

There are artificial reasons for the wide serepancy in hospital and retail stores. In this regard I would like to quote Walter P. Scheffe, the immediate past-president of the American College of Apothecaries. I quote, "To the representatives of the pharmaceutical industry, my message is brief and to the point. It all centers on one word and that word is COMMUNICATION. We have talked too much and COMMUNICATED too little. Everyone in this room knows about the practices of diverted purchasing. We also know that there is price discrimination between the retail pharmacies, the hospitals, and the state and county institutions. For the manufacturer to maintain a proper image to every segment of Pharmacy, there should be one price and only one price. You know and I know that one price to all is right and just. So why don't we stop talking and begin communicating?"

I cannot close my remarks without first expressing my appreciation for the wonderful cooperation of my executive committee. It has been a distinct pleasure to serve with these fine men.

This has been a rich and rewarding year. It has been an honor and privilege to serve you. Thank you.

State Board of Public Welfare Raleigh, N. C.

Dear Mr. Smith:

We have learned that the new authorization for medical services identification cards have caused one particular problem to the pharmacists participating in the program. This problem arose due to recipient's interpretation of the card as an authorization for non-legend drugs, medical appliances, tooth paste, bath powders and incidentals. Of course, you know, from our discussion with you and representatives from the Hospital Association, Dental Society and Medical Society that the implementation of the identification card did not change the medical services policy nor plan in any way. An insert has been prepared for mailing with the next checks to assistance recipients which we hope will clarify the recipient's understanding of the services that are available to him as well as those services that are not available to him. Meanwhile, we hope that the participating pharmacists can successfully cope with this misinterpretation until assistance recipients have achieved a better understanding of the program.

Russell R. Chambers, Director
Division of Medical Services

Three Pharmacists Named General Assembly Nominees

Three pharmacists: John Henley of Hope Mills, Earl Tate of Lenoir, and Paul Woodard of Princeton are candidates for membership in the 1967 session of The General Assembly.

Assuming a favorable vote this fall, Henley will serve in the Senate (Cumberland and Hoke Counties) and Tate and Woodard in the House.

Woodard had no opposition during the May election. He and two other representatives were unopposed for three House seats allotted to the Johnston-Wilson 15th District.

Both Henley and Tate have served in the Assembly—Tate in the '65 session and Henley for several terms prior to the 1965 session, when he was in charge of the State's Purchase and Contract Division.

Ruffin Bailey, a Raleigh attorney who has represented the N. C. Board of Pharmacy, was unopposed in the May Primary for a Senate seat from Wake-Chatham Counties.

Geer Names Trippe Director of Trade Relations

The Geer Drug Company announces the appointment of Mr. Charles J. Trippe as Director of Trade Relations for the Greenville and Spartanburg divisions. He also will be in charge of the sales for the Data Processing Division of the company.

Charlie started with Geer in 1948, having worked through most all phases including pricing, salesman, Operations Manager and Data Processing. He is thoroughly familiar with all facets of the wholesale drug industry.

He will be calling on Geer's customers from time to time to discuss any problems and to lend his assistance in any way possible.

That was no lady...

When Betsy came boiling out of the Gulf of Mexico and devastated the Greater New Orleans area with winds, rain and floods, she created a health problem that challenged the resources of doctors, pharmacists and pharmaceutical companies.

No sooner had Betsy departed, leaving mud, wreckage and disease in her wake, than Lederle area men, such as Bill Roberts (above) headed for the scene. After receiving typhoid and tetanus inoculations and picking up special passes, they toured the wastelands and made arrangements with doctors and pharmacists to replace without charge all Lederle drugs and biologicals damaged or destroyed by the hurricane.

It was quite a job. More than 300 pharmacies and approximately 1200 M.D.'s are located in that area. Yet it was done in remarkably short time—thanks to 18-hour days by the men on the scene, a closely coordinated emergency shipment system and the marvels of modern plane, train and truck transportation.

Cost, price, profit? They didn't figure at all in this public service situation. Our only consideration was: How to get precious drugs to the scene as quickly as possible, so that lives could be saved and needless suffering prevented.

That is the way dependable, American brand-name manufacturers operate.

McKesson & Robbins Offers Slide Film, "New Dimensions for Service," to Pharmacy Groups

McKesson & Robbins' Retail Trade Promotion Department has produced a slide film entitled "New Dimensions for Service," covering its presentation to pharmacists at the 1966 annual meeting of the American Pharmaceutical Association at Dallas, Texas.

"New Dimensions for Service" shows pharmacists a way to extend their practice and expand their business to participate more professionally in rendering pharmaceutical service to nursing homes. The film also shows pharmacists a way to benefit from the growing market for home comfort aids. These new dimensions for pharmaceutical practice are expected to be vastly broadened by Medicare.

The slide film features McKesson's carefully researched program for the pharmacists to use in servicing extended care facilities or nursing homes and the McKesson-designed "Redi-Med" equipment that provides the proper control and security for drugs required under the Medicare program. The film, produced with the cooperation of the American Pharmaceutical Association, also introduces McKesson's latest design for a Pharmaceutical Center.

Pharmacy groups interested in viewing the film should get in touch with their closest McKesson Wholesale Drug Division. The 35 mm strip presentation runs to about 35 minutes.

Suggests Health Department Employ A Pharmacist

A suggestion that a fulltime pharmacist be employed is under consideration by the Guilford County Health Department.

Dr. E. H. Ellinwood, health director, told members of the health department that about 12,000 prescriptions are being dispensed each year by Guilford County pharmacies.

Rx Insurance

Hospital Savings Association of Chapel Hill and Hospital Care of Durham expect to enroll 40 to 50,000 subscribers under a "65 Plus" policy which includes prescriptions on this basis:

"Pays 80% of the charges for outpatient prescription legend drugs, except for the first $25 of charges per calendar quarter, not paid by Medicare."

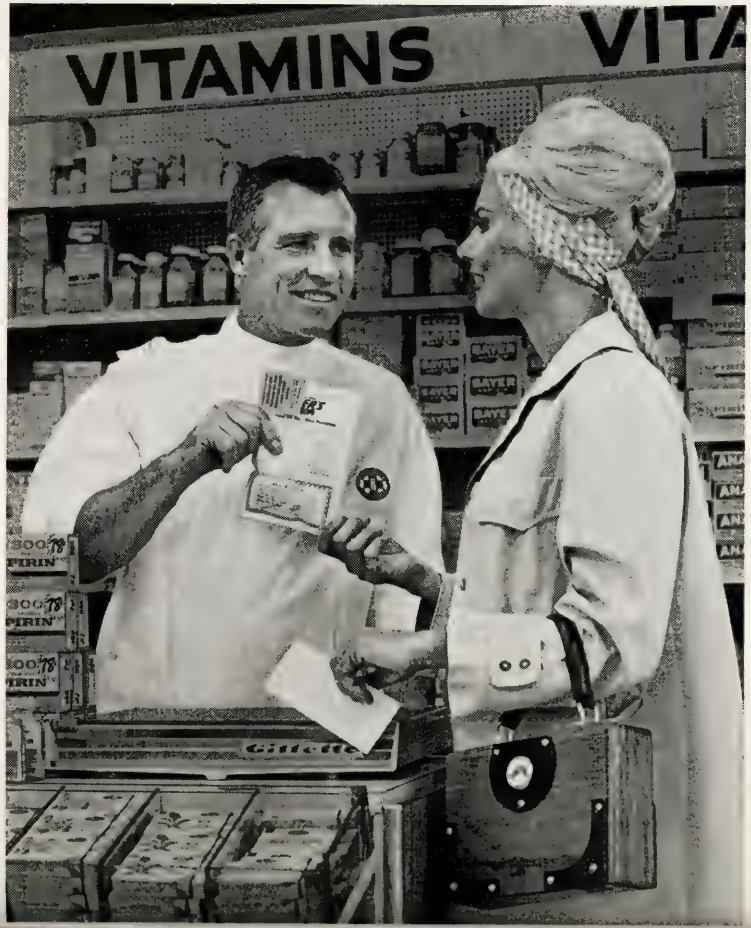

The claim blank is simple—date, Rx No. and charge.

Emergency Drug Kit

Details of an Emergency Drug Kit for nursing homes, as developed by the NCPhA in cooperation with a number of health-related organizations, will appear in the June issue of The American Professional Pharmacist.

Information relating to the kit and a picture of special Emergency Drug Kit exhibit prepared for the annual meeting of the State Medical Society will appear in the July issue of THE CAROLINA JOURNAL OF PHARMACY.

NEWS
from the local-sectional pharmaceutical societies

Buncombe County

The May meeting was held the 17th in the Medical Library of Memorial Mission Hospital, Asheville, with approximately half the membership present. The attendance left satisfaction somewhat unsated because usual attendance had been running to five-sixths of membership.

One feature of the program was a showing of the sound movie, "Marketing Prescription Products" as filmed by Smith, Kline & French Labs, with members of their marketing personnel explaining. Olgie Tarr, SK&F MSR acted as cinematographer and conducted the program. This feature was both interesting and informative to those present and will undoubtedly prove beneficial, especially at that point when and where the customer receives his prescription from the pharmacist.

Also on the program was a resume of the program for the NCPhA Convention by the secretary who gave a running commentary of the program's features and brief dossiers of the program participants.

Two new members were added. President Frank Akins presided.

Alamance Pharmaceutical

A report of the Dallas meeting of the APhA by Jack Watts and screening of Lilly's film "A Day of Judgment" highlighted the May 25 meeting of the Alamance Pharmaceutical Society, which was held in Burlington.

An upcoming school bond proposal was indorsed by the Society following a talk by Allen Cammack.

Rocky Mount

NCPhA Secretary W. J. Smith was guest speaker at the May 18 meeting of the Rocky Mount, Nashville and Tarboro Drug Club.

The organization meets for breakfast (7:30 A.M.) in Rocky Mount.

Cabarrus County

Dr. George P. Hager, Dean of the UNC School of Pharmacy, was guest speaker at the May 11 meeting of the Cabarrus County Pharmaceutical Society.

The meeting was held at the Lions Club Building in Mount Pleasant. Herbert J. Hames, president, presided.

The pharmacists were cautioned to restrict their Rx files as confidential information. Complaints had been registered with the Society by some local doctors indicating that certain medical service representatives had gained access to some Rx files.

Greensboro

Business transacted at the May 26 meeting of the Greensboro Society of Pharmacists, held in Greensboro at the Towne House Motor Lodge, included:

(1) Received report from Resolutions Committee, George Edmonds, Chairman.

(2) Discussed details of the Diabetes Program to be carried out in Greensboro this fall.

(3) Urged members to exercise extreme caution in the sale of exempt narcotic preparations.

The guest speaker was Ralph R. Paull of Chapel Hill, presently enrolled at Chapel Hill in the Graduate School in Sociology.

Highlights of Mr. Paull's Talk (Causality of Withdrawal from Pharmacy School): Pharmacy has an alarming rate of attrition (something around 67%) . . . to avoid "drop-outs," two major things are necessary (1) improve screening and (2) conduct all classes in the Pharmacy School.

Narcotic Inventory Form

Copies of the revised (more complete) Narcotic Inventory Form will be mailed to NCPhA members (no charge) shortly after June 15. Price $1.00 per copy to non-members.

Continuing Education

The pharmacy graduate would do well to heed the truth that unless he makes a sincere effort to continue his education, he will find it all too easy to travel the road from professional excellence to mediocrity, from which he would be only one station removed from incompetence. The older pharmacist knows all too well the harsh fact that even the best professional education obtainable anywhere becomes almost obsolete in half a decade or less—unless he makes a sincere effort to continue his education. Both know if they fail to make this effort, they will have failed to fulfill their professional obligations.

There are several methods to be used in pursuing a continuing education.

In a limited manner, limited because the benefits are necessarily limited, the pharmacist may elect to do all the reading and digesting of the professional literature he can get. Some of this literature is free, some of it is available by subscription. This reading would need to be apportioned according to the time he has to devote to it. This portion of his time may be diverted from his leisure, in which case familial complications may ensue; then a choice would have to be made and the advantages weighe against the disruption of harmony. The are a few pharmacists who pursue the vocations as avocations to the point whe the two are inseparable. In a manner speaking, they are bigamists. This is brief for the fanatical practice of a pr fession to the exclusion of other diversi interests. Indeed, without worthwhile ou side interests any professional practice woul suffer. Assuredly, moderation is desirabl

Another method to be used in pursuin continuing education is that of uniting wit local or sectional pharmaceutical group Attendance at the meetings, learning fro the programs, participating in the project and partaking of the training material pr vided will prove a benefit measured by th the effort expended and utilized.

Still another method is the seminar. is has proved its worth over the years. N denying this method's benefits, it perhaps all methods is most vulnerable to the clut of circumstance. There is the ever prese bogey of the lack of time necessary f attending. The greater the distance fro the point of learning to the pharmacist, th greater the handicap. This could be ove come to some extent by the mechanism of a agency taking the teaching to the pharmaci regionally, or a subagency exercising th function locally.

Finally, this leaves a method that hol the possibility of solving the problem contact. It is continuing education b correspondence.

It could take the form of a chosen su ject, text book, questions, so called "ope book" study, answers sent in and grad returned monthly, with, say a year to con plete a subject. An individual, or a grou could study together on a modified semina or forum basis. An individual pace could b set and maintained. Interests and desi would be forceful stimuli, and pride woul be an added tonic.

This or any method would need profe sional endorsement, facultative approva and overall sponsorship. In our State would be logical for the School of Pharmac to establish the courses, choose the text book formulate the lessons, grade the work, an supervise the general plan. The Pharmaceutical Association could sponsor in the sense of using its resources in promoting and furthering the plan and aiding in the manner it is every ready to assume for the benefit of its members.

It would hardly be feasible to give scholastic credit for successful completion of any course, but a suitable certificate or diploma would be a fine thing to have earned.

The cost of the course would be determined by the factors of charge for the text, printing expense, postage, office work, professorial salary and the miscellaneous. Whatever it is, it would be a worthwhile investment.

The course most needed at this time would seem to be that of pharmacology which of course would include specific toxicities. The next in importance is perhaps a course in physiology.

Pharmacy is advancing at such a rate as to make it difficult for the busy pharmacist to stay even with all the new techniques of his profession, and virtually impossible for him alone to analyze all the information he receives, if indeed he is able to distinguish between the valuable and the unimportant. If he is to measure up to his manifest destiny of being the accepted pharmaceutical consultant to the medical and allied health professions, he is in need of all the help and preparation continuing professional education can give him. This is especially true for the pharmacist who has allowed himself to lapse into a desuetude that breeds a mediocrity only a step away from incompetence.

There is little in the future for the pharmacist who is content to retreat in the face of the challenges of the profession and who will not keep abreast of the constantly occurring changes. On the obverse side is the pharmacist who believes it is a vital part of his professional obligation to continue his education that he may render more effective service to the doctors' patients who will be his patrons, and to the doctors themselves. This tacit union is sure to enrich both pharmacy and medicine.

UNC PHARMACY SCHOOL NOTES

The School of Pharmacy was well represented and quite active at the recent meeting in Dallas of the American Pharmaceutical Association and the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy. All but two of the faculty members were in attendance. Those who attended were: Dr's Brannon, Cocolas, Hager, Jowdy, Piantadosi, Semeniuk, Taylor, and Thompson.

Four students representing the local organiation attended the sessions of the Student Branches of the American Pharmaceutical Association. They were: Nick Holland, Ben Williams, Neill Musselwhite and Nancy Adams.

Four research papers were presented which were co-authored by faculty members and graduates. The titles and authors of the papers are: "The Preparation of Mixed Glycol Acetal Carbamates by Transacetalation of Certain Di- and Trihydric Alcohols" by Mr. Rauch, Dr. Semeniuk, and Dr. Piantadosi; "Particle Size Distribution and Flow Rates" by Dr's Sumner and Thompson; "5α-Aryl-6-Methylthymines as Potential Antimetabolites" by Dr's Burckhalter and Brannon; and "Adhesion Tension Determinations for Evaluating Binders in Tabletting" by Dr's Lim, Thompson, and Piantadosi.

Dean Hager, as President of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy, presided at its sessions. His presidential address to this body was titled "He Knows and They Should Know He Knows."

Open House was held on April 17 by Dean and Mrs. Hager for the members of the senior class. Representatives of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association and Dr. Alfred Burger, Visiting Scientist from the University of Virginia, also attended.

Dr. Burger lectured to the student body on April 18 and 19. His topics were "Medicinal Chemistry—An Interdisciplinary Science" and "Some Recent Studies with Inhibitors of Purified Enzyme Systems." Graduate students, faculty, and other researchers conferred with him.

On April 20 Dean Hager attended a meeting at the National Library of Medicine in Bethesda, Maryland as a member of the Ad Hoc Advisory Committee on the Drug Literature Program. He presented the Research Achievement Awards in behalf of the American Pharmaceutical Association Foundation to the recipients at a general session of the American Pharmaceutical Association on April 24. On May 5 and 6 he attended as a member a meeting of the Board of the United States Adopted Names in New York; and on May 11 was guest speaker for Ladies Night for the Cabarrus Pharmaceutical Association.

Dr. Joseph Swintosky, Pharmaceutical Research Section Head at Smith, Kline and French, visited the school on May 4 and 5. He presented two lectures to the student body and guests. These were titled "How Drugs Are Absorbed and Excreted" and "Pharmaceutical Education for Industry." He also conferred with members of the faculty.

Three students have been picked to work with Dr. Cocolas this summer in the National Science Foundation Undergraduate Research Program he is directing. They are James Stephen Kennedy of Shelby, N. C. Jack L. Morgan, Jr. of Raleigh, N. C.; and George William Moore, Jr. of Conover, N. C.

Dr. Chambers spoke at a seminar for Pharmacy Preceptors in Raleigh on May 1.

Dr. Jowdy spoke to the Alamance County Pharmaceutical Society on April 20 concerning "Extended Care Facilities—Pharmacy and Medicare—Opportunities for Professional Service."

Recent guest lecturers in Pharmacy Management were: Mr. James Koch who spoke on the "Diabetic Patient"; Mr. A. C. Jones discussed "Computerized Records for the Community Pharmacy Practitioner"; and Mr. Larry Baber spoke on "Insurance and the Community Pharmacy Practitioner."

On April 18 and 19 the school participated in the Junior Science and Humanities Symposium for fifty visiting high school students. Displays and/or presentations in their particular areas were made by Dr's Yager, Jowdy, Piantadosi, Thompson and Vier.

Pharmacy Week-End was observed on May 6, 7 and 8. Activities included a golf tournament, soft ball games, dances and picnic.

Kappa Psi

During Pharmacy Weekend, Kappa Psi won its fourth straight annual softball game with the PDC's by a score of 11 to 4. Senior Johnny King pitched all but the last inning when he was relieved by Lynn Williams. This was the last annual softball game for these two seniors as well as for John Bailey, Jim Matthews, Solon Minton and Hugh Moore.

In recent elections in the student body, James Hall was elected Vice-President and was also selected as President of the Pharmacy Senate. Richard Dameron and Bob Inman were elected to the offices of Executive Committee Member and Assistant to the President, respectively, in the Student Branches.

At the annual Awards Night held during the final meeting of the Student Branches, Terry Heatherington was one of the recipients of the Merck Award for noteworthy achievements in pharmacy. Neill Musselwhite was presented the Buxton Williams Hunter Medal for excelling in campus citizenship and scholarship, the Pharmacy Senate Award for the greatest student loyalty and service to the pharmacy school and the Outgoing Student Body President's Key.

In June fourteen Kappa Psi Seniors will be graduating. Each one of them has done an outstanding job for the fraternity and the underclassmen are very reluctant to see them go. But the remaining Kappa Psi's hope that they can keep alive the enthusiasm that the Seniors have instilled within them.

Roche Advisory Committee Meets in Raleigh

In view of the importance of developin better understanding between pharmacis and the pharmaceutical industry, Roch Laboratories has instituted a program regional advisory committees of practicin pharmacists. The first meeting was held Raleigh, North Carolina on May 19.

Five practicing pharmacists from Nort Carolina met with representatives of Roc for a frank exchange of ideas on curre trend, practices and services. The partic pating pharmacists were James W. Adam Asheville; Edward B. Eadie, Charlotte; R. Hall, Mocksville; Jesse M. Pike, Concor and K. R. Ramsey, Jr., Rockingham.

The advisory committee made sever suggestions on areas needing improvemer Among them were: the presentation product information in a more useful ma ner; better advertising and merchandisi techniques; and help in understanding t Medicare Laws. Of particular value those pharmacists interested in becomi consultants to nursing homes was the sho ing of the new film "Pharmaceutical Ser ices in the Nursing Home," produced the American Pharmaceutical Associati under a grant from Roche Laboratories.

This program was designed to help i prove communications between Roche a the practicing pharmacist with the ultima goal being better service to the publ Both the pharmacists in attendance and t Roche personnel felt a great deal w achieved by this program.

How Good Is Your Association?

An Association is only as good or bad as its members want it to be.

Some people seem to think that an Association is only as good or bad as its officers and board of directors want it to be.

How fortunate we would all be if this last statement were true. Since a great majority of people who allow themselves to be placed in a position as officer or director are truly interested in the organization and its program, all they would have to do is say—"Our Association is going to be strong and helpful to its members."

But unfortunately it doesn't work that way. I have seen too many cases where the elected officials of an Association were dedicated men and envisioned great strides forward to be made during their term, only to be confronted with a membership that was, at best, seemingly unconcerned with the group's progress. These are the people who seem to think that once they have joined and continue to pay their dues annually, the organization is going to function and be effective whether they do anything or not.

In talking with prospective Association members, we should make them aware that they are not going to be handed the answers to all their problems on a silver platter just because they joined. We should make it clear to them that the success of the organization in the past has been due to work on the part of all the members and not just a few in high places.

Time and time again it has been said and proved that "You only get out of an organization what you put into it," but for some reason we tend to throw this off as just an old saying and not pay heed to its wisdom.

The dictionary defines Association thusly: "An organization of persons having a common purpose, or common interest." If our common purpose or interest is to see Pharmacy prosper, to allow us to give better service and make a better living—then our common purpose must also be to work to make our Association strong.

The Carolina Journal of Pharmacy is published monthly by the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association, Box 151, Chapel Hill, N. C. Subscription rate: $3.00 a year; single copy, 25 cents. Second Class postage paid at Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

Receives MD Degree at Bowman Gray

Impressions of a Delegate Presented in Haphazard Rambling

JAMES W. HARRISON

Scintillant conversation at the luncheon ables, some characters like Shakespearean heroes talking in blank verse. . . . Bill Gurley, moving slowly along the Auditorium concourse during an intermission, basking in Nature's air-conditioning. (I stood tip-toe upon a little hill, the air was cooling and so very still.—Keats) . . . Roger McDuffie, reporting Time and Place with swaggish allusions to Spruce Pine and Lenoir, taking us out of our carryover seriousness; when the little boy dies, the man perishes. . . . One knight of the detail drag speaking to another: "Why should I be chained to an office desk and go slowly nuts for a lousy ten dollars extra a week when I can be out on the road calling on so many nice druggists?" . . . The panels, more grains along the table than on any butcher's meat counter on a Saturday.

Dinner music, trying for volume over three hundred separate conversations that would make the cacophonies of jungle sounds seem like echoes in a wilderness forest. . . . One matron greeting another with all the verve of a reaction in the chemical lab, approaching the explosion of near rapture, when they had seen each other at last week's PTA meeting. . . . One demure little Miss, so surfeited with the gooey concoction of bananas, nuts, syrups and ice cream, she lost count of the number she consumed and heaved around like a bumblebee tipsy on dose dew; luckily, her own pica taste produced a natural emesis. . . . Rite of the roses, symbolic ritual, the subdued brooding voice of Creech and the gentle touch of Moose as they conducted with liturgical solemnity this tribute to the memory of departed colleagues. (A good name is better than precious ointment; and the day of death than the day of one's birth.—Ecclesiastes.)

The Blue Ridge Mountain Dancers brought back memories of quilting bees, corn shuckings, and stirred vivid imaginings of Jeb Stuart and his flamboyant sash and plume and gaudy uniform, Sweeney and his banjo, glowing embers of bivouac campfires, Lorena, Dixie, the Long Roll, acorn coffee, hell for leather cavalry raids, the whine of minie balls, pounding hooves, chivalry, romantic war, cruel war, picturesque speech with Elizabethan overtones—"the affection you have instilled in my bosom Miss Custis is a holy one, before which I bow humbly. Such sentiments as you hold toward me I cannot dare hope will be entirely favorable, yet I beseech you to credit me with humble sincerity. For, dear Melanie, I must entreat you to consider becoming my wife." (Modes may have changed, but the way of a maid with a man remains much of a sameness in all eras. Chances are dear Melanie had been meneuvering with coy coquetry since her mid teens to flank our swashbuckling hero into this long way around proposal.)

Days poised in beauty, as if Mother Nature splashed bags of gold over Battery Park Hill, holding no mortgage up her sleeve to demand payment in rainy blackberry winter coolth. . . . A few children tiring of play, leaving off in the middle of it like a kitten quitting in the middle of a game with a ball. . . . Delegates staying up into the wee hours, reasoning that only people who think life is at its worst go to sleep to get out of it. . . . Tom Boone so carried away with Dean Hager's report he Russell Chambers and George Hager, making a ritual of filling their pipes with all the profound deliberation of a Galilei pondering a co-ordinate.

The brash delegate watching the boniface's secretary checking her beauty in a compact mirror with all the gloating of a small boy eyeing a fire engine. . . . Tom Ham, missing one convention in twenty-five while he idled away the time in convalescing from a bite inflicted by a lawn mower. . . . Timberlake, imparting to us that knowing what to do is wisdom, knowing how to do it is skill, and the doing of it is a virtue. . . . John Hood, as ebullient as Mount Pelee before eruption, loosening the leash on his whimsies to set them to frolic with the audience and the panel. . . . Woody, her first time in the registering job, she acquitted herself creditably.

Wilkins Harden, from a sister state but one of us; quick on the rebound, answering queries to the point, without subtlety. . . . Homer Starling and all the King's men, perfect hosts, lords of the manor, atmosphere of another time, another place, where impeccable major domos would direct other impeccable staffs that never a drop of crumb would sully milady's gown. . . . The entire program, a veritable cornucopia of ideas transmitted and received on precise wavelengths; delegates and participants could have been making history without the annoyance of marking time for it. . . . William Logan, his Official World has no intention of leaving the rogue and punk alone to ply

Honored at Sunday Night Dinner

Highlight of the evening program was the Address by President Boone (page 13 of the June issue of THE CAROLINA JOURNAL OF PHARMACY) and presentation of these certificates by Frank W. Dayvault, President of the N. C. Board of Pharmacy:

1. To F. O. Bowman of Chapel Hill "for his significant contributions to the health and welfare of the citizens of the State as attorney, legislative counsel, advisor and friend."

2. To Dr. Claude Piantadosi of Chapel Hill for assistance in the administration of the practical pharmacy examination.

3. To N. O. McDowell, Jr. of Scotland Neck. To Robert Neal Watson of Sanford. "for meritorious service to the public and the profession of pharmacy while fulfilling the duties and obligations of membership on the N. C. Board of Pharmacy."

Pharmacist of the Year

Alfred N. Martin of Roanoke Rapids was named "Pharmacist of the Year" by the NCPhA. A dinner in his honor will be held later this summer in Roanoke Rapids.

his nefarious trade outside the law; but he is still handicapped because he has to wait while the guy on the other side of the fence breaks the law, and wait some more while he compiles proof irrefutable; nothing is fact until it is proved, meanwhile we are unprotected from damage. The only compulsion to live by the Golden Rule is the keen sense of the imponderables which makes us refrain from doing that which we would despise in others. One of the things we liked about Logan was his emphasis on nothing to fear from any of his checkers because this is a co-operative effort in which the pharmacist is an adept in co-operating. Just keep the records clean and accurate.

Tommy Reamer, itemizing his needs like a college coach recruiting in a mining town. . . . Homer Higgs, giving us startling facts about potential volume in convalescent aids; worth the price of admission just for that. Now, Sears might experience a decrease in their volume. . . . In the next ten minutes 500 extra pharmacists could find attractive positions, according to Lyle Davis's survey. . . . A fee instead of unrealistic mark-up might be the answer to one of your operational problems. Dr. Jacoff's offer to evaluate your prescription pricing methods ranks right up there with the Lilly Digest service in furnishing help for the asking. Come to think of it, you could be missing out on a lot of things when you fail to take advantages offered. Of course, if you do not know about all these offers, it is probably because you either haven't joined up with your colleagues or do not read your mail. . . . Rubin's Aspirin for Pharmacy's Headaches Today has the potential analgesia of meperidine, and his ten points, if applied in a daily regimen, may stimulate pharmacy more than the usual trite and banal devices sporadically employed.

Hams cured in the mountains are from corn fed porkers, those from the east are from peanut fed porkers, but the Morrises of Bayboro won one from a left-handed pig. . . . Parlor A, more like a store room or abandoned broom closet; good thing it had no carpet, even a straw mat would feel ashamed at being trapped there. They ran out of space; sorry, Bill. . . . The forlorn damosel, appeasing her hunger in the Governor's suite, yet she had command, and no intention of helping anybody down the avenue to Lethe and be thanked as something thrown out like a paper clip or a used envelope. . . . Junior Blanton, chip from a revered oak but an issue with an individual identity, with heart, head, hands of his own and courage to use them; he will receive much but give more, will warm himself by the fire of our allegiance, transmuting the potential into the kinetic. (Through our great good fortune, in our youth our hearts were touched with fire.—Holmes Jr.) . . . Dorsey's grandchildren, flitting about the lobby like bluebirds carrying the sky on their backs. . . . The interplay of alliterative synecdoches between Poole and Rubin with an occasional hyperbolic prod from John Hood.

John Mills, fils, making a plea that the visitation committee members' terms be staggered to have more than one member serving consecutive terms; constructive thinking, that. . . . Monday morning quarterbacking: the few members emitting eyebrow-raised opinions on "himzies" being nominated while "whooziz" should have been, or why skeezix's" motion didn't get a second are the same "Joes" who didn't make a nomination from the floor or second a motion. You evaluate the viewpoint by the gauge of interest. . . . What happened to Sarah and Luke? If the Royalls' wonted ebullience bore an undue solemnity, they wore still their frank enjoyment as their natural mantle of dignity. . . . Lee Moose and allergist Shirey rekindling the thrills of boyhood escapades and exchanging news with the informality of the locker room. . . . Jack Watts and Seymour Holt seeking a lull in the proceedings in order to fulfill their mission as MSRs. . . . Something rare in a critic: Dissecting a piece of shoddy PR job, then supplying the remedy; such was "Day of Judgment." Alas, most critics tear down but do not build up. . . . The Association has made progress and is still (unbiased opinion) the top-flight organization of its kind. Don't say Jim said it, merely, that is, but read the proceedings in the Year Book, come October, and the Journals in the interim.

The family representation at the Awards program, fifty years of service with honor, dignity and unselfishness. (Pride still is aiming at the blest abodes; men would be angels, angels would be gods. Aspiring to be gods if angels fell, aspiring to be angels, men rebel.—Pope.) . . . Dean Hager, urging us to record those instances wherein we acted to gain favorable attention to our high calling into "Pharmaceutical Case Reports." We all know of instances where an extroversive pharmacist stood up to a condition or a circumstance in such a manner as to bring everlasting credit upon the profession and upon him. No roll of drums or blare of trumpets heralded the event, he turned a corner and it faced him square,

ONE OF THE HIGHEST AWARDS IN PHARMACY

The APhA PUBLIC EDUCATION AWARDS

Sponsored by Pfizer Laboratories

Each year Pfizer Laboratories looks forward to the Annual Meeting of the APhA as one of the more important events on our calendar. We are indeed proud to join the American Pharmaceutical Association in honoring the individual pharmacist and organization whose public education programs are judged most effective in demonstrating the direct relationship between the pharmacist and better community health.

Our hope for the future is that more and more pharmacists and organizations will take part in this annual competition.

The APhA Public Education Awards consist of a cash prize of $500, a trophy, and an expense-paid trip to the Annual Meeting, where the presentation of awards is made.

All entrants receive a certificate of merit in appreciation of their efforts.

A brochure outlining the rules for prospective entrants in 1966 is available on request from: American Pharmaceutical Association, Division of Communications, 2215 Constitution Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20037.

WINNERS OF THE 1965 COMPETITION

J. Harris Fleming, Director of Trade Relations, Pfizer Laboratories and J. B. Roerig & Co.; Dr. Edward S. Brady, Professor of Pharmaceutical Chemistry, Univ. of South. Calif.; Grover C. Bowles, President of the APhA; Sam Brock, Sales Manager, Pfizer Laboratories.

Individual Award:

DR. EDWARD S. BRADY
Professor of Pharmaceutical Chemistry,
University of Southern California.

The central feature of Dr. Brady's entry was a series of 28 half-hour TV programs entitled, "The Apothecary." Dr. Brady wrote the scripts and was the sole performer in each of the programs. During 1965 he made 200 appearances in person or on film. His total audience may now be measured in the millions.

Sam Brock, Sales Manager, Pfizer Laboratories; Benjamin Levine, President, Cons. Bklyn. Retail Pharmacists, Inc.; Grover C. Bowles, President of the APhA; J. Harris Fleming, Director of Trade Relations, Pfizer Laboratories and J. B. Roerig & Co.; Moe Weiss, Executive Secretary, Cons. Bklyn. Retail Pharmacists, Inc.

Organization Award:

CONSOLIDATED BROOKLYN
RETAIL PHARMACISTS, INC.

Under the direction of Moe Weiss, Executive Secretary, all available media were used for participation in several special pharmacy "Weeks." Large posters were used on buses to provide maximum exposure to the 3,000,000 residents of the Brooklyn area. Radio, TV and newspapers dramatized the everyday experiences of the pharmacist in his efforts to serve the public interest.

The panel of judges for the 1965 Public Education Awards Competition included the APhA Committee on Public Relations, with special assistance from Robert B. Wolcott, Jr., President of Robert B. Wolcott Associates, Inc. of Los Angeles and President of the Public Relations Society of America, and Leland R. Rosemond of N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc. of Philadelphia. In addition to Committee Chairman Eckstrom who is Associate for Professional Services, Eli Lilly and Company, the members of the Committee are Arthur F. De Vaux, community pharmacist of Ann Arbor, Michigan; John F. Fochtman, Assistant Secretary, the National Pharmaceutical Council, Inc.; Dr. Richard P. Penna, community pharmacist and Assistant Clinical Professor of Pharmacy at the University of California, and John Shostak, pharmacist and member of the Connecticut State Legislature.

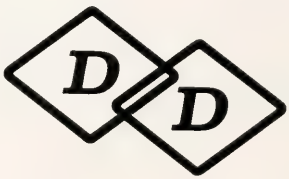

Displays of the winning entrants were shown at the 113th APhA Annual Meeting in Dallas, April 24 to 29, 1966.

and he stood up to it instinctively and was counted by the world, or at least by that corner of the world that mattered to him. Of less tenuous threads are deathless romances spun. A compilation of such reports would be interesting, rewarding and of great value. . . . Frank Dayvault paying homage to the Big Four, dulce et decorum, and presenting citations all will be proud to have merited. Naturally, this will receive diaristic treatment in a diary which is the object of frequent goodnatured joshing.

Hugh Sconyers coming up with a program he spent so much time arranging as to let the weeds rob his flowers of their accustomed diet. (There are three things which the public will always clamour for, sooner or later: namely, Novelty, novelty, novelty.—Hood)

Russell Chambers, on more secure footing, the right man in the right job; the restraints of officialdom not so stringent as last year when an exception could not be tolerated; now, at his insistence, even a machine can accept an anachronism and be tamed to interpret ambiguous jargon and apply the significance of the official bull. A classic example of an exponent of the decrees of an agency creating an understanding between it and a group pioneering through labyrinthine mazes to the end that a state of amity exists. (Cras amet qui nunquam amavit, quique amavit cras amet!—Myself) . . . Join the procession, consultants to small hospitals and nursing homes are growing in number; if you don't do it, somebody will and if somebody doesn't hurry, Father Federal will step in. Gordon Poole told you how in lucid language with the clarity of the Bible. When it's dry weather you don't need to fix the hole in the roof, and when it rains, you can't. . . . Paul Jenkins, liking the mountains next to his own Hertford when he viewed a patch of smoky haze that laid a canopy over mile high peaks. . . . Claude Paoloni, specialist in his field, presenting his concept of Medicare service in mature odes but bright and soft and musical. . . . Don Chapman, the accent of the right school in his dissertations.

The new officers, Creech, West, Allen, Houser, Wells, Kennedy, Hackney, looking through their lattices at the world, each making her own temple but each temple dedicated to the same ends. They may be prismatic dream creatures but they stimulate their mates to cause time and the tug of the future to bend with their will. . . . Ann and Virginia, vivacious elves plucking petals from purple violets and witchingly putting them on again. . . . Jacque and Virginia, both brightening the roomful of business suited Caesars. Wonder who was keeping the store. . . . Red Worley, hoping for something; when he hopes for something he always works for it too. . . . Affiliation with APhA; time will not always hang on a peg like a cloak to be worn then placed on the peg again. Erase any dispute at the source, no matter how long standing the source or the dispute. Differences are more fluid than the motivations of man. The wine must always abide by the shape of the flask which holds it. . . . Losing Hubert Phillips in the maze of the crowd, but knowing he would be back Monday with a brief case full of orders that wouldn't be checked anyway until Wednesday when all these delegates were back on the job. . . . The gate crasher who hinted for a libation with all the delicate subtlety of a carnival calliope.

Earl Brown, bestriding an idea and spurring it to a furious pace. . . . Tom Boone, overcoming his misgivings about cutting loose from the conventional to embrace a newer concept, but gradually solving the enigma of whether his plot of ground covered riches or frustration. A gentleman unafraid feels washed by the wind he faces. . . . Bob Hall, life does not lose its flavor for him, he missed very little, was not even tardy at a session once. . . . Rob Roy Copeland, no yearnings for auld land syne for him, he fears neither the present or the future. . . . Pharmacist of the Year Alfred Martin will be a worthy and humble recipient of the honor; if it flowed gradually upon him and its surge knocked him into a trance, he recovered with charming aplomb. . . . Jim Wolfe ran out of whipping posts but he flayed himself just the same to bring you the last night's climax. . . . Charlie Andrews did his usual bangup job; here he was for the nth time getting news of the progress of the programs second hand while dealing out first hand information, answering requests even before they were asked; he must have used some sort of telepathic sense or ESP. Well, he treated his customers so in years gone by.

Now there is Al Jowdy's place to be filled on the faculty, his office in the Research Foundation to be filled; primroses and mignonettes are nice things to line our paths, but we can not hope to have everything our way; all the same, it hurts a little and bewilders to lose good men. Godspeed! He carries our best wishes with him. . . . If she ever decides to run for PTA office, Lyb Blanton would win hands down if the voters could hear all the nice things people said about her; on second thought, she would better consider running for Congress, because she would mortgage all her time in the PTA job, in Congress it would be easier, in either it would be a landslide. What these male Catalines considered had to be the way she poured herself into her job last year and the way she handled it at Convention time, the female chatelaines knew she had wasted no minutes at outworn altars. And it was Charlie's pleasure to help her last year, so it is her turn this year to help him, something like singling him home from second in the last of the ninth.

Mary Boone, Hope Hall, Debbie Hager, gentle, quiet, glowing, stilling restive childish spirits with the soft music of their voices. . . . C. H. Smith, taking no payoff in cash but rating handfuls of pats on the back; that is why he is re-elected year after year. . . . Dave Dowdy, the Samuel Adams of the tribunal; well, somebody has to balance the zealots. . . . Maybe it's a good deal that Jasper Jackson enlarged his store; now he can use that Convalescent Aids Department he won as a nucleus to multiply his sales. Good protoplasm, that. . . . Glad Charlotte could be there some of the time. I knew a child of February wouldn't let me down. . . . Griff, Penland and Proffit, tell them to build a bungalow and they end up with a skyscraper. . . . William Wells, a grandstand seat this time, but we'll catch up with you in half a dozen years. . . . In 1959 it was Lucile Rogers, WA president who so majestically graced the Asheville Convention. Every time I thought of her I inwardly voiced my little prayer, paid silent homage to her brave spirit. She would not want our wailing, but would not disdain our tears. We say we shall not weep for her but how is it that tonight our eyes are wet?

Cams and gears, Charlie, Henry, Frank Dave and all the Gears; whatever became of Ruth Cobb, and J. Louis? . . . Bill Sisk J. C. McGee and John Kluttz, coats off pencils poised over order books, peppery as Magyar sandwiches, selling merchandise in the Treasure Chest like it was from their own shelves, and the WA got the proceeds. Thanks, boys, you did a good job. . . . Mac's report, as always, a model of syntactic construction. . . . The 4 o'clock reception, a parabolized patina of pulchritude and perfume; Asuma, Suivez Moi, L'Ardente Nuit mingling with anise, kummel, Velvet tobacco and coffee, exotic, esoteric, rosaceously heady. . . . Bill Scarborough heading the Raleigh delegation like a general marshaling his brigade. . . . Evelyn Williford, let not a year pass that fails to have a new member of the Academy of Pharmacy. . . . Mickey Watts, ingenuity and loving care in all the intricate details of planning his Poison Prevention Campaign that stirred more lay interest than a circus magician. . . . Moralizing: it's all too easy to conjure up a reason for doing what one wants to do and one does not need to know how to express those reasons as long as they know they have them, which is rationalization enough. Knowing this, one may feel a deep sorrow for those who did not attend the Convention and a deeper grief for those who could not.

Dear W. J.:

Secretaries have to do all the work and often get little credit except when things go wrong. Therefore, I wanted to let you know I thought the Convention in Asheville was the most informative State Convention I have ever attended.

attend. Both are the losers, and whoever heard of a pedestal being erected to a loser?

Tom Burgiss, long since rid of the moths and butterflies playing hide and seek in his stomach as he gets to his feet to talk, ages since departed is the incongruous anatomical oddity of the mythical hinge and lever connective of tongue to knee tissue which, when he rose to talk, made a silent well of his voice box and a metronomic castanet of his knees. Now he is a finished product, a one-man PR herald for Pharmacy in his domain and beyond. . . . John Stevenson, clutching a couple of dozen thermometers he had bought in the Treasure Chest to be companion-sold later with sulfa prescriptions and febricides. Wonder if all those thermometers held George Hager's degrees? . . . Paul Tart and Bob Hall, they made all countries where they came from their own. . . . Urbane Jim Adams, fresh from enrolling his prodigy of a son in college, stopping over enroute to going home to read "Alice in Wonderland" to another. (Twopence a week, and jam every other day. The rule is, jam tomorrow and jam yesterday—but never jam today.—Lewis Carroll.) . . Bill Houser, the same vernal equinox of man, year in, year out

Jesse Pike, militant for his ideals, holding off the devil with a poker and a pair of fire tongs. . . . The comely maid on the dance floor, raising her eyes with gay insouciance, her gaze striking a would-be dancer with Diana marksmanship. . . . The delegate who weighed most proposals by the measurement of his own understanding and became the sterm covenanter when he sniffed crusade in the making. . . . Ana Maria Batista, nee Carralero, not long from Antilles, marvelling at the differences in practice here and in her native land. Some of their regulations we would do well to adopt, and she seemed to have enough versatility to have fitted herself into our modes and methods. . . . The delegate who seemed to know where all the old skeletons slept, but when prodded, closed up like a clam. . . . The delegates in the lobby, flitting a comb through her hair with all the serenity of a bride smoothing out the ravelled ends of life into a semblance of law and order. . . . The attentive delegates, predispositioned to explore the change and the new; such urgings have from time unfathomed carried hardy souls to the ends of earth, ever exploring.

Conventions of professional practitioners are more than mere forums of opinions or workshops teaching better methods and modes of practice. Too, they are indeed all these things, even the diversive cameraderie of the informal get-togethers wherein the new idea is born and passed along, even the entertainment aspects, the relaxing atmosphere bear fruit to be plucked and used for sustenance. Sometimes comparisons are odious, so I shun the trite "best one ever" thought. But this can be said in perfect candour: the program was presented by speakers whose expertise in their particular fields are recognized to their merited renoun nationally, and the participants in our own state fitted their roles with the exactitude they have achieved with uncommon success. It is no exaggeration to say that we were exposed to the teachings and the lore of the elite of the pharmaceutical world. How well we learned, how well we exploit what we have learned to the high calling we have embraced is now in our hands. But these conclaves do not just happen of themselves. As has been said before, they require an infinite amount of planning and preparing, painstaking execution, and a wise and aggressive follow through. We know so well who these workers are and how admirable are their propensities for shunning the limelight and avoiding our praise which could, excusably, become effusive, and likely ebullient. And certainly you delegates and conventioneers who attended are more than the flyleaves in our book, you are the sum and substance of the whole volume.

Wednesday morning, the theatre is empty but the wings still hold the echoes of the actors' lines; the lobby of the Battery Park is a hive of activity as farewells and the graceful amenities are exchanged. To say good-bye is to die a little, but there is the beckoning glow of next year in Winston-Salem to lick our anticipatory chops upon. (Rubin will not change the placement of this final preposition, and Churchill cannot.)

Board of Pharmacy Acts on Substitution Charges

Three pharmacists in North Carolina were found guilty by the State Board of Pharmacy on charges of substitutions in the filling of prescription orders.

The Board ordered their licenses revoked for one year, but stayed the revocation in each case on condition that the pharmacist does not violate any state or federal drug laws or regulations.

The charges against them were brought by Smith Kline & French Laboratories as part of its campaign against substitution practices in the filling of prescription orders.

Each pharmacist was accused of filling on three occasions a prescription order for Smith Kline & French products with the products of other manufacturers.

Kendall Entertains in Shelby

Rush and Gordon Hamrick and the staff of Kendall Drug Company, Shelby, were hosts to several hundred customers, medical service representatives and guests at the Annual Kendall Picnic Supper on June 29.

The program started with golf in the afternoon and concluded with a dance. Cedar Park, located about 15 miles from Shelby, was the setting for the picnic.

Kendall serves customers in about a dozen counties adjacent to Cleveland. On June 29 a majority of Kendall's business friends and associates turned out for the once-a-year opportunity to get together to enjoy fellowship and food.

Albert Suttle was late in getting to the party. A newly arrived Methodist minister was officially welcomed to Shelby on the night of Kendall's party. It is reported Albert's responsibility was to pour tea for the guests, hence his late check-in at Cedar Park.

Resolutions Adopted

1. That the School of Pharmacy of the University of North Carolina, with the support of the NCPhA, establish a "Center of Continuation Study" on an organized basis for the purpose of guiding and aiding in the training necessary for the pharmacist to maintain his professional competence.

2. That the NCPhA urge the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare to schedule a public hearing on H. R. 11934 in order that organized pharmacy may express its views on this proposed legislation. (H. R. 11934 is interpreted as meaning all pharmaceutical services to eligible VA beneficiaries must be supplied from VA dispensaries).

3. That the NCPhA endorse H. R. 14597 and urge its Congressional Delegation in Washington to support the bill. (H. R. 14597 will provide an opportunity for Medicare recipients to obtain their personal prescription requirements, on an out-patient basis, through pharmacies of their choice).

4. That the NCPhA endorse H. R. 10 and inform its Congressional Delegation of this action taken in convention assembly, Asheville, N. C., June 14, 1966. (H. R. 10 will provide a means whereby the self-employed may gain a tax deferment in order to provide themselves with a retirement program).

5. That (a) unlawful institutional drug diversion is condemned and declared a problem of significant public interest; (b) individual drug suppliers are urged in the strongest terms to review their pricing policies and practices to ensure compliance with the letter and spirit of the Robinson-Patman Act in connection with sales to institutional purchasers; and (c) members of the NCPhA continue to give the closest attention to developments in the field of institutional drug diversion to ascertain the extent of unlawful conduct.

6. That the NCPhA seriously consider affiliating with the APhA and to take whatever steps may be considered necessary for this successful unity. Referred to NCPhA Executive Committee for further study and indicated action.

7. That the NCPhA consider the development of a suitable form that can be uniformly applied by community pharmacists of N. C. in submitting claims for Rx service to third party payees.

8. That the NCPhA recommend that the State Board of Pharmacy have a hospital pharmacist included in the composition of its membership, either as a duty appointed active member or as a full-time consultant to the Board. (In view of the fact the State Board of Pharmacy is already taking steps in this direction, the Committee on Resolutions recommends that the Association accept an amended version of the resolution to include only engaging a consultant in this field and exclude the phrase "duty appointed active member.")

9. That the NCPhA extend grateful appreciation and thanks to Dr. E. A. Brecht for his many years of unfailing service and devotion towards the advancement and betterment of Pharmacy in North Carolina. (Adopted unanimously with a rising vote of thanks to Dr. Brecht).

North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association Names Mount Airy Pharmacist 1966 Recipient of Outstanding Community Service Award

Mount Airy pharmacist John E. Mills has been honored by the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association at its 1966 recipient of the A. H. Robins "Bowl of Hygeia" Award for outstanding community service.

Mills, a partner in the W. S. Wolfe Drug Company, received the award June 12 at the association's annual convention in Asheville.

Making the presentation was Alvin Jenkins, district sales supervisor in the Virginia Division of A. H. Robins. Participating in the ceremony was W. T. Boone of Ahoskie, president of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association.

The recipient, a 1955 graduate of the University of North Carolina School of Pharmacy, is president of the Mount Airy Merchants Association and vice president of the Chamber of Commerce.

He is a member of the mayor's Council on Human Relations, and is a member of Central Methodist Church, which he serves as superintendent of the Sunday School.

Mills is a member of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association and is a past president of the Rutherford County Drug Association and the Surry County Pharmaceutical Association.

He is president of the North Carolina Academy of Practical Instructors in Pharmacy and chairman of the University of North Carolina School of Pharmacy's visiting committee.

Mills is married to the former Barbara Sparks of Cliffside, N. C. They have three children.

The Bowl of Hygeia, most widely recognized international symbol of pharmacy, derives from Greek mythology.

Hygeia was the daughter and assistant of Aesculapius (sometimes spelled Asklepios), the God of Medicine and Healing. Her classical symbol was a bowl containing a medicinal potion, with the serpent of Wisdom (or guardianship) partaking of it. This is the same serpent of Wisdom which appears on the caduceus, the staff of Aesculapius which is the symbol of medicine.

The "Bowl of Hygeia" Award, presented annually through the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association, is a handsome mahogany plaque measuring 10 by 13 inches and featuring the Bowl of Hygeia cast in bronze. It is modeled after a sterling silver bowl made by a Mexican silversmith and given to the A. H. Robins Company by its Latin American representatives in 1953 on the Richmond (Va.) ethical pharmaceutical manufacturing firm's 75th anniversary.

The award was established in 1958 by the company's president, E. Claiborne Robins, and now, in addition to North Carolina, is presented annually in 47 states.

Meeting

N. C. Academy of Practical Instructors in Pharmacy

Reported by GERALD M. STAHL, Secretary

The annual meeting of the North Carolina Academy of Practical Instructors in Pharmacy was called to order at the Battery Park Hotel in Asheville on June 12, 1966 at 4:00 p.m. by its president, John Mills.

The first item of business was the introduction of the new Dean of the School of Pharmacy, Dr. George P. Hager, who was the principal speaker. Dr. Hager discussed the Role of the Modern Pharmacist as an Advisor to the Patient in a Community or Hospital Pharmacy. The Dean further commented and compared the intellectual skill versus the mechanical skill of a pharmacist. Dr. Hager suggested compiling of pharmaceutical case reports that would illustrate the role of the pharmacist in saving human lives by his personal contact with the public in his pharmacy.

The report of the Nominating Committee was read by John Mills in the absence of the chairman of the committee, Al Mebane. The following slate was presented, voted upon, and accepted:

President, Lloyd M. Whaley, Wallace
Vice President, George C. McLarty, High Point
Secretary, H. G. Price, Raleigh
New members of the Executive Board:
Ernest R. Anderson, High Point
James P. Greene, Boone
William L. Frostick, Laurinburg
James F. Lowder, Winston-Salem
C. Louis Shields, Jacksonville

The next item on the program was a panel discussion. Participants on the panel were two rising seniors and two members of the academy, G. B. Propst and Edwin Royall. After each panelist had an opportunity to present his views, a general discussion followed with all members participating.

Jesse Pike suggested that copies of Dr. Hager's speech to the Academy should be made available to all members by mail.

In further discussions it was brought out that it should be one of the projects of the Academy to investigate the potential in participating in Career Day programs in high schools in order to promote the interest of high school students in the study of Pharmacy.

It was also recommended that the placement service of the Academy should be started at an earlier date in order to allow 250 students to be placed in 1080 pharmacies each summer throughout the state.

The following new members of the Academy were inducted:

Paul E. Branch, Banner Elk; Benjamin W. Bullock, Durham; Tom Burgiss, Elkin; Ellerbe Griffin, Jr., Kings Mountain; Ida N. Keetsock, Durham; Hunter L. Kelly, Durham; Seth G. Miller, Lexington; John H. Rosser, Charlotte; J. Willard Ward, Jacksonville; Evelyn Doris Williford, Raleigh.

Inducted Into the North Carolina Academy of Pharmacy

Clyde B. Alexander, Rocky Mount; Ernest L. Carraway, Windsor; Gary Newton, Fayetteville; William A. Simmons, Winston-Salem; Mitchell W. Watts, Charlotte; Donald K. Carter, William L. Scarboro and Miss Evelyn Doris Williford, all of Raleigh.

Forged Prescriptions Result in Arrest

A 36-year-old man, Charles Edward Davison of Lexington, has been arrested for illegally obtaining narcotics from Lexington pharmacies.

According to police, Davison got hold of several prescription blanks from the office of a Mocksville doctor and forged the doctor's name on them to obtain ampules of Demerol. On a third prescription, given him legitimately, he altered the amount from two ampules to twelve ampules.

Has New Look

Secrest Drug Store, Monroe, has been remodeled—new fixtures, new lighting, interior repainted.

North Carolina-British Columbia Pharmacists Exchange Information and Opinions

North Carolina pharmacists and representatives of The Pharmaceutical Association of the Province of British Columbia exchanged information and opinions on June 23 over a long distance telephone hookup. It was the first such link between the United States and Canada for pharmacists.

Four panelists in each place discussed Drug Regulations, Continuing Education, Medicare and The Professional-Commercial Balance in Retail Pharmacy.

The North Carolina pharmacists assembled in the Institute of Pharmacy at Chapel Hill at 12:30 p.m. (EST). It was 10:30 a.m. (PDT) 3000 miles away in the Empress Hotel in Victoria, where the Pharmaceutical Association of the Province of British Columbia was in session.

Pharmacists who attended the conference heard the proceedings over a loudspeaker system. Large photographs of speakers at the other end of the hookup with a red light under each picture enabled the audience to identify speakers as the conference progressed.

The discussion lasted 75 minutes and was carried over wires leased by Smith Kline & French, who sponsored the conference.

Panelists in North Carolina were Dr. George P. Hager, Dean of the School of Pharmacy, University of North Carolina; H. C. McAllister, Secretary-Treasurer of the N. C. Board of Pharmacy; Charles D. Blanton, Jr., President of the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association; and Claude U. Paoloni, Director of Pharmacy Services & Central Supply, Moses H. Cone Memorial Hospital, Greensboro.

The panelists in British Columbia were Trevor M. Watson, partner in Derma Apothecary Shop Ltd., Vancouver; Dr. T. H. Brown, Associate Professor of Pharmacy, University of British Columbia; H. Bedford Bates, Manager, Main Branch, McGill & Orme, Prescription Pharmacists, Victoria; and James M. Dykeman, Branch Manager, Isaacs Pharmacy Ltd., North Vancouver.

The telephone link was set up by Smith Kline & French Laboratories and its Canadian subsidiary, Smith Kline & French Inter-America Corporation, as a service to pharmacy. Present in North Carolina to handle technical arrangements were SKF special projects representatives Charles W. (Bud) Callahan, H. A. Darragh and Albert Dippel.

General arrangements in North Carolina were under the supervision of W. J. Smith, Executive Director of the NCPhA, and in Canada by Douglas A. Denholm, Registrar of the Pharmaceutical Association of the Province of British Columbia.

Greensboro Drug Club

The Greensboro Drug Club held its June meeting at the Forest Oaks Country Club. Prior to the session, there was a putting contest on the green adjoining the Forest Oaks Club House. Prize gift certificates were won by Chester (Red) Buchanan and E. Wyman Cockman, who tied for low score. Three men won prizes for "holes in one."

Following a steak dinner, officers were installed at a business session. Those who will serve are G. R. (Ron) Buchanan, President; Ed M. Burkett, Vice-President; Bill H. Whitley, Secretary; Briggs E. Cook, Treasurer. On the Board of Directors will be Dale C. Bracker, Immediate Past-President; Chester Buchanan; Frank N. Early; Marion L. Oakes.

Walt Hendrix expressed the club's appreciation to the out-going officers for their excellent performance during the past year.

Cape Fear

Mrs. Charles Blanton, Jr., was guest speaker at the May meeting of the Cape Fear Pharmaceutical Auxiliary, held at the Concord House in Clinton.

New officers were installed by Mrs. George Markham, past-president of the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association Auxiliary. Serving for the next year will be Mrs. William G. Thames of Hope Mills, president; Mrs. H. E. Malion, Sr. of Fairmont, vice-president; Mrs. B. Cade Brooks, Fayetteville, secretary and treasurer.

Club members voted to contribute $50.00 to the remodeling fund for the Institute of Pharmacy, and $25 to the scholarship fund in memory of Lucile S. Rogers, recently deceased.

It was announced that the books, Profession of Pharmacy, which the Cumberland County pharmacists had purchased, will be distributed to all the city and county high schools.

North Eastern

Officers of the North Eastern Carolina Pharmaceutical Society are James R. Oakley, president; Walter Clodfelter, vice president; and Ernest Carraway, Jr., secretary-treasurer.

High Point

A meeting at the home of Mrs. Bill Dunn, featured a film on the "Bowl of Hygeia." Mrs. Bill Long, vice-president, conducted the meeting.

The June meeting, held at the Holiday Inn, was a dinner session. The following officers were installed to serve for the new year: Mrs. Bill Dunn, president; Mrs. Joe Bland, vice-president; Mrs. Hubert Coffee, secretary-treasurer.

A guest at the meeting, Mrs. Willie Shoemaker of Leakesville, was welcomed by Mrs. Dunn.

Greensboro

The 37th meeting of The Greensboro Society of Pharmacists was held in Greensboro on June 23 with 25 members and one guest present.

Guest speaker was John C. Bullard, an agent of the Atlanta Field Station, Bureau of Drug Abuse Control. His topic was "What Pharmacists Should Know About the Drug Abuse Control Amendments of 1965."

Exhibited was the plaque won by group for best organized effort during National Poison Prevention Week and discussed were resolutions submitted by GSP and acted on in Asheville during recent NCPhA Convention.

Buncombe County

The June meeting of the Buncombe County Pharmaceutical Society was held in the Medical Library of Memorial Mission Hospital, Asheville, the fourth Tuesday instead of the third in order to program the featured speaker, Board of Pharmacy Inspector Lloyd Davis.

Col. Davis explained the duties, functions and responsibilities of the Board in its regulation of practice, a self-regulatory body appointed by the Governor by statute. He emphasised how pharmacists throughout the state helped him voluntarily in his efforts toward correcting illegal forms of practice and stressed several instances where this combined effort had been the means of projecting a truer image of pharmacy.

UNC PHARMACY SCHOOL NOTES

Dean Hager has been honored by his alma mater, the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy. He was selected to receive the Alumnus Award. This recognition was accorded him on June 2 at a meeting of the alumni and graduating seniors. On this occasion he was also the keynote speaker and addressed the gathering on "The Rights and Privileges (and Responsibilities) Thereunto Appertaining."

On June 3 and 4 Dean Hager attended a meeting of the Committee on Modern Methods of Handling Chemical Information (National Academy of Sciences—National Research Council). He has completed a tenure of six years as chairman of this Committee and has been re-appointed as a member for the next three years.

On June 8 Dean Hager addressed a joint meeting of the Wilson County physicians and pharmacists in Wilson, N. C. He attended a meeting in Madison, Wisconsin of the Executive Committee of the Academy of Pharmaceutical Sciences of which he is Vice-President. The Academy is a part of the American Pharmaceutical Association.

Faculty members who attended the recent convention of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association in Asheville are Drs. Hager, Jowdy, Piantadosi, Semeniuk and Taylor.

Convocation exercises were held for fifty-nine graduating seniors on June 6. Because of the size of the class and the number of relatives and friends attending the program, the exercises were not held in Beard Hall. This marks the first time since occupying the new facilities that they have not been used for the commencement program. Dean Hager welcomed the guests and announced the names of the students who had been singled out for special recognition on Awards Night. A message to the graduates was given by Dr. G. Philip Manire, Assistant Vice-Chancellor for Health Affairs. Mr. Larry Baber, president of the graduating class responded and introduced the graduates. The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Robert E. Seymour, pastor of the Olin T. Binkley Baptist Church.

The fall semester will start without the services of three former faculty members and with the services of three new faculty persons. Dr. E. A. Brecht, former dean, has accepted a teaching position at the College of Pharmacy at North East Louisiana State University. He will be working with one of his former students who is now dean, Dr. Ben F. Cooper. Dr. James C. Kellett, Jr. resigned after a year's leave of absence to continue in his position as Assistant Program Director for Instructional Scientific Equipment at the National Science Foundation in Washington, D. C. Dr. Albert W. Jowdy resigned to accept a similar position at the University of Georgia.

William E. Hall has been appointed to the staff as assistant professor of pharmacy. He completed his work for the Ph.D. degree at the University of Wisconsin after having received the B.S. in Pharmacy at the University of Arkansas. He is a native of Arkansas.

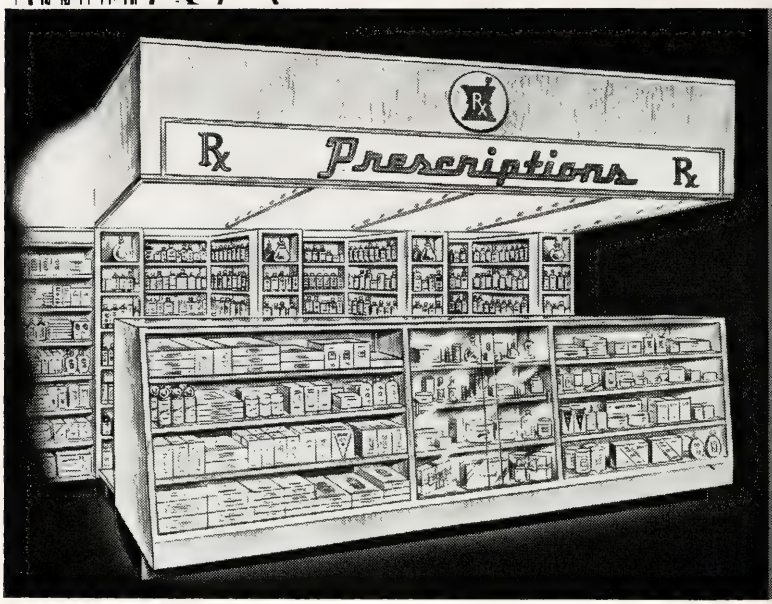

Dr. Chester J. Cavallito has joined the faculty as Professor of Medicinal Chemistry. Since 1951 he was Director of Research and Vice-President of Research at Neisler Laboratories. Dr. Cavallito is a native of New Jersey and obtained his doctorate degree at The Ohio State University where he majored in organic and physiological chemistry.

Dr. Albert M. Mattocks has been appointed Professor of Pharmacy. His previous positions include being Director of Laboratories for the American Pharmaceutical Association; Manager of Pharmaceutical Development for the McNeil Laboratories; Technical Director of the R. P. Scherer Corporation; and Professor of Pharmacy and Coordinator of Hospital Pharmacy Education and Research at the University of Michigan. He is a native of North Carolina and obtained his doctorate degree in pharmaceutical chemistry at the University of Maryland.

Dr. Monroe E. Wall has been given an appointment as Adjunct Professor of Medicinal Chemistry. He is the Director of the Natural Products Laboratory in the Research Triangle Institute. He is a native of New Jersey and completed the work for the doctorate degree at Rutgers University.

A total of $18,400 has been awarded to the School of Pharmacy by the Public Health Service as a part of the Health Professions Scholarship Program. The purpose of these scholarships is to enable talented students from low-income families to undertake a course of study leading to a degree in pharmacy. They are available only to such students who would not be able to pursue the required program without this financial assistance. Each scholarship not to exceed $2,500 may be used to pay the cost of the student's tuition, fees, books, equipment, and living expenses. Eligible students in the third year of the program may receive one of these scholarships in the fall.

Dr. George Cocolas, Associate Professor of Medicinal Chemistry, is directing an Undergraduate Research Participation Program in Medicinal Chemistry sponsored by the National Science Foundation. The students were selected on a competitive basis to work in the summer program. James S. Kennedy of Shelby, N. C. is pursuing an investigation on the synthesis and testing of some 3-piperidinols as drugs which may act on cholinergic nerves. George W. Moore, Jr. of Conover, N. C. is examining the stereochemical and electronic aspects of alpha-ketoglutaric acid to determine why it inhibits L-glutamic acid dehydrogenase, the enzyme which normally synthesizes it in the body. Jack L. Morgan, Jr. is examining the inhibition of a series of organic compounds to determine if they bind to the enzyme in the same or similar manner. In conjunction with NSF sponsorship, the Mead Johnson Undergraduate Research Award participant, James Ray Hall of Sanford, N. C. is engaged in a research project entitled "Intermolecular Design and Drug Development."

A very welcome addition to the Student Center has been made possible by the Woman's Auxiliary of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association. Money was given to purchase a sturdy but attractive card table and chairs. The students will appreciate these greatly and will put them to good use this fall.

So that the first-year students (freshmen or prepharmacy) might become exposed to pharmacy more quickly than in the past, this fall semester they will be registered for the course, Introduction to Pharmacy. This course will give them an orientation or overview to the profession. In addition it will give them an opportunity to make weekly visits to the School of Pharmacy. This will eanble them to become more readily identified with the school and the student body and, hopefully, they will have a sustained interest in pharmacy.

A recent visitor to the School of Pharmacy was Dr. M. L. Moore, Vice-President of Winthrop Laboratories.

The Justice Drug Company entertained members of the graduating class and their spouses on May 18. The students toured the facilities in the afternoon. In the evening they and members of the staff of the School of Pharmacy were guests of the Justice Drug Company for dinner at the Showboat in Greensboro where they also saw the play, "Goodbye Charlie."

Dr. Brecht's Itinerary

Here's a brief outline of Dr. Brecht's recent trip: from New York on May 11; spent three days touring Southern Europe with the Baileys (he is Professor of English on leave from UNC to do research on a handbook of poems of Thomas Hardy); by train to London for one day (not long enough but due to lack of hotel space); four days in Rome including bus trip to Naples, Pompeii and Sorrento; seven days in Athens with former student Thalia Pappas and her family, including a 30-hour fishing trip to the islands and a full day bus trip to Delphi; one day in Copenhagen and one day in Iceland with the families of Dr. Skulason and Mr. Olafsson (former pharmacy students in Chapel Hill) and back to New York-Chapel Hill.

Patents, Progress, Pharmacy—a Triad macy has flourished, thanks in large part to America's t system. Under this system, everyone benefits—the ician who prescribes, the pharmacist who dispenses, atient who receives the medication.

out the protection afforded by the system, all con- ed would be deprived of that most vital link in the n of scientific progress—incentive. Without incentive, drugs would not be searched for... and found.

y's drug discovery is not an isolated phenomenon. It grew out of yesterday's discovery and leads to tomorrow's. The sulfonamides, antibiotics, steroids, vitamins and vaccines you dispense today are each stages of a development process which, so far, is unbroken.

To protect all, the patent system itself needs your protection. You can serve pharmacy and progress, the prescribing physician, your customer, yourself by offering such protection. Choose products protected by patents and made in the U.S.A.; reject those which are in violation of American patents.

The True Image of Pharmacy as Projected to Specific Groups

by JAMES W. HARRISON, Asheville

There are many ways the pharmacist may project the image of pharmacy as the true image the public is entitled to see, and should see if the public is to accord pharmacy the recognition it must gain and maintain.

Various means the pharmacist may use in projecting this image are well known and used repeatedly every day. They pursue this course of activity to the extent of their regard for the profession and to the measure of their talents.

But there is a segment of the lay population in almost every town, city and county which is either grouped together with all the people, or more or less ignored as a special segment when a specific service of the pharmacist should be fitted and directed wholly to them.

Such a group would be law enforcement agencies such as police, detectives, sheriffs and deputies, and others entrusted with the duties of prevention, detection, apprehension and punishment of criminal action. More and more often are these officers in need of the special information and knowledge the pharmacist can offer. This, in addition to the knowledge these officers gain in their special schools, workshops and courses of study.

At the local level this service can be rendered best by the concerted action of a local pharmaceutical organization. Such an organization is almost certain to have members who have talents in the different aspects of imparting information helpful to law enforcement agencies. The pooled versatility of individual members would be available on an organized basis more valuable than individually tendered service, and pharmacy would be the gainer by a greater margin, gauged by a value proportioned by direct ratio of accumulated mass to single effort.

The new regulations applying to the drugs and products having a potential for abuse or possessing hallucinatory properties will undoubtedly enlarge the probabilities of illicit traffic in those and all prohibited drugs. The pharmacist's knowledge of the source, identity, properties, mechanism of action, toxicity, symptoms of use or abuse, and therapeutics would be of great aid to any law officer.

Goodwin and Hatley Open a New Pharmacy in Marshville

Two pharmacists—Sam Goodwin of Monroe and Max Hatley of Oakboro—have opened a new pharmacy in Marshville. Known as Marshville Super Drugs, the pharmacy is located in a new building at the intersection of Highways 74 and Old 74.

Hatley has been employed for the past three years by Pike's Drug Store of Oakboro. Goodwin, a native of Monroe, has been associated with the Gamble's of Monroe prior to and following graduation from the UNC School of Pharmacy.

A New Home for O'Hanlon-Watson

Construction of a new home for O'Hanlon-Watson Drug Company is underway in Winston-Salem. The new 35,000 square foot building, located off Stratford Road at Silas Creek Parkway, will house King Photo Supply as well as the wholesale firm.

O'Hanlon-Watson was established in 1920. W. H. King Drug Company holds controlling interest in the firm, which is managed by James M. Darlington.

The building and land involves an investment of about $250,000. Occupancy of O'Hanlon-Watson's new home is anticipated prior to January 1.

Wants Trailer Removed

The City of Gastonia wants Kennedy's Drug Store to remove its drug store trailer from the corner of York Street and Third Avenue. The city's building inspector says the trailer is in violation of the city's zoning ordinances.

From Selma to Smithfield

W. Grover Creech, an associate with his brother, Joe A. Creech, in the operation of the Creech Drug Company, Selma, has joined Marshall Sasser in the management of the Medical Center Pharmacy, Smithfield.

Mr. Creech has been part owner of the Medical Center Pharmacy since it was established in November of 1963 but his work as a pharmacist has centered in Selma with his brother.

He has been succeeded at Creech Drug Company by J. A. Creech, Jr., a graduate in Pharmacy at Mercer University (Southern College of Pharmacy). In recent months Mr. Creech was employed in the Pharmacy of Dekalb General Hospital, Decatur, Georgia.

Snap Sends Repairman Flying

A repairman working under a counter on a non-working dispenser quickly departed from his work area when an alligator contested the workman's right to the premises.

A convincing snap of the alligator's jaws sent the repairman flying. Later on, the alligator turned out to be "Clyde" a pet missing from Villa Park Pharmacy, Hickory for two months.

Clyde, the drug store dandy, has been moved to new quarters in case you are a patron of Villa Park Pharmacy.

To Manage Cherry Point Pharmacy

The new manager of Almand's Cherry Point Pharmacy is Charles Tromba, who since graduation from the UNC School of Pharmacy in 1965, has been associated with the Cooleemee Drug Company.

Mr. Tromba replaces Jim Giddens who has moved to Atlanta.

Moves to New Location

Leonard's Drug Company, High Point has moved from 1401 North Main Street around the corner to 117 West Lexington Avenue. The move provides the pharmacy with more display space and more parking space.

Current Status of the Drug Abuse Control Amendments

WILLIAM B. LOGAN, Director
Atlanta Field Station
Bureau of Drug Abuse Control
U. S. Food and Drug Administration

I appreciate this opportunity to discuss with you the Drug Abuse Control Amendments of 1965, their requirements so far as each of you is concerned, and to solicit your assistance in making these amendments work in the interest of public health and welfare.

In a recent issue of Newsweek which has a striking front cover picture with the title "LSD and the Mind Drugs." The article points out some of the many dangers encountered through the misuse of the investigational new drug. It mentions the five year old girl in Brooklyn who swallowed an LSD treated sugar cube, became hysterical and was hospitalized. It was, of course, purchased illegally on the black market at the New York going price of $5.00 a cube.

Another Brooklynite, 30 years old, when arrested and charged with killing his mother-in-law with a kitchen knife, admitted he had been on a long three-day LSD trip.

An average of two patients per week have been entering Bellevue Hospital because their mind has been effected by LSD or a similar hallucinogenic drug and in practically all cases the drug was obtained from an illegal source.

The article further points out that the LSD problem is minor compared with the amphetamine and barbiturate problem. Last year 24 million prescriptions for amphetamines and 123 million for sedatives and tranquilizers were filled in the United States. The bootleg market far exceeds these figures and it is conservatively estimated that nine billion amphetamine and barbiturate capsules and tablets are made each year—at least half of these are sold illegally.

Racketeers are already in the illegal drug field and are making easy victims of our finest young people. In fact, I believe that the entrance of the underworld element into the distribution and sale of these drugs was one of the primary factors resulting in the unanimous passage of these amendments.

We recently raided a private apartment or "pad" in Greenwich Village in New York and confiscated the crude unsanitary equipment being used by beatniks in manufacturing LSD. We've purchased it on the black market at $1250 for 3 ounces, a wholesale black market price. Obviously the profit motive in illegal black market channels is terrific.

During the past decade, the Food and Drug Administration has received and investigated numerous complaints on the abusive use of various types of drugs, mainly but not limited to amphetamines and barbiturates. Many of these investigations have shown pathetic cases of addiction and misuse of these drugs.

CURRENT STATUS

The parents of two West Virginia boys thought their sons were safe from the drug abuse problem, but they were mistaken. In 1964, these boys, 18 and 21 years old, began a crime spree that took them across five states and ended in their being sentenced to die in the electric chair. They had been using amphetamines for years and continuously for three months.

In February 1965, three youths, two age 16 and one 17, assaulted a 66 year-old man in a Chicago street and fired 11 bullets into his body. Their motive was robbery: they found $11. When apprehended, they admitted being under the influence of barbiturates. They said the money was needed to buy more pills.

I could spend hours relating personal experiences citing examples of what these drugs can do if misused. I can recall for instance, a frantic mother and her oldest son coming to our Atlanta office in 1960, telling us a sad story of her younger son who mysteriously turned to crime.

The mother found two dozen amphetamine tablets in the boy's pants pocket and later learned that the "gang" he was traveling with would take a few of these before starting out on their night of hub cap stealing, breaking and entering, etc.

I also recall a pathetic case when I was the Resident Food and Drug Inspector in Jacksonville, Florida. I met with the state probation officer and interviewed a 16 year old girl who had become helplessly "hooked" on amphetamines and barbiturates. She stated that a certain cab driver picked her up at the bus station when she arrived in town and cleverly manipulated her into using these drugs which he was obtaining illegally. He would then seduce her and gradually developed her into a prostitute. She told us some fantastic tales of horror which would occur after she "got high on pills." She could imagine people were after her and could lock herself in a hotel room, bar the door with furniture, and at one time, became so hysterical she climbed a hot radiator pipe to get away from her imaginary attackers. Working together with the Florida Bureau of Narcotics, we were successful in sending this cab driver away for a while and were also able to develop cases against his two sources of supply.

INVENTORY AND RECORD KEEPING REQUIREMENTS COVERING COMBINATION DRUGS CONTROLLED BY THE DRUG ABUSE CONTROL AMENDMENTS OF 1965, PUBLIC LAW 89-74, HAVE BEEN EXTENDED TO ANOTHER SIX MONTHS BEYOND AUGUST 1, 1966, TO FEBRUARY 1, 1967. THE EXEMPTION DEFERMENT DOES NOT APPLY TO AMPHETAMINES, BARBITURATES, AND OTHER CONTROLLED DRUGS THAT ARE IN COMBINATION WITH EACH OTHER. REFILL LIMITATIONS OF FIVE TIMES OR SIX MONTHS ARE NOT AFFECTED BY THE ORDER. SUCH LIMITATIONS APPLY TO COMBINATIONS.

I can also tell you that we still have a problem here in the southeast. My office in Atlanta receives an average of over one complaint per day on the misuse and abuse of drugs coming under this law. Some of these are pathetic reports of broken homes, family hardships, etc., resulting from someone in the family using these drugs. I received a letter the other day from the wife of a truck driver and although not too readable went something like this:

"Dear Sir,

I have a question to ask you. See, I found these pills in my husband's pocket. These are the same thing that a girl friend found in her husband's pocket, and some of the other drivers' wives have found. See, what is about two of the boys have had to go to hospital after taking them. See too, when ask husband who just come in from a run about them he beat his wife and half killed her and the local cop said he was all pill up. See sir, I don't want this to happen to me."

Another letter I recently received stated, "I would love to see some action taken on this thing. I have suffered for destroying these pills to keep them from being sold to teenagers. Truckdrivers are fools to begin with so we can't help them. I made dangerous moves to get this information. If I could only tell you all the suffering I have seen, etc. Signed: The sufferer of pep pills.''

Some of the complaints I receive are not as thorough and detailed as these. For example we received a phone call the other day that went something like this:

''I just want to tell you that they're peddling dope in truck stops and service stations in Georgia.'' We asked: ''Do you know who is selling it?'' The reply was ''Yeah, but I can't talk. I'm scared, bye.''

Abuse of drugs, not only amphetamines and barbiturates, but other psychotoxic drugs as well, has become one of the major health and social problems of our times. As was so ably brought out in the hearings before the Congress, the nonmedical use of such drugs is contributing to a rising death toll on the highways, juvenile delinquency, violent and bizarre crimes, suicides, and other abnormal and antisocial behavior. Drugs which are a blessing to the sick when properly used are a curse to the individual who becomes habituated to them, and a menace to society.

Even though I know that you are most interested in what pharmacists must do to comply with these amendments, I think it better that I do not limit my discussion to these facets alone. However, I will place most of the emphasis on what I believe to be especially significant to pharmacists. The Amendments require all persons who deal in amphetamines, barbiturates, or any other drugs brought under this Act by regulation, to prepare a complete and accurate inventory of stock of these drugs on hand as of the effective date, February 1, 1966. This requirement extends to each of you as pharmacists. Therefore, it is necessary for each of you to maintain such inventory and keep it available to any investigator of the Food and Drug Administration who requests such within a period of three years from February 1, 1966.

In addition to the inventory, those who are engaged in the regular dispensing of drugs, as well as some physicians, must maintain a record of the receipt and dispensings. There is no prescribed form for this system of record keeping, but such records must include: (1) the kind and quantity of the drug, (2) the name, address and FDA registration number, if any, of the person from whom received or to whom delivered, and (3) the date of the transaction.

These records must be readily available to an investigator of the Food and Drug Administration for a period of three years. In addition, the records must be maintained in such a manner that inspection is not impossible, impracticable, or requires an unreasonable length of time. Generally speaking, in the case of the pharmacists, we believe that the invoices of such drugs received with date of receipt, and the prescription with date of dispensing would be sufficient, since they usually are, or could easily be prepared in such a manner as to contain all this information.

The pharmacist or other person, if he wishes, may keep a tabulation of some type showing receipts and dispensing, but this is not required. Neither is it required that prescriptions for these drugs be kept in a separate file, nor is a continuous inventory required.

The law provides that the record keeping requirements shall not apply to a licensed practitioner with respect to a controlled drug which he receives, processes, administers or dispenses in the course of his professional practice unless he regularly engages in dispensing such drugs to his patients. The intent of Congress here was to place on the physician who regularly substitutes his services for those of a pharmacist, responsibility for the same record keeping as is required of the pharmacist.

There is a general provision in the Amendments which empowers the Secretary to exempt drugs from any of the requirements including those relating to record keeping. Under this authority, regulations have been published temporarily exempting from the inventory and record keeping requirements all OTC preparation containing controlled drugs and all combinations of amphetamines or barbiturates with other drugs, but not combinations of amphetamines or barbiturates with each other. This temporary exemption is effective until August 1, 1966.

This law was not designated nor do we want it to place an extra unrealistic burden on the already overburdened pharmacist. We realize there is a certain amount of extra work placed on each segment of the affected industry from manufacturer to retailer, however, every attempt has been and will continue to be made to keep this to a minimum without interfering with the efficient enforcement of this important law.

The drugs you were required to inventory on February 1, 1966, and to maintain records of from that date were:

1. Barbituric acid or any salt of barbituric acid.
2. Derivatives of barbituric acid which have been designated under Par. 165.1 as habit forming pursuant to Sec. 502(d) of the Act.
3. Amphetamines, their optical insomers and salts.

The Secretary has specifically exempted until August 1, 1966 the following drugs:

1. Drugs in unit dosage form containing any quantity of barbiturate or amphetamine which may be lawfully sold over the counter without a prescription.
2. Drugs containing combinations of amphetamines with other drugs, or barbiturates with other drugs but not with each other.

There are other types of stimulant, depressant or hallucinogenic drugs which do not come under the Act on the effective date of February 1, 1966, but will come under the Act at a later date.

The Federal Register of March 19, 1966, listed 16 additional drugs which the Secretary has decided, after investigation, have a potential for abuse because of their depressant or stimulant effect on the central nervous system of their hallucinogenic effect. This list includes the following drugs:

Established Name	Trade and other Names
Stimulant Drugs
d-, dl-Methamphetamine & their salts	d-, dl-Desoxyephedrine and their salts, Amphedroxyn HCl, Apamine, Deofed, Desamine, Desoxyn HCl. Dexoval HCL, Dexstim, D.O.E., Doxyfed, Drinalfa, Efroxine HCl, Methedrine HCl, Norodin HCl, Oxydrin, Phedrisox, Semoxydrine HCl, Stimdex, Syndrox
Depressant Drugs
Chloral hydrate	Chloral
Chlordiazepoxide and its salts	Librium
Diazepam	Valium
Ethchlorvynol	Placidyl
Ethinamate	Valmid
Glutethimide	Doriden
Meprobamate	Miltown, Equanil, Meprospan, Meprotabs
Methyprylon	Noludar
Paraldehyde
Hallucinogenic Drugs
DMT	Dimethyltryptamine
LSD-25, LSD	d-Lysergic acid diethylamide
Mescaline and its salts
Peyote
Psilocybin; psilocibin
Psilocyn, psilocin

Objections were filed following this announcement on three of these drugs namely, Librium, Valium and Meprobamate. These three drugs were therefore exempt from the May 18 inventory.

Pharmacists must take an inventory of the 13 drugs and combinations of these drugs with each other as of May 18. These inventory records must be kept for three years.

The order specifically exempts the non-drug use of peyote in bonafide religious ceremonies of the Native American Church, however, persons supplying peyote to a Church are required to register and maintain appropriate records.

Combinations of the stimulant and depressant drugs in this list with other drug compounds except amphetamines and barbiturates, are temporarily exempted from the inventory and record keeping requirements until August 1, 1966. There are six hallucinogenic drugs in the list of 13 which are legally available only for experimental use.

Another regulation published January 28th in the Federal Register and now in effect concerns the use of a symbol on all DACA controlled drugs. The symbol is an Rx in the center of a large C. The regulations require the symbol on the principal panel of the label of the immediate container and the retail carton for such container. Drugs subject to control on February 1 and packaged after August 1 will be required to bear the symbol. Drugs such as the 13 newer ones which may be brought under control after February 1 will be required to bear the symbol if packaged 180 days after the effective date of control.

Pharmacists, physicians, dentists and nurses are some of the groups not required to register under this Act, even though manufacturers, wholesalers and others must register. Some of you, however, may come under the definition of manufacturers, wholesalers, jobbers or distributors, and if so, were required to register by February 1. Hospitals, clinics and public health agencies which maintain establishments in conformance with applicable local laws regulating the practice of pharmacy and medicine are not required to register.

In the past, I have been asked a number of questions regarding the refilling of prescriptions for a certain period of time or about the limitation on refills, but this is the first enactment under the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act placing a limitation in this respect. Drugs covered by these amendments cannot be refilled more than five times nor more than six months after the time of issue.

As before, no prescription can be refilled without authorization by the prescriber, and if the doctor wishes the patient to continue to receive the drug after the fifth authorized refill, or after six months from original issue, he must authorize a new prescription. This new prescription may be authorized by phone, but it must be reduced promptly to writing by the pharmacist and handled as a new prescription, and not in some haphazard manner such as a series of additional authorized refills on the old prescription.

In a somewhat different vein, but pertinent to this law, let me caution you to buy your drugs from reliable wholesalers and supply houses. Sometimes counterfeit drugs are sold in pliofilm bags, in unlabeled bottles, and in just about every imaginable type of containers. On the other hand, we have found the bottle, label and even the insert was reproduced to the perfection sometimes encountered with counterfeit money. In fact, a counterfeit drug is not unlike counterfeit money in that it is a fraud as well as a health menace to the public.

Counterfeit drugs may be manufactured under extremely poor conditions, without any control of the raw materials or the finished product. Good manufacturing practices are unknown.

There is no guarantee that it contains the amount, quantity, and kind of ingredients the legitimate drug which it imitates contains. This is especially important to you since your customers' lives may depend on the drugs you dispense. Be sure they are genuine.

Another facet of special interest eliminates the necessity that the Food and Drug Administration prove in each case that the drug moves across state lines. Previously, this was a requirement in legal actions and sometimes we found it difficult to prove interstate shipment.

Also of interest to you, but not necessarily for compliance is authority for the Food and Drug Agent to:

1. Carry fire arms.
2. Execute and serve search warrants and arrest warrants.
3. Execute seizure by process issued pursuant to Libel.
4. Make arrests without warrant for offenses under this Act with respect to such drugs if the offense is committed in his presence.

5. Make seizures of drugs, containers, equipment, etc. used in counterfeit operations.

Growing abuse of drugs by teenagers is one of the most tragic and disturbing aspects of the entire drug abuse problem. The 1965 Amendments provide special penalties for peddlers and pushers over 18 years of age who sell or give the drugs to anyone under 21 years of age. For a first offense, the punishment may be imprisonment for not more than two years or a fine of not more than than $5,000 or both. Subsequent violations may carry a penalty of not more than six years imprisonment and a fine of not more than $15,000, or both.

Other penalties are the same as under the present Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act.

The District offices of the Food and Drug Administration have maintained close liaison with state enforcement officials and the state boards of pharmacy in investigating and controlling illegal and illicit drug distribution or dispensing. While other informal arrangements have existed in the past, we are now studying with the various states a formalized program, placing primary responsibility for investigating complaints or maintaining controls of the pharmacists on state enforcement officials, leaving the staff of Food and Drug Administration for controlling the operations of the manufacturers, wholesalers, and primarily the underground and illicit traffic. I think this philosophy was first expressed by Dr. Harvey W. Wiley at the turn of the century, before the passage of the Food and Drug Act of 1906, with this statement:

''The necessity of national legislation on this subject (meaning national food and drug laws) has long been apparent, for it is evident that state laws, however excellent and well executed, cannot realize their full purpose without the supplement of Federal legislation.''

On July 22, 1966, former Commissioner George P. Larrick stated in part: ''This Bill is not intended to limit or take the place of effective state controls where they exist or may later be provided.'' Following this statement he advocated turning over major regulation of retail drug stores to state authorities.

Our present Commissioner, Dr. James L. Goodard, at his swearing-in ceremony on January 17th, made this significant statement, ''We need to collaborate in the highest degree with state agencies.''

In summary, the Drug Abuse Control Amendments of 1965 require pharmacists and others regularly engaged in the dispensing of drugs to:

1. Register before February 1, 1966, if also engaged in any wholesaling or manufacturing of depressant or stimulant drugs, other than for dispensing by you only.
2. Make a complete and accurate inventory of all stimulant and depressant drugs on hand as of February 1, 1966, and maintain this inventory for at least three years.
3. Make a record of receipt and dispensing of all stimulant and depressant drugs.
4. Beginning February 1, 1966, do not refill any prescription for depressant or stimulant drugs, regardless of the date of issue, more than five times or for a period longer than six months without obtaining additional authorization from the physician.
5. Do not at any time sell any of these drugs as well as other prescription drugs, without a prescription.
6. Do not buy or dispense counterfeit drugs.
7. Make a complete and accurate inventory of the 13 drugs brought under control as of May 18 and maintain the inventory for at least three years.
8. Make a record of receipt and dispensing of these 13 drugs as of May 18.
9. Beginning May 18, do not refill any prescription for these 13 drugs regardless of date of issue more than five times or for a period longer than six months without obtaining additional authorization from the physician.

Basically, the law was designed to enable us through the record keeping requirements to trace all lots or quantities of controlled drugs from their original synthesis (or import) to their sale to the ultimate user.

It is now a criminal offense under the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act to fail to prepare or obtain, and maintain, complete and accurate records as required by Sec. 511(d) and it is also a criminal offense to refuse to permit access to or copying of any records required by that Section. In addition, it is interesting to note that any drugs with respect to which adequate records have not been prepared, obtained or maintained are subject to seizure. Any equipment used in the manufacturing, compounding, or processing of such drug is also subject to seizure if the violation was committed by the manufacturer, compounder or processor.

Our enforcement activities can be broken down into three general approaches:

No. 1—Education of the public. We want every kid, every truck driver, and any other people in positions which are susceptible to drug abuse to be fully aware of the consequences.

No. 2—Education and voluntary compliance by the affected industry.

No. 3—Legal actions.

These Amendments provide us with larger and sharper teeth with which to encourage compliance. We intend to use these teeth judiciously but when we use them we will use them vigorously. We are not going to arrest people for technical violations. On the contrary, we intend to use the Hearing procedure as provided in Sec. 305 of our Act as much as possible.

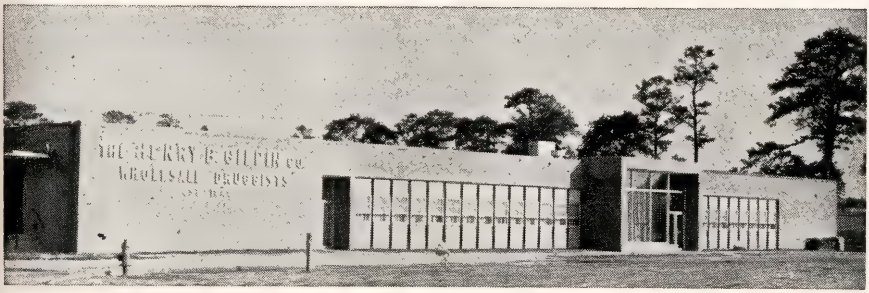

I would like to make a special appeal to each of you. I need your help in keeping the State of North Carolina which comes under my jurisdiction, free from the illegal distribution of these drugs. I feel this is essential if we are to survive as great states in a great country. Let me know of any suspicious circumstances relative to counterfeit drugs, illegal distribution of drugs, or any violations of this law which may endanger the public health. As professional members of the drug team you have a definite share in our mutual task. I therefore,

"PERIGORIAT"

By AUBREY SCOTT,

Skyland Drug Store, Skyland, N. C.

The last Tuesday in June, Mr. Lloyd Davis gave a most interesting talk to the Buncombe County Pharmaceutical Society concerning the sale of exempt narcotics. He cautioned us not to sell to anyone we did not know or had an address from another city or state. The following incident occurred in our store early in July.

Shortly after opening that morning a grinning short, small-framed, dirty-looking and unshaven man appeared and asked for a small bottle of Asafetida. He held his fingers up so I could see the size bottle he wanted. His beard had to be at least four days old, but he was missing that usual strong, pungent, and easy flowing body odor I thought he should have had. His clothes looked as if they had never felt the firm touch of a hot iron and soap would have been a disgrace in his society. A more perfect description is that he looked like the cat that ate the canary. His speech was perfect as far as his mountain drawl would permit in pronouncing Asafetida, and he was smoking a cigarette that was so short you would need a magnifying glass to see the paper between the fire and his lips. On a few occasions I have sold a few tablets and one or two bottles of the tincture as an agent used to expel gas; how they stood it is beyond me. This little man faintly reminded me of a number of fishermen I know. There are a number of fishing lakes around, and we sell an occasional bottle to some of these ardent ones who enjoy the pull of a carp or catfish on the other end of the line.

Realizing this fellow wished to make a legitimate purchase I checked my stock and found I had about 3 ounces in a 4 ounce bottle. Now, I am not claimed to be as lazy as some of my co-horts; on the other hand, knowing the sweet aroma of Tincture of Asafetida, I didn't care to ruin the day this early and have all the following customers ask me what the horrible odor was. I could see he held a dollar bill in his hand, and even though I normally get 50c per ounce, I offered him the excellent bargain of the contents for a dollar. He seemed very pleased and gave a much larger grin as he politely said, "I know I'll have to sign my name for it, they make me give my address too, I guess because so many of them winos drink it; my friend wants it for his sick stomach." We told him he would not have to sign for it and he replied "they always make me sign for it in Asheville."

After he left we discussed this last sale wondering if he could be a little mixed up as some of our ardent fishermen are. On second thought, maybe everyone in Asheville wanted to give him as much trouble as possible so he would go somewhere else for his next purchase, but he certainly seemed to like the special price I gave him.

About five minutes later he came running back and said, "He knowed when he smelled hit that hit wuddn't what he wanted, he wants "PERIGORIAT" and he handed me a little book with this inscribed: "PERIGORIAT FOR SICK STOMACH." Then he handed me the bottle and related: "He didn't bother none of it, no sir; but that doctor in ———— is going to make a walking drug store of him yet."

By now you know that Mr. Davis would not approve of this sale. However, I sold him one ounce of Lilly's unadulterated Perigoriat for the note on his pad. My only regret is that I missed the expression on the face of his friend when he opened that bottle of Asafetida.

P.S.—he signed for that second bottle.

NEWS
from the local-sectional pharmaceutical societies

Buncombe County

This Society held its July 19 meeting in the Medical Library of Memorial Mission Hospital, Asheville, with Dr. L. S. VanBlaricom, local neurosurgeon as the featured speaker. Dr. VanBlaricom gave an excellent demonstration of the usefulness of new and improved techniques in his specialty and the dependence of the physician on improved testing devices of new machines and testing equipment. His demonstration included X-rays, brain-scan pictures, and EEG readings of actual cases. In a question and answer period important facts beneficial to pharmacy and medicine were revealed. Among the most interesting of these were the changes in the age and nature of patients who are conscious of the necessity of early diagnoses and treatment of their ailments and diseases and the vastly more favorable rate of mortality in neurosurgery today, due perhaps to the changing ratio of surgery of the brain to other anatomical surgery; also considered was the capriciousness of certain drugs used by the neurosurgeon.

Business conducted consisted of decision to reactivate the telephone committee in view of the decline in near perfect attendance. Majority opinion revealed the feeling of those attending this meeting that the series of programs embracing the continuing education of the pharmacist as exampled in this and preceding programs could hardly be improved upon.

Refreshments were served; two new members were added. In the absence of president Frank Akins, Jim Adams, vice-president presided.

Haywood County

The pharmacists of Haywood County have organized a local pharmaceutical society. Meeting in Waynesville on July 5, the pharmacists elected officers and named the organization: Haywood Professional Pharmacy Society.

Kermit Wells of Midway Pharmacy, Clyde, was elected president. The other officers are: Ben Eidam, Waynesville Pharmacy, Waynesville; vice president, Geraldine K. James, secretary, and Duke James, correspondent, both of Hazelwood Pharmacy, Hazelwood.

Mecklenburg

The Mecklenburg Pharmaceutical Society held its annual dinner meeting and installation of officers for 1966-67 at the Meyers Park Country Club on June 28.

Dinner was preceded by a cocktail hour for practicing pharmacists, their wives and representatives from the Medical Society. Hosts for the evening were McKesson & Robbins, Inc. of Charlotte.

Dr. D. E. MacDonald, Director of the Mental Health Center of Mecklenburg County and Medical Director of the N. C. Alcoholic Rehabilitation Program, 1959-62, as guest speaker, discussed "Drugs and Personality."

He reviewed the basic orientation of psychotherapists and the fundamental needs of mental patients. Dr. MacDonald said no medication can substitute for the interpersonal relationships of therapist and patient; that abuse of drugs can thwart the patients' progress toward self-awareness and maturity. On the other hand, Dr. MacDonald dwelt in glowing terms on the help offered by available medication wisely used and he looks forward to the future contributions of research.

Dr. Ledyard DeCamp from the Medical Society voiced his opinion that patients should not only be refused unauthorized refills of Rxs until the doctor okayed same but that patients should wait until the doctor returns to his office, thus eliminating hasty decisions from home, country club, or elsewhere.

Theme of the evening was the need for more personal contacts among Society members leading to a more concerted community involvement. Suggested projects: A monthly newsletter, a Society library of periodicals and appropriate literature, a modest headquarters for Society meetings and close teamwork between the Pharmaceutical and Medical Societies on common problems, such as abuse of refills. A professional relations committee with representa-

The American Council on Pharmaceutical Education Pharmaceutical Education's Accrediting Agency

by Lloyd M. Parks, Ph.D.
Dean, College of Pharmacy, Ohio State University

To give you a brief background on this organization, I should take a short excursion into history. Prior to 1900 most states had legislation requiring licensure of pharmacists by examination but none required candidates for licensure to be graduates of a college of pharmacy. Around 1900, and shortly thereafter, three things happened to change this picture. First was the formation of the American Conference of Pharmaceutical Faculties in 1900; the name of that organization was changed to the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy in 1925. Secondly, after 1900, there was the passage of the prerequisite laws by the states, which required graduation from a college of pharmacy as a prerequisite to take the licensure examination. Thirdly was the formation of the National Association of Boards of Pharmacy in 1904, which put the organized board support behind educational requirements.

The college association, which is known as the AACP, was the first standardizing body for colleges of pharmacy by listing certain requirements for membership and it set the first admission and graduation standards in 1904.

The standards for both admission and graduation were raised in 1908, 1917, 1923, in 1932 when the four year program became the requirement, and in 1960 when the five year program became the requirement.

The AACP also served as an accrediting agency through its membership standards and actually for a period of about three years, from 1929 to 1932, it made inspections of colleges. In 1932 the American Council on Pharmaceutical Education was organized, largely through the cooperative activity of the NABP, the AACP and the American Pharmaceutical Association. The Council was organized with three representatives each from those supporting bodies and one representative from the American Council on Education. The Council from its beginning has consisted of a ten member body. It published its first set of accreditation standards in 1937; it was incorporated in 1939; and has served since then as the national accrediting agency for the colleges of pharmacy in the United States and its territories. It published the first list of accredited colleges in 1940. The Council is recognized and approved by the National Commission on Accrediting. In fact, many of the Council's original concepts have been incorporated into the criteria of the National Commission on Accrediting for accrediting agencies.

Objectives of the Council, as stated in its Accreditation Manual are:

"a. To formulate the educational, scientific and professional principles and standards which an approved school or college of pharmacy will be expected to meet and maintain (approved here is synonymous with accredited).

"b. To revise these principles and standards when deemed necessary or advisable.

"c. To investigate any school or college of pharmacy that requests approval of the Council.

"d. To publish a list of approved schools and colleges of pharmacy and to revise such list annually or as frequently as deemed desirable.

"e. To satisfy itself that the schools and colleges which have been approved maintain the proper standards through conferences with members of the faculties and the reinspection of any or all colleges of pharmacy at regular intervals or at such other times as may be deemed advisable. The approval of any school or college failing to maintain the standards formulated by the corporation shall be withdrawn.

"f. To assist in the advancement and improvement of pharmaceutical education and registration."

The purposes of accreditation as stated in the Manual are:

"a. To advance the standards of pharmaceutical education in the United States and its possessions.

"b. To describe the characteristics of an accredited college of pharmacy.

"c. To provide for prospective students a dependable basis for the selection of colleges of pharmacy.

"d. To provide a basis for inter-institutional relationships.

"e. To provide a list of accredited colleges of pharmacy for the use of state boards of pharmaceutical examiners and other interested agencies."

The initial examination for original accreditation of a college of pharmacy is by application from that college at a fee of $500. Thereafter, the examination for continuation of accreditation is at a five or six-year interval or more often if indicated, at no expense to the college. The examining team usually consists of the Director of Educational Relations of the Council and one Council member. The Board of Pharmacy in the state is invited to send a member of its board as an observer and the regional accrediting agency is invited to send an observer, a so-called generalist, if it is the wish of the institution and the regional accrediting agency to do so.

The examination consists of a questionnaire which is completed by the college prior to the visitation and which requires a considerable amount of time and effort on the part of the College to do; then there is a two-day visit during which about ten different items are examined into. These include the aims and the program of the college; the university administration as it relates to the college; the college administration, including procedures, financial resources, budget, academic policies, etc.; the faculty, its adequacy, quality, background, effectiveness, salaries, etc.; admission and promotion of students; student personnel services an extracurricular activities; the curriculum i effect at the college; the effectiveness c instruction; the physical plant; and th library. For each of these items there ar guidelines set forth in the Accreditatio Manual, both for the guidance of the ex aminers and of the college, under policie and standards; in general, the examine abide by these guidelines in their examin tion visit.

A report of the examination is furnishe to the Secretary of the Council by the ex aminers. A copy of the report is sent t the regional accrediting agency, when tha agency has been involved in the visit, t the President of the institution, and to th Dean of the college for their informatio guidance and comment; the institution an the college are given the opportunity t respond, to correct any factual errors, or t comment on any parts of the report as the see fit. The report is then considere formally at the next meeting of the Counci The Council holds meetings twice a yea usually in January and in May or June an at each of these meetings reports of ex aminations of colleges that have been mad since the last meeting are considered, amon other business. A copy of the report an notice of the action taken by the Counc on the report and on the college is then sen to the President of the institution, to th Dean of the college of pharmacy, and to th Secretary of the state board of pharmac A list of accredited colleges of pharmacy published annually as of July 1.

The Council operates on an annual budg of something less than $50,000. Each of th sponsoring organizations, the APhA, th AACP and the NABP contributes $2500 year at the present time. The bulk of i financial support comes from the America Foundation for Pharmaceutical Educatio which was organized some years ago for th financial support of pharmaceutical educ tion. Its contribution is $35,000 to $40,0 a year. The budget is expended in financin accreditation visits to colleges (approx mately 15 colleges of pharmacy are visite each year by Council representatives); f the salary of the Director of Education Relations who is a full-time employee he Council; for secretarial assistance and upplies; and for Council meetings.

The Council office is in Chicago where it hares office space with the National Associaion of Boards of Pharmacy. Officers of the ouncil are president, vice president and ecretary-treasurer who are elected annually y the Council. Members of the Council are ppointed by the sponsoring organizations or a six-year term. It is the policy of the ACP to restrict its representatives to one ix-year term; the APhA and the NABP ave no such restrictions.

The APhA representatives are William S. pple, Executive Director of the APhA, who urrently serves as President of the Council; harles F. Dahl, a community pharmacist in iroqua, Wisconsin; Lonnie J. Yarbrough, a ommunity pharmacist in Denton, Texas.

The AACP representatives are Linwood F. ice, Dean of the Philadelphia College of harmacy and Science, who is currently serving as Vice President of the Council (until anuary 20, 1966 when Lloyd M. Parks ucceeded to this office); Richard A. Deno, rofessor of Pharmacognosy at the Uniersity of Michigan, College of Pharmacy; nd myself. Dean Tice's term expires June 0, 1966 when he will be succeeded by Dean arold G. Hewitt of the University of onnecticut School of Pharmacy.

The NABP representatives are H. C. cAllister, Secretary of the North Carona Board of Pharmacy; Fred T. Mahaffey, ecretary of the National Association of oards of Pharmacy, who currently serves s the Secretary-Treasurer of the Council; nd a third member, recently resigned, was obert Gillespie, a community pharmacist in enton Harbor, Michigan and a former ember of the State Board of Pharmacy of ichigan. (Francis S. Balassone, Secreary of the Maryland Board of Pharmacy, as recently appointed by the NABP to fill r. Gillespie's unexpired term.)

The representative from the American ouncil on Education is John C. Weaver, urrently Vice President of Ohio State Uniersity who, at the time of his appointment as Vice President of the University of owa.

The Director of Educational Relations is r. Melvin W. Green.

TRUE IMAGE OF PHARMACY

Assuming the phamacist has a working knowledge of the potentials of the amphetamines, barbiturates, and the potential for abuse products, it may also be assumed that his working knowledge of the hallucinogenics is limited by the very fact that even he is not allowed to possess most of them. Therefore he should take steps at once to make himself more familiar with that category unless he has already done so.

In view of all the publicity given and still being given concerning LSD which has fostered a certain amount of hysteria on the part of the public, a study of this drug would be an excellent starting point.

This is not intended to be a pharmacologic lecture on LSD; it would require more space than an entire volume of this Journal, but there are a few elementary facts concerning LSD that might be helpful and will be mentioned.

Of the four alkaloids which can be synthesized from lysergic acid, d-Lysergic acid diethylamide is the only one which has very powerful properties for altering behavior in man or animal. The two main sources are Ergot (Claviceps purpurea), a fungus attacking Rye and, to a lesser extent, Wheat; and the morning glory plant (Ipomoea purpurea), the seeds being used.

Most of the research on LSD dates from 1943, since which time it is learned to date that much more work will be involved as the research requires intricate procedures that must be learned or innovated by the researcher. An example would be the early knowledge gained that revealed the uselessness of the double-blind method. The controversies surrounding this potent agent have also hampered research. Its appeal has interested theologians who have, for most part, opposed its use; scientists and artists who have viewed it more objectively; law making bodies who have clothed its use in a dress of circumspect and stringent control.

Continued research in any psychotomimetic or psychedelic agent to be used in man must predispose a state of amity between science and religion, between the scientists and the law; the vision of the visionary must not be belittled; philosophy must not ignore a fact for doubt's sake alone; courage and skill in research must eliminate all the ineptitude with which it has been handled.

As a psychedelic LSD enriches the mind, enlarges the vision and builds greater creativity. Alcoholics, psychotic persons, drug addicts, criminal psychopaths, diseased persons in terminal states suffering pain, all have been helped by its judicious use. Its property of creating a similitude of schizophrenia makes it a model for study, but this same psychotomimetic property is the one striking terror in the hearts of people who lack an understanding of it that would place a halter on the hysteria it generates in the set opinions of the public. Those doctors who have approved its use without its stricter control are nonexistent, despite the manner in which the press has pictured them. Even an ultraconservative doctor may at times be a heretic, and admirably so, but one who carelessly misapplies any drug, makes that drug a placebo. Needless to say, the potency of LSD precludes the possibility of it being classed as a placebo.

It must not be forgotten that Ehrlich oved the molecules of arsenic through 604 ailures (the 135th try yielded the, for a me, useful oxophenarsine) before he came o with a specific useful until the advent of aster acting penicillin. Who knows, per-aps tomorrow or next week, certainly in the ture, a bright boy somewhere will maneu-r molecules a certain way to discover a seful power in lysergic acid, a power which ill hold no terror to be felt for man's fety.

A law officer would have no more than a yman's interest in the greater part of this scourse and no attempt will be made re to picture all the conditions of use of SD which he would need to know. The harmacist's study of the subject would rnish facts sufficient for a lecture that ould consume time from twenty to a ndred minutes. Texts on the subject are t too difficult to obtain. The pharma-st would be able to enlarge his service by taining and studying them.

Information must be imparted to the w officer with sufficient sophistication but a manner that would cause him no em-rrassment or insult his intelligence, yet uched in language and descriptive prose ith which he is familiar. He like Federal d State regulatory agencies is interested preventing, detecting and custodizing w violators who traffic in LSD or any her prohibited drug. The value of such ugs would not concern him in the execu-on of his duties as a law officer.

Suggestions made to him or to his periors would include that: checks and rveys be made of outlets selling seeds to certain any unusual sales in morning glory eds especially the Californian "Pearly ates" and "Heavenly Blue" varieties; large les of high-proof spirits or alcohol, since e latter is needed for extraction; dis-very of secret laboratory equipment and pplies would need explanation; heavy sales lump sugar should bear strict scrutiny, nce that vehicle is popular as the host for SD.

In addition, the pharmacist should be able inform concerning symptoms of effect d the time and intensity of effect in rmal, barbiturate and amphetamine affected people. The atmosphere and furnishings in the surroundings, the actions of suspected users, how the law officer should act when confronted by these conditions, should be learned and taught. The officer's knowledge of the places where deals and exchanges in illicit drugs would occur will naturally surpass such knowledge the pharmacist might possess.

This is neither a condemnation or a condonation of LSD per se. It is an appeal to the pharmacist to become more familiar with its dangers and potential for harm when it is illegally obtained and trafficked in. Under those conditions it would have no virtue, but would have all the dangers surrounding unprofessional application. These dangers involve the user himself as well as others and a society entitled to the protection of legal safeguards.

Break-Ins at Raleigh

Oak Park Pharmacy, Raleigh, was broken into on the night of July 31. Barbiturates and cash totaling about $660 were taken.

Entry was by way or the front door, which was smashed.

A nearby drug store—Lloyd's Drug Store of Garner—was entered the following night. A large quantity of barbiturates was stacked on a counter by the thieves but not taken when they fled the premises as a local police officer checked the front door.

A Composition in Verse

E. D. Millaway, former manager of th Mann store in Burlington, now in retiremen apparently is enjoying his leisure time, eve to the extent of recommending to his fello pharmacists:

See What Is on the Outside

By E. D. MILLAWAY

I'm gonna sit by a log fire with a pot on t boil,
I'll have ham and eggs for breakfast- turnip greens for dinner—
Have corn bread and milk for supper ar that's not all,
The creeks may have catfish—I kno there's a minnow.

I'll hunt game living in the lowlands ar nuts on the hill—
Drink water from a spring that don't co a dime. Shout three cheers
When I see the sports and enjoy th youngsters' skill—Things I never had time for the la hundred years!

I'll travel the world safely by ham radio- its speed don't kill.
I'm not going to hurry again—not i terested in trade.
In summer there is always good clean di to till,
I'll eat peaches—mow the lawn and l in the shade!

They Couldn't Back Down

The Attorney General of North Carolina has had some rather puzzling matters assigned to him and his department of late and has come through with some rulings that backfired in some quarters. However, the Attorney General relieved the State Board of Publice Welfare of embarrassment in a small matter that came up from one of the State's smallest counties but one steeped in tradition and history.

The welfare director of Dare County sent the name of Keith Fearing, Jr., a Manteo pharmacist, to the state board for appointment as a member of the county welfare board. There seemed to be nothing against Fearing as an honorable citizen who appeared to be capable of performing the duties of a board member. So the state board appointed Fearing and ran into a political hornets' nest. The county commissioners and the Dare Welfare Board passed a joint resolution asking the state board to back down on its action. In the meantime, Fearing had received official notice of his appointment and is reported to have taken the oath of office.

Now the State Board of Public Welfare has been assured by the attorney general that when it appoints one to office and the appointee has accepted, the Board cannot back down. Fearing had accepted and so the Dare commissioners and some of their political advisers, who sent their chairman to Raleigh to personally urge the state board chairman to withdraw Fearing, have been advised this is something that cannot be done legally.

The Dare row reportedly arose because Fearing got on the wrong side in a party primary battle. Dare is in the First Congressional District, which has a rather warm race for Congress and the party might need all good men to come to its aid in November.—Reprinted from The Lexington Dispatch, August 12.

National Pharmacy Week Observance October 2-8

National Pharmacy Week will be held October 2-8, and APhA has prepared several aids for pharmacists to use in this 42nd annual observance.

During National Pharmacy Week, APhA will again stress the traditional theme: "This Week and Every Week . . . Your Pharmacist Works for Better Community Health." Carrying the theme will be a bright orange and brown display streamer and a black and white newspaper advertising mat for pharmacists' local newspapers.

These two pieces are in a Special National Pharmacy Week kit being made available at $3 each from APhA. The kit will be sent to all APhA Public Relations Service subscribers and the Fall installment of the Service.

The NPW kit will include suggested proclamations for mayors and governors, a speech on medicare for professional and lay audiences, radio and television copy for local use during the week and throughout the year, and several brochures and flyers.

Nearly 700 television stations throughout the country will receive a special mailing from APhA including a black and white slide and copy calling attention to National Pharmacy Week and the public health contributions of the profession of pharmacy.

A single display streamer is available free from APhA upon request. Quantity prices are 25 streamers, $7; 100 for $7.50; 500 for $35; 1,000 for $65. Orders totaling less than $10 must be accompanied by payment to the Order Desk, APhA, 2215 Constitution Avenue, N.W. Washington, D.C. 20037.

The national window display contest of past years has been discontinued but pharmacists are reminded that National Pharmacy Week activities could be eligible fo consideration in the 1966 APhA Publi Education Awards Competition, sponsore annually through APhA by Pfizer Labora tories. A PEAC entry form and brochur may be requested free from APhA.

Again this year pharmacists are en couraged to participate in the annual Com munity Health Week sponsored by the Amer can Medical Association. "Teaming Up Fo Better Health" is the week's continuin theme. The APhA display streamer fo National Pharmacy Week has an observanc panel for use during Community Healt Week, October 16-22.

At AMA's request, APhA has provide radio announcements on career opportuniti in pharmacy. The announcements are to b included on an AMA record of career i formation to be provided to radio statio throughout the country for use during Com munity Health Week.

Aspirin for Pharmacy's Headaches Today

By Irving Rubin, Editor
American Professional Pharmacist

eadache No. 1—Public recognition of the Pharmacist's Background

A. The Solution

1. Concerted public education program built around Pharmacist's college diploma & license
 a. Imagine several hundred window displays in pharmacies
 b. Plus similar windows in banks, schools, etc.
 1) Implies—and involves—respect for Pharmacy
2. "Lucky Strike Green Has Gone to War"
3. 90 radio, TV, newspaper ads per day —for 3 days in one city
4. All branches of Pharmacy cooperate adache No. 2—Community Pharmacist Not in Medicare re Rxs portant: Pharmacy—in program before drug patterns become set

. The Solution

1. Pharmacy actively act—now—to modify the law
 a. Rep. Boggs of Louisiana
2. Home . . . nursing home . . . hospital
3. Lowest cost—at home
4. I've spoken to top HEW officials
 a. Makes sense
 b. Law is new, and will be changed (my estimate—by late 1967 or early 1968)

dache No. 3—Hard Feelings: Hospital vs. Retail Pharmacists

1. Outpatient Rxs

. The Solution

1. Partly as a result of Medicare and changing practice of Pharmacy
 a. More examples of cooperation—nursing homes
2. Colleges will train for community and institutional pharmacy
3. Emphasis will be on the word pharmacist

Headache No. 4—Problems of Record Keeping

A. The Solution

1. Rx Men will devise timesaving systems
 a. Amphetamine-Barbiturate (H.R.2) Law
 1) A . . . B . . . R . . . V
 2) Impresses patrons
 b. Result—amphetamine-barbiturate via legitimate channels
 1) FDA estimates 50% via illicit channels
 c. A phone call to MD presents an opportunity for professional service.

Headache No. 5—Poor Interprofessional Relations

A. The Solution

1. Avoid generalizing from the particular

ASPIRIN FOR . . .

2. Increase Person-to-person approach
 a. RxMan sends news bulletins to MDs
3. Increase Assn.-to-Assn. approach
 a. 'Can You Read These Rxs?' (Oregon)
 b. Subtle way of explaining why RxMan phones MDs

Headache No. 6—Drug Name of Rx Label

1964—56%
1965—78%

A. The Solution
1. Explain to MDs how it helps the patient and the doctor
2. Daily reports in newspapers produce drug hysteria
3. Convince individual MD

Headache No. 7—More Prescriptions

The Solution

A. Partly a trend
1. No. of Rxs per pharmacy is up; population is rising—number of pharmacies about the same—No. of Rxs is rising

	Rxs Per Pharm.	% of Increase
1961	12,500
1963	14,250	13.9%
1965	16,000	12.3%

% Increase from 1961 to 1965 = 28.0%

B. Go After Dental Rxs
1. 18 million dental Rxs in 1965 (23 million by 1970)
2. 96% of dental Rxs—dentists graduated less than 10 years ago

C. Go After Podiatry Rxs
1. 8,000 podiatrists—3.5 million Rxs per year
2. 2nd in volume per podiatrist—only to MD

D. Go After Veterinary Rxs (for small animals—particularly)
1. ABDEC Drops

E. Increases Rx volume—less scrappin over Rxs written by MDs

Headache No. 8—Non-drug Outlet Compet tion

A. The Solution
1. Promote and recommend OTC ethical
2. Use your professional knowledge
3. Stress health-related products
 a. Hypo-allergenic cosmetics
 b. Surgical supplies (non-pharm cies)
 1) RxMan must become knowledg
 a) More numerous, convenient located (surgical supply houses)
 b) Open more days and holida
 c) Had contact with MDs
 d) Knowledge
 (1) Required undergradua course
 (2) Continuing education

Headache No. 9—Continuing Education Drug knowledge explosion
1. Pharmacy definition—"Art and S ence"
 a. Art—Compounding
 b. Science—Things to know

A. The Solution
1. Hope it's voluntary—continuing ed cation
2. At least one state acting to make it legal prerequisite for licensure newal
3. Chance for local associations to wo with colleges

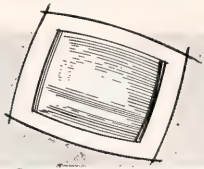

Headache No. 10—Pharmacists often la confidence regarding their kno edge

A. The Solution
1. Think in terms of Pharmacy as part of medical care
2. Keep abreast of new developments drugs and medical care
 a. Don't hesitate to make your kno edge available

FOCUS ON '65

Community pharmacy set new record highs in 1965. Total sales climbed to $167,647—3.6 percent more than last year (Table 1). Pacing this increase were prescription department revenues, which rose 8.6 percent to $68,587 (Table 2). The prescription department contributed over 40 percent of total sales for the first time in LILLY DIGEST history.

When the data were converted to a percentage of total sales, the cost of goods sold decreased and yielded a higher gross margin. With total expenses experiencing a welcome reduction percentagewise, the resulting net profit climbed to 5.8 percent. It is the first time since 1956 that owners have done so well.

The total income of a pharmacist-owner reached 13.8 percent of total sales. When translated into dollars, total income was $23,070—a 9.7 percent increase over 1964 and an all-time high. This figure represents the payment for services as a pharmacist and manager in addition to the return on the capital invested in the pharmacy.

Renewed prescriptions showed continuing strength as total prescriptions dispensed rose to 19,708. Currently, 53.7 percent of total prescription volume is derived from renewals. The average prescription charge increased seven cents, to $3.48, during the past year.

Expenses are best reviewed when converted to a percentage of total sales. Total expenses decreased significantly to 30.4 percent and thus reversed a ten-year trend for the second consecutive year. Employees' wages experienced a down-trend to 11.1 percent in the face of rising labor costs, which indicates increased productivity of sales personnel. Virtually every expense category either held steady or declined in 1965, including rent, which remained unchanged at 2.5 percent for the third consecutive year. For a more detailed evaluation of rent variations, turn to page 48.

Total dollar inventory in the average LILLY DIGEST pharmacy increased slightly, to $28,642, with all of the increase due to the prescription stock. Prescription inventories averaged $9,928, or 14.5 percent of prescription revenue. Although prescription merchandise as a percent of prescription sales dropped 0.5 percent from last year, prescription sales rose 1.9 percent. In all other departments, there was a decrease of 0.1 percent in inventory and 0.9 percent in sales.

Each dollar invested in prescription inventory yielded $6.91 in sales and continues a twenty-year uptrend. The return for the other departments was $5.29, a slight rise over last year.

The rate of inventory turnover held steady at 3.7 times as the average inventory decreased to 17.1 percent of total sales and the cost of goods sold declined 0.1 percent. The complete capital-to-inventory-to-sale cycle occurred once every ninety-nine days.

The prescription department continued to be a prime producer of sales. Each square foot yielded $221.67 in sales (4.9 percent more than in 1964). Although the professional area occupied only 13.1 percent of the total floor space, it contributed over 30 percent of the total revenue recorded by the average community pharmacy.

DISSOLVE THAT COUGH with Cheracol D®

Coughs that follow colds often are dry and unproductive because the thickened mucus, which usually accompanies a cold, is difficult to dislodge from the respiratory passageways.

The value of dissolving, or liquefying, this mucus so it can be coughed up easily is recognized in modern medical therapy.

Cheracol D contains not one but three expectorants, which help dissolve thickened mucus in the respiratory passageways so true expectoration can be achieved to bring temporary relief from coughs. And because of the smaller doses of each expectorant, there is less chance of nausea or other disturbing effects. These expectorant results have made the Cheracol formula a favorite for years.

Other benefits of Cheracol D

- Cheracol D is nonnarcotic. It contains dextromethorphan to suppress coughs safely and effectively.
- Cheracol D contains no antihistamines or belladonna. These agents may "dry out" mucus and so increase the difficulty of true expectoration.
- Cheracol D is safe even for two-year-olds when used as directed.
- Cheracol D tastes good. It has a distinctive flavor both children and adults like.

Recommend Cheracol D to your customers. It is the ideal family cough syrup.

Alfred Newman Martin Honored at Testimonial Dinner in Roanoke Rapids

Fellow pharmacists, family, friends and business associates assembled in Roanoke Rapids on August 17 to honor Alfred Newman Martin a "Pharmacist of the Year." More than 160 persons attended a dinner at which time speakers paid tribute to Mr. Martin.

Dr. Harry Weathers, Mayor of the City of Roanoke Rapids, in welcoming the visitors to the city, pointed out "we are glad to have Alfred Martin live here . . . the city built up around him."

Attorney Scott Benton, E. R. Williams, NCPhA Past President W. T. Boone and Glenn Updike, an Army chum and past president of the Virginia Pharmaceutical Association, lauded the "Pharmacist of the Year" for his sterling qualities. All the speakers, working in bits of humor, assured those attending the dinner party "his record speaks for itself . . . he's forthright, frank, possessed of deep convictions, a sympathizer to his fellow man and a man accepts and works for progress."

In presenting the "Mortar and Pestle Award" to the Pharmacist of the Year, President Blanton said:

Your presence here indicates you are quite well acquainted with the fine qualities of Mr. Alfred N. Martin. Those who have proceeded me have given you a wonderful picture of his character and personality. It therefore becomes my duty to tell you something of the award with which we honor Mr. Martin tonight.

Conceived in 1947, the Pharmacist of the Year award has come to be the highest honor the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association can bestow on a member. It was established as a means of recognizing the contribution of men like Alfred Martin toward making the profession of Pharmacy a vital part of the twentieth century. We Pharmacists, in just 30 short years, have moved from the world of roots, herbs, tinctures, and poultices into this day of bewildering medicinal chemistry. The products we handle daily are truly life-saving and as different from the drugs of the 30's as a Thunderbird is different from an A-Model.

Today, the emphasis is on knowledge as never before. But, in presenting this award each year to our outstanding pharmacist, we are recognizing that our profession could never have survived this rapid and stressful progress were it not for the character and integrity of our individual practicing pharmacists. For, no matter, what the field of endeavor, no matter what the technical skills required, nothing can replace the old virtues of honesty, industriousness, and love.

Thus, it gives me much pleasure personally to present to a friend of my father and mother, a friend of mine, and a friend and valued associate of all here present, this beautiful plaque. This to remind you and your family always of this night and to recognize you as the Pharmacist of the Year for 1966.

Eight former "Pharmacists of the Year" attended the dinner: Charles M. Andrews (1952), R. R. Copland (1955), W. B. Gurley (1958), W. Latham West (1959), J. C. Jackson (1961), T. J. Ham, Jr. (1962), W. D. Welch, Jr. (1964) and Rowe B. Campbell (1965).

On the day following the testimonial dinner, the Roanoke Rapids Herald had this to say editorially, in part: Alfred Newman Martin has shown in his 70 years—with nearly half a century of them here—he has taken Life as it should be taken, with a purpose, and justly deserves to "stand aside from the crowd"—not just as a top man in his profession, but as a top man in humanity.

While in Eastern North Carolina, a number of the pharmacists and their wives took the opportunity to visit Tom Boone's new pharmaceutical center in Ahoskie and later stopped by The W. B. Gurley's new residence in Windsor.

The directors of N. C. Mutual Wholesale Drug Company of Durham held a 3 P.M. business session in Roanoke Rapids prior to the Martin testimonial dinner. Most of the directors remained over to attend the Pharmacist of the Year party.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor: I am puzzled. How did homas and Oakley Drug Store, Roxboro, verlook the exciting idea of carrying several olls of toilet paper in each delivery truck that their accommodating driver might be uipped to offer the ultimate in service to performed in the privacy of the customer's athroom? I think this would fit in lendidly with the other services offered their fantastically unrealistic ad quoted the August CAROLINA JOURNAL OF PHARACY: "We will be happy to do errands r you. Just call in your order to our ug store and we will pick up your order r groceries, meats, dry cleaning, departent and men's stores."

I am not in the least surprised "the ad has used much conversation." The copy unds as if it came straight out of the wilight Zone. Giving service is one thing, t the extremes to which Thomas and kley have gone harks back to the thirties hen drugstores were foolish enough to deer a coke with lemon to a customer who ed a mile or so from the store.

There is a growing school of thought that liveries by pharmacies as a part of their gular service will be eliminated within the xt decade (emergency deliveries will be de in a manner appropriate to the times), d I am confident that any thinking pharacist will see the wisdom of the logic volved—a few simple figures with pencil d paper will convince the doubters.

I am quite aware that I have gone out on e limb to express myself in this fashion, t I care enough about the future of pharacy to try and get over my point in any y possible. Offering extremes in service is trimental to pharmacy; it reduces the prossional pharmacist to the role of an sequious errand boy. One last thought: e general public knows that the hackneyed d obsolete term "free delivery service" is myth and quite a few people are even aking up to the fact that somebody has pay for green stamps yet!

I will answer the inevitable question: Yes, do deliver but with judicious reservations. And I might add our business is prospering and growing.

Dear Mr. Smith:

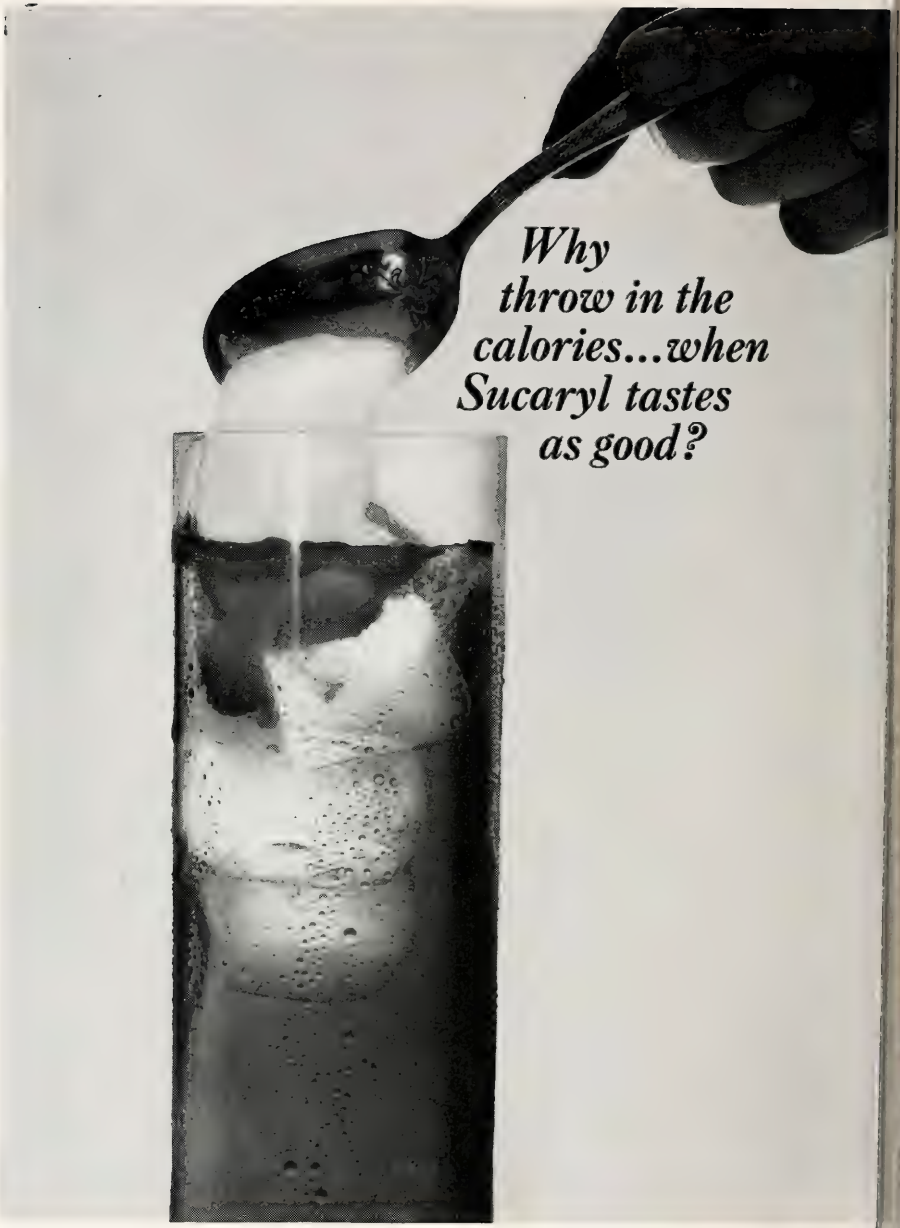

In the hope that we might prevent some other firm from becoming involved with what we feel is an unethical company, we would like to inform you of our experience with Thermochemicals Products, Inc., 1860 Broadway, N. Y.

After much persuasion on the part of their representative, we purchased their products for our store in March, 1966. Among the things that he promised us were special dating, continuous direct mail advertising, and an established product for which the public was already clamoring. The special dating proved to be 3 signed Trade Acceptances, which are negotiable. The continuous direct mail advertising consisted of the mailing of ONE piece of literature, for which we had to supply the names and addresses, to people in our locality. As for the public clamoring for this product, we have sold only one can of this product in the four months that we have had it. We have not even been able to give away the samples, in spite of the fact that we have done extensive radio and newspaper advertising at our own expense. The product, which is a water-proofing compound that comes in clear liquid and a paint-like product in colors, is so over-priced that we have not even been able to sell it at our cost, as contractors are able to buy similar products much cheaper.

The financing of this transaction was handled through Equitable Discount Corporation 233 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y., which we feel is a part of Thermochemical Products Co., as, when we refused to pay for this unsaleable merchandise, they have agreed to take less than the amount of the balance due, for a settlement.

We will greatly appreciate any means you might employ to put other firms on guard concerning this company, as we feel that we have been the victim of false claims and unethical business practices.

JIMSON WEEDS

Hats Off To . . .

Pharmacy ''B'' for its policy of supplying free one ounce bottles of Ipecac to families having children of pre-school age, not only during National Poison Prevention Week, but also throughout the year. Printed prescription blanks, ethical in nature, are left with general practitioners and pediatricians and need practically no modification of directions besides signature of prescriber.

Further, the pharmacists at Pharmacy ''B'' give to these physicians the latest information on this emetic. Example: A few physicians viewed the use of Syrup Ipecac with some misgivings, citing its capriciousness in the factor of its slowness of action, its occasional failure when used after overdosages and poisoning by antiemetics and antihistaminics. These few physicians favored the stomach pump. These pharmacists cited the latest comprehensive studies showing that Syrup Ipecac was still effective in 95% of the cases involving the antiemetics, or almost as effective as the 96% effectiveness reached in its use against poisoning by other drugs. If a dosage of 15 ml. of Syrup Ipecac does not produce emesis in twenty minutes, a repeat dosage is indicated; if emesis does not then occur, gastric lavage would be indicated.

These same studies showed an average time of less than 19 minutes between time of dosage with Ipecac and time of emesis, and that the volume so returned equaled or exceeded that returned by gastric lavage.

This is an example of a forceful gesture on the part of a pharmacy that has brought it much favor in the eyes of physicians and parents, judged more objectively by the physician and more emotionally by the mother.

Doff your hat to a pharmacist in Pharmacy ''J'' for supplying a surface area nomogram to a dermatologist.

At one time or another even the best of us are found ''wanting.'' Fortunately, at such times, haste in complying with a request is not likely to be a lethal factor.

The dermatologist had misplaced, or did not remember, a nomogram that would give him a working formula for determining the surface area of a child 18 months old, no weight given. He appealed to the pharmacist.

Despite this pharamcist's natural propensity for trying to ''keep up'' with his profession, he could not, on the spur of the moment, recall a suitable formula. That in itself is no disgrace and certainly the physician had no intention of chiding him, since he himself had failed to remember. The fact that the pharmacist knew a source of the wanted information and procured i mitigates the chagrin he must have felt.

In drug therapy, especially for electrolyte and water, the use of body surface area as factor in gauging dosage, presents a mor accurate and scientific method than the usua conventional methods of using age an weight. This is especially advantageou where the need of some drugs and some fluid should be proportioned to the body su face area.

Uncover, and a hand to forelock to Pha macist "A" who has enjoyed an unusuall high volume of sales in a diabetic depart ment, with a steadily increasing number o Insulin sales.

For the past fifteen years he has bee especially interested in serving diabetic Through the years he has been instrument in causing the detection of diabetes in man of his customers by those ethical means an pharmacist may employ.

He has taken his own keen interes leavened it with the helps and ideas promu gated by Becton, Dickinson, added a litt extra time with each customer, and give some thought to conclusions drawn fro questions put to his Insulin customers, an thus found the probable reasons for th growth of this department.

His search first led him to determine ho well his customers who were taking Insuli obeyed directions and administered or ha their specified dosages administered. H studied a national survey that showed a hig incidence of errors in the amount used, an other errors. He used about nine weeks contact with his customers which accrued at least three separate contacts with eac He carefully tabulated the results of the contacts and found a number of interestin facts.

He found no errors in dosages taken b first users; this fact determined by questio ing at the times of the second and third co tacts, the number of these customers bei ten. Of those customers who had used I sulin for five years, the number being 3 he learned that one had made a serious err and that two had made minor errors i volving an average of 3 units. Of the r naining number of 42 users for ten years r more, he found that two had made errors n account of using the wrong scale on a onvertible syringe; one had used the wrong ind of Insulin due to a misinterpretation f a verbal order when a written order was ot given; one had neglected to take one r more doses incurring a somewhat serious pisode on one occasion and a less serious pisode on another occasion; two had made rrors in the amount taken which had mounted to 5 units plus with one and 5 units inus with the other. The pharmacist had iffieulty with the replies of three of the ng term users and no difficulty with the ew users, due, he reasoned, on account of ie near senility of the three.

One may reason, as did Pharmacist "A," hat incidence of errors in dosage, and errors nvolving the other factors presented, nded to increase in proportion to the length time Insulin was used. That the same rrors occurred repeatedly to the same users ay illustrate how even a bad habit may ecome rote and, more to the point, how raught with danger. Pharmacist "A" and s conscience, acting characteristically, seeks better his more excellent than average cord, but there is well founded doubt he ill be able to do so, for the simple reason at human foibles and shortcomings being hat they are, even he cannot become the itching guardian of his customers' every tion.

This pharmacist makes it a point to rsonally serve his Insulin customers. On e few occasions when this is not possible ey are served by one of his trainees whose pertise nearly approaches that of the entor. He keeps at least four syringes at vantage point which makes it a simple atter to coach the customer in proper use. e thoroughly explains the use of all the oducts concomitant to the use of Insulin. is stock of these products and the supple- ntary foods and drugs is as complete as uld be the stock of an exclusively diabetic op. The information gleaned from his stomers, although more elaborate perhaps an strictly necessary, but not more so than categories other than diabetics, are supple- nted into the personal records of his cus- ners. This record system is more and more recognized as a mark of the profes- sional. Next to the physician he has learned his customers well. Some of them he knows as well as the ardent swain knows every lineament of his beloved's face. Needless to say he keeps this knowledge in- violate.

* * * *

To those of you who think all these extras take time, time you think you do not have, it may be said that it does take time. It may also be said that you would do well to refuse to be the mere puppet of time, and to command the time to use in these extras. Those who are commanders of their time, the cost of which is infinitesimal compared with the rewards, are the ultimate legatees of all the benefits accruing from the time used in gaining them.

By his habit of instructing, cautioning, explaining, and imparting information to his Insulin customers Pharmacist "A" is to an appreciable extent the subject of neigh- borly conversational chatter, chit-chat at the Bridge table, recessional talk at PTA or Rotary meetings, and en passant exchange in the doctors' lounge.

Creech Drug Remodeled

Creech Drug Company, Selma, has been remodeled. The once high ceiling has been lowered and covered with fiberglass acoustical ceiling with new lighting. About $8,500 was involved according to Joe A. Creech, president of the firm.

SuperRx

Kroger plans to establish a SuperRx drug store in Charlotte on East Boulevard.

Buncombe County

The Buncombe County Pharmaceutical Society held its August meeting on the 16th in the Medical Library of Memorial Mission Hospital, Asheville. President Frank Akins presided.

In a discussion of projects for the Society it was decided to use the 28 pharmacy film PR project by next spring, since the autumn programs on the area CBS broadcasting stations have already been arranged. A committee to plan for participation in the coming National Pharmacy Week was formed as was a committee to study the NCPhA proposed "Physician-Pharmacist Code of Understanding" with a committee from the County Medical Society. J. C. McGee Chairman Professional Relations Committee is handling the latter matter and the Public Relations Committee will propel the former. No decision was made as to publishing a directory of physicians since it was learned the Medical Society had such a project in mind. The secretary reminded members of a Directory of Pharmacists he published several years before the formation of this Society and his offer to again use his time in an encore as well as publishing a Medical Directory, the Society underwriting only the cost of typesetting and materials. This matter was tabled. Other projects were discussed, especially that of placing the book "The Profession of Pharmacy" in high school libraries of the area. Since the attendance at this meeting was unusually sparse, this matter is the subject of further consideration now being studied by the Executive Board.

The Eli Lilly and Company film "Day of Judgment" was shown to a favorably impressed audience which professed being availed much help from it.

One new member was enrolled. Certificates of Membership were distributed to those who had become members since July.

Fearing Appointed

Keith Fearing, Manteo pharmacist and former member of the General Assembly of North Carolina, has been appointed a member of the Dare County Board of Public Welfare.

Mr. Fearing is believed to be the only pharmacist in the state serving in this capacity (there are about 75 pharmacists serving on county/district boards of health) but if this is incorrect, the NCPhA Office will welcome an opportunity to bring the record up-to-date.

The Attorney General of the State has ruled that Pharmacist Fearing may continue to dispense Welfare Rxs while serving as a member of the county welfare board.

Conference on Medicare

A series of conferences on Medicare, held in the state under the sponsorship of the Committee on Chronic Illness of the Medical Society of the State of North Carolina, have been attended by pharmacist delegates from the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association.

The format of six conferences was the same—a general session followed by two workshops: One for physicians and local resource people and one for medical assistants.

The following pharmacists represented the NCPhA are the conferences:

M. W. Watts of Charlotte and Hoy A. Moose at the conference in Concord on July 8.

Roger Sloop of Rural Hall and James A. Way, Jr. of Winston-Salem at the conference in Winston-Salem on August 4.

Don Miller of Morganton and Earl H. Tate of Lenoir at the conference in Lenoir on August 10.

John C. Hood, Jr. of Kinston and Fred Parker of Jacksonville at the conference in Kinston on August 17.

I. T. Reamer and Hunter Kelly, both of Durham, at the conference in Durham on August 18.

Ernest Carraway of Windsor and David R. Davis, Jr. of Williamston at the conference in Edenton on September 14.

Industry Hunting Trip to West Coast

Dean George P. Hager was one of eight persons who recently spent two weeks on an industry-hunting visit to the West Coast under sponsorship of the N. C. Department of Conservation and Development.

More than 30 West Coast firms were contacted during the two weeks visit. A spokesman for the group said "Our job was to tell the firms about the state and hope they will give North Carolina first consideration when they begin to expand."

Members of the team, in addition to Dean Hager, were Robert E. Leak, financial consultant and development representative, N. C. Department of Conservation & Development; Ned Huffman, executive vice president, Research Triangle Park; Dr. Ralph E. Fadum, dean of the School of Engineering, N. C. State University; William A. Blount, retired president of Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company; Dr. Thomas H. Naylor, professor of economics at Duke University; George L. Howard, director of the Industrial Services Division, and Joseph E. Sturdivant, industrial services specialist, N. C. Department of Community Colleges.

Travel was by way of the State plane, recently renamed "The Cardinal."

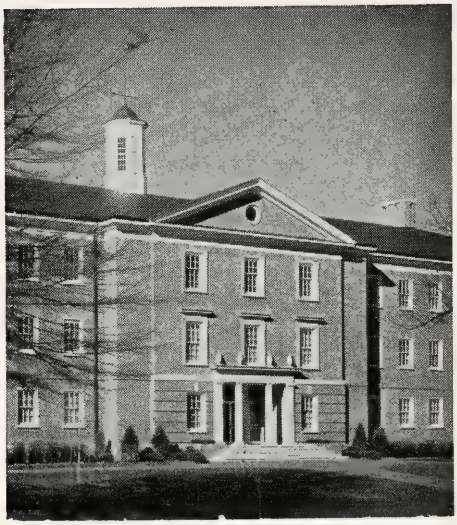

Bryson Selected as a Stanford-Sloan Executive Fellow

Vaughn D. Bryson has been selected as a 1966-67 Stanford-Sloan Executive Fellow for nine months of intensive study beginning in September at the Stanford University Graduate School of Business in California.

He will study new concepts and developments in business management under the guidance of the Stanford faculty.

A 1960 graduate of the UNC School of Pharmacy, Mr. Bryson was employed in Gastonia prior to accepting a MSR position with Eli Lilly and Company in 1961. He is now a senior personnel representative in Lilly's Marketing and Administrative Personnel Division, Indianapolis, Indiana.

UNC PHARMACY SCHOOL NOTES

At the time these notes are written th anticipated enrollment for the fall semeste looks comparatively good. A total of 34 students has been preregistered in the Schoc of Pharmacy and 131 in the freshman yea The breakdown is as follows:

Auxiliary Program Underway

Mrs. James L. Creech, Smithfield, president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association, presided at a meeting of her Executive Board in session July 27 at the Institute of Pharmacy, Chapel Hill.

A noon luncheon at the Carolina Inn, with Mrs. W. J. Smith as hostess, preceded the business session. Plans for the new year included the awarding of the first Lucile H. Rogers Memorial Scholarship to a student in the UNC School of Pharmacy; the continuation of the Vivian Spradlin Smith Scholarship; plans for projects with funds allocated toward the remodeling of the Institute of Pharmacy; continuation of placement of the reference book, The Profession of Pharmacy, in high school and public libraries.

Mrs. Creech took office when the Pharmaceutical Association and its Auxiliaries met for the annual convention in Asheville in June. The session in Chapel Hill Wednesday was her first official duty since her installation as president of the Woman's Auxiliary. Serving with her are: Mrs. W. Statham West, Roseboro, first vice-president; Mrs. Billy T. Allen, Williamston, second vice-president; Mrs. W. H. Houser, Cherryville, secretary; Mrs. William P. Wells, Durham, treasurer; Mrs. Larry Kennedy, Broadway, historian; Mrs. Eugene Hackney, Lumberton, Parliamentarian; Mrs. George Markham, Fayetteville, and Mrs. Charles D. Blanton, Kings Mountain, Advisors.

Mrs. Creech is the daughter of Mrs. J. B. Rives and the late Mr. Rives of Enfield. She is married to James L. Creech, a vice-president of the Pharmaceutical Association, and owner-manager of Creech's Pharmacy of Smithfield. The Creeches have one daughter, Mary Rives, who is ten years old.

Mrs. Creech holds an AB degree from East Carolina College and taught school in Tar Bluff and Smithfield. She is active in the Smithfield Garden Club, presently serving as chairman of the Horticulture Committee.

She has served on the official board of the Centenary Methodist Church, as chairman of the Commission on Education, as Sunday School Teacher, as president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service. At present she is superintendent of the Children's Division of the Church School.

Her hobbies are flower arranging, decorating for special occasions, and cooking.

MEDICINE AND PHARMACY

The amicable relations that have historically existed between the professions of medicine and pharmacy have been threatened recently, the House of Delegates of the American Medical Association noted at the 1966 annual convention.

The House reaffirmed the right of a physician to dispense drugs when it is in the best interest of the patient, and went on record in opposition to S.2568 which would interfere with that right (Hart Bill). The delegates then adopted these "fundamental concepts in the relations between physicians and pharmacists":

- The contribution of pharmacy as an independent profession in assisting physicians toward the constant goal of improved patient care is recognized and commended.
- The American Medical Association urges physicians to encourage and support the continued growth of pharmacy as a valuable and necessary member of the health team.
- Although there are circumstances in which physicians may ethically engage in the dispensing of drugs, the American Medical Association nevertheless urges physicians to avoid the regular dispensing and retail sale of drugs to patients wherever the drug needs of patients can be met adequately by local ethical pharmacies.—The A.M.A. News

Medicare/Convalescent Aid Seminar Draws Registrants from Central N. C.

The September 21 Medicare and Convalescent Aid Seminar sponsored by Justice Drug Company was attended by more than fifty pharmacists and pharmacy managers, some driving more than 100 miles to the Greensboro meeting point.

During a morning and afternoon session, broken by a noon-day luncheon, registrants received a briefing on the most effective way to participate in Medicare, including Titles XVIII and XIX, the extended care setup and home health service program.

Representatives of Davol, BD, J & J, Homer Higgs Associates, the NCPhA and retail pharmacy (George McLarty, Jr.) appeared on the program. Donald E. Baker, Senior Pharmacist with the Division of Medical Care Administration, HEW Regional Office, Charlottesville, Virginia, attended the meeting and spoke to the registrants.

Justice Drug Company is commended for sponsoring such a timely and helpful seminar. A somewhat similar type program has been put on by Kendall Drug Company (see page 25) and it is anticipated other programs of a like nature will be announced in the future.

Eckel Named Director of North Carolina Hospital Pharmacy Project

A hospital pharmacist with community pharmacy experience has been appointed director of a unique North Carolina plan to help recruit and train pharmacists for full and part-time service in hospitals.

Frederick M. Eckel, 27-year-old native of Philadelphia, will become director of the state project and an instructor at the University of North Carolina School of Pharmacy.

His major effort for the next two years will be to organize and supervise what is known officially as "A Plan of Assistance for the Development and Improvement of Pharmacy Services in North Carolina Hospitals."

The plan was developed by the N. C. Society of Hospital Pharmacists, the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association and the N. C. Board of Pharmacy to assist hospitals in dealing with problems encountered in meeting the legal and professional requirements for operating hospital pharmacies. The project was made possible by the N. C. Hospital Education and Research Foundation and its overall direction will be provided by an Advisory Committee consisting of representatives from the N. C. Hospital Association, the N. C. Medical Care Commission, the N. C. Society of Hospital Pharmacists, the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association, the N. C. Medical Society and the N. C. Board of Pharmacy.

Funds totaling $48,700 have been provided by Smith, Kline & French Foundation, the Duke Endowment and the Z. Smith Reynolds Fund to support the project for two years.

Eckel now is assistant director of the pharmacy at Ohio State University Hospitals in Columbus, Ohio. He also is an instructor in the College of Pharmacy at Ohio State University and a pharmacy consultant to St. Ann's Hospital for Women in Columbus.

He is a pioneer in the development of pharmaceutical services in nursing homes and is still active in this area.

He has been chairman for three years of the Committee on Pharmaceutical Service in Hospital-Related Health Care Facilities of the American Society of Hospital Pharmacists and this year is chairman of the Mount Airy Pharmacist John E. Mills to Visit Richmond as Guest of A. H. Robins

Mount Airy pharmacist John E. Mills, the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association's 1966 recipient of the A. H. Robins "Bowl of Hygeia" Award for outstanding community service, was among this year's award winners who accepted an invitation to visit A. H. Robins' Richmond headquarters.

Award-winning pharmacists from 49 of the United States, the District of Columbia, nine of the provinces of Canada, and Puerto Rico visited Richmond for three days beginning October 6. They were guests of the pharmaceutical manufacturing company and its president, E. Claiborne Robins.

While in Virginia, the pharmacists toured A. H. Robins' manufacturing plant and research center, and were honored at a reception and dinner. They also spent a day touring Williamsburg, the restored Colonial Capital of Virginia, and visited Richmond's well-known Valentine Museum.

In addition to visiting Richmond, the award-winners were featured in a special full-page advertisement which A. H. Robins sponsored in the October 7th issue of Time. The ad included individual photographs of all the recipients and indicated that they have been cited for outstanding service to their respective communities.

The "Bowl of Hygeia" Award is presented annually by the participating state pharmaceutical associations, which select their respective recipients. This is the ninth year that A. H. Robins has sponsored the "Bowl of Hygeia" program, and the award now is one of the most coveted in th pharmacy profession.

Mills is the eighth North Carolina pha macist to receive the award. Previous r cipients were Harold Vann Day of Spru Pine, in 1959; Ralph R. Rogers, Jr. o Durham, in 1960; William H. The Challenge of the Changing Customer

By W. S. HOLT, Administrative Assistant, Market Research Division, Eli Lilly & Company

Theodore Roosevelt once said "Every man owes a part of his time to the upbuilding of his profession." It's certainly good to see the large number of pharmacists and other people gathered here who are following this wise concept. Without people like you, who are willing to take time and give of yourself, the profession of pharmacy wouldn't have developed to its present high level of accomplishment.

In today's ever-changing business climate, an appropriate topic for us to consider is "The Challenge of the Changing Customer." Without a doubt pharmacy has always presented a challenge and customers through the years have constantly changed. But, I think most of you will agree that change is now both more rapid and pronounced than ever before. The changing trends of our population in age, location, education, sophistication, mobility, and affluence will undoubtedly present even greater challenges to pharmacy in the future.

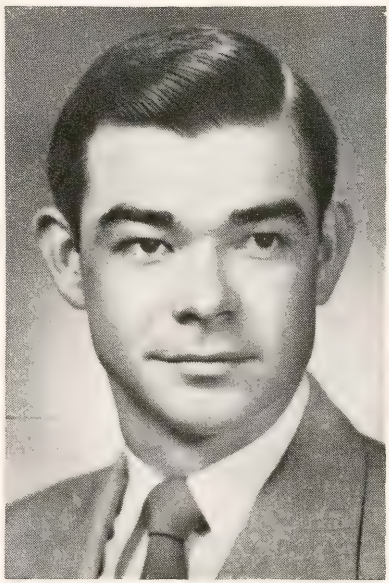

It's most encouraging to see that the subjects of Medicare and pharmaceutical services in nursing homes will be covered at this meeting. These subjects present to pharmacy change and opportunity. In keeping with this thought of change and future opportunities, perhaps we should also consider those changes in our population that are changing American living patterns, and as a result, changing our customers' needs and buying habits.

To begin with, the change in the average age of our population will affect every business man in tomorrow's market. The average age today is five years younger than it was when President Kennedy was elected and authorities tell us that by 1970, it will drop to 25 years. Think of that! Does it make you feel just a little older!!! In other words, we are entering the "youth market" and market research people tell us this younger population will dominate the buying public during the next ten years.

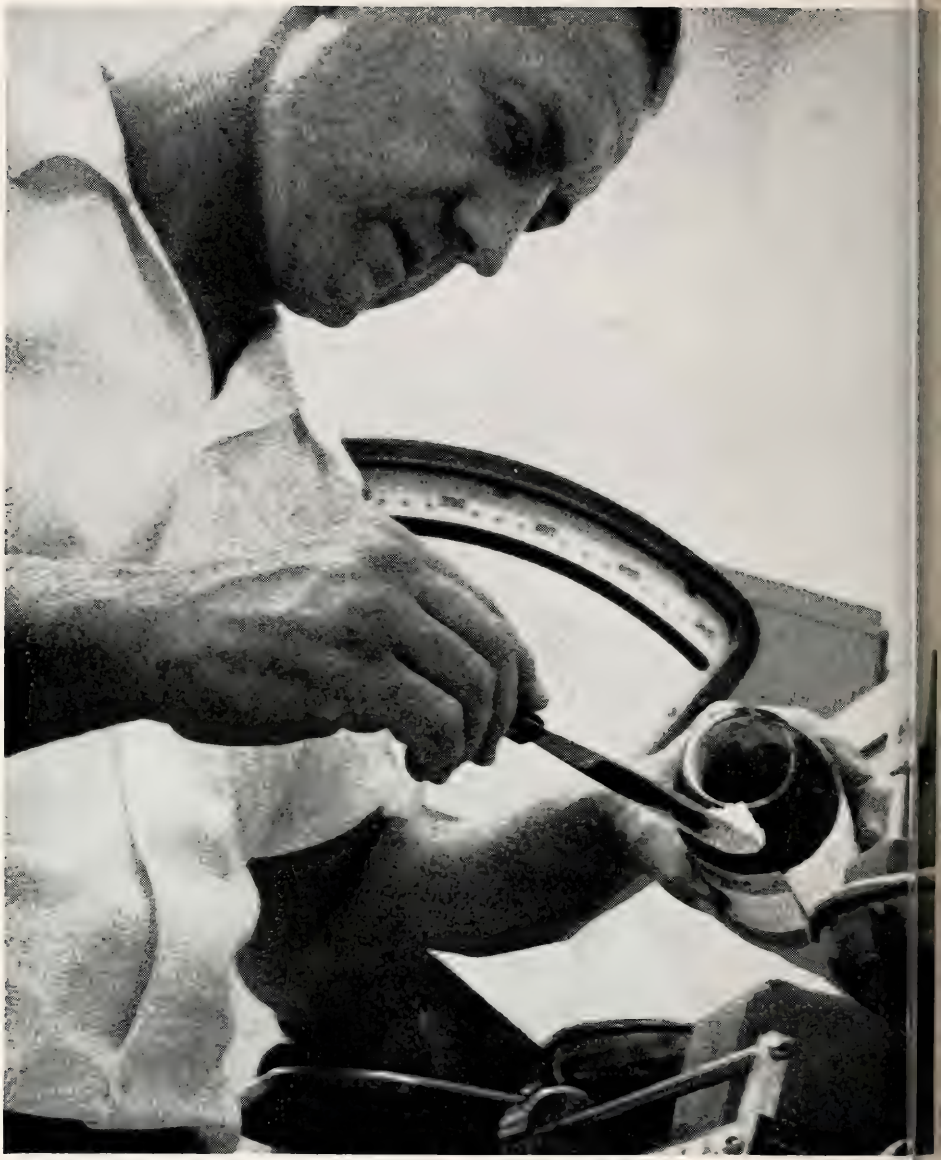

What impact will this have on the future business of you the pharmacist? What do we know about this future generation that will enable us to be of more service and win its loyalty?

First of all, the younger generation is not particularly segmented by income groups and they usually don't buy according to their present income. By and large, most budget to the maximum and buy according to their expected income. They do it because they have high job security, and they are willing to move from one job to another to continually improve their income. Because of this, the young graduating engineer today with an income of approximately $750 per month is a different customer than an older factory worker with a similar income. Moreover, the young housewife is more mature than her counterpart of yesterday. Generally speaking, she is better educated, has had more privileges, and as a teenager, often had her own charge account. Most have traveled and lived in several cities and have a good idea of what this country has to offer and how their needs are met by various types of markets. Because of these things, the young housewife is not as class-conscious when purchasing goods. For example, she doesn't consider Macys her department store and Neiman-Marcus the store of someone else of a different economic class. With the mobility afforded our younger set, it's not uncommon for them to shop in a better department store, a bargain basement, and a discount center all in the same shopping trip. To further emphasize how they are different, could you imagine your mother going in Neiman-Marcus in stretch pants and curlers?

weighty problem

Henry Glenn is a very precise fellow. Henry is an SK&F man who weighs chemicals to be sure that exact amounts of this or that are included in each lot of a drug product being manufactured. His co-workers sometimes call him "Cautious Hank." We like him that way.

While considering the youth market, don't overlook the fact that there are presently 47 million adolescents who form a terrific buying force. Like other people, these teenagers are better educated, more sophisticated, and you can't talk down to them. When you stop to consider the volume this group accounts for, plus the fact that within 5 to 7 years, they may be married and starting a family of their own, it's apparent why we must try to understand and cultivate this group, why we must impress on them that the pharmacy is the place to purchase all items of health-care.

Obviously we could spend a great deal of time talking about the youth market, and its implications, but since everyone likes to be younger, perhaps we should remember that many times merchandise designed for the younger set finds wide acceptance among oldsters. They, too, like to feel young. As a case in point, the Mustang was designed for the younger set—yet after six months, Ford's market research revealed that the majority of Mustangs were purchased by the so-called older customers. I noticed a large number of these cars in the motel parking lot. Did you drive your children's cars to the convention or are you an example of trying to feel young?

I've said before, our population is becoming more sophisticated and better educated. Did you know that the largest industry in the U.S. today is the education industry?

According to a recent issue of the Wall Street Journal, there's such a boom for printed material that some printers are behind in supplying books to our large universities. Perhaps this run on books is because ¼ of our population is now in school, and it's estimated that by 1970, ⅓ of our population will find a place in the classroom. If you add to the present number of full-time students all part-time students and those taking various education courses, the percentage of our population involved in education may increase to as much as 50 per cent. Without a doubt, this means that these people will need different types of products and services.

The technology learned during World War II, plus our present space efforts have resulted in what some people call an information explosion. To illustrate how rapidly our knowledge is expanding, perhaps we should reflect a moment on the development of education through the years. Educators tell us that until approximately 1700 A.D., it was possible for one man to know everything there was to know. Obviously, this is the reason the scholars of old had several titles, such as philosophers, astronomers, physicians, etc. Before 1800, all degrees granted from schools of higher learning were in philosophy. Not until 1850 was science first used as a term to describe one basic discipline and by 1900, five basic disciplines of science had emerged. Now science alone has more than 112 basic disciplines.

We are told now that knowledge doubles every fourteen years. A by-product of knowledge is data and it's estimated that this doubles every eight years. As this data continued to grow, it became apparent that we needed a system that could conveniently store information and make it easily available. Man being inventive by nature created computers and is now in the process of making them still more sophisticated so all of this data can be stored and yet be readily available at the flip of a switch.

It's hard to grasp how rapidly data accumulates. I read recently that if we put a chemist at his desk for 8 hours a day, 5 days a week, and gave him as his only assignment the review of new material—at the end of one year, he would be 5 years behind.

Not only is our population getting younger and better informed, but it's more mobile. Many of you are aware of the large number of people that move in and out

That was no lady...

When Betsy came boiling out of the Gulf of Mexico and devastated the Greater New Orleans area with winds, rain and floods, she created a health problem that challenged the resources of doctors, pharmacists and pharmaceutical companies.

No sooner had Betsy departed, leaving mud, wreckage and disease in her wake, than Lederle area men, such as Bill Roberts (above) headed for the scene. After receiving typhoid and tetanus inoculations and picking up special passes, they toured the wastelands and made arrangements with doctors and pharmacists to replace without charge all Lederle drugs and biologicals damaged or destroyed by the hurricane.

It was quite a job. More than 300 ph macies and approximately 1200 M.D.'s located in that area. Yet it was done in markably short time – thanks to 18-h days by the men on the scene, a closely ordinated emergency shipment system the marvels of modern plane, train truck transportation.

Cost, price, profit? They didn't figure all in this public service situation. Our o consideration was: How to get preci drugs to the scene as quickly as possible that lives could be saved and needless s fering prevented.

That is the way dependable, Ameri brand-name manufacturers operate.

your neighborhood each year. During e current year, one of every five house-lders in the United States will change his dress. Eleven million householders or rty-six million people each year find them-ves in a new and peculiar market situa-n. Let's consider for a moment what ppens when a family moves. There needs r products and services rapidly expand d retail buying habits and contacts are oken. At the same time, there's a ticeable decrease in advertising and pro-tion directed to them. Obviously, then s of great importance to all business men make a special effort to pinpoint the new-ner quickly and take steps to cultivate his tronage and gain his loyalty.

Another important point and pleasant tor that affects both our future business ssibilities and our personal lives is the reasing affluence of our society. It is dicted that in the next ten years, our gross tional product will have a growth of 60 r cent; as a result of this growth, we're d that the per cent of total gross in-me spent for basic needs will probably tinue to decrease. For example, in 1940, e consumer had 30 per cent of his income spend for things other than basic needs. 1950, this had increased to 42 per cent d last year, it had reached to 54 per cent. onomists believe that by 1970, the Ameri-n consumer will have 66 per cent of his ome available for so-called discretionary ending. It appears that with the addi-nal income, we work less hours per week d have more leisure time. Perhaps these o factors are at least in part responsible the customers' growing demand for re personalized service.

In a recent article, Mr. Hugh Duffield, ce-President of Sears-Roebuck and Com-ny, pointed out that as we progress ough the 60's, more and more women nt fabrics brought into their homes. They ject to having to assemble items once rchased, and they most like one-stop opping and financing when making a major rchase. In addition, he pointed out that cause of the growing complexity of shop-ng, catalogs are larger and are being used re than ever. I was interested to see that about the same time the above article was published, Dr. George Herpel, Professor of Marketing and Chairman of the Marketing Department at Temple University, published an article entitled "More Leisure—Less Time." In this article, Dr. Herpel indicates that time-saving products are a prime concern to most people and many industries have been lulled into making products for the big new leisure segment of our society. It's true that many people actually need more time-saving products and services. Many manufacturers have taken steps to produce time-saving items—for example: cake mixes, instant coffee, TV dinners. In spite of these advances by the manufacturers, a number of large retailers have taken steps which add time to shopping activities. Studies show that thousands of people shop daily under stress. During peak traffic hours, service is quite inadequate. In food stores, much time is spent in the check-out lines. In department stores, many times it's difficult for the customer to find someone to take his money or answer a question. Add on the time spent in driving, parking, taking the purchases to the car, and it's easy to understand why more people have started to use catalogs again. As the affluence of our society increases, the demand for personalized service, labor-saving devices, and time-saving products also increases.

We have talked about how the customer has changed in: a) age; b) location; c) mobility; d) sophistication; and e) affluence. He has changed, too, because discoveries and inventions have lead him to more leisure, better health, and longer life. The advancement in medical knowledge has been rapid in the past few years, and you have been in the enviable position of supplying these modern miracles to your customers.

I'm reminded of a true story of President Calvin Coolidge. Calvin Coolidge had a son who liked to play tennis, and he became an excellent tennis player. One afternoon at school while playing tennis, Mr. Coolidge's son skinned his foot. He came home and told his parents about the incident but it was not considered serious at all. The next afternoon it was worse and in a few days, the son developed gas gangrene and died. Here was the son of a president who had all

Coughs that follow colds often are dry and unproductive because the thickened mucus, which usually accompanies a cold, is difficult to dislodge from the respiratory passageways.

The value of dissolving, or liquefying, this mucus so it can be coughed up easily is recognized in modern medical therapy.

Cheracol D contains not one but three expectorants, which help dissolve thickened mucus in the respiratory passageways so true expectoration can be achieved to bring temporary relief from coughs. And because of the smaller doses of each expectorant, there is less chance of nausea or other disturbing effects. These expectorant results have made the Cheracol formula a favorite for years.

Other benefits of Cheracol D

- Cheracol D is nonnarcotic. It contains dextromethorphan to suppress coughs safely and effectively.
- Cheracol D contains no antihistamines or belladonna. These agents may "dry out" mucus and so increase the difficulty of true expectoration.
- Cheracol D is safe even for two-year-olds when used as directed.
- Cheracol D tastes good. It has a distinctive flavor both children and adults like.

Recommend Cheracol D to your customers. It is the ideal family cough syrup.

CHALLENGE OF THE CHANGING CUSTOMER

the medical resources available in the world at that time, and yet he died from the result of a simple abrasion.

Today, even the poorest citizen in our country under similar circumstances could probably be cured with a prescription for a miracle drug filled in a neighborhood drug-store or hospital pharmacy.

We have covered a lot of facts and figures and you may wonder, how do these things relate to me and my pharmacy? Obviously the things discussed here will affect every pharmacist in a different manner and to a different degree. Nevertheless, sometimes it pays to look at our surroundings on a broad-scale to better understand the forces that influence everyone in business. A review of this information indicates the customer of today, and even more so the customer of tomorrow, will be more demanding because of his affluence, better education, and wider experience. Obviously, then, to be successful, the retailer must be more concerned with people than ever before and his principal effort must be directed to responding faster to customer demands. In addition, he must constantly test customer reactions to determine if he is rendering a satisfactory service.

Sometimes this can be accomplished by an old market research technique illustrated by the following story:

> One day a bright-eyed youngster of about 12 years of age walked into Mr. Jones's drug store and asked permission to use the telephone. Mr. Jones, the pharmacist, granted permission and the youngster then asked if he knew Dr. Smith's telephone number. In a moment the youngster dialed a number and the pharmacist heard him say, "Do you need anyone to cut your grass?" Apparently someone on the other end said no that they had someone to cut the grass, and the youngster replied, "Well is he doing a good job for you?" Apparently the party on the other end said yes, at which time the youngster said, "Thank you" and hung up the telephone. Mr. Jones said, "Well son, you didn't get the job did you?" At which time the boy repiled, "Oh yes Sir, I had the job all the time, I was just trying to find out how I was doing."

Obviously then, we must make a continuous effort to find out how the customer really sees us and what adjustments would make our service better.

As I look across this assembly this afternoon, it's apparent that all facets of pharmacy are represented. I am confident that each of you have different ideas on how best to serve our population or our customers' needs. The customer of today can receive Rx service from a wide variety of stores ranging from the large chain and discount store to the small professional pharmacy. We might say that the profession of pharmacy is indulging in a battle of store footage, but I think the real message should be that regardless of store size or type, the most important footage is that short distance across the wrapping or check-out counter. Here is the place where the customer makes the important decision?? Will I return or go somewhere else next time. It's also here that you, the pharmacist, face the "moment of truth." This is your opportunity to obtain and keep an accurate insight into your customers' likes, dislikes, and needs.

Someone has said, what the American customer wants, he will ultimately get. To paraphrase this another way, tomorrow's market will be captured by those who serve it best.

No one can tell you what tomorrow's pharmaceutical market will be like; nor can they tell us what any other market will be like; but, if you consider the trends discussed here this afternoon, it's safe to assume that the market will continue to change. This presents a great challenge to all of us who are interested in pharmacy. In essence, the challenge of propelling pharmacy from the jet age to the space age will be centered around our ability to use our resources, know-how, and experience to better serve tomorrow's customers—customers who are constantly changing in age, education, sophistication, and affluence.

Again, no one can tell you what tomorrow's market will be like, but if you accept the challenge of change, you will be able to keep pace with the market, but more important, you will be a vital part of it.

APhA Has New Edition of Career Pamphlet

The American Pharmaceutical Association has available a new edition of "See Your Future In Pharmacy." This small, attractive pamphlet, describes the various opportunities available to young people interested in pharmacy as a career.

The educational background necessary, a list of accredited colleges of pharmacy, and sources of financial assistance are given for those interested in further study of the profession.

This pamphlet can be used for recruitment by pharmacists, and local, state and national associations, including their auxiliaries. The pamphlets may be obtained from the Order Desk, American Pharmaceutical Association, 2215 Constitution Avenue, N.W. Washington, D.C. 20037. Copies are available at $5 per 100 copies; with bulk prices upon request.

Bob Hood Opens the R. L. Hood Pharmacy in Pink Hill

R. L. (Bob) Hood opened the R. L. Hood Pharmacy in Pink Hill on September 2.

A native of Richlands, Bob graduated from the UNC School of Pharmacy in 1960 and since that time has been employed in Chapel Hill at Sloan's Drug Store, in Pink Hill at Brewer's Drug Store and for the past two years in Kinston at the J. E. Hood Drug Company.

Bob has been active in community work in Pink Hill for several years. He was charter president of the Pink Hill Jaycees and is currently serving as secretary of the organization.

The new pharmacy will feature convalescent aids and has been designated a Health Information Center by the American Pharmaceutical Association.

Towards Better Speech-Making

Sponsored by the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association in cooperation with the Speech Training Service of Smith Kline & French Laboratories, the graduates of the program received professional instruction on how to give speeches, how to prepare and illustrate them, and how to organize and operate a speakers bureau.

Selective Service

The State Director of Selective Service William H. McCachren, has notified all local SS boards of procedure to be used in deferring graduates of schools of pharmacy prior to licensure.

After outlining the practical experience requirements, the State Director of SS informed local SS boards:

(1) the N. C. State Board of Pharmacy will furnish the local board of jurisdiction with a letter on each pharmacy school graduate needing additional practical experience, specifying how much more time he needs as an apprentice and the date of the first examination for which he will be eligible; and

(2) the local SS board is authorized to use this letter as its authority to delay the issuance of an order to report for induction of a pharmacy school graduate until the first call after the date that the N. C. Board of Pharmacy indicates the examination will be given.

Here's where we draw the line

Between the inner core of ten vitamins and a layer of nine minerals in Mi-Cebrin T is a polymeric barrier. The barrier prevents potency-destroying interactions between the vitamins and the minerals. It's the kind of feature your customers can appreciate.

Why not mention it to them?

SO WHO NEEDS A WHOLESALER?

Let's just suppose for a moment that wholesale druggists disappeared from the American business scene. What would it mean to you? Well, picture yourself in place of our friend here. No longer do you rely on one or two wholesale salesmen to stock your shelves. You'll have to see at least two or three hundred representatives. Your store is jammed. Hardly room for customers. You've spent most of your day as a purchasing agent. Who's running the store? Aren't you glad this is "just suppose"? It's reassuring to know that your wholesale druggist is on the job performing the services that help you run a more efficient, more profitable drugstore. Yes, service is why it pays to buy wholesale.

NORTH CAROLINA PHARMACEUTICAL ASSOCIATION

86th Annual Convention

Battery Park Hotel, Asheville, N. C.

June 12-13-14, 1966

Opening Session

The 86th Annual Convention of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association was called to order at 2:30 P.M., June 12, 1966, at the Battery Park Hotel, Asheville, by President W. T. Boone.

The 39th session of The Woman's Auxiliary and the 52nd session of The Traveling Men's Auxiliary were officially opened by Mrs. C. D. Blanton, Jr. and James A. Wolfe, presidents.

Following an invocation by J. C. Jackson, President Boone presented Poison Prevention Plaques to (1) Mitchell Watts of Charlotte for "most outstanding individual effort" and (2) Greensboro Society of Pharmacists for best group or organization effort during Poison Prevention Week.

Al Jenkins, representing the A. H. Robins Company, presented the Robins "Bowl of Hygeia Award" for community service to John E. Mills of Mount Airy.

Fifty year certificates and pins were presented to the following pharmacist-members of the NCPhA following a reading of citations by James A. Creech: Sam B. Burrus, Canton; A. B. Butler, Clinton; Howard Turner Campbell, Maiden; James Norwood Eubanks, Greensboro; Carl Evander Fitchett, Dunn; William Burden Gurley, Windsor; and Jesse R. Whitley, Hendersonville.

At this point, President Boone recognized the most recent additions to the North Carolina Academy of Pharmacy (inducted a few hours earlier at a luncheon at the George Vanderbilt Hotel): Clyde B. Alexander, Rocky Mount; Ernest L. Carraway, Jr., Windsor; Donald K. Carter, Raleigh; J. Gary Newton, Fayetteville; William L. Scarboro, Raleigh; William A. Simmons, Winston-Salem; Mitchell W. Watts, Charlotte; and Evelyn Doris Williford, Raleigh.

Reuben Russell, Manager of McKesson & Robbins, Inc., Charlotte Division, presented a plaque to President-Elect Blanton and a pin to Mrs. Blanton.

The afternoon session was adjourned following presentation of the "Donald Blanton Award" to Robert B. Hall of Mocksville who had been named the pharmacist who had contributed the most to the advancement of Pharmacy in North Carolina during the past year. Mr. Hall's work as a Trustee of the Consolidated University was highlighted by NCPhA President-Elect Charles D. Blanton, Jr., who established the annual award in memory of his father, who served as president of the NCPhA in 1957-'58.

Second Session

The second session of the 86th annual meeting was held in the Gold Room at the Battery Park Hotel, beginning with a buffet dinner at 6:30 P.M., Sunday night, June 12.

Following an invocation by Charles D. Blanton, Jr., Dr. Hamilton W. Stevens welcomed the delegates and guests to Asheville.

With President-Elect Blanton presiding, the Annual President's Report was presented by W. T. Boone. The report was published in the June, 1966 issue of The Carolina Journal of Pharmacy, page 13-15.

At the conclusion of President Boone's Report, Frank W. Dayvault, President of the N. C. Board of Pharmacy, presented certificates.

1. To F. O. Bowman of Chapel Hill "for his significant contributions to the health and welfare of the citizens of the State as attorney, legislative counsel, advisor and friend."

2. To Dr. Claude Piantadosi of Chapel Hill for assistance in the administration of the practical pharmacy examination.

3. To N. O. McDowell, Jr. of Scotland Neck and to Robert Neal Watson of Sanford "for meritorious service to the public and the profession of pharmacy while fulfilling the duties and obligations of membership on the N. C. Board of Pharmacy."

Alfred N. Martin of Roanoke Rapids was announced as North Carolina's 1966 "Pharmacist of the Year." (See Sept. issue Carolina Journal of Pharmacy for details of testimonial dinner held in Roanoke Rapids on August 17 in honor of Mr. Martin.)

Robert B. Hall was named chairman of the Committee on Nominations and Roger A. McDuffie, chairman of the Time & Place Committee.

Following introduction of guests and awarding of prizes, the meeting was adjourned. Entertainment at the City auditorium under sponsorship of The Dr. T. C. Smith Company concluded the day's activities.

Third Session

Monday, June 13, 8 A.M.

The presidents of the local/sectional pharmaceutical societies were honored at a breakfast which was open to all delegates and guests. No business in order to permit visits to Biltmore House, golf and committee meetings.

Gold Room, 1 P.M.

Following a 1 P.M. buffet luncheon, President Boone called the third session to order. A memorial service—Rite of the Roses—was conducted by James L. Creech of Smithfield.

Rite of the Roses

James L. Creech, Smithfield, conducted the Rite of the Roses.

The deceased list for 1965 is as follows: Thomas Edmund Fussell, Hamlet, June 8; Henry A. Hammond, Charlotte, July 28; Clarence Bernard White, Henderson, August 13; Daniel Clyde Lisk, Charlotte (Life Member), September 2; James Sherwood Coxe, Raleigh, October 10; Clyde Eubanks, Chapel Hill, November 23.

For 1966: Edward Lee Pilkington, Sr., Goldsboro, February 14; Waits Artemus Ward, Swannanoa (a past president of the NCPhA), February 21; John Calhoun Graham, Red Springs, March 25; and Lewie Griffith Day, Spruce Pine, April 10.

Four committee reports were presented and adopted:

Legislative—Robert B. Hall, Chm.

Public Health & Welfare—John T. Henley, Chm.

Inter-Professional Relations—Jack G. Watts, Chm.

Pharmaceutical Education & Standards—M. A. Chambers, Chm.

Legislative Report

ROBERT B. HALL, Chairman

President Boone, Secretary Smith, NCPhA Members and Guests:

Your Legislative Committee composed of James L. Creech, L. K. Edwards, Jr., Jesse M. Pike, W. H. Randall, Jr., Earl Tate, W. A. West, and Robert B. Hall met in Chapel Hill Sunday, April 17th. All members of the committee were present. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss a legislative program for the Association for the 1967 session of the General Assembly.

Several areas of possible legislative need were considered. It was decided it would be unwise to attempt too many items, so the committee asks that you consider the revision of our North Carolina Pharmacy Laws, and the election of a pharmacist by the Legislature to the Consolidated University of North Carolina Board of Trustees. The Trusteeship will be discussed by Mr. Earl Tate, a member of the House of Representatives after I have presented the proposed revision of our laws.

Although we are concerned with the revision of General Statute 90-75 enacted in 1927 which deals with the registration and permits of drug stores and pharmacies, we are most concerned with the revision of General Statute 90-65 passed in 1905 and commonly referred to as the Pharmacy Law. This law charges the Board of Pharmacy with the duty of regulating the practice of pharmacy in the State.

The Legislative Committee, after much discussion and as previously stated being cognizant of the difficulty involved in attempting too much legislative action at one time, decided to concentrate its efforts on the revision of G. S. 90-65. I might add that this decision has the support of the Board of Pharmacy and its attorney, Mr. Wooten. The part of G. S. 90-65 involved and presently in effect is as follows:

> "When license refused or revoked; frau. —The Board of Pharmacy may refuse to grant a license to any person guilty of felony or gross immorality, or who is addicted to the use of alcoholic liquors or narcotic drugs to such an extent as to render him unfit to practice pharmacy; and the Board of Pharmacy may, after due notice and hearing, revoke a license for like cause, or any license which has been procured by fraud. Any license or permit, or renewal thereof, obtained through fraud or by any fraudulent or false representations shall be void and of no effect in law.''

The revision does three main things:

1. It permits the Board to suspend a license or permit in certain cases where the penalty of revocation might be too severe.
2. It makes definite, for all to know, the grounds on which the Board might act.
3. It requires the owner of a drug store or pharmacy the same degree of responsibility for compliance with the law as is now required of the pharmacist.

The purpose of this Bill is to more clearly define the disciplinary powers of the Board of Pharmacy and to place definite limitations on those powers as well as to bring up to date conditions under which they may be exercised. As previously stated, the present law authorizes the Board to revoke a license, but it does not provide for the less drastic action of suspending same. You have heard the statement "driving a spike with a tack hammer." It's just as hard to drive a tack with a sledge hammer. Try it sometime. That, in effect, is what the Board is having to do when it must apply revocation of license in minor offenses.

The Board of Pharmacy, its attorney, and the Legislative Committee of the N.C.Ph.A. feel that passage of this Bill to be entitled "An Act To Rewrite G.S. 90-65 Relating To The Power Of The Board of Pharmacy To Suspend, Revoke, Or Refuse To Renew A Pharmacist's License Or A Drug Store Permit" is of immediate and utmost importance. In order to be successful we must have the wholehearted support not only of all present this afternoon, but of all our members over the State. I must remind you that this legislation, worded somewhat differently, has been unsuccessfully attempted in the past. It was unsuccessful because the few opposing it worked much harder for its defeat than the many favoring it did for its passage. I feel we will have some opposition again. I know of no worthwhile legislation that does not have a degree of opposition. We must not be defeated again, if our profession is to make the great forward stride that it so richly deserves. The primaries are past, so much of the legislative smoke has cleared. Get in touch with your candidates and discuss this Bill with them before Election Day. Let them know how you feel. The General Assembly will convene in January. That sounds like a long way off, but it is never too early to lay the ground work. By the way, it is the committee's intention to have the Bill introduced in only one side of the Assembly. If successful there, then it will be introduced in the other side. Committee appointments after the Assembly convenes will dictate to a great degree where the opening shot will be fired.

Each member of the N.C.Ph.A. was given a copy of the Proposed Bill when he registered along with a brief note that it be read prior to the report. For those of you that have read it, some of this has been repetitious, but it was necessary to include certain parts of the Bill in this official report in order that those not present may have the opportunity to read it later. Do you have any questions?

Mr. President, with your permission and on behalf of the Legislative Committee, I move the unanimous adoption of the report and respectfully ask that you urge each member to give the committee its full ACTIVE support during the coming session of the General Assembly.

(The Report of the Legislative Committee was adopted on voice vote of the members present following which Earl H. Tate of Lenoir urged members' support of Robert B. Hall to succeed himself as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Consolidated University. The Trustees are elected by The General Assembly, generally towards the closing days of the session, which in this instance will be in the early summer of 1967.)

Quarterly meetings of the Committee have been held in Raleigh during the year. The committee has reviewed and has made recommendations on applications from dispensing doctors to participate in the Welfare Prescription Program.

The committee also met with representatives of the Division of Medical Services, State Board of Public Welfare, in regard to a number of proposed changes in the program. It was the committee's recommendation that the program be retained as originally setup, a recommendation which was accepted by the State Board of Public Welfare except on one point.

The Board over-ruled the committee in the matter of retaining the present $10 maximum on individual Welfare prescriptions. Effective June 1 the Board announced to all pharmacies participating in the program that the $10 maximum had been lifted. At the same time, the Board arranged with the State Medical Society to notify its 3800 members of the change and urged that prescriptions be limited to medication required in any particular instance.

It has been suggested that medication be limited to a 30 day supply since authorization is on this basis. The Advisory Committee, in making its recommendation to retain the present $10 maximum, felt that lifting the maximum would encourage over-prescribing.

The change in the handling of the blue claim forms resulted in some critical comment and some favorable comment. The new authorization for prescription service, which 150,000 Welfare recipients received in early May, shifted the responsibility for certain paper work from the county offices of Welfare to the pharmacist.

In the past, the committee has received a number of comments in regard to the slowness of the county welfare department in supplying the completed blue claim forms. In some instances, the delay amounted to one or two months, which obviously prevented the pharmacist from completing his monthly billings to Welfare.

The new system is an attempt to speed up the processing of the claims for payment. While opposition to the new system still exists, we are now receiving favorable reports from pharmacists who no longer have to make frequent calls to the local welfare offices in an attempt to secure a long-delayed blue claim form.

While we do not have exact figures, the total dollar volume of Welfare prescriptions increased (significantly) in May due to the new system previously referred to. For the first time, many Welfare recipients learned they were eligible for prescription service—and many of them have taken advantage of the program.

The North Carolina program is new and probably has areas which need change but in viewing the program in its broadest concept, we have a program which is generally regarded as one of the best on the east coast. A number of states have obtained the details of the North Carolina Program and it is our information that programs of a similar nature are or will be established elsewhere.

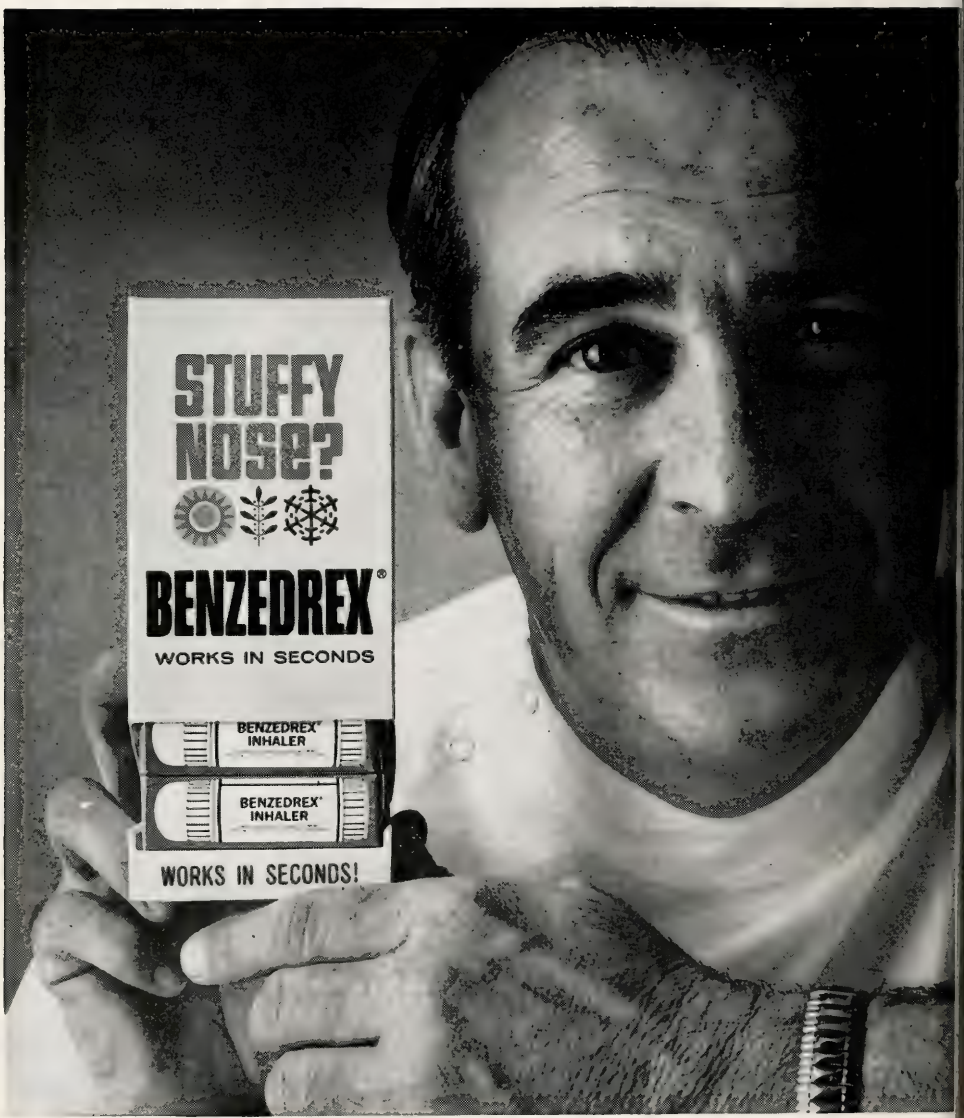

From the very beginning, the committee has worked closely with Mr. Russell Chambers, Director of The Medical Division of the State Board of Public Welfare, and with Mr. Eugene Brown, State Director. These gentlemen have evidenced a high regard for public service and have been most helpful to the committee in establishing and getting the Welfare prescription program underway in North Carolina. To them we express our appreciation for their cooperation and understanding.

We make no attempt to outline specific de-

Inter-Professional Relations

The Report of the Committee on Inter-Professional Relations was given by Jack G. Watts. Mr. Watts commented on a "Code of Understanding" which had been compiled by committees from the NCPhA and the State Medical Society.

It was announced the State Medical Society had given its tentative approval of the Code, subject to acceptance by the NCPhA.

There was some opposition to the wording of the section relating to dispensing of medication in physicians' offices (by John Hood, Jr., of Kinston and others). Final agreement was to approve the Code with the understanding the section relating to dispensing would be revised and strengthened.

Note: Later, the section was revised through mutual agreement. 7500 copies of the Code will be printed by the State Medical Society with the cost to be shared on a 50/50 basis by the two organizations.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON PHARMACEUTICAL EDUCATION AND STANDARDS

Presented by GOLD B. PROPST

The Committee on Pharmaceutical Education and Standards has been assigned the task of studying and recommending improvements in the practical experience training program. Initially, students at the School of Pharmacy were surveyed to determine specific areas needing improvement. Two items were identified: the notebook manual and greater practicipation by the preceptor. Subsequently a new manual was prepared, adopted by the Board of Pharmacy and used last summer. Specific projects related to the student's class year in school were included in the revision. Daily write-ups of routine work were almost entirely eliminated.

A survey was conducted again last fall so that an evaluation could be made of the notebook. An overwhelming majority of the students expressed their endorsement for and acceptance of the revised notebook manual. Unfortunately too many students stated that, where they were training, they did not have the necessary materials and/or the opportunity to complete each project in the notebook manual in a desirable manner. The particular materials lacking were the various references as a medical dictionary, pharmacology and toxicology manuals, chemical handbook, and contemporary pharmacy references. All pharmacies should have a modern library of standard and recognized references. This is an essential requirement not only in a pharmacy where an intern is being trained but in any pharmacy where a good professional practice is conducted.

In an effort to determine compensation during the training period, inquiry was made about hourly wages before deductions. These findings were reported in the November issue of THE CAROLINA JOURNAL OF PHARMACY and re-distributed with the Tar Heel Digest about two months ago.

In general wages reflect educational background and amount of practical experience. A rising senior with credit for most of his required practical experience needs less attention and can make a more valuable contribution to the pharmacy's operation and thus receive a greater compensation; the beginning student with little or no practical experience and needing more attention can not make a comparable contribution and therefore receives a lesser compensation. Most of the trainees were paid between $1.00 and $1.75 per hour; however, three students received no salary during their training period.

Too many prospective employers believe that a trainee or recent graduate should be able to enter a pharmacy and to perform in a manner similar to that of those employees who have worked there for a number of years. It is not the function or purpose of an academic institution to supply such a finished product but rather to equip the student with fundamental training, concepts and principles. It is during the internship program that the trainee should be taught by the practicing pharmacist how to apply these concepts and principles to the practice of pharmacy.

The year of internship training can be a valuable and beneficial adjunct to the pharmacy student's total educational experiences. It represents an excellent opportunity for the preceptor-pharmacist to orient the student to the practice of pharmacy; to help make the transition from college to practice easier and happier; to mold the student's future behavior and conduct as a practicing pharmacist. This is a great opportunity for the pharmaicst to share the responsibility for instructing pharmacy students and it behooves all pharmacists to fulfill a professional obligation by participating in the training program.

A still greater improvement in the internship program would result if more pharmacists participated and if each would become more greatly involved. The need for greater participation becomes quite apparent when we note approximately one-half of the present student body registered for experience credit last summer; there were students last summer and again this summer who wanted to work in pharmacies but were unable to find pharmacists who would give them the opportunity. In addition we expect a ten per cent annual increase in the student enrollment. Although we have far more positions listed with us for graduate and registered pharmacists than we can fill, we have a dearth of places where the student can fulfill his internship requirements so that he can eventually become registered. This problem will become more acute as the enrollment increases.

The Committee has concerned itself this year to encouraging more pharmacists to serve as preceptors. This endeavor was as a follow-up to the formation of the North Carolina Academy of Practical Instructors in Pharmacy. Since its formation at the convention in Durham, the membership has doubled. This society has dedicated itself to advancing and improving the science and art of pharmacy with emphasis on improving the internship program.

In an effort to explain the internship program and to improve the preceptor's facility to instruct interns the Committee sponsored regional seminars. These were held in Warsaw, Hickory, Winston-Salem, Greensboro, and Raleigh. The following topics were discussed:

Intern's and Preceptor's Legal Obligations by a member of the Board of Pharmacy
NCPhA's Interest in Improving the Training Program by an NCPA officer
Relationship of the School of Pharmacy to the Training Program by a school representative
The Function and Activities of the North Carolina Academy of Practical Instructors in Pharmacy by one of its members

These meetings provided opportunities for three discussions and to answer many questions. They proved to be quite helpful to those who attended.

My sincere thanks and appreciation go to John Mills, Lloyd Whaley and Gerald Stahl as officers of the North Carolina Academy of Practical Instructors in Pharmacy and to the Executive Committee for their diligence, interest, and cooperation in promoting the internship program. I would also like to express my gratitude to the members of the committee for their efforts in extending the committee's work and success.

Pharmaceutical Services in Nursing Homes'' was shown by A. P. Sander of Roche Labs.

''Challenge of the Changing Customer'' was title of an address by W. Seymour Holt, Administrative Assistant, Market Research Division, Eli Lilly & Company. (The address was published in the October, 1966 issue of THE CAROLINA JOURNAL OF PHARMACY, beginning on page 11.)

The Lilly-sponsored film—Day of Judgment—followed the address by Mr. Holt. The film dealt with such common, everyday problems as ''What does a pharmacist say to someone who wants to buy a prescription product without an authorized prescription?'' and ''How does he handle a patron who is in a hurry and doesn't want to wait until his prescription can be filled properly?''

The session was adjourned following presentation of four framed ''History of Pharmacy'' paintings. Fred Johnson, Atlanta District Manager for Parke, Davis and Company, made the presentation. The paintings will be displayed in the North Carolina Institute of Pharmacy.

Monday Night, 7:30 P.M.

John C. Hood, Jr. moderated a panel presentation—Town Hall Meeting in the Mountains. The panelists were Irving Rubin, Editor of the American Professional Pharmacist; Russell R. Chambers, Director of the Medical Division, State Board of Public Welfare; Dr. George P. Hager, Dean of the UNC School of Pharmacy; W. Gordon Poole, Chief of the Nursing Home Section of the State Board of Health; and Claude V. Timberlake, Vice President of the National Pharmaceutical Council.

(The questions submitted by pharmacists and answered by the panelists will appear in the December issue of THE CAROLINA JOURNAL OF PHARMACY.)

At the conclusion of the Town Hall Meeting, delegates and guests were entertained by Dory Sinclair—The Clown in a Gown—sponsored by Justice Drug Company.

President Boone opened the session following a business-starter breakfast. H. C. McAllister, Secretary-Treasurer of the N. C. Board of Pharmacy, presented his annual report. (See page 74.)

Committee Reports

The chairmen of four committees were introduced. Their reports follow in sequence as presented:

REPORT OF THE NORTH CAROLINA PHARMACEUTICAL RESEARCH FOUNDATION

A. W. JOWDY, Secretary

Mr. President and Ladies and Gentlemen, prior to the presentation of the formal report it is fitting and proper to recognize Mr. W. B. Gurley, immediate past president of the Foundation, and Mr. Robert B. Hall, current president. Mr. D. R. Davis, Sr., Foundation vice president, is unable to attend this meeting. It is also fitting to recognize the directors of the Foundation who are present today by requesting that they stand. Dean E. A. Brecht, Foundation secretary for 19 years, is present and it is proper that he be recognized.

Mr. President, the past 19 years of active life of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Research Foundation can be presented from a summary prepared by former Secretary E. A. Brecht and distributed at the nineteenth annual directors' meeting held in Chapel Hill on March 16, 1966.

Income during the period of this report totaled $440,950. Contributions accounted for $333,050. The remaining $111,900 were received through interest accrued on investments.

During this 19-year period, $130,230 were disbursed to the University of North Carolina for pharmaceutical education and research; and $20,210 were disbursed for operating expenses.

The net worth of the Foundation as of March 16, 1966, was $251,950 in Endowment Funds and $42,560 in Expendable Funds, for a total worth of $294,510.

Reports to the convention in prior years have emphasized, and today I too will repeat, that this Foundation was organized by the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association; and it is appropriate that an annual report be presented during this assembly so that a thorough understanding of every Foundation undertaking may be, if necessary, explained. Association control of the Foundation is assured through By-Laws which stipulate that two-thirds of the directors be elected by the N.C.P.A. from its membership. The remaining one-third is elected by the Board of Directors.

Directors, elected by the N.C.P.A., and beginning new four-year terms March 16, 1966, were: Wade A. Gilliam, Jesse M. Pike, W. Dorsey Welch, Jr., and W. L. West.

Directors, elected by the Board of Directors, and who began new four-year terms March 16, 1966, were: Joe P. Barbour, Sr., and I. T. Reamer.

Directors, whose terms expire in 1967 are: F. J. Andrews, D. R. Davis, Sr., J. C. Jackson, Roger A. McDuffie, Ralph P. Rogers, Jr., and T. M. Stanback.

The budget for 1966-1967 proposed by the Board of Grants and approved by the Board of Directors totals $31,228 and is presented below:

N.C.P.R.F. Fellowships (3)	$ 7,500
Research Historian	1,200
Research Historian Travel	300
Operating Expenses	2,500
N.C.P.R.F. Scholarships (5)	1,250
Special Library Materials	2,000
Summer Tuition Aid (Graduate Students)	1,000
Faculty Professional Grants	4,200
North Carolina Academy of Sciences	100
Recruitment Materials	750
Research Analyses	1,200
Dean's Discretionary Fund	1,000
Faculty Summer Research Support	3,000
Display Case with Lock for Archives	500
Junior Community College Recruitment Travel Expense	250
"Outline of Organic Chemical Nomenclature" Publication	1,518
Visual Aid Equipment	500
Faculty Incentive Award	500
Student Branch Delegates to A.Ph.A., Dallas, Texas	210
Dictating and Transcribing Equipment	1,750
	$31,228

During the past fiscal period (1965-1966), the County Chairman Plan of Solicitations was continued. The list is too long to name all chairmen, but to each and every one, the Board of Directors expresses a sincere thank you and well done for your efforts.

There were 221 pharmacy and 5 non-pharmacy contributors during this period. Contributions totaled $9,567.

This year saw the end of nineteen years of service as Foundation Secretary by Dean E. A. Brecht. His contributions to the success of the Foundation need not be enumerated here. They are well and adequately documented in the Foundation archives and most importantly in the strength of the Foundation today.

On May 8, 1966, Dean Brecht was honored at a Bon Voyage Dinner at the Blair House in Durham with Foundation President Robert B. Hall presiding. The invocation was given by Wade A. Gilliam, a past president of the Foundation. Remarks were made by Dean George P. Hager of the U.N.C. School of Pharmacy, W. T. Boone, President of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association, and Miss Alice Noble, a long-time friend and co-worker. Dr. Roger A. McDuffie, also a past president, and on behalf of the Foundation, made the presentation of a three-week European tour.

It is also proper and fitting to report at this time that Miss Alice Noble, former Research Historian for the Foundation received one of the first awards of its kind when the American Institute of History of Pharmacy granted her its Certificate of Commendation. Miss Noble's commendation recognizes her, "pharmaceutical contributions to the history of North Carolina and the University of North Carolina, and archival achievements." The Certificate of Commendation was presented to Miss Noble by Dean E. A. Brecht at the Bon Voyage Dinner in his honor.

Ladies and Gentlemen, the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Research Foundation needs and solicits your help in the form of monetary contributions and in an understanding of its functions. What better way is there to utilize your tax-exempt dollars than by contributions to the N.C.P.R.F.—your Foundation; a Foundation which was the first of its kind to be organized; a Foundation which has faired far better than many of its imitators in other states. In short, you may throw your shoulders back, and stick out your chest and exhibit extreme pride. But, colleagues, the Foundation needs your help for continued growth and for continued support of the U.N.C. School of Pharmacy.

REPORT OF THE UNC SCHOOL OF PHARMACY VISITING COMMITTEE

JOHN MILLS, Chairman

The UNC School of Pharmacy Visiting Committee met in Chapel Hill on April 12, 1966, at the School of Pharmacy. The Committee met with the senior class for an hour of open discussion, met with the faculty, toured the physical plant and met privately with Dean Hager. The committee felt this was a fruitful experience for us in gaining a better insight to the present workings of our School of Pharmacy.

In our meeting with the senior class some of the more pertinent comments and questions made by the students were as follows:

1. Why the State Board will be given in September, instead of June. Fourteen students could take the full board if it were given in June.
2. That they were well pleased with changes in the notebook requirements and with the apprenticeship program in general.
3. The students stated that they hoped visitation to Pharmaceutical Manufacturing Plants be continued.
4. Morale of the students is high and they fully support Dean Hager.
5. Model Pharmacy is used infrequently and would like to use it more.
6. Students indicated a desire for changes in curriculum (for instance, more Pharmacology—more Physics). The committee learned that some of these changes are forthcoming.

All in all, the committee was very favorably impressed by the senior class, and the students themselves seem to be very sharp.

The committee then met with the faculty and discussed various aspects of the school and student attitudes. It was generally agreed that student morale was high. The problem of selective admission to the University was discussed. It was pointed out that the average grade on entrance tests for freshmen has risen for the last several years and competition increases for admission to the University.

Dean Hager impressed the committee very strongly and favorably and we feel confident that under his leadership the full potential of the School of Pharmacy can be reached. This fall there will be two new additions to the faculty that will add a distinct advantage, with the possibility of a third addition. These men will better distribute the teaching load among the present faculty.

In our tour of the physical plant Dean Hager pointed out space that can be utilized more effectively and the room available for growth. The committee urges all of you to see for yourself the modern laboratory and class-room facilities. It is a far cry from Howell Hall and the bouncing balances, and something we can all be proud of.

Finally, the committee suggests that each year the Visitation Committee be composed of one or two members who served the previous year on a rotating basis, so as to better correlate the members with the activities of the school.

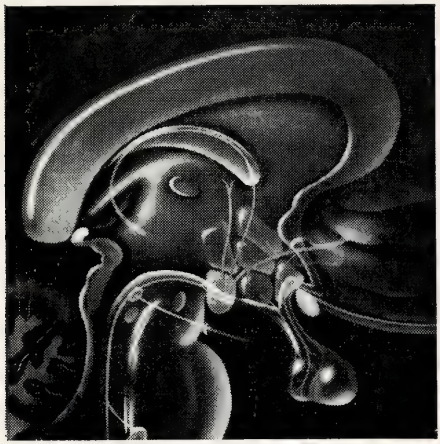

ANNUAL REPORT SCHOOL OF PHARMACY, UNC

GEORGE P. HAGER, Dean

The School of Pharmacy exists in order to accomplish a threefold mission—instruction, research, and service—in the interest of the pharmaceutical services for the people of North Carolina and, in particular, the community and hospital pharmacists of the State who render these services; in the interest of pharmaceutical education, in general, and the advancement of the pharmaceutical

Librax is back

...to help control emotional and somatic symptoms of gastrointestinal disorders

Librax® Roche

Each capsule contains
5 mg chlordiazepoxide HCl
and 2.5 mg clidinium Br.

Librax is once again available for prescription.

A combination of Librium® (chlordiazepoxide HCl) and Quarzan® (clidinium Br), Librax was widely accepted by physicians and their patients as the leading antianxiety/anticholinergic medication used in the adjunctive treatment of peptic ulcer and other organic and functional gastrointestinal disorders. This was attested by its high volume of new prescriptions and refill rate which continued to grow year after year. Even during the months when Librax was temporarily unavailable, numerous doctors expressed to Roche their hope that the product would soon return to pharmacies. We at Roche are happy to report that the waiting period is now over. So be ready for physicians' prescriptions. Order from your wholesaler today. Bottles of 50 and 500.

Before prescribing, please consult complete prescribing information, a summary of which follows:

Contraindications: Patients with glaucoma; prostatic hypertrophy and benign bladder neck obstruction; known hypersensitivity to chlordiazepoxide hydrochloride and/or clidinium bromide.

Warnings: Caution patients about possible combined effects with alcohol and other CNS depressants. Caution against hazardous occupations during therapy. Use caution in administering Librium (chlordiazepoxide hydrochloride) to known addiction-prone patients or those who might increase dosage; withdrawal symptoms (including convulsions), following discontinuation of the drug and similar to those seen with barbiturates, have been reported. Safe use of any drug in pregnancy, lactation, or in women of childbearing age not established. As with all anticholinergic drugs, an inhibiting effect on lactation may occur.

Precautions: In elderly and debilitated, limit dosage to smallest effective amount to preclude development of ataxia, oversedation or confusion (not more than two capsules per day initially; increase gradually as needed and tolerated). In general, concomitant use with other psychotropics is not recommended; if such combination therapy seems indicated, consider the pharmacology of the other agents, particularly MAO inhibitors and phenothiazines. Paradoxical reactions, such as excitement, stimulation and acute rage, to chlordiazepoxide hydrochloride have been reported in psychiatric patients. Variable effects on blood coagulation have been reported very rarely in patients receiving chlordiazepoxide hydrochloride and oral anticoagulants, although causal relationship has not been established clinically. Observe usual precautions in presence of impaired renal or hepatic function, impending depression and suicidal tendencies.

Adverse Reactions: No side effects or manifestations not seen with either compound alone have been reported with Librax. When chlordiazepoxide hydrochloride is used alone, drowsiness, ataxia and confusion may occur, especially in the elderly and debilitated. In most instances, these effects are reversible by proper dosage adjustment, but occasionally are observed at lower dosage ranges. In a few instances, syncope has been reported; also encountered are isolated instances of skin eruptions, edema, minor menstrual irregularities, nausea and constipation, extrapyramidal symptoms, increased and decreased libido—all infrequent and generally controlled with dosage reduction; changes in EEG patterns (low-voltage fast activity) may appear during and after treatment. Blood dyscrasias, including agranulocytosis, jaundice and hepatic dysfunction, have occasionally been reported with chlordiazepoxide hydrochloride, making periodic blood counts and liver-function tests advisable during protracted therapy. Adverse effects reported with Librax are typical of anticholinergic agents, i.e., dryness of mouth, blurring of vision, urinary hesitancy and constipation. Constipation has occurred most often when Librax therapy is combined with other spasmolytics and/or low residue diet.

Dosage: Individualize for maximum benefits. Usual maintenance dose is 1 or 2 capsules, 3 or 4 times a day, before meals and at bedtime.

How supplied: Capsules, each containing 5 mg chlordiazepoxide hydrochloride (Librium®) and 2.5 mg clidinium bromide (Quarzan®)—bottles of 50 and 500.

sciences [pharmacy (pharmaceutics or pharmaceutical technology), medicinal chemistry, pharmacognosy, pharmacology, and pharmacy administration]; and in the interest of the pharmacy profession and the pharmaceutical industry considered on a discipline-wide and a national basis.

The School has a fine record with regard to the education of pharmacists for community and hospital practice. This role of the School properly has a preeminent place in the activities and aspirations of its faculty and dean, and it will continue to be the chief raison d'etre of the School of Pharmacy of the University of North Carolina. While doing this, and doing it well, however, work in the other areas must not be left undone.

For this reason, greater emphasis, accompanied by expansion of the School's resources, will be given to the School's research and service functions in the future. Every effort will be made to commit resources of the School along these lines without detracting in any way from the School's primary mission: the education of young men and women to undertake the growing burden of pharmaceutical services in the community pharmacies, hospitals, and other medical care facilities in the State of North Carolina. The increasingly important function of continuing education of the pharmacists of the State is subsumed in the School's primary mission, and more resources for more ambitious continuing education programs will be sought.

It should be emphasized, moreover, that the enhanced research and service activities will actually reinforce the education and continuing education programs of the School. For example, the ability of the School to attract an increasing number of highly qualified young men and women into its undergraduate degree program and the value of the degree that is awarded to them depends on the overall image of the School. That image, in turn, benefits considerably from excellent and ambitious research and service programs.

A new administration understandably is ambitious, restless even with elements of strength of the type that are found in the School of Pharmacy, and eager to progress along constructive lines. One of the principal elements of the strength of the School is the sharing of ambitious aspirations by the members of the School's faculty. They encourage, and do not resist, new ideas. They support, and do not obstruct, innovations. For these reasons and for others which it is hoped will become obvious throughout this report, the administration and the faculty earnestly desire and firmly intend that the School of Pharmacy of the University of North Carolina will quickly become a true "center of excellence" for pharmaceutical education, research, and service.

Dean Hager discussed in detail (1) The Faculty; (2) The Undergraduate Curriculum; (3) Graduate Degree Programs; (4) Enrollment of Undergraduate Students—Total 320; (5) Graduate Students—9; (6) The Physical Plant; (7) Scholarship Program; (8) N. C. Pharmaceutical Research Foundation; (9) Grants-In-Aid; (10) Publications of the Faculty; and (11) Miscellaneous Activities.

CONCLUSION

In closing this 1965-'66 report, it is most appropriate to acknowledge the excellent cooperation of the University's Central Administration with the School of Pharmacy.

With the attitude the Central Administration has demonstrated toward the School, with the manpower of the School including the new appointees, with the spirit of cooperation that exists between the School and other departments of the University, especially the School of Chemistry and other schools in the Division of Health Affairs; and most of all with the sincere good will and earnest desires of the pharmacists of the State towards the School as made most evident by the wonderful reception at the Institute of Pharmacy on January 9th, the School of Pharmacy should and indeed will become a center of excellence in pharmaceutical education, research and service.

NCPhA-Institute Endowment Fund

In the absence of Thomas J. Ham, Jr., Chairman of the Fund, NCPhA Secretary W. J. Smith reported cash on hand (invested in building and loan stock) of $23,709.16. This represents a gain of about $3,000 during the past 12 months.

Expenditures from the Fund are limited to interest/dividends but no such expenditures were authorized during the past year.

Ultimate goal of the Fund is a minimum of $50,000.

Consolidated Pharmacy Fund Report

ROBERT B. HALL, Chairman

The Consolidated Pharmacy Fund was established four years ago and is operated by the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association as a program for extending financial assistance to needy and deserving students enrolled in the School of Pharmacy at Chapel Hill.

Major emphasis is on supplementing assistance which the student can obtain elsewhere, not on complete assistance. For this reason, most loans are in the $100 to $200 range.

Students who obtain assistance from The Consolidated Pharmacy Fund sign a personal note signifying their intention of repaying the borrowed money. If repaid within one year following graduation, no interest is charged.

Since The Fund was established, a total of 209 loans have been made . . . 84 of these during the past twelve months.

The Fund value is now $16,885.67 with total cash on hand of $1,827.75. Value of The Fund increased by more than $3000 during the past year.

There are 35 individually named funds included in the Consolidated Fund. The mimeographed list, which is being handed out, lists these funds, the number of loans and fund value.

Any member of the Association, or organization affiliated with the NCPhA, can participate in this project by contributing to The Consolidated Pharmacy Fund. If the contribution totals $100 or more, a specific name may be used in designating the loan money. This can be in the name of a donor or as a memorial for a deceased person.

The Fund has served a useful purpose at Chapel Hill. As its dollar value grows, more students will be aided in achieving a pharmaceutical education. Your continued support will be most helpful.

Three luncheons were held during the midday break. The Executive Committee of the N. C. Pharmaceutical Research Foundation met in the Green Room of the Battery Park; Phi Delta Chi met in the Sun Dial Room of the George Vanderbilt Hotel and nearby a combined luncheon (UNC pharmacy classes of 1941 and 1956) brought together the graduates and their wives of these two classes.

Fifth Session

Gold Room, Battery Park, 2 P.M.

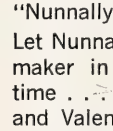

In the absence of the chairman of the NCPhA Committee on Practical Pharmacy and Dispensing, James W. Mitchener of Charlotte, W. J. Smith outlined the results of the committee's major effort during the past year—the development of a practical, easy-to-use narcotic inventory form. (Copies

Report of W. J. Smith

Secretary-Treasurer

Mr. President,
Members of the NCPhA and Guests:

As a preliminary to presenting the financial and membership report for the calendar year of 1965, we believe it might be helpful to use a few minutes of your time to point up some of the significant events of the past twelve months and indicate some sign posts expected to have an influence on the future course of Pharmacy in North Carolina.

SIGNIFICANT EVENTS OF THE PAST YEAR

1. The change in the deanship at the School of Pharmacy at Chapel Hill. Following a period of more than 25 years during which time he served as professor and dean of the School, and during which time he saw the physical plant of the School expand to one of the best in this country, Dean Brecht returns to his first love—as a top flight teacher of pharmacy.

His successor at Chapel Hill—Dr. George P. Hager—is competent, well liked, a hard worker, excellent administrator, and has the ambition and incentive to build the school into a center of pharmaceutical excellence. As a matter of fact, our common goal is to be the top pharmaceutical school in this country—tops in the quality of its education program and tops in the competency of its graduates.

In seeking these objectives, the University Administration is giving unqualified support. As the year progresses, you will be hearing more about the School and its progress in achieving the goals just outlined.

2. Visit of the officers and the Board of Directors of the Pharmaceutical Research Foundation to the University and Research Triangle area.

3. The growing importance of the Welfare Pharmacy Service Program in the total pharmacy picture of North Carolina. The state program, in a year, has grown to a monthly dollar volume of more than $400,000. And no one knows when the peak will be reached.

We are aware of the problems encountered in the program at all levels but compared with similar programs in operation in other states, the North Carolina program is rated as a model.

The Advisory Committee to the State Board of Public Welfare has been most helpful in suggesting operational procedures and changes in the program from time to time. We are aware of the complaints that have been registered with us or filed in Raleigh—first, the slowness in which the blue claim forms were received, then later, the additional work involved in completing the forms, and more recently, the objections to removal of the $10 maximum on single prescriptions.

All these steps were taken to improve the program, not throw an additional burden on the pharmacist, either time-wise or dollar-wise.

The coin is not one-sided. We have received a number of favorable letters and calls from pharmacists. The same applies to the Director of Welfare's medical division. An opportunity to serve 350,000 Welfare beneficiaries is a rare opportunity for North Carolina community pharmacists which the profession cannot and must not shirk.

4. Changing patterns of distribution. Increasingly, down-town pharmacists, except in isolated instances, are running into competitive forces which make it difficult for them to maintain gross sales and net profits.

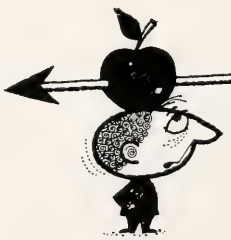

The merchandising operation loses customers to the shopping center complex and to general stores which for the most part now sell most of what for a long time was designated "drug store merchandise."

The pharmacist with a significant prescription volume sees his doctors (and potential customers) moving from down-town locations to areas adjacent to hospitals or where ample parking exists and room for one-floor medical clinic buildings.

The problem is not so acute in the smaller towns of the state but the pharmacy owners operating pharmacies in uptown locations of 5 to 10,000 or more are familiar with the trend just discussed.

There is no single best answer to the problem as the factors vary so widely, but we do know the problem exists. A source, which we deem reliable, reports an increasing percentage of pharmacists who operate pharmacies in down-town locations now unable to discount their bills.

COMING EVENTS OF SPECIAL SIGNIFICANCE TO MEMBERS OF THE NCPhA

1. Medicare and its impact on pharmacy. Initially, few pharmacists will be directly involved in medicare, later, in our opinion, the reverse will be true.
2. A survey just completed in the state indicates a need for 500 additional pharmacists. Just how this need is to be met is a problem which will require our best collective judgment.
3. The trend of federal and state agencies, organizations and unions of supplying Rx medication direct to personnel, thus bypassing the community pharmacist in the customary chain of professional service. The NCPhA has already been active in this area and before the month ends an advisory committee to the State Dept. of Mental Health will be in operation.
4. Competition for the Rx dollar will grow more intense. The state is being invaded by out of stated-based groups which until recently had confined their expansion to other sections of the country.
5. Some mechanism will be established to extend insurance coverage to prescriptions. The Blue Cross 65 Plus Policy is a step in this direction and others will follow.
6. Record keeping will grow, will become more involved, will become such an essential that a new type employee will come into the personnel picture—an employee who may be designed a Records Technician.
7. Increased professionalism will gain momentum as the percentage of dollars gained from professional services continues to rise. We see this in the pharmaceutical centers which are being established, the continued growth of prescription sales, and the challenging opportunity which Medicare offers in the years ahead.

Membership

Total membership is now 1600 including 201 members of the Student Branch at Chapel Hill.

Since January 1, 1965, 139 pharmacists have affiliated with the NCPhA. During this same period, 48 members were dropped from the membership for non-payment of dues and the deceased list totaled 11.

Our immediate goal is 1500 pharmacist members, a goal easily obtainable if we are able to devote more time to member-recruiting that has been the case in recent years.

Our annual goal of 100 new members has been achieved to this extent:

1960— 85 new members
1961— 96 new members
1962— 95 new members
1963— 95 new members
1964— 88 new members

Financial

Operation of the NCPhA during the calendar year of 1965, including the Endowment Fund and the Consolidated Pharmacy Fund, resulted in a net increase of $3,589.70.

The general fund, after deduction of depreciation of $2,731.39, showed a net loss of $150.82.

The fund balances are:

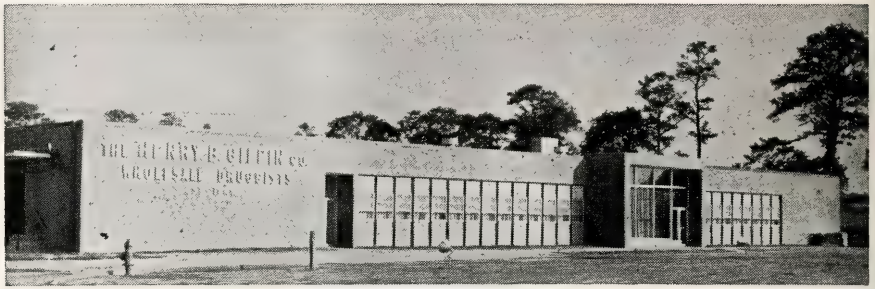

General Fund	$102,046.25
Endowment Fund	22,483.21
Consolidated Pharmacy Fund	16,231.75

Total Fund Balance—$140,761.21, half of which is represented by land, building and equipment. $16,000 of the total is a restricted fund limited to loans to pharmacy students.

Mr. W. J. Smith, Secretary-Treasurer
North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association
Chapel Hill, North Carolina

Dear Sir:

We have examined the Balance Sheet of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association as of December 31, 1965 and the related Statement of Revenue and Expenses for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompanying Balance Sheet and the related Statement of Revenue and Expenses present fairly the financial position of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association at December 31, 1965 and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Respectfully submitted,
RICCA, NELSON AND GANTT

Medicare and the Pharmacist

A one-hour presentation under this title permitted the panelists to cover the major points of interest to pharmacists. Wilkins Harden, Columbia, S. C. pharmacist, discussed the subject from the standpoint of the practicing pharmacist. Claude U. Paoloni emphasized the part the hospital pharmacist will have in Medicare and the governmental involvement, with special reference to Title XIX, was discussed by Russell R. Chambers, Medical Services Director of the State Board of Public Welfare.

The address (Implementation of the Drug Abuse Control Amendments of 1965) by William B. Logan, Director of the Atlanta Field Station, Bureau of Drug Abuse Control, was published in the August (page 7) issue of THE CAROLINA JOURNAL OF PHARMACY.

Resolutions

Resolutions presented by Charles D. Blanton, Jr., committee chairman, and adopted by the convention appear on page 19 of the July, 1966 issue of THE CAROLINA JOURNAL OF PHARMACY.

Time & Place

The committee—Roger A. McDuffie, chairman—recommended Greensboro for 1968 with exact date to be worked out by Association's executive committee following conferences with interested parties in Greensboro. (New housing facilities are expected to be ready by spring of 1968.)

Nominations

The Committee on Nominations, Robert B. Hall, Chairman, presented the following nominees for NCPhA Offices, Board of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Research Foundation:

Nominees for Office

President: Sandy D. Griffin, Jr. of Burlington and J. Claxton Harris, Jr. of Durham.

First Vice-President: James L. Creech of Smithfield and L. Kenneth Edwards, Jr. of Stantonsburg.

Second Vice-President: Donald J. Miller of Morganton and Earl H. Tate of Lenoir.

Third Vice-President: B. Cade Brooks of Fayetteville and Roy W. Collette, Jr. of Mocksville.

Member of the Executive Committee, 3 year term: C. D. Blanton, Jr. of Kings Mountain and W. L. Scarboro of Raleigh.

Member of the State Board of Pharmacy, 5 year term: Frank W. Dayvault of Lenoir and Jesse M. Pike of Concord.

Directors of the N. C. Pharmaceutical Research Foundation: F. Jackson Andrews, Chapel Hill; T. R. Burgiss, Elkin; David R. Davis, Sr., Williamston; D. A. Dowdy, Sr., High Point; J. C. Jackson, Lumberton; Roger A. McDuffie, Greensboro; Ralph P. Rogers, Jr., Durham; and Thomas M. Stanback, Salisbury.

Auxiliary Reports

James A. Wolfe, President of The Traveling Men's Auxiliary, reported on the TMA business session just concluded, said TMA membership was up from previous year, and extended an invitation to the TMA Party to follow in a few hours.

An abstract of the remarks by Mrs. Charles D. Blanton, Jr., President of The Woman's Auxiliary, follows:

REPORT BY MRS. C. D. BLANTON, JR., RETIRING PRESIDENT OF THE WOMAN'S AUXILIARY, NCPhA

The keynote of the Woman's Auxiliary of the N.C.Ph.A. this year has been a re-evaluation of our attitude as wives of pharmacists. Realizing that our actions reflect directly or indirectly upon pharmacy because of our husbands, we have attempted to think further about what we say and do in this light.

The Auxiliary has published a booklet called "Let's Make a Hat" to help us all, whether new or old in pharmacy, to reconsider our position in the community. The first editions go to each member of the Auxiliary.

Funds have been set aside to establish a school for Pharmacy Student Wives. This school, planned by these young women, will be geared to their needs of understanding their husbands' profession and their position in that profession.

Our project this year has been to help refurbish and redecorate the Institute of Pharmacy in Chapel Hill. Through individual and club contributions as well as the Treasure Chest Merchandise Room at the Convention over two thousand dollars has been raised for this project.

The first scholarship from the Lucile S. Rogers Fund will be presented this fall as a tribute to the memory of one who was an outstanding leader in the Auxiliary. By action of the executive board this fund shall be increased until ten thousand dollars is reached in order to increase the scholarship funds to help meet rising costs of education.

It is said that behind each good man is one good woman. But behind the President of the Woman's Auxiliary stand six hundred good women, the Traveling Men's Auxiliary, and the entire North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association. For this opportunity of serving I am grateful. Thank you.

Officers Installation

Incoming officers of the NCPhA, TMA and Woman's Auxiliary assembled in the Gold Room where they were formally installed by Installing Officer, Edwin R. Fuller:

Many prescriptions such as ointments, nose drops and cough syrups, to mention a few, still require the know-how of a registered pharmacist. Even a casual observer in any pharmacy is mightily impressed when he sees a prescription being compounded. There is an intangible value gained by watching an expert at work. It instills even greater respect and confidence for the profession and the man who has chosen it for his life's work. The use of Merck Prescription Chemicals will not only enhance your professional ability, it will establish you as one who demands the highest quality in chemicals used for compounding.

1966 Business Session

The Woman's Auxiliary of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association met for its thirty-ninth annual business meeting at ten-thirty o'clock on June 14, 1966, in the East Ballroom of the George Vanderbilt Hotel, Asheville, North Carolina. The President, Mrs. Charles D. Blanton, Jr., presided.

The invocation was given by Mrs. W. T. Boone, wife of the President of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association.

The welcome was brought by Mrs. Phillip Crouch, Convention Chairman and President of the Western North Carolina Drug Auxiliary.

Mrs. Thomas M. Holland, former State President, led a memorial service as a remembrance of those members who passed away during the year: Mrs. Lon D. Russell, Greensboro; Mrs. R. I. Cromley, Raleigh; and Mrs. Ralph P. Rogers, Durham, twenty-seventh President of the Woman's Auxiliary. Mrs. Holland asked the assembly to rise and bow in silent tribute to these beloved friends.

Mrs. Blanton called attention to the fact that the minutes of the 1965 meeting were published in the October CAROLINA JOURNAL OF PHARMACY, and if there were no objections we would dispense with the reading of the minutes and roll call. The following members were appointed by the President to serve on the Minutes Committee: Mrs. Hunter L. Kelly, Mrs. Stuart Vandiviere and Mrs. C. D. Blanton, Jr.

Mrs. C. C. Wheeler, treasurer, reported a balance in the treasury of $2,531.99. She stated the report was incomplete and that the full report would be filed for audit when completed. Mrs. Blanton appointed the following members to serve on the Auditing Committee: Mrs. C. D. Blanton, Sr., Mrs. Tom Boone and Mrs. Hoy Moose.

Standing Committee Reports

EXECUTIVE

Mrs. B. T. Allen, Secretary

The Executive Board of the Woman's Auxiliary of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association met four times during the year. Mrs. Charles D. Blanton, Jr., President, presided at all meetings. Actions taken by the Board at these meetings included:

Transferring $500 of the money originally invested in the Emergency Loan Fund to the Long-Term Loan Fund.

Approval of the project to publish a booklet on "Being a Pharmacist's Wife," or some similar title, to be given to Pharmacy Student Wives and other interested women. Initially, all State members will receive copies of the booklet as soon as it is received from the printers.

Approval of the State Project to help refurbish the first floor of the Institute of Pharmacy.

Raising the registration fee for the Convention to $5.

$100 was allotted to the Woman's Auxiliary Account of the Consolidated Pharmacy Fund.

$300 was apportioned to the Lucile Swaringen Rogers Scholarship Fund.

$50 was allotted to the School of Pharmacy for the purchase of one card table and four chairs.

$150 was allotted to the Institute of Pharmacy for special needs of the Institute.

$50 was allotted to the Pharmacy Student Wives.

$25 was set aside as a Memorial to the Institute in memory of Dean Hager's father.

$100 is being held in reserve for a School of Pharmacy Student Wives.

Voted to raise the Lucile Rogers Scholarship goal from $7,500 to $10,000. This due to the rising cost of a college education.

Approved awarding, this fall, the first Scholarship from the Lucile Swaringen Rogers Scholarship Fund.

Approved helping with the children's activities of this Convention, as was needed. Thus far, Bingo prizes have been purchased.

MEMBERSHIP

Mrs. James L. Creech, Chairman

Total Membership for 1965-66	511

HOSPITALITY

Mrs. W. Latham West,
Second Vice-President and Chairman

Mrs. West reported that cards of sympathy, letters of congratulations, letters of appreciation, etc. had been sent during the year. A total of 68 cards had been mailed in addition to the numerous letters.

PARLIAMENTARIAN

Mrs. Phillip Crouch, Parliamentarian

HISTORIAN

Mrs. W. H. Houser, Historian

Mrs. Houser thanked all persons who contributed material for the State Scrapbook, and called attention to the display of the Scrapbook in the lobby of the Battery Park Hotel. She stated the convention entries would be completed and turned over to the incoming Historian.

RESOLUTIONS

Mrs. John T. Stevenson, Chairman

WHEREAS, the Auxiliary has suffered a loss of several members through death, and

WHEREAS, a number of our members have been bereaved during the past year; therefore

BE IT RESOLVED, that we, as an organization and as individuals express our sympathy to them and to their families.

WHEREAS, the Women of Asheville have made extensive plans for the entertainment during the 1966 Convention for us and our families; therefore

BE IT RESOLVED, that we express our sincere appreciation to them for making our visit here such a happy one.

WHEREAS, officers and committee members of the Auxiliary have performed their duties in a spirit of loyalty and cooperation so the work of the Auxiliary has progressed under their efficient guidance; therefore

BE IT RESOLVED, that its members extend through this medium their heartfelt thanks.

WHEREAS, Vivian Smith has given most generously and untiringly of her time and talents, thus rendering invaluable service to our organization; therefore

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Woman's Auxiliary express to her deepest appreciation.

WHEREAS, each year the Auxiliary loses from its Executive Board one Advisor, a person who usually as Vice President, President, and then as Advisor two years, and

WHEREAS, this person has merited admiration and affection of her co-workers by her many contributions to the Woman's Auxiliary; therefore

BE IT RESOLVED, that special appreciation be expressed to Mrs. David D. Claytor, the retiring members of the Board this year.

WHEREAS, many manufacturers; wholesale houses; retail establishments; the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association; the Traveling Men's Auxiliary, and various individuals have entertained our members through contribution of prizes, sponsorship of events, and other media; therefore

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Woman's Auxiliary express its thanks to every person and to every organization contributing in any way to our pleasure.

WHEREAS, Mrs. Lloyd M. Jarrett of Asheville was active in the successful reorganization of the Woman's Auxiliary of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association after it had been inactive for seven years of the thirteen following its organization in 1920, and served in 1933-34 as the first President of this reorganized group, and

WHEREAS, it is the opinion of the Executive Board that she should be recognized for this achievement; therefore

BE IT RESOLVED, that a LIFE MEMBERSHIP be presented to Mrs. Jarrett honoring her and to show our appreciation to her.

PUBLICITY

Mrs. John McDonald, Chairman

News releases concerning the Fall Convocation in October of 1965 were sent to leading newspapers across the state both before and after this event.

Throughout the year reports of local meetings have been published in the CAROLINA JOURNAL OF PHARMACY and the TAR HEEL DIGEST. This committee is indebted to the local presidents and publicity chairmen for their timely contributions.

Convention publicity has been handled through the Chapel Hill office and the representative in Asheville, Mrs. M. A. Scott.

No report of this committee would be complete without acknowledging the invaluable assistance of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith.

DOINGS

Mrs. George Cocolas, Chairman

A flyer was mailed to all members in the fall, anouncing the Fall Convocation to be held at the Institute of Pharmacy. In March an issue of "Doings" was mailed. Approximately 800 copies were sent to the members with extra copies to the local presidents for new members. There are plans, also, for a follow up issue of convention news.

Special thanks should be given to my committee members, Mrs. B. W. Spencer and Mrs. W. P. Wells and to the local Auxiliaries of Chapel Hill and Durham for their help in mailing "Doings." Special thanks, too, to Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith and the Institute of Pharmacy staff for their help in preparing and mailing "Doings."

WAYS AND MEANS

Mrs. W. G. Forrest, Chairman

In the fall our committee met to decide on ways for the Auxiliary to make some money to help refurnish and refurbish our Institute of Pharmacy. After much thought and discussion it was decided that we would ask the clubs to each contribute $2.00 per member toward this fund. Each club which did this would receive a Golden Decorator Award to be awarded at this convention. Also, any individual who would contribute $25 to the fund would receive an award. Several individuals and a number of clubs responded to this plan. Our President told the clubs about our project and plans during her visits to various clubs. Another plan was to write various manufacturers and ask them for some of their merchandise to be sold at the convention. A number graciously responded and the sale of this merchandise was most successful.

One of the big factors in the success was the portable color television set which was donated to the Auxiliary by the Wake County Pharmaceutical Society. Tickets on the set were given the merchandise purchasers (for each dollar spent one ticket was given).

We also set up a special Memorial Fund with the proceeds to be given for this project.

To date we have cleared around $2,000 on these projects.

My humble thanks to each of you for being so very helpful this year and my sincere regrets for not being able to be with you today.

NOMINATING COMMITTEE

Mrs. Edwin Fuller, Chairman

The Nominating Committee submitted the following slate of officers for the year 1966-1967: President, Mrs. James L. Creech; First Vice-President, Mrs. W. Latham West; Second Vice-President, Mrs. Billy T. Allen; Secretary, Mrs. W. H. Houser; Treasurer, Mrs. William P. Wells; Historian, Mrs. Larry Kennedy; Parliamentarian, Mrs. Eugene W. Hackney, Advisor, Mrs. George Markham; Advisor, Mrs. Charles D. Blanton, Jr.

Mrs. Blanton introduced the new officers and announced that the installation would be held at four o'clock in the afternoon in the Gold Room of the Battery Park Hotel. She urged each person present to attend the installation as a symbol of their support.

Special Committees

OFFICER STRUCTURE

Mrs. Robert B. Hall, Chairman

At the 1965 business meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association the following recommendation was made: that the outgoing president appoint a committee to study the officer structure of the Auxiliary, particularly spelling out the desired length of term of office, and that this committee report its findings to the Executive Board of the Woman's Auxiliary by January 1966.

Article IV, Section 2, of the Constitution states: "The officers shall be elected annually by a show of hands, and shall hold office until their successors are elected and have qualified."

Much time and thought have been given this recommendation. We feel the Nominating Committee maintains more freedom if the length of terms of office is not specified. Therefore, we recommend that no change be made in the constitution.

PUBLICATION COMMITTEE

Mrs. C. D. Blanton, Jr. reporting

Mrs. Blanton reported that this committee had been formed from the Study Committee.

The Study Committee, headed by Mrs. Ralph Rogers, Jr., was appointed to study a way to help prepare pharmacy wives for their position in the community. This committee recommended that a booklet be printed containing hints as to what to expect, in her life, as a Pharmacist's Wife.

The Publication Committee held an initial meeting in Fayetteville. The drawings were done by Mr. Eugene Hackney. The booklet was then mailed to Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith for printing in Chapel Hill. Mrs. Blanton stated the booklet had gone to the printers and that it would be mailed as soon as they were returned to her. She apologized for not having them in time for the Convention but due to circumstances beyond her control she was not able to do so.

* * * *

Mrs. Blanton announced that at the closing of each Auxiliary year a member of the Executive Board retires, concluding several years of continuous service to our Auxiliary. This year, Mrs. David D. Claytor (Doris) leaves the Board. In her absence the Hospitality Chairman was asked to write her a note of thanks.

Mrs. James L. Creech, First Vice-President, took the chair while the President gave her report.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Mrs. C. D. Blanton, Jr.

Having heard the fine reports of our various committees, you are already informed of the activities of the Auxiliary this year. My report, therefore, shall be about a subject which I will call . . .

An Education of a Pharmacy Fledgling

If this year can be summarized briefly, I suppose one could call it an enjoyable education. It is, however, as Mark Twain once said, "Soap and education are not as sudden as a massacre, but they are more deadly in the long run." This year has been an education of our time, our place, and our people, and our quality.

Our time, 1965-1966, should not be categorized as the Scientific Age or the Rocket Period, but should go down in history as the Age of Health! Almost all research of the day is geared toward either rocketry or medicine, and even the scientists are concerned that the astronauts and their ships shall infect space with bacteria. And what is the most common subject of conversation? "Mumps are really rampant this year," or the debate of mechanical heart prolonging life without end.

Kerr-Mills, which became effective in this state in January of 1965, has reached such proportions that now each Public Assistance check has a credit card for medicine. Medicare, the total medical program, becomes effective within a few weeks. My husband, representing Pharmacy, has just returned from a meeting of doctors, dentists, nurses, and Public Health officials to study how to implement a new law designed to treat and conquer Heart, Stroke, and Cancer problems. There are more health programs, including mental health, in this state than imaginable, and increasingly our pharmacists are included in these plans. The state of Health in North Carolina is no longer the problem of just the professions, but is the concern of each one of us because of its vast social implications.

Criss-crossing this state while visiting fourteen of our Auxiliaries, I must admit that it certainly looks healthy. Broad interstate highways with enticing titles like Green Needles Road and Klumac; sections where each farm has its own lake; fog-tipped mountains shaded purple in the haze; and sandy flats blazing with azaleas provided a colorful education of our place, North Carolina. To our daughter studying North Carolina history for the first time, I was somewhat of a heroine to spend nights in High Point, the furniture city; or Fayetteville of Green Beret fame; Raleigh, the capitol; and to visit Winston-Salem as the 200th anniversary gets underway. She was my traveling companion for the trip to the Graduation Tea of the Pharmacy Wives, and we all were able to spend a weekend in Asheville for a Convention Planning Session.

Mecca to most U.N.C. graduates, Chapel Hill, has become such a familiar spot this year that I have considered asking IBM to program me an automatic pilot for the car. Fall Convocation with President W. T. Boone as featured speaker, regular board meetings, and special committee gatherings offered excellent excuses to journey there.

Of special interest to you may be the study group with Mrs. Ralph Rogers, Jr. as chairman which investigated the ways our Auxiliary could help prepare young pharmacy wives for their position in a community. The little booklet and a School for Pharmacy Wives are both outgrowths of this committee.

In January pharmaceutical families across the state converged upon the Institute of Pharmacy to attend a reception honoring Dr. George Hager, the new Dean of the School of Pharmacy, and his wife. Over four hundred interested individuals, including many of the officials of the University, attended this gala affair. We are indebted to the Smiths, the Pharmacy Faculty, and numerous past officials of the Association and the Auxiliary for the success of this event. I accept no credit for this reception, only the privilege of shaking your hand.

Once again in February Chapel Hill beckoned. A joint luncheon at Blair House with the Mortar and Pestle Club of Durham and the Chapel Hill Woman's Auxiliary was the occasion this time.

No telling how many times I dropped in or called on Vivian Smith, but who hasn't? Poor Vivian, I wonder if she agrees with Thomas Huxley when he says, "Perhaps the most valuable result of all education is the ability to make yourself do the thing you have to do, when it ought to be done, whether you like it or not; it is the first lesson that ought to be learned; and however early a man's training begins, it is probably the last lesson that he learns thoroughly." Always so gracious in deferring to the President's wishes, she who is a reservoir of experience must have a most difficult time in "getting the thing done that must be done." Thank you for my personal education.

Although important, Vivian was only a part of my education of our people. Meeting and knowing the women in pharmacy provided more knowledge and understanding than books ever have. You are much involved in the profession of pharmacy quite naturally. Not only working in drug stores or "keeping books," you are actively trying to interest young people in this profession. Continuing the book project of last year, Cape Fear Valley enticed their menfolk to pay for sixteen Profession of Pharmacy books for schools in that area; Raleigh added two Junior Highs to their list this year, and Gaston donated a copy to the Public Library.

Having once interested these potential pharmacists, you continue to care for them and provide aid when needed through the student loan fund and scholarships. Larry Kiziah was the recipient of the Vivian Spradlin Smith Scholarship this year, and as you have just heard, the first scholarship from the Lucile Rogers Fund will be given this fall.

Socially you are performing a service to the profession by getting to know each other and having joint outings with the Association's clubs. To the interprofessional activities of the now famous 3-D Luncheon of Greensboro, you have added the Winston-Salem Club who entertained the two medical auxiliaries of that city.

Women in Pharmacy whether as individuals or as local auxiliaries are meeting the public and becoming involved in the social problems of their communities. Making contributions to the United Fund, Empty Stocking Fund, and Heart Fund, you also cheered ailing children with Easter Eggs decorated by the Pharmacy Student Wives and at Christmas cared for some underprivileged children in Durham. Literature about the Eye Bank was distributed in Gaston while the Charlotte Club aided their new branch of the University with much needed Library funds. The women of Chapel Hill met regularly at the Memorial Hospital there to roll bandages or serve as needed. Getting out the vote for hospital bonds and other elections provided special interest projects of some groups. In Greensboro and Charlotte our ladies became interested, informed, and involved in the redevelopment programs of these expanding cities.

Seeing you perform in your own theater, your home town, has proved that you agree "... the great end of life is not knowledge but action." (Thomas Henry Huxley)

Lovely homes in Thomasville, Gastonia, Charlotte, Raleigh, Chapel Hill and Fayetteville made me wonder if we should ask the Interior Decorators of North Carolina to affiliate with us. You certainly posess all the gracious charm and love contained in my favorite quote from Robert Frost, "Home is something you somehow haven't to deserve."

To be educated in the realms of our time, our place, and our people pointed to the knowledge of our quality. We are big, according to W. J. Smith, perhaps the largest pharmaceutical auxiliary in the United States; and we are growing as clubs vote to expand as did Gaston and High Point to include Cleveland and Asheboro respectively. We proudly report the organization in mid-April of our eighteenth local auxiliary, Burke County, with Mrs. Jack Alexander as first president. Most of these new club members were already affiliated with the state organization, but we do welcome them as a working unit.

Our strength, however, is not totally in organized groups. Well over two hundred of our state members are interested individuals making active contributions to pharmacy in their areas through personal representation and donation of time and money.

Size is not the only indication of our quality. Just as the School of Pharmacy expanded to a five year curriculum to provide more complete training for the individual, our women interested themselves in a broader outlook upon the wife of a Pharmacist. Realizing that, to quote Vivian Smith, "our every action creates an impression" and that because of our association these actions will directly or indirectly affect Pharmacy, our women have reflected upon our attitudes, thoughts, and impressions. Rowan-Davie was especially involved with these ideas as they fashioned programs of self-improvement for this year. Your quality is as sparkling as that of a first magnitude star.

Melville once observed, "Education should be as gradual as the moonrise, perceptible not in progress but in result." The progress of the year is yours. The result of this fledgling's education is that I now have "feathered out" enough to undertake the job which I assumed over a year ago . . . that of serving as your President. "I am a part of all I have met." (Tennyson) Thank you.

Mrs. C. C. Wheeler presented Mrs. Blanton with a gift of silver from the Woman's Auxiliary as a token of appreciation for her work during the year.

Announcements were made by Convention Co-Chairman, Mrs. George Bryan.

Mrs. Blanton introduced the pages who were: Joan Wilson, Gastonia; Mary Boone, Ahoskie; Kathy Brown, Asheville; and Sally Van Valkenburg, Asheville. She thanked them for their help during the Convention.

Mrs. R. C. Sisk, Prize Chairman, conducted the drawing for numerous prizes which had been contributed by the wholesale drug houses.

The business session was recessed until twelve thirty o'clock, when it reconvened at the Sealtest Luncheon in the West Ballroom of the George Vanderbilt Hotel.

Upon resumption of the thirty-ninth annual business meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association, Mrs. C. A. Beaman, member of the Western North Carolina Drug Auxiliary, gave the invocation.

Mrs. Ralph Long, the Sealtest representative, brought greetings from the luncheon host.

The response was given by Mrs. Hoy Moose, wife of a past-president of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association.

Mrs. Blanton recognized the past-presidents of the State Auxiliary, and current presidents of the local auxiliaries.

Mrs. Phillip Crouch, Convention Chairman, and President of the Western North Carolina Drug Auxiliary made the presentation of a Life Membership in the State Auxiliary to Mrs. Lloyd Jarrett of Asheville, North Carolina. She served as the first President after the Auxiliary was reorganized in 1933.

Golden Decorator Awards were presented to the following Auxiliaries and individuals by Mrs. W. J. Smith:

Charlotte Woman's Druggist Auxiliary
The Mortar and Pestle Club
Apothecary Club
Gaston County Pharmaceutical Auxiliary
Chapel Hill Woman's Pharmaceutical Auxiliary
Greensboro Auxiliary
Raleigh Woman's Drug Club
Rowan-Davie Drug Auxiliary
Mrs. Camilla Mullinax
Mrs. Albert Suttle

The Cabarrus County Auxiliary was thanked for its $10 contribution.

Mrs. Blanton, at this time, presented Mrs. James L. Creech with the President's traveling pin and gavel.

Mrs. E. B. Brown, Luncheon Chairman, held a drawing for the lovely flower arrangements on the tables.

Following announcements by Mrs. Creech and Mrs. Crouch the President declared the meeting adjourned.

To His Excellency
Governor Dan K. Moore
Raleigh, N. C.
Dear Sir:

In compliance with Article 4, Section 90-57 of the General Statutes of North Carolina, we are pleased to submit to you and to the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association the Eighty-Fourth Annual Report of the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy. This report contains the proceedings of the Board for the fiscal year ending April 30, 1966.

Respectfully yours,
N. C. Board of Pharmacy
H. C. McAllister
Secretary-Treasurer

EIGHTY-FIFTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE NORTH CAROLINA BOARD OF PHARMACY

Membership

There have been no changes in the membership or the officers of the Board since the last report.

Meetings

As usual, the Board held ten regular meetings during the year, two of which were examination meetings. The dates of the examination meetings were changed this year from February and June to March and September. This change accomplishes two major goals:

1. It enables a considerably larger number of candidates to qualify for license some five months earlier than did the previous examination dates.
2. It establishes a broader reciprocal eligibility for North Carolina pharmacists who might wish to reciprocate to the more than fifty per cent of the states that now require three months of practical experience after graduation.

Offices

The Board offices remain located in the Institute of Pharmacy in Chapel Hill. During the past several years, serious space problems have developed in this building for both the Association and the Board due to the considerable increase in the programs of these two organizations. A preliminary architectural study has been made of the possibility of completing certain existing space in the Institute building for better utilization. This study, however, failed to solve the problem in a way that would provide adequate and suitable space for the Board. Some further suggestions have been made for alternate arrangements which might solve the problem. This will require additional architectural studies and planning. In the event that the space problems cannot be adequately solved to meet the needs of the Association and the Board for the present and for the next several decades, it will be necessary to remove the Board offices to a new location in the next few years. Hopefully this will not materialize, since it is believed that the effectiveness of the programs of both organizations would suffer from such a separation.

General Program

Developments resulting in the expansion of total health care in our state along with the changes in our traditional patterns of pharmacy services that have occurred during the past few years have necessarily involved the Board in numerous new avenues of responsibility. Until this year the Board could only attempt to meet these and at the same time perform its usual function by spreading even thinner its available personnel and by engaging in deficit financing. As a result of the change in the fee schedule which became effective January 1st this year, the revenues of the Board have been increased by slightly less than 60%. This additional revenue will materially relieve the financial stress under which the Board has had to operate during the past several years. An additional inspector has already been employed and began work June 1st. It is expected that additional personnel will be added to the staff as soon as suitable and qualified persons can be found.

Besides office personnel, the greatest single need of the Board is for a combination inspector and administrative assistant. A person with such a job classification will contribute significantly to the efficiency and effectiveness of the Board work. Preparations for the implementation of the Medicare legislation in itself has already created a heavy work load for the Board. Unquestionably this will increase as time goes on.

Pharmacies and Pharmacists

A matter of continuing interest to all is the number of pharmacies and pharmacists in the State. There was a total increase of 68 in the number of pharmacists on the active roster this year. Fifty-seven of these are actively engaged in practice. Although this increase is slightly smaller than that which we have experienced in recent years, it is not as small as was expected due to the change from the four to the five year program in pharmaceutical education throughout the country. Registration by reciprocity remains at a constant level.

There were 1082 pharmacy permits outstanding on May 1st. This is an increase of 39 over the number outstanding on that date last year and is one of the largest increases on record. It should be explained, however, that 14 of the 39 permits are accounted for by hospitals that have previously operated pharmacies in their institutions and were not registered with the Board or under the supervision of a pharmacist. There was an increase of 25 in the number of community pharmacies, which is still somewhat higher than the average annual increase over the last several years.

The substantial improvement in the hospital pharmacy picture during the past year is encouraging. Most hospitals do not offer out-patient pharmacy services and do not anticipate doing so. However, they do need the services of a pharmacist in order to provide effective and safe medications for in-patients. Those pharmacists who have assumed extra burdens to provide these services are to be commended and others are urged to make their services available to the hospitals where they are needed. You will learn more about this Program of Assistance to Hospitals as the year goes on. Many of you will doubtless be called upon to assist hospitals in your area with their pharmacy programs. The Board hopes that you will provide your services where you can. Not only does the profession have just as much obligation to the sick person in the hospital as to the patient at home, but this inter-professional association in the hospital setting also provides the pharmacist with the opportunity to cement his relations with the members of the other health professions and thus make more effective the team approach to patient care.

The hospital is not the only institutional setting in which the pharmacists' services are needed and required. The Conditions for Participation under the Medicare program for nursing homes and other extended care facilities, as well as the regulations of the State Board of Health and other agencies make it mandatory that the pharmacist become more intimately involved in the drug programs of these institutions. The profession must begin now to develop suitable programs for handling all kinds of institutional drug needs if a chaotic situation is to be avoided. There are other health programs involving drugs such as the Mental Health Program, Planned Parenthood, etc. to which the pharmacist must also give immediate attention.

The influences resulting from the implementation of the Medicare legislation (and similar social measures that are certain to follow) will usher in a new era in medical care. These developments coupled with the emerging new roles of the pharmacist are bound to have profound effects on the practice of pharmacy as we have known it in the past. With these changes will come new responsibilities for the pharmacists and thus for the Board. The health of the people of our state cannot be permitted to be jeopardized through a default in fulfilling these responsibilities.

PRESCRIPTIONS

Statistics gathered from the renewal applications of 544 pharmacies indicate that there was an average of 23,573 prescriptions dispensed per pharmacy during the year. If this average is projected to the total number of pharmacies it would appear that there were 25,624,000 prescriptions dispensed in the state during 1965. This represents an increase of approximately 20% over the previous year. Much of this increase can doubtless be attributed to the extension of health care under the State Welfare Program. Although the pharmacist performs many essential functions related to dispensing prescriptions and discharges the multitude of responsibilities attendant thereto, in the past not all of the time of some pharmacists has been occupied with prescription work. This has served as a "cushion" against which an expansion in professional activities could be absorbed. This "cushion" is rapidly disappearing as a result of the increase in prescription practice, with its additional record keeping requirements; extension of the pharmacists practice to hospitals and other institutions and similar new activities. Without question the profession will be faced with serious personnel shortages in the immediate future. In fact this shortage is already being reflected in the keen competition that presently exists for the services of available pharmacists. Hopefully the profession's recruitment program will improve. Otherwise the shortage of pharmacists personnel will become critical in the next four or five years.

LEGISLATION

On a number of occasions during the past ten or fifteen years the Board has identified the need for certain modernization of our pharmacy laws. In particular need of attention are those sections which provide for the registration of pharmacies or drug stores and the grounds for disciplinary action against the pharmacist's license. This proposed modernization of our pharmacy laws has been endorsed by the Legislative Committee of the Pharmaceutical Association. It is most important that pharmacists generally support this legislation. The public and the profession will continue to suffer the results of awkward and antiquated law administration until these revisions are accomplished.

FEDERAL-STATE RELATIONS

For several years the Board has identified areas in which it considers the Federal Government to be encroaching on the regulation of professional practice and privilege. This impengement continues. The most recent extension of federal authority is embodied in the Drug Abuse Law. Our inspector advises us that there is still much misunderstanding with regard to the procedures that must apply to the handling of drugs covered by this law and particularly to those restricted drugs that are in combination with other drugs. Pharmacists should be aware that a separate department has been set up in the Food and Drug Administration for the enforcement of this law, the penalties for the violation of which are severe. It is recommended that all pharmacists fully inform themselves on the requirements of the law and adjust their practice procedures to fully comply with them, if this has not already been done.

It is understood that in a few states where there is appropriate state legislation, the federal agency concerns itself only with the manufacturing of these drugs and with illicit traffic in them. In these states, the major areas of coverage involving professional practice is left to the Boards of Pharmacy or other appropriate state agencies. Hopefully in time, this arrangement might be worked out for North Carolina.

PRACTICAL PHARMACY EXPERIENCE

Practical experience continues to be an important part of the pharmacist's total professional education. Although the internship program in our state has set the pattern for at least fifteen other states in the Nation, it still needs improvement. The Board desires to compliment the Academy of Practical Instructors in Pharmacy for its pioneer effort in attempting to improve one of the most significant aspects of practical experience—the capability of the preceptor to function as an instructor. It is recommended that more pharmacists qualify for membership in this fine group and support its objectives.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

Consistent with established policy, where possible and appropriate, the Board continues to handle infractions of the law and other irregularities administratively before the Board. During the year, twenty-three persons have appeared before the Board one or more times in disciplinary actions. Two cases were turned over to the courts. In one case a permanent restraining order was entered and in the other there was a Confession of Judgment approved by the Court. The licenses of four pharmacists and the permits to operate two pharmacies were revoked by the Board. In each of these cases a stay order was issued against the operation of the revocation pending compliance with the terms of suitable probations. The remainder of the cases were settled through affidavits of compliance.

REPORT OF ATTORNEY WOOTEN

North Carolina Board of Pharmacy

P. O. Box 471
Chapel Hill, North Carolina

Re: Annual Report

Gentlemen:

For the fiscal year of 1965-66, I have been in attendance at all meetings and functions of the Board of Pharmacy in the capacity of attorney for the Board and in addition, I have undertaken to be available at other times to provide legal services for the Board.

During this period, I have met with and discussed with the graduates of the North Carolina School of Pharmacy, the candidates for license by examination and candidates for license by reciprocity the laws and regulations of North Carolina which govern the practice of pharmacy.

Following the 1965 session of the General Assembly, the Board directed that a new edition of the publication of the pharmacy laws and regulations should be issued and this office has worked with the Secretary and the publisher in correlation of materials which went into this new publication. The newly published edition of these laws and regulations enables the Board to now have available for all pharmacists a ready source of reference as to these laws and regulations.

It has been necessary during this period to prosecute in the courts some actions for enforcement of the pharmacy laws in North Carolina and there are presently pending some cases in which the Board has directed us to pursue legal remedies in the courts. Fortunately, it has been possible to resolve most of the violations by means of informal hearings before the Board and actions within the framework of the Board's authority to impose penalties or restrictions.

May I express to the Board and each of its members and staff pleasure in serving as the general counsel for the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy during this period, and I shall look forward to serving you and the members of this profession during the coming year.

Respectfully submitted,
BAILEY, DIXON & WOOTEN
Kenneth Wooten, Jr.

May 9, 1966

To The Officers & Members of the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy:
Gentlemen:

As requested, we have audited the financial records of Mr. H. C. McAllister, Secretary & Treasurer of the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy, for the period from May 1, 1965 to April 30, 1966, and the attached statement of Cash Receipts & Disbursements presents a Summary of Operations for the fiscal year.

All Receipts entered on the Cash Book were in agreement with duplicate receipts on file and were properly deposited in the bank. Disbursements for the fiscal year were made for apparently proper purposes and are supported by signed, paid checks, receipted bills, etc.

The Balance on Hand at April 30, 1966 consists of the following:

CASH IN BANKS:
North Carolina National Bank	$38,407.58
Central Carolina Bank & Trust Co. (Savings)	11,990.17	$50,397.75
INVESTMENTS:
U. S. Treasury Bonds (2½%)		5,000.00
TOTAL BALANCE APRIL 30, 1966		55,397.75

The Cash in Banks was reconciled and verified. The five U. S. Treasury Bonds, 2½%, of $1,000.00 each, were inspected.

The fidelity bond for the Secretary & Treasurer, in the amount of $5,000.00, has been continued to October 1, 1966. A fire insurance policy of $5,000.00 on office equipment, was examined.

The records as heretofore, are in splendid condition and no difficulty was experienced in the verification thereof. We acknowledge the assistance rendered and courtesies extended during the progress of the examination.

Respectfully submitted,
R. L. PRICE
CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANT.

List of Drug Stores

Revised September 1, 1966

The number preceeding the name of the drug store indicates the permit number of that store. Addresses for each store are listed where given. Person listed immediately following drug store was certified as pharmacist in charge (or permitted physician) on the application for the renewal of the permit. "*" denotes drug store operated under physician's permit. "" denotes "limited service" institutional permits.

How to get along without your drug wholesaler:

(Part 2)

1. Set aside a day a week for interviewing extra salesmen (you'll be seeing some 30 extra a week).

2. Condition yourself to accepting delays—in regular shipments, trial orders, and returns and adjustments. And as for emergency fill-ins, forget it.

3. Set aside an estimated minimum of $750 a year for postage stamps ($600 for payment checks and $150 for placing mail orders).

4. Make arrangements to spend time writing as many as 1,000 checks a month.

5. Hire an all-around consultant to ease the burden of inventory problems, to help seek out product and deal information, and to custom-fit sales promotion ideas to your specific needs.

Sound like it may not be worth the effort? Then consider the alternative: your drug wholesaler. On convenience, cost-saving, and countless extras, he's nothing short of indispensable. But every piece of business you take away from him makes it just that much harder for him to continue his services. So it's in your best interest to give him all the business you can. Isn't it?

Librax is back

...to help control emotional and somatic symptoms of gastrointestinal disorders

Librax® Roche

Each capsule contains
5 mg chlordiazepoxide HCl
and 2.5 mg clidinium Br.

Librax is once again available for prescription.

A combination of Librium® (chlordiazepoxide HCl) and Quarzan® (clidinium Br), Librax was widely accepted by physicians and their patients as the leading antianxiety/anticholinergic medication used in the adjunctive treatment of peptic ulcer and other organic and functional gastrointestinal disorders. This was attested by its high volume of new prescriptions and refill rate which continued to grow year after year. Even during the months when Librax was temporarily unavailable, numerous doctors expressed to Roche their hope that the product would soon return to pharmacies. We at Roche are happy to report that the waiting period is now over. So be ready for physicians' prescriptions. Order from your wholesaler today. Bottles of 50 and 500.

Before prescribing, please consult complete prescribing information, a summary of which follows:

Contraindications: Patients with glaucoma; prostatic hypertrophy and benign bladder neck obstruction; known hypersensitivity to chlordiazepoxide hydrochloride and/or clidinium bromide.

Warnings: Caution patients about possible combined effects with alcohol and other CNS depressants. Caution against hazardous occupations during therapy. Use caution in administering Librium (chlordiazepoxide hydrochloride) to known addiction-prone patients or those who might increase dosage; withdrawal symptoms (including convulsions), following discontinuation of the drug and similar to those seen with barbiturates, have been reported. Safe use of any drug in pregnancy, lactation, or in women of childbearing age not established. As with all anticholinergic drugs, an inhibiting effect on lactation may occur.

Precautions: In elderly and debilitated, limit dosage to smallest effective amount to preclude development of ataxia, oversedation or confusion (not more than two capsules per day initially; increase gradually as needed and tolerated). In general, concomitant use with other psychotropics is not recommended; if such combination therapy seems indicated, consider the pharmacology of the other agents, particularly MAO inhibitors and phenothiazines. Paradoxical reactions, such as excitement, stimulation and acute rage, to chlordiazepoxide hydrochloride have been reported in psychiatric patients. Variable effects on blood coagulation have been reported very rarely in patients receiving chlordiazepoxide hydrochloride and oral anticoagulants, although causal relationship has not been established clinically. Observe usual precautions in presence of impaired renal or hepatic function, impending depression and suicidal tendencies.

Adverse Reactions: No side effects or manifestations not seen with either compound alone have been reported with Librax. When chlordiazepoxide hydrochloride is used alone, drowsiness, ataxia and confusion may occur, especially in the elderly and debilitated. In most instances, these effects are reversible by proper dosage adjustment, but occasionally are observed at lower dosage ranges. In a few instances, syncope has been reported; also encountered are isolated instances of skin eruptions, edema, minor menstrual irregularities, nausea and constipation, extrapyramidal symptoms, increased and decreased libido—all infrequent and generally controlled with dosage reduction; changes in EEG patterns (low-voltage fast activity) may appear during and after treatment. Blood dyscrasias, including agranulocytosis, jaundice and hepatic dysfunction, have occasionally been reported with chlordiazepoxide hydrochloride, making periodic blood counts and liver-function tests advisable during protracted therapy. Adverse effects reported with Librax are typical of anticholinergic agents, i.e., dryness of mouth, blurring of vision, urinary hesitancy and constipation. Constipation has occurred most often when Librax therapy is combined with other spasmolytics and/or low residue diet.

Dosage: Individualize for maximum benefits. Usual maintenance dose is 1 or 2 capsules, 3 or 4 times a day, before meals and at bedtime.

How supplied: Capsules, each containing 5 mg chlordiazepoxide hydrochloride (Librium®) and 2.5 mg clidinium bromide (Quarzan®)—bottles of 50 and 500.

A QUESTION OF GOOD FAITH

Section 90-97 of The Narcotic Act of the State of North Carolina, in regard to the sale of exempt narcotic preparations, states, in part:

''That such preparation shall be administered, dispensed, and sold in good faith as a medicine and not for the purpose of evading the provisions of this article.''

The key words here are ''good faith.'' Pharmacists, in general, are aware of their responsibility in the sale of exempt preparations, but situations such as have been publicized by The Charlotte Observer during October and November indicate that not all pharmacists interpret ''good faith'' in the same manner.

Evidence brought out at hearings held by the State Board of Pharmacy in which eight pharmacies were involved revealed a lack of good judgment, if not total disregard for the ''good faith'' section of the narcotic act, by a number of pharmacists and pharmacy owners. According to evidence presented during the hearings, required record-keeping was absent in many instances; purchases of some exempt preparations were not in the normal dozen lots but gross lots.

Most of the individuals cited to appear before the Board of Pharmacy recommended that present exempt preparations be limited to sale only on prescription. In other words, to let others assume a responsibility which, in some instances, we are unwilling to assume ourselves.

We question this simple solution but it may be forced on Pharmacy if the present hearings are indicative of the sale of exempt preparations in North Carolina. One pharmacy owner pointed out during the hearings that he removed certain preparations from public display more than a year ago after it became apparent some sales were being made for non-medicinal use.

Pharmacists are just as capable of exercising ''good faith'' as any other professional group. When some choose to act otherwise, proper restraints are already available to the enforcement agencies.

The Carolina Journal of Pharmacy is published monthly by the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association, Box 151, Chapel Hill, N. C. Subscription rate: $3.00 a year; single copy, 25 cents. Second Class postage paid at Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

More Than 500 Senior High School Students Hear Jack Watts, Lilly MSR

Jack G. Watts, Lilly MSR in the Burlington area, on November 9 was a guest speaker in Burlington at the Walter William High School.

During the day, Mr. Watts made five separate talks of 55 minutes each to senior students. His topic was "The Use and Abuse of Drugs."

The talks were so favorably received, Mr. Watts later was asked to discuss same subject at a meeting of the Alamance County Sheriff's Department.

Serves in Texas

James H. Winfree, UNC pharmacy graduate, is in the U. S. Air Force at Lackland AFB in San Antonio. He is serving as a pharmacy specialist in Wilford Hall USAF Hospital (largest military hospital in the world).

His address is: Mr. J. H. Winfree, 400 Tomar, Apartment 11-A, San Antonio, Texas 78227.

Gains on Weight-Reducing Pills

To the NCPhA:

I bought a box of 63—tablets from the XYZ Pharmacy. After taking 22 tablets and gaining 5 pounds, I took the balance of the tablets back and asked for a refund.

—, Druggist, refused to give me a refund with the observation that I'd have to get my money from the company; that I could get it easier than he could, and anyway it was funny I was the only person to complain.

I would appreciate your consideration in this matter.

Speaker at Meeting of Nurses

Frank Lowder, chief pharmacist at Forsyth Memorial Hospital, Winston-Salem, discussed "Legal Control of Drugs" at a recent meeting of District 3, N. C. Nurses Association.

Mrs. W. Grover Creech (left), dressed in Colonial Mode, is Chairman of the Ways & Means Committee of The Woman's Auxiliary of the NCPhA, and Mrs. James Creech (right) is President.

Members of the Auxiliary are being encouraged to make at least one handmade item (Pharmacy Originals) for sale at the Convention in Winston-Salem next May, with proceeds to help redecorate the Institute of Pharmacy.

Handmade articles, as symbolized by "Pharmacy Originals," were customary during Colonial Days. An old fashioned "quilting bee" has been adopted by one local auxiliary with the finished product to be on sale in Winston-Salem.

Lecture in Honor of Dr. Water H. Hartung at UNC School of Pharmacy

The first Walter H. Hartung Memorial Lecture was delivered by Dr. Alfred Burger, Professor of Chemistry at the University of Virginia, on October 20, 1966, at the School of Pharmacy, The University of North Carolina. The memorial lecture was sponsored by the NORTH CAROLINA PHARMACEUTICAL RESEARCH FOUNDATION.

At a dinner at the Carolina Inn preceding the lecture, Dr. Burger was presented a certificate of honorary membership in the Rho Chi Society. The presentation was made by James Ray Hall, President of Xi Chapter. The local chapter had nominated Dr. Burger for honorary membership prior to the annual meeting of the national honorary pharmaceutical society in Dallas in April.

Among the fifty-six persons present at the dinner were former students of Dr. Hartung: John Andrako (Assistant Dean and Professor of Pharmaceutical Chemistry, Medical College of Virginia), George H. Cocolas (Associate Professor of Medicinal Chemistry, UNC), George P. Hager (Dean and Professor of Medicinal Chemistry, UNC) and Albert M. Mattocks (Professor of Pharmacy, UNC). Shown with them in the photograph are Dr. Burger, C. J. Cavallito (Professor of Medicinal Chemistry, UNC), Claude Piantadosi (Professor of Medicinal Chemistry, UNC) and James Ray Hall (Class of 1967, UNC). Attending the dinner but not shown in the photograph were two other members of UNC's medicinal chemistry staff: Fred T. Semeniuk (Professor) and Monroe E. Wall (Adjunct Professor and Director of the Natural Products Laboratory, The Research Triangle Institute). Also present at the dinner were other members of the faculty of the School of Pharmacy and other departments of the University who were Dr. Hartung's colleagues during the period when he was Professor of Pharmaceutical Chemistry on the faculty of the School, 1948-1956.

Pharmacy Student Leaders Meet in Chapel Hill

Delegates from pharmacy schools from Georgia to New York were in Chapel Hill on November 5-6 for a Pharmacy Leadership Training Workshop.

Sponsored by the Student Affairs Division of the American Pharmaceutical Association, the two-day meeting was held at the Institute of Pharmacy. Local cooperating groups included the NCPhA, the UNC School of Pharmacy and the Extension Division of UNC.

Richard E. Long, Director of APhA's Student Affairs Division, set up the program and directed it during the 2-day period.

Guest speakers and subjects were: Fred Eckel—Leadership—What is It?; Jack Donahue—Group Development; W. J. Smith—Committees That Work; Harold Hayes of SKF—Communications; Dr. Richard Penna—Parliamentary Procedure and Planning, Conducting and Participating in a Meeting; Mrs. Charles Blanton—Ladies and Leadership—Are They Compatible?

The program included two workshops, with Mr. Eckel and Dr. Penna as discussion leaders. Such subjects as "How to Organize Effective Projects," "How to Handle Apathetic Students," "How to Produce Good Public Relations," and "How to Help Your Profession Following Graduation" were covered.

The student leaders visited the School of Pharmacy where Dean George P. Hager discussed some challenges and opportunities. A tour of the building and a reception concluded the Pharmacy School phase of the program.

Delegates from the following schools registered for the Workshop: Columbia University College of Pharmaceutical Sciences, Duquesne University School of Pharmacy, University of Georgia School of Pharmacy, Howard University College of Pharmacy and University of Maryland School of Pharmacy.

Medical College of S. C. School of Pharmacy, Medical College of Virginia School of Pharmacy, Mercer University (Southern College of Pharmacy), Ohio State University College of Pharmacy, Rutgers (The State University College of Pharmacy), University of N. C. School of Pharmacy, University of S. C. School of Pharmacy and University of Cincinnati College of Pharmacy.

Workshop delegates shown at entrance to North Carolina Institute of Pharmacy. The delegates represent thirteen schools of pharmacy.

Welfare, Blue Slips and Pirates

Editor
CAROLINA JOURNAL OF PHARMACY
Chapel Hill, North Carolina

Dear Sir:

Conscience will not permit me to stifle the knell which I fear I must ring.

A student of archaeology once asked his professor, as to how large, healthy creatures as dinosaurs could possibly become trapped in oily marshes, Why through observation, the animals could not have avoided such a mucky end? The professor replied, "It was slicker than they were."

Some day, not too distant, someone will ask the same about Pharmacy in North Carolina as we know it today, as opposed to the remains to be found mired in "blue slips." The answer will be the same.

Our North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association has been only too glad to mail out directives and memos from the Welfare Department to the individual North Carolina Pharmacist, when the letters should have been (and should be) going in the opposite direction.

The NCPhA lulls us with letters appeasing our better judgment by articles claiming "It's better than nothing," or "Those are the people who used to 'stick us.'" Not so, with a good businessman-pharmacist.

Contrary to helping the "indigent" become able, the program's easy access makes "indigents" of able-bodied North Carolinians.

Examine the ages on the ever-increasing "authorization slips" and you will see heads of households under 25 years of age —on welfare. "Why should the pregnant unmarried woman seek the father, when North Carolina makes a better provider?"

How many North Carolina pharmacists have an "indigent" drive up to his place of business in a late model convertible, hand him a bag of prescriptions from a pocketbook brimming with food stamps, and ask "Where are your flash bulbs and film?"

North Carolina Pharmacy should have been represented by a delegation from the NCPhA when the State Board of Public Welfare reneged on its agreement to furnish the blue forms already filled out; when the Welfare Board reneged on its agreement to limit the cost of a prescription to $8.25.

Physicians are constantly being urged by Welfare agents and "indigents" alike to write for larger and larger quantities on each prescription—the "indigents" do not have time to wait, or "hate to make so many trips to the pharmacy."

What will a North Carolina Pharmacist do when handed a prescription for 100 Lincocin Capsules aa 500 mg. and an "authorization slip"? Or 224 Neg-Gram 500 mg. Caplets? Will he dishonorably split it? Refuse it? Or professionally make his paying customers assume the burden of his unavoidable loss in margin—or better yet, his family—his table.

Now is the time for the N. C. Pharmacist to stand—as the NCPhA. The Association should represent us for we are the Association. If the Association cannot look out for North Carolina Pharmacy's best interests, perhaps the State's pharmacists should save their dues and hire a good lobbyist come January 1.

Yes, we should do this honorably, for the Welfare Program as originally agreed upon was a good one, and we are members of an honorable profession. We should seek that the original limits be put on the cost of a single prescription, and that some monetary consideration be allowed for the increase in bookkeeping costs.

"Perhaps we should not worry so much about our fellow pharmacists putting holes in the bottom of Pharmacy's boat, as we should about the pirates trimming the sails."

Winston Burroughs, Pharmacist
360 East Conn. Avenue
Southern Pines, N. C. 28387

Mr. Winston Burroughs, Pharmacist
360 E. Connecticut Avenue
Southern Pines, North Carolina
Dear Mr. Burroughs:

I received an advance copy of your open letter to the Journal and have read it with interest. I, and most other pharmacists of the state would quickly agree with you that the Kerr-Mills welfare drug program is not perfect. Most pharmacists, I'm sure, would rather serve recipients of the "great society" on a cash or 30-day charge basis at fair prices which we set ourselves. In short, many of us have moved reluctantly into participation in the growing "social-welfare state."

Nonetheless, I must debate some of the points made or inferred in your letter. First, you have confused the functions of the pharmacist and the functions of the board of welfare. It is not up to us to judge who is worthy of help and who is not. We are given the opportunity on a voluntary basis to provide prescription service to those whom the welfare board decides are eligible, and within rules which they set. Neither our Association nor our very capable Public Health and Welfare Committee has any legal say-so in this program. We act only in an advisory capacity. In this capacity, our committee unanimously opposed removal of the $10 limit on prescriptions and was overruled. On the other hand, we have prevailed in many other areas. The $1.75 fee has been well-received by pharmacists and welfare officials as well, and is the highest in the United States. Through lengthy negotiations we put down the idea of a generic formulary which would have severely limited this program as well as making second-class citizens of those on the welfare roles. (They would have been denied many needed drugs of high quality.) In addition, we have been able to limit profiteering by many dispensing doctors. This has been done by excluding doctors from participation if they practice within 5 miles of a pharmacy.

In these and many other ways, we have kept our program on the highest possible professional level. Now that the welfare department is almost on a current basis with payments, I find it hard to believe that any pharmacist in this state is suffering financially in any way as a result of this program.

As to the added burden of typing the blue forms, I personally find that this has improved our handling of the substantial welfare activity we have in our store. The change in May was a sincere effort by the welfare board to make this program run more smoothly and was done in spite of the knowledge that a great rise in utilization with a resultant increase in cost, would surely take place.

In conclusion, I might say that further changes will no doubt occur. Many of these will be unfavorable to pharmacy. However, you may be assured that we will continue to work for the best possible solutions to a difficult problem. We hope you will see fit to work through the NCPhA in this and other matters pertaining to your practice in this state.

Sincerely,
s/s Charles D. Blanton, Jr.
President
N. C. Pharmaceutical Association

Gout Study Underway at UNC School of Pharmacy

Dr. Albert M. Mattocks, Professor of Pharmacy at the University of North Carolina, is working on urate crystal-growth inhibitors. If successful, new drugs to control the pain of gout may result from the work now underway at Chapel Hill.

Initial tests are being carried out with turkeys. Turkeys are known to handle urate substances, which are responsible for the pain of gout, in much the same manner as humans.

North Carolina Pharmacists Pose These 37 Questions

1. What in our environment makes some few pharmacists feel a cut rate image is essential to their professional survival? Should we try to eliminate this?

2. With the trend towards clinic and apothecary pharmacies, and super discount pharmacies in shopping centers, what is the future of the downtown community service pharmacy, with its parking problems, long distances from doctor's offices, drying-up of downtown areas and other problems?

3. Salary-wise, what is the proper thing to do in case of time off for sickness?

4. Prior to May 1, Welfare beneficiaries chose their pharmacist and remained with him month after month. Under the new procedure, it appears Welfare recipients may jump from pharmacy to pharmacy. Will this cause problems in Raleigh on the submission of blue claim forms?

5. Will not the action taken by the State Board of Public Welfare in eliminating the $10 maximum on single prescriptions contribute to over-prescribing?

6. Does North Carolina plan to implement Title 19 of Medicare, and if so, where does Pharmacy come into the picture?

7. For pharmacists electing to go into retail pharmacy, would not increased emphasis on business education and less emphasis on scientific pharmacy be desirable from the standpoint of curriculum content?

8. Should pharmacists be required to enroll in a continuing education program at intervals in order to keep their license in force?

9. A B.S. in Pharmacy now requires five years of academic study. Would it not be desirable to lengthen the Pharmacy course, on an optional basis, and confer a Ph.D. in Pharmacy?

10. What is the difference between a nursing home, an extended care unit, and a rest home?

11. After Medicare is effective, on what basis will pharmacists be paid for medication supplied to Medicare beneficiaries in nursing homes?

12. Of the licensed nursing homes presently in operation in North Carolina, how many have organized pharmacy departments under the supervision of a pharmacist?

13. Are all generic-produced drugs safe since they are required to meet rigid standards as to manufacture and potency?

14. What is being done to assure that pharmacists entering military service will be assigned to positions where their professional knowledge will be utilized?

15. Would there be any advantage to the State Board of Public Welfare to require that all Welfare prescriptions be limited to generic drugs?

16. Would a law limiting the ownership of pharmacies to pharmacists be desirable?

17. What can be done to counter our state from by-passing the profession by supplying drugs to mental hospitals, mental health clinics and county health departments?

18. Is independent pharmacy threatened because pharmacists may be more sales and dollars-profit oriented than that of public and patient service directed?

19. Is there a best single answer to the question: Why does my prescription cost so much?

20. What do you do with a pharmacist who ignores the NARD on a prescription?

21. Why can't all pharmacists cooperate by charging wholesale cost plus a professional fee of $2 for dispensing a prescription—and be somebody instead of slaves?

22. How can Pharmacy, and pharmacies, be freed from so much Federal and State Control?

23. Why is it, that percentage-wise, less pharmacists support their local-state-national pharmaceutical organizations than do their counterparts in medicine and dentistry?

24. With Medicare in the offing and Blue Cross-65 filling-in with prescription coverage, how will the average community pharmacist be able to compute charges under the Blue Cross rules—i.e. $25 deductible for each quarter?

Here are thirty-seven questions posed by North Carolina pharmacists. Note the wide range of interest. We make no attempt to answer the queries. Rather, if you are interested in answering a specific question, we will welcome your thoughts for perhaps publication in a future issue of The Carolina Journal of Pharmacy.

25. Are the regulatory agencies going to eventually regulate us all the way out of the profit picture with forms, inventories, reports, surveys, etc.?

26. Are we about to lose our new pharmacy building to a more active, less divided group —for lack of students?

27. Are we doing our employers an injustice when we demand a shorter work week —more bonus and other extras—only to turn around and hire ourselves out to a nearby pharmacy and work on afternoons and nights off?

28. Is there anything being done to eliminate the requirement that all amphetamine-barbiturate combinations be inventoried on August 1?

29. Would not a $2 professional fee be more in line with present costs of handling Welfare prescriptions?

30. Why can't all pharmacists—new, old, young and gray, be taught what the word "profession" means.

31. Is our over-expanded sundry image about to reverse itself and make pharmacists out of us?

32. Is our mental attitude correct about the Kerr-Mills Program? Are we prepared to help the needy and be thankful that a procedure exists which assures payment for medication obtained from pharmacies by Welfare recipients?

33. How is Medicare going to affect community pharmacies?

34. Is there any definite reason why I should shift from my present mark-up procedure of pricing prescriptions to a professional fee?

35. My pharmacy is located in a downtown area about four blocks from the nearest doctor. Would I be justified in converting my pharmacy, which includes fountain service, to a Pharmaceutical Center operation?

36. A local MD wants me to come in with him as a part owner of a pharmacy to be established near his office. Would this be ethical?

37. What advantages would there be for the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association to affiliate with the American Pharmaceutical Association?

What's in the alligator bag?

Heritage.

. . . a heritage started by the man who founded the Upjohn Company 86 years ago. He carried an alligator bag; that's why our salesmen carry one.

It stands for quality. Upjohn standards of purity and efficacy in its products are high. We insist on similarly high standards of quality and integrity in the men who represent us. Our company is judged by how well we meet or surpass these marks of excellence.

Next time an Upjohn man calls, notice his alligator bag. It stands for something important: products and selling policies that help preserve your professional and commercial integrity as well as protect your customers' well-being.

Greensboro

Action taken by the Greensboro Society of Pharmacists at 39th meeting held in Greensboro on October 27:

(1) Endorsed Diabetic Detection Program and will cooperate with JCs in displays and in-pharmacy distribution of supplies. Justice Drug Company will distribute material to individual cooperating pharmacies.

(2) Cautionary note about Symptomax Oral Suspension.

(3) Stressed accurate records need to be maintained on sale of exempt narcotics.

(4) Committee appointed to study procedure for handling clinic prescriptions. David Claytor, chm., Jim Egbert and Frank Pickard.

NCPhA Secretary W. J. Smith discussed a number of subjects, including HR2 and new agent to be stationed in Greensboro, the hospital and welfare drug program, The Military Medical Benefits Amendments of 1966 and prescription service under this program, the exempt narcotic situation in Charlotte, and Code of Understanding as agreed upon by NCPhA and State Medical Society.

Cape Fear

The Cape Fear Pharmaceutical Society met in Fayetteville on November 16.

Frank Fife, manager of Owens, Minor & Bodeker, Wilson, was guest speaker. He discussed the handling of rental appliances under Medicare.

Wake County

Dr. George P. Hager, Dean of the School of Pharmacy, UNC, gave an inspiring talk on Pharmacy at the October 11 meeting of the Wake County Pharmaceutical Association. He presented statistics on the number of students enrolled in Pharmacy at UNC and commented on the new personnel joining the pharmacy faculty.

The November 3 meeting was held at the Shrine Club—Annual Party for doctors and pharmacists under sponsorship of W. H. King Drug Company.

Officers of the Wake organization are Banks Scudder, president; Don Carter, vice president; L. B. Doyle, secretary; and Carol Eargle, treasurer.

Mutual Problems Discussed at Meeting of Guilford County Medical Society

Eighty MD members of the Guilford County Medical Society heard NCPhA Secretary W. J. Smith discuss "Expanding Opportunities for Cooperation and Service" at a recent meeting in Greensboro.

A panel discussion of interprofessional problems followed Mr. Smith's remarks. Participating were Jack Ranzenhofer and Claude U. Paoloni, president and secretary-treasurer of The Greensboro Society of Pharmacists.

Some questions by the MDs present: (1) When I telephone a Rx to a pharmacy, how can I be certain Rx is taken by a pharmacist? (2) Some pharmacies refused to honor my non-refill instructions. Who can I report to for corrective action? (3) Could not some plan be developed whereby MDs would know which of the Greensboro pharmacies are open on holidays? (4) Why does the UNC School of Pharmacy have such a high failure rate among its student body?

Durham-Orange

A panel discussion—"How We As Members of the Pharmaceutical Profession Can Better our Relations With Members of the Medical Profession"—highlighted the November 21 program of the Durham-Orange Pharmaceutical Association. The meeting was held in Durham at the Blair House.

Members of the D-O organization voted to contribute $25 to the Institute of Pharmacy in memory of the late D. L. Boone.

A Salute to MPhS News

The first and second numbers of ''MPhS News'' have crossed this desk and in crossing have been palatably digested. MPhS News is a monthly newsletter to members of Mecklenburg Pharmaceutical Society and its editor is Richard S. Terman, current president of the Society.

Editor Terman launches this newsletter with decorous modesty devoid of abject apology, yet with a delicate blend of becoming humility, confidence, and a dignified appeal for unified cooperation from all members which has ever been a prime requisite for the usefulness of any organization.

In a concise editorial he demonstrates some of the things a newsletter can do for the Society. Some of these are: to keep members informed of the Society's goals; advance information on what members are thinking; the fact of the reason for the existence of the Society, to wit, identify mutual problems and to work toward solutions of those problems. He is firmly convinced that all problems have eventual and reasonable solutions. To quote, ''We who have this conviction call on all who will, to join us. When even a few will work closely together, the example of their work will cause others on the sidelines to join the 'action.' ''

While acknowledging the first issue as not being complete in the sense of containing the variety of information members would like, he appeals for their assistance in adding to future issues other topics, which he names.

Columns to be expected in future issues are, MPhS Women's Auxiliary News, Help Wanted and Available, For Sale and Wanted to Buy, News from Mecklenburg County Medical Society, Where to Read It (brief abstracts from current pharmaceutical publications), Summary of Previous Meeting, and Letters to the Editor.

In addition to these columns, the second number gives notes on the present and future programs, elaboration of the Party Line in which various members were introduced and biographical vignettes of several members were presented. The second number maintained the interest created by the first number which started the introduction of the president, vice-president, treasurer, and secretary in brief sketches.

''MPhS News'' has the basic potential for being an effective medium in accomplishing the aims and purposes of its sponsor. By this very potential, it will assume a place in the pharmaceutical literature of the state.

Mecklenburg Pharmaceutical Society is a group of enthusiastic and dedicated pharmacists who have banded together for many years to define their problems and made whole-hearted efforts to solve them. There have been times when failure and frustration have been met, as is true of all such societies, but MPhS has an enviable record of overcoming the obstacles and difficulties encountered, and there is ample reason to believe the present body will be able to accomplish its aims.

If members of MPhS will accept suggestions from an outsider who has been in their allegorical forest before and is advancing these suggestions with the purest of motives, he says to you:

Do not shirk, do not procrastinate, or treat lightly or indifferently the request of your editor when he gives you an assignment or pleads for a contribution to his (and your) columns. Give him the facts, the Who, What, Where, When, Why, and How; or, better still, present him with a story requiring little if any editing. Remember, an appreciable amount of his leisure and probably a very great amount of his waking time is spent in your behalf and, to his measure, without either rancor or self pity.

Do not through lethargy or any other reason sit on the sidelines indifferent as to how the work of the Society affects you; never minimize the true weight of your contributions, or the true measure of your lack of contribution to the purposes of the Society. Remember you have a definite stake in the success of an organization in which you can play an important part. Your satisfaction gained through complete participation will be infinitely greater and of much more value to you than if you have reaped a vicarious benefit by merely riding the wave as a "free loader."

Do not be content to "let George do it," even though you may be willing to place the issues in "George's" lap. Whether or not "George" is one, two, a few, or any number within a set group, it is grossly unfair to saddle him or them with the bulk of the work and it is also not good for you.

All of us are acquainted with the "Georges" who, oftentimes without portfolio, seem to "carry" an organization. What was once involuntary action became voluntary for the simple reason a sense of duty made the action voluntary when everybody but "George" disdained or refused the action. Sometimes there is actual drudgery in the details necessary for full function. But to the "Georges" of this world it is a magnificent drudgery and worthy of another name. Even so, an unevenly distributed load will place a stress and strain on any motive force which usually results in a diminishing of the drive so necessary for a realization of full potential. Let not any of your "Georges" be encumbered with a load which could very well become too arduous even for them.

If members will be active members, participating to the fullest measure of their talents, sometimes unearthing and triggering talents they did not know they possessed, it remains for objective reasoning to conclude MPhS will continue to be a vital force in promoting Pharmacy as an honored profession. What is good for Pharmacy in Mecklenburg is good for Pharmacy anywhere in North Carolina, or even Alaska.

"MPhS News" bids fair to be a potent factor in the realization and sustenance of the aims and purposes of MPhS.

UNC PHARMACY SCHOOL NOTES

A memorial lecture has been established in honor of Walter H. Hartung, former Professor of Pharmaceutical Chemistry. Dr. Hartung was a member of the faculty from 1948 to 1956 and made many contributions to pharmaceutical research and education. The first lecture, sponsored by the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Research Foundation was given on October 20 by Dr. Alfred Burger, Professor of Chemistry at the University of Virginia. Prior to the lecture Dr. Burger was inducted, as an honorary member, into Rho Chi at a dinner meeting of the society.

Dr. Coy W. Waller, U.N.C. graduate of the class of 1937 and now Vice-President at the Mead Johnson Research Center, and Mr. Dennis J. Smith, Coordinator of College Recruiting for Mead Johnson Laboratories, were visitors on October 17. Dr. Waller addressed the members of the senior class on drug product research.

Dean and Mrs. Hager were guests of the North Carolina Society of Hospital Pharmacists at a dinner meeting in High Point on October 22. Dr. Hager described activities and developments at the School. The meeting was also attended by Drs. Chambers and Taylor.

Drs. C. J. Cavallito and G. P. Hager attended the annual meeting of the Research and Development Section of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers' Association at Hot Springs, Virginia on October 24-25. Dean Hager spoke on "Patents and the Pharmaceutical Research and Development Partnership."

On October 26 the Executive Committee of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Research Foundation held a luncheon meeting at the Carolina Inn. Mr. Glenn Guy, Mr. George Watts Hill, Sr., Mr. Emory S. Hunt, Mr. Charles M. Shaffer and Mr. W. J. Smith were present in addition to the officers and members of the Committee.

Dean Hager attended a meeting of the General Research Support Scientific Advisory and Review Committee of the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Maryland on November 3-5. He is chairman of this Committee. On November 7-9 he attended a meeting of the Executive Committee of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy in Washington, D. C.; on November 14-15 he attended a meeting of the National Advisory Committee on Selection of Physicians, Dentists, and Allied Specialists (Selective Service System) in Dallas and attended a meeting of Panel of Supply and Education of Health Manpower (a panel of the National Advisory Commission on Health Manpower) in New York City, on November 16.

Dr. David Jacobus, Director of Medicinal Chemistry at Walter Reed Army Institute of Research in Washington, D. C., presented a seminar on November 17 for graduate students and faculty. The title of his presentation was "The Present Search for More Effective Antimalarial Agents."

The annual pilgrimage to drug manufacturers was made by the graduating seniors in November. They departed by bus from Chapel Hill on November 16 to visit Abbott Laboratories and to spend an uncommitted week-end in Chicago. From there they travelled to Indianapolis to tour Eli Lilly and Company and returned to Chapel Hill on November 23 in time to start their Thanksgiving vacation.

Again plans are being made to offer pharmacy courses in summer school next year. Courses which have been tentatively scheduled are: pharmacognosy, drug analysis, calculations, principles and processes, physical pharmacy and biochemistry.

The periodic visitation by a committee of the American Council on Pharmaceutical Education was made on November 21-22. The Committee consisted of Dr. William S. Apple, President of ACPE, and Dr. Melvin W. Green, Director of Educational Relations. Mr. David D. Claytor represented the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy. The ACPE is the national accrediting agency for colleges of pharmacy.

Dean George Hager has been designated President-elect of the American Pharmaceutical Association's Academy of Pharmaceutical Sciences.

Kappa Psi News

Kappa Psi started the fall semester by painting the exterior of the Fraternity's brick house white and triming it with black shutters. Nearly every room in the house was repainted or at least renovated in some way.

Three new brothers, Wes Cotton from Fuquay-Varina, Chris Lehman from Roanoke Rapids and Al Simmons from Siler City were initiated on October 1.

Fall Rush came the week after initiation in the first week of October. Pledged on October 6 were: Buck Albright, Salisbury; Jim Bryant, Kinston; Mike Clinard, Lexington; Joey Edwards, Kinston; Bill Harrison, Louisville, Ky.; Tom Leonard, Thomasville; Buck Murchison, Rocky Mount; Tom Oakley, Roxboro; and Larry Perry, Marshville. Also pledged last spring was Tommy Taylor who is now a 4/5 from Boone.

The social scene this fall semester has been a busy one, built around the home football games. For our first home game against North Carolina State, we had a combo party at the American Legion Hut. Carolina's Homecoming game was on October 22 against Wake Forest. After the game, one of the bigger parties of the semester was held at Golf City in Durham. The festivities of Pharmacy Day on November 12, the Saturday of the Air Force game included a barbecue and a combo party after the game. On Duke weekend, November 19, we split a combo party with Zeta Beta Tau at their house. About twenty Freshmen and first-year pharmacy students visited the house on Friday, November 4, during the first of several pre-rush parties. Also present at the party were members of the Iota Chapter of Kappa Psi from the Medical College of South Carolina who were attending the Student Branch of the APhA Workshop at the Institute of Pharmacy.

Our intramural tag football and volleyball records stand at 1-4 and 0-1, respectively. Volleyball season is just starting and basketball practice has started also in preparation for the highly competitive season.

Brother Fred Rachide was nominated to a seat in the Pharmacy Senate during the annual Senate elections held earlier in the semester.

On Friday, October 28, Beta Xi, the local chapter, was proud to have as its guest, the Kappa Psi First Grand Vice-Regent, Dr. Walter R. Williams who was making a tour of southern Kappa Psi chapters. Dr. Williams visited the School of Pharmacy and met with Dean Hager and with our Grand Council Deputy, Dr. Fred T. Semeniuk. Dr. Williams had lunch at the Beta Xi house, met with the brothers, toured the campus and was joined at dinner at the house by Dr. Semeniuk, Dr. George Cocolas and his wife, Dr. Jack Wier and his wife, and Dr. William Hall. An after-dinner conversation and picture-taking followed.

During the summer, Kappa Psi Vice-Regent James Hall was selected as one of two Student Members of the Kappa Psi Grand Council Executive Committee. In August of 1967 at the Kappa Psi National Convention, he will serve on the Program Committee.

When the whistle blows signaling kick-off time at home football games, once again the seniors and graduate students can be found manning the First Aid stations on each side of Kenan Stadium. Their training in First Aid finds practical application when the students treat the visitors for cuts and bruises, fainting spells, cardiac conditions and a host of other afflictions. The School of Pharmacy is grateful to the seniors and graduate students for the sacrifices they make in order to perform a needed service.

Mr. Riman Muth, Cost Accountant for the University, Dr. M. A. Chambers and Dean George Hager visited the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond on September 26 to consult with Dr. Charles Blivens, Secretary of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy, Dr. Warren Weaver, Dean of the School of Pharmacy, and Dr. John Andrako, Assistant Dean. The two institutions are conducting a pilot study to determine the cost per student to the schools in providing a pharmaceutical education. Later it is expected the study will be extended to include all pharmacy schools.

Dean Hager attended a meeting of the Advisory Committee on Health Science Advancement Association program of the National Institutes of Health in Washington, D. C. on September 29 to October 1.

Claude V. Timberlake, 1939 UNC pharmacy graduate and Vice-President of the National Pharmaceutical Council, spoke to the student branches of the NCPhA and APhA on October 3. He discussed generic drugs and told some of the experiences he had as a naval procurement officer.

On October 6, Dean Hager addressed a meeting of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association Women's Auxiliary and also the Executive Committee of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association. The title of his remarks was "Pursuit of Excellence in Pharmaceutical Education."

Professors Claude Piantadosi, Fred T. Semeniuk, and Herman O. Thompson were guests of the Greensboro Drug Club at their annual barbecue on October 7. Attending this function were pharmacists, dentists, and physicians of the Greensboro area.

For the sixth consecutive year the School of Pharmacy maintained an exhibit at the annual State Fair in Raleigh the week of October 10. The booth was manned by members of the faculty and senior class. The students demonstrated some of the techniques and the art used in compounding and dispensing prescriptions.

Dean Hager spoke at a meeting of the Wake County Pharmaceutical Association on October 11. His remarks were entitled "Why? and Where? Should a Young Man or Woman Study Pharmacy."

Elections were held recently by the students to elect officers of the student body as well as in each of the classes. Results of the balloting showed the following were elected:

Asheville

The Western North Carolina Drug Club Auxiliary held its October meeting at the home of Mrs. George Bryan, first vice-president of the club.

Mrs. Phillip F. Crouch, president, conducted the meeting which followed a covered-dish luncheon.

Mrs. James Creech, state president, discussed the Fall Convocation and told of plans for the Auxiliary year.

Burke County

The September meeting of the Burke County Auxiliary, with Mrs. Jack Alexander presiding, featured a talk by Dr. J. Iverson Riddle who discussed the proposed Regional Comprehensive Health Center for the Burke area. The business session included a decision to present books dealing with pharmacy as a profession to the local schools. Plans were made for the president and other members to attend the Fall Convocation at Chapel Hill. Proposed programs for the year were presented to the group by Mrs. Jean McSwain, Program Chairman.

The October meeting had Dr. Brown of Western Piedmont College as guest speaker. A report was given by Mrs. Alexander on the Chapel Hill meeting. Plans were made for a card party in November.

Cabarrus County

The September meeting of the Cabarrus County Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. Ernest. Mrs. Park Webster, program chairman, introduced the speaker, Mrs. Sam Perkins, Jr. who opened her talk by sketching a hat. She added buttons to the hat for each activity in which pharmacists' wives can assist their husbands by participating in community projects.

She sketched other pictures and explained each chapter of the Woman's Auxiliary booklet "Let's Make A Hat," which advises "take pride in your husband's profession and learn about it."

Charlotte

The Charlotte Woman's Druggist Auxiliary had the Reverend William T. Harding as guest speaker at the October meeting.

Rev. Harding is Southeast area representative for Sudan Interior Mission. He spoke on "Miracles in Ethiopia and Work in Sudan." He also showed several most interesting slides on his work and life in Ethiopia.

The meeting was held at the Charlotte YMCA.

Durham

Mrs. Hunter Kelly was hostess October 17th for a meeting of the Mortar and Pestle Club, Durham Chapter of the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association Woman's Auxiliary.

Mrs. William Wells installed the following officers for 1966-67: Mrs. Kelly, president; Mrs. B. W. Spencer, vice-president; Mrs. F. A. Stovall, secretary; Mrs. Ivey McDaniel, treasurer; Mrs. Ben Bullock, historian; Mrs. Zack Lyon, membership chairman; Mrs. C. C. Cannon, Chaplain.

Gaston County

Mrs. James L. Creech, state Auxiliary president, was guest speaker at the October 17th meeting of the Gaston Pharmaceutical Auxiliary, which was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Moss.

The program featured slides and a talk concerning the restoration of the Hugh Mercer Apothecary Shop at Fredericksburg, Virginia, a project of the American Pharmaceutical Association.

Hostesses were Mesdames Fred Moss, Henry Bell, Fred Moss, Jr., and Wade Carter. Mrs. Flynn Warren, president, conducted the business session.

Greensboro

The September meeting of the Greensboro Drug Auxiliary was held at Holiday Inn North. Mrs. Edward W. Sprague of the Greensboro Altrusa Club spoke on her club's project of aiding the UNC-G dramatic group. She discussed plays to be presented during the coming year. Miss Brenda Katz, a student at UNC-G, showed slides of the school's Theater USO tour in Europe during the spring. She also described the group's adventures, tours, and people they met.

The business meeting included announcement of the meeting plans for the remainder of the club year. Mrs. Dale Bracker, president, announced that Thomas Albee Fulton, Jr., a junior in the UNC School of Pharmacy, received the Virginia Townsend Hayes Scholarship given annually by the Greensboro Auxiliary.

It was decided to participate in a project of making fifty-two sundry gift boxes for distribution to mental patients at a Durham Hospital. These were to be collected at the October meeting.

High Point

Members of the High Point Pharmaceutical Auxiliary, at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Bill Dunn on November 17, displayed home-made Christmas decorations and discussed how they were made.

Mrs. Joseph Bland conducted the business meeting and gave a report of the Auxiliary Workshop in Chapel Hill which was attended by several members of the local auxiliary.

Mrs. James L. Creech of Smithfield, President of the State Auxiliary, will attend the December meeting as a guest of the High Point Auxiliary.

Raleigh

The September meeting of the Raleigh Woman's Drug Club was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Banks Kerr. This was an organizational meeting, at which committees were assigned. The discussion included presentation of several ideas for a project for the year. It was decided that the committee in charge would present three suggestions to be voted upon at the October meeting. The meeting then adjourned for refreshments and bridge.

The October meeting, held at the home of Mrs. John R. White, featured a demonstration-talk by the Reverend Richard Dillon on Flemish arrangements, and the coloring of clear glass. He also interested the members in helping with entertainment at a Halloween party at Dorothea Dix Hospital.

During the business session, a decision was made to have a bridge benefit as the major project of the year. Instead of the usual Christmas dinner dance, it was decided to have a dinner dance in the spring.

Rowan-Davie

The October meeting of the Rowan-Davie Drug Auxiliary featured Mrs. James L. Creech, state Auxiliary president, as guest speaker. She used slides from the Hugh Mercer Apothecary Shop as her subject matter.

Mrs. Creech also urged the auxiliary members to plan to attend the 1967 convention to be held in Winston-Salem in May. She also outlined the state project of "Pharmacy Auxiliary Originals."

Mrs. Robert Brunson presided over the business session; Mrs. Justin Uffinger led the devotions and won the door prize. Mrs. Robert Milton, Mrs. E. R. Fuller, Mrs. Frank Skinner, and Mrs. John Upchurch were hostesses for the meeting which was held at the Salisbury Country Club.

Winston-Salem

The November meeting of the Apothecary Club was held at the home of Mrs. James A. Sitison, with 24 members present. Mrs. James L. Creech, state president, was a visitor. Other guests included Mrs. Pat Harrison, Mrs. Diane Small, and Mrs. Kay Smith.

Mrs. Creech reminded members to make articles to be sold at the state convention, with proceeds going to the renovation of the Institute of Pharmacy at Chapel Hill.

Fall Convocation of Woman's Auxiliary

The Fall Convocation of the Woman's Auxiliary to the NCPhA attracted women from all over the state when it convened at the Institute of Pharmacy, Chapel Hill, on October 6. Mrs. James L. Creech, president, presided.

The program opened with a devotional by Mrs. Shelton Boyd of Mount Olive, and was followed by a talk by Dean George P. Hager of the UNC School of Pharmacy.

A skit, "Woman's Auxiliary Little Theater," was presented by the executive board of the Woman's Auxiliary, directed by Mrs. George Markham of Fayetteville. The "cast" included Mrs. W. Latham West, Roseboro, first vice-president; Mrs. Billy T. Allen, Williamston, second vice-president; Mrs. W. H. Houser, Cherryville, secretary; Mrs. William P. Wells, Durham, treasurer; Mrs. Larry Kennedy, Broadway, historian; Mrs. Eugene Hackney, Lumberton, parliamentarian; Mrs. Blanton, Kings Mountain, advisor.

The project for the year was introduced and explained by Mrs. Grover Creech, Selma, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

C. D. Blanton, Jr., president of the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association, was introduced by Mrs. Blanton. During his remarks, Mr. Blanton presented a mortar-and-pestle to Mrs. W. G. Forrest of Gastonia, who successfully directed a merchandise sale at the 1966 NCPhA Convention, with proceeds going to the Institute of Pharmacy for remodeling and redecorating the building.

As a special feature of the meeting, the first annual scholarship from the Lucile Swaringen Rogers Memorial Scholarship Fund was awarded to Mrs. June Richardson Peddycord of Kernersville. Presentation will be made by Ralph P. Rogers of Durham, husband of the late Mrs. Rogers for whom the fund was named.

Miss Diana Stanton of New Bern was recognized as the 1966-67 recipient of the Vivian Spradlin Smith Scholarship, as sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary of the NCPhA.

The final portion of the program was reports from committee chairmen: Resolutions, Mrs. Robert Milton, Salisbury; Publicity, Mrs. Robert Hall; "Doings" Editor, Mrs. George Cocolas, Chapel Hill; Membership, Mrs. West, Roseboro; Hospitality, Mrs. Billy T. Allen, Williamston; Nominating, Mrs. John T. Stevenson, Elizabeth City.

Hartung Memorial Lecture

The pharmacists of North Carolina and the student body of the School of Pharmacy were well represented at both the dinner and the lecture.

The lecture, "Some Problems and Trends in Medicinal Chemistry," was delivered by Dr. Burger before an audience of approximately 150 in the auditorium of the School of Pharmacy. In introducing Dr. Burger, Dean Hager reviewed the outstanding career of Dr. Hartung and his many contributions to pharmacy and pharmaceutical education and research.

As a preface to his remarks, reflecting his keen perception and clear insight with regard to the problems and trends in medicinal chemistry, Dr. Burger stated, "I am sure Walter Hartung would have wanted to see these lectures addressed to students both young and old, but especially the young. It takes the physiologically young and the young in spirit to shed accustomed scientific patterns and to leap ahead, to review existing knowledge and to bend it in an untraditional manner to novel pathways."
